The Kent News.

SATURDAY..............FEBRUARY 5, 1881

Buford, who murdered Judge Elliott, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, for deciding a case against him, has been acquitted on the ground of insanity.

Twenty millions of dollars were realized by Jay Gould and his confederates by their recent operations in telegraph stock, all of which must be made up by a tax upon the business and enterprise of the country at large.

President Hayes and Senators Bayard, Whyte and Blaine have accepted an invitation to be present at the annual dinner of the Baltimore Press Club, which is to take place at the Eutaw House Feb. 12.

The Pennsylvania legislature is still balloting for United States Senator. Grow's friends are sticking to him, but it is believed that Oliver, the candidate of the Camerons, will finally, by some hocus-pocus, be elected.

The vacancy in the Court of Appeals occasioned by the death of the late Judge George Brent still engrosses the Governor's attention. As yet no appointment has been made, but the Governor is daily in receipt of petitions representing the interests of applicants. It is stated that the most formidable candidate in the field for the judgeship is Judge Daniel R. Magrader, of Calvert county, although the friends of Mr. R. B. B. Chew, of Prince George's, are interesting themselves in his behalf.

Congressional.—A very important bill was introduced in the House of Representatives on Monday by Mr. Springer, providing for a commission to appraise the value of all the property of telegraph companies in the country, with a view to their purchase and management by the government. The recent consolidation of the various companies, with a view, it is believed, of enhancing rates, is no doubt at the bottom of Mr. Springer's movement.

The sub-committee of the ways and means committee have agreed to report a bill removing the tax from matches, bank checks, deposits, and bank capital.

The town of Plymouth, in Washington county, N. C., was almost entirely destroyed by fire last Monday night, the fire originating from the explosion of a kerosene lamp in the office of the Roanoke Transportation Company. Every building of any size, including all the business houses, &c., were destroyed and the people have taken to the barns and farmhouses. The freight warehouse of the steamer Chowan and one store are the only houses left standing. The losses foot up $127,500. Thirty-three buildings were burned, among which was the court-house, Grace Episcopal Church and twenty-three stores. Two hun- losses in stocks of goods were heavy. Only two of dred and fifty bales of cotton, quantities of shingles, lumber, &c., were also destroyed. The the parties burned out held any insurance. The postoffice and custom-house were also burned.

The Deluge on the Pacific Coast.—A dispatch from San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 1, says: It began raining in the central and northern part of the State again to-day. The floods in the rivers are abating very slowly. At Shasta, up to this afternoon, there has fallen this season the enormous quantity of 81 40-100 of rain, and the damage in that section of the State cannot be approximated. In Klamath, Del Norte, Trinity and Siskiyou counties the rain fell very heavily. All the streams in those counties have overflowed their banks, flooding the valleys, destroying farms, carrying away every bridge across them, and many sawmills and houses. Much grain and stock has been lost. The property destroyed is estimated up into the millions. In Colusa county the rain fell lighter, but even in that county half a million dollars would not pay for the property destroyed. The late storm was by far the most extensive and destructive that ever occurred on the coast since the whites settled here. A large part of the country is flooded, including much wheat ground, and unless the water runs off quickly there will be a much smaller crop in California the coming season than heretofore counted on.

Retired on Millions.—The New York Sun, speaking about putting General Grant on the retired list, says:

"The people who propose to dump Grant on the army retired list do not know, perhaps, what is already there.

"The last time the War Office reported to the House the state of the list it contained 397 officers—5 major-generals, 18 brigadiers, 59 colonels, 34 lieutenant-colonels, 49 majors, 132 captains, 77 first lieutenants, 15 second lieutenants, and 8 chaplains. Since then two more vacancies in the prescribed 400 of the list have been filled, one of them last Monday by Col. Easton. There is but one place left. Shall Grant crowd into it?

"It also appears by the last report that the amount paid to retired officers in service up to that date had been close upon six millions, to which must be added over a million and a-half paid to officers formerly retired, but then not in service, making the aggregate upward of seven and a-half millions.

"At the present time it may be safely estimated that the total amount paid from Jan. 1, 1869, to Jan. 1, 1881, is nearly or quite eight millions. Yet they want to dump a salary for Grant as General on top of this sum."

The Easton Star says: A local option man of this town took the cars last Wednesday afternoon for Oxford. Not knowing exactly how the wind blows at that ancient seaport, since Mr. Stump took his departure therefrom, this gentleman took the precaution to place in his side pocket a "little joker." After getting on the cars he felt something liquid trickling down his side, and looking at the ceiling of the carriage, bawled out to his fellow passengers, "Why this car leaks!" By some strange and unaccountable accident, in getting aboard the cars, unfortunate passenger broke his "little joker," and the precious contents were fast making their way to his boots. Soon the smell of the "old rye" attracted to his side a number of sympathizing friends, who heartily joined in lamenting the loss of what might have added so much to the comfort of the company.

The Elder Cameron's Tour.—Ex-Senator Simon Cameron is in Washington and will depart in a few days on his long-expected southern trip. He will be accompanied by two friends. He will first travel through Virginia, North and South Carolina and Florida, stopping at important points. Then he will sail for Cuba. Returning, he will land at New Orleans, and come leisurely up the Mississippi river. His trip is for pleasure and instruction. He will confer with leading southern men on the condition of the country, and gather up a good deal of information which will be useful to President Garfield, whom he will see upon his return.—Correspondence Balto. Sun.

The Baltimore American tells a story of a young man who made himself up as a beautiful damsel and attended a big reception, where he was introduced as Miss McIvor, of Savannah. Nearly all of the men present made love to him, and nearly a dozen got him into the conservatory and kissed him. The scapegrace had lots of fun, but after several days the joke leaked out, and he had to leave town to escape the wrath of the ardent lovers he had so badly taken in.

Gen. Grant's Mexican Railroad Enterprise.—Among the bills introduced in the New York legislature was one by Mr. Astor to incorporate the Mexican Southern Railroad Company. It names as the first incorporators: U. S. Grant, Edwin D. Morgan, Mathias Romero, Perfiro Diaz, Miguel Castro, Edward D. Adams, Jay Gould, Thomas Nickerson and others. The company may erect and operate railroads and telegraph lines in Mexico. The capital stock is $10,000,000.

Judge David Davis has been on the Supreme Bench and he knows just what it takes to make a good supreme judge. Of course Judge Davis don't think that Stanley-Ohio-Louisiana-Matthews fills the bill, and he is opposed to his confirmation. Judge Davis is a member of the Judiciary Committee, and when Matthews gets thro' with the committee, or rather when the committee gets through with Matthews, he will wish that he hadn't been appointed.—Balto. Gaz.

Sleighing on Delaware Bay.—One day last week the inhabitants of Port Penn might have seen the novel sight of half a dozen sleighs streaking down the bay along the Jersey coast. It was a sleighing party that left Salem by way of Salem creek, and drove on the solid ice all the way to Alloway's creek and back, as safe as if riding upon terra firma. The Jerseymen are delighted with this novel sport.

New York Sun: Judging from the urgency with which John A. Logan pushes his so-called Grant relief bill one might suppose that Grant was freezing and starving in some back alley.

The Proposed Elevator.—The Baltimore Sun of Jan. 28 says: The committee, J. I. Middleton, E. Roelkey, H. F. Turner, L. J. Cox and D. M. Tate, appointed at a meeting of the grain men interested in the erection of an elevator for water-borne grain, met yesterday, and received the report of the sub-committee, E. Roelkey, chairman, appointed to look into the question of site, cost, &c. The report, which will be made to the general meeting on Thursday next, is favorable to the erection of the proposed elevator at an early day. The committee have been offered the lease of a number of pieces of property, some at Canton, some on the south side, some on Fell's Point, some up town, &c. The prices of rental offered are from $4,000 to $6,000 per annum, or $60,000 to $100,000 capitalized at 6 per cent. The estimates for the erection of the elevator are various. For an elevator of 300,000 bushels' capacity about $150,000 would be necessary; for 500,000 bushels' capacity, $200,000; for 700,000 bushels' capacity, $250,000. There is no doubt now but that the elevator will be built, and when completed will not only provide proper accommodation for water-borne grain, but will, if the railroads come to its aid, revive a branch of the grain trade that other places have fostered, but which has been permitted to languish here—the trade of oats and rye. The receipts of these products here are small, and only sufficient to meet the current demand and have no stability in price, which depends more upon supply and demand than other species of grain. The principal cause of this is that there is no room for it in the elevators here, and merchants are unwilling to order large quantities, as the warehouse charges or the demurrage on cars would eat up all the profits. With proper accommodation for the handling of oats and rye it is believed Baltimore can be made a large receiving and shipping point for both articles. All that is necessary is for the railroad companies to bring them here, and in time, the receipts, it is claimed, would be 1,000 bushels to every one bushel now.

Beware of Quail.—A Startling Statement of Those Who Like Them as Food.—The following startling news appears in the Washington Republican, of Saturday. It will be recollected that at the time Buchanan was inaugurated a large number of persons were poisoned at a certain prominent Washington hotel. The winter immediately preceding the inauguration was an unusually hard one. The proprietor of the hotel, to please his guests, had procured, as is stated, all the quail in the surrounding country.

These birds had been starved to such an extent that they were compelled to feed upon poisonous berries and leaves until their flesh became thoroughly permeated with the poison. A thing almost certainly destined to produce either death or irremediable disease in the system is the present eating of quail. The birds have been starved for weeks, and are now feeding upon such berries and buds as make their flesh poisonous. The deep snows in the country prevent the birds from receiving their usual sustenance from seed and the sands or small gravel which assist in digesting and assimilating the same, and consequently they are driven to those modes of sustaining life which, while they may be useful to themselves for the time being, render their flesh highly injurious to human beings as an article of food.

State Superintendent M. A. Newell, of the Maryland public schools, has made his fifteenth annual report of the public schools of the State to the Governor. The report shows the total number of schools in the State to be 2,044, of which number 125 are in Baltimore and 1,919 in the counties, being an increase of 35 over last year; number of pupils in the counties 114,365, in Baltimore city 48,066; total 162,431, an increase over 1880 of 1,349. The highest number enrolled in the schools during the year were 132,672, of which 35,297 were in Baltimore and 97,376 in the counties being an increase over 1880 of 2,781. The average number in daily attendance in Baltimore was 29,417, in the counties 56,381; total 85,778, an increase of 1,533. The number of teachers employed throughout the State are 3,125, of which 799 are in Baltimore and 2,326 in the counties, an increase of 34 over last year. The total amount paid to teachers during the year was $1,141,752 56, being a decrease of $2,331 52 over last year. In Baltimore the schools were open ten months during the year and in the counties 8½ months. The current expenses of white schools were $555,114 28, colored $62,38 36. The items which show an increase are interest $310 95, miscellaneous $1,251 07, indebtedness paid $10,897 79; items showing a decrease: teachers Salaries $6,931 08, building $22,697 28, books and stationary $1,660 45, supervision $2,914'17, incidentals $5,550 15; total decrease of $39,753 73, net decrease $26,282 92.

A Locust Prediction.—A Washington dispatch credits Prof. Riley, the entomologist, with saying that the seventeen-year locusts will abound next June in Marquette and Green Lake counties, Wisconsin, in the neighborhood of Wheeling, West Virginia, and probably in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. They may also appear, he says, in the west part of North Carolina, in northeastern Ohio, Lancaster county, Pa., and West Chester county. New York. There are two broods of these periodical locusts, one appearing once in seventeen years, and the other once in thirteen. Both broods will appear this year, but not in the same localities. The Professor says that the thirteen-year brood will probably be seen in southern Illinois, in all of Missouri except the northwest corner, in Louisiana, Arkansas, Indian Territory, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina. The two kinds of locusts differ very little in appearance.

A Warning to Masqueraders.—Two young women of rather prepossing appearance, were arrested by police officer Whalen, on South Paca street, about two o'clock Tuesday morning, and taken to the western police station, where they were charged with acting disorderly. The officer stated that the young women had played leap-frog, exposing their red stockings as they did so. Lieut. Cadwalader, who was in charge at the station, looked at them closely, and then burst into a laugh as the wig of one of the young women slipped off her head and disclosed the cropped hair and grinning features of a boy. The other woman (?) threw off her disguise in like manner, and both offenders were locked up until later in the day, when on payment of a fine, they were dismissed by Justice Talbott. The young men stated that they had been to a masquerade, and were on their way home, when the policeman interfered with their sport. Some thoughtful friends took men's clothing with them to the station, which the young men quickly donned and went home.—Sun.

Charles McCollister, Esq., of Church Hill, died on Saturday morning last at the advanced age of 76 years. He has been an invalid for some time, having suffered several strokes of paralysis, which entirely disabled him from work. For over fifty years, says the Observer, he has lived on his estate, the "Hermitage," which he inherited from his half-brother, John Chairs, and where he has dispensed regular Eastern Shore hospitality, making every visitor feel welcome to come in and go out at pleasure. He was a judge of the orphans' court for four years, and once elected to the legislature.

It is asserted that in New England, owing to the facilities offered for divorce, couples have been married on trial, agreeing beforehand to be separated in six months if they became convinced that they were not suited to each other. Two men in Vermont found it easy to swap wives by appearing in court and briefly stating their wishes and reasons for making the change. In New Haven and Hartford the ratio of divorces to marriages is greater than in Chicago, notwithstanding the reputation attained by the latter city.

The result of the Irish state trials at Dublin was just about what almost everybody expected, although there were some who believed the traversers would be acquitted, owing to the state of the popular mind in Ireland. The jury failed to agree and were discharged. It is exceedingly doubtful whether the farce will be re-enacted. The agitation in Ireland of late has materially subsided.

An ice boat on Miles river, going at a high rate of speed, ran across an open place. The concussion with the edge of the hole threw a young man named Jump from the boat, and his head was jammed between the boat and the edge of the ice. Another ice boat loaded with 500 feet of oak plank disappeared in a crack and sank. The occupants, T. H. Kirby, Wm. Jump and James Burns, were with difficulty rescued.

Denton Journal: Jim Dixon is the name of a colored man known to almost everybody in this community. Jim was wounded during the late war, so he says, and has succeeded in getting a pension of $8 per month, with arrearages amounting to over $1,000. He is having a high old time, and has more friends than he ever thought of. Jim is making his headquarters in Denton.

At Annapolis, a few days ago, two boys, John Cannon and Wm. Campbell, made a wager as to who could drink the most water. Cannon drank the contents of a glass jar measuring nearly a gallon and won the bet. Campbell was taken ill before he had emptied one-half the jar and was taken home in an unconscious condition.

In the case of Henry A. Turner vs. the State of Maryland, the Court of Appeals, Judge Robinson delivering the decision, the court has sustained the constitutionality of the Tobacco Inspection law passed at the last session of the legislature.

Easter this year occurs on the 17th of April. Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, fall this year on the 2d of March.

The young men of Bayside Neck, Talbot county, have ten ice boats named after sweethearts of ten of them.

The Weather Still Cold—Another Snow-Storm.—The weather has continued cold during the present week, the thermometer on Wednesday and Thursday mornings marking 3° above zero. Snow commenced falling Monday night and continued until a late hour Tuesday night, averaging a depth of six to seven inches. The sleighing is now excellent, and is likely to continue so for some time. The snow storm is reported as having extended over the Middle States, the Ohio Valley and as far West as the Mississippi. The weather moderated somewhat on Thursday and yesterday morning the mercury indicated 11° above zero.

The ladies of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, at Georgetown, have earned a well merited reputation for getting up very palatable Oyster Suppers. Any one doubting this statement had better be on hand at the delicious suppers to be given on the evenings of the 9th, 10th and 11th of February, at Georgetown, in the church parsonage. After partaking of the incomparable bivalves, served up as they will be there, they will coincide with us in the above opinion. Everybody else that can will of course be present, as the proceeds are to be very worthily expended in repairing the church property.

Stricken with Paralysis.—Mr. William W. Wallis, residing in Queen Anne's county, near Chester river bridge, was stricken with paralysis on Wednesday. He walked over to a neighbor's, and, while standing in the barn and conversing with him, he suddenly fell to the ground. Dr. Catlin, who resides near the place, was sent for and found that Mr. Wallis was totally paralyzed in the right side of his body. At last accounts his symptoms were very unfavorable.

Religious Revivals.—The protracted meeting at the M. P. Church, in this town, which has been in progress for three weeks, continues with unabated interest. Crowded congregations and the altar thronged with penitents nightly, indicate that the meeting may accomplish yet even greater results. The meetings at the M. E. Church are also continued, with good results; quite a number have professed conversion, and others are seeking the pearl of great price.

Train Delayed.—A broken rail near the depot at this place caused the engine to run off the track on Wednesday afternoon, and with the utmost exertion it was not got on again until about four o'clock Thursday afternoon. The train proceeded at once to Clayton and returned with the mail at ten o'clock that night.

The Peach Prospect.—The following were received too late for publication last week. Both gentlemen represent large peach growing sections of the county, and their views are more hopeful than any yet received:

George W. Davis, Still Pond: I am of the opinion there are enough good buds on my orchard at this time to make a fair crop of peaches on all varieties except the yellow, which are so badly injured that I would not like to make any estimate of them at all.

R. T. Turner, Betterton: My peaches, I think, promise well. I have had an expert (at least, I esteem him such,) to examine two orchards and I have looked at one myself. The above is my conclusion, and others along the water-course of Sassafras and Still Pond about here agree with me.

Orphans' Court, Tuesday, Feb. 1.—Present, Judges Nicholson, Shallcross and Willson.

W. N. E. Wickes, administrator of John W. Redgrave, returned account of sales of the personal estate of said deceased.

Letters testamentary were granted on the personal estate of A. W. Skirven, deceased, to Jas. A. Skirven.

Joseph A. Wickes, guardian to Francis C. Wickes and Mary E. Wickes, returned his guardian accounts for said wards.

Victor Hendrickson and Joseph E. Hendrickson, executors of Peregrine Hendrickson, returned their first administration account of the personal estate of said deceased.

Letters of administration on the personal estate of Samuel L. Bell were granted unto James P. Carothers.

A Skating Feat.—Two of our young men, John R. Grammar and William Russell, made a lengthy trip on skates last Saturday. Starting from Chestertown wharf, they pursued their journey until they reached Centreville wharf, on Corsica creek. We learn they found it a little difficult to get along, in some places the ice being very rough, and in other places, there being no ice at all, compelling them to take to the shore. They made the trip in about two hours and a-half, and returned on Monday.—Trans.

Speculation in Life Insurance Policies.—A letter to the Baltimore Sun from Westminister, Carroll county, dated Feb. 1, says:

"Speculation in life insurance policies, it now appears, has been quite extensive in this county, and as the various transactions are becoming known discussion on the practice is becoming general. The arrest of two parties engaged in the business has made some others feel nervous, and the result of the preliminary examination to-morrow is anxiously awaited. It is said that parties hold policies on the life of an old colored man in this city to the amount of fifty or sixty thousand dollars; a considerable insurance is said to be held on the life of an aged pauper at the almshouse, and every day new cases are coming to light. A recent decision of a Pennsylvania court, it is said, gives the insurance to the heirs of the assured where it can be shown that the beneficiary has no interest in the assured."

Revival in Centreville.—The protracted services at the M. E. Church, this town, which have been in progress upwards of three weeks, have very much grown in interest during the past week or ten day. The conversions during that period have been numerous; the altar has been well filled with penitants every night, and many hardened sinners have been brought to see the marvelous light of the gospel. Many of the Sabbath School scholars have been converted. The meeting nightly grows in interest, and will probably continue two or three weeks longer.—Record.

Eighty-two gallons of oysters were shucked at Kent Narrows last Monday, by the oystermen of that vicinity. The Centreville Record says that the Narrows have been open all winter. It is from this point that all Queen Anne's and portions of Talbot and Caroline counties are supplied with the bivalves. It is fair to the oystermen to note that they have not demanded extravagant prices. Oysters are abundant in Centreville and furnished for 75 cents per gallon.

Mrs. Caroline Primrose, an aged colored woman, died a few days since at her residence in Camden, Del. She was born in Centreville, Queen Anne's county, Md., in 1777, thus making her over 104 years of age. She was born in slavery and remained a slave until she was over three-score and ten, when her freedom was given her by her master. She was the mother of twenty-five children.

On the 27th ultimo two thieves who were engaged in forcing an entrance into the meat house of Mr. Wm. D. Keating, near Centreville, were persuaded to leave in a hurry by a discharge from a revolver in the hands of Mrs. Senart, living with the family. Mr. Keating was away from home, and the lady, hearing a noise, left her bed to see what was the matter. Her interference was effectual.

Judge Pearre, in sentencing two persons convicted at Cumberland of selling liquor without a license, stated that the clerk of an unlicensed dealer was liable to indictment and conviction for selling without license; in other words, that the clerk upon indictment could not set up the defence that he was the agent of a principal who might not have taken out a license, and who, therefore, had no authority to carry on business.

A fire occurred in Cambridge last Sunday morning, which destroyed Miss Jane Brown's property, the Chronicle building and office, and Mrs. Fanny Dyer's property, opposite the Cambridge Hotel and Frazier's Hotel, in the be part of the town, with a total loss, all uninsur of about $6,900.

Cornelius Comegys, of Queen Anne's co died on the 26th ultimo at his residence on's district, from the effects of a stroke. He was greatly respected for qualities and kindly disposition. married three times, and leaves several children.

A note from Edesville says: The Mammoth ham left at Wesley Chapel parsonage weighed 26 lbs. instead of 20, as the News of last week had it, and another weighed 21 lbs., and still another 19 lbs.; so you see we killed some hogs down here last fall.

A Cure for Small-Pox.—"I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man," writes Edward Hines to the Liverpool Mercury, "if the worst case of small-pox cannot be cured in three days, simply by the use of cream of tartar. One ounce of cream of tartar dissolved in one pint of hot water drank at intervals when cold, is a certain, never failing remedy. It has cured thousands, never leaves a mark, never causes blindness and avoids tedious lingering."

THE CELEBRATED

Hyland & Co.

FARM WAGON!

To our Friends and the Public:

In introducing these Wagons on the Peninsula we feel that we are doing something to benefit the public.

It is an acknowledged fact that most Wagons are built of green material.

Ours are built of the VERY BEST and most THOROUGHLY SEASONED MATERIALS, and the workmanship

Cannot be Excelled!

☞ We recommend them to be in every respect an article superior to any other Wagon built or sold on the Peninsula, and know their use will demonstrate this fact.

We are located in the midst of an excellent Timber country. We carry a very large stock of thoroughly seasoned Oak, Ash, Hickory and other Lumber adapted to our business, and are prepared to make any size or style WAGON or CART at short notice, and will give, when desired, a guarantee on every Wagon and Cart we sell.

☞ Farmers and Carters please give us a call. Yours, truly,
W. A. HYLAND & CO.
