GUITEAU'S DELIBERATE PLANS AND MOVE MENTS-AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

United States District Attorney Cork-hill has furnished the following statement for publication, in order to correct certain erroneous assertions which have been made relative to Guiteau, the assassin of President Garfield:

"The interest felt by the public in the details of the assassination and the many stories published justify me in stating that the following is a correct and accuwhich reference is made. The assassin, Charles J. Guiteau, came to Washington city on Sunday evening, March 5, 1881, and stopped at the Ebbit House, remaining only one day. He then secured a room in another part of the city, and has boarded and roomed at various places, the full details of which I have.

"On Wednesday, May 18, 1881, the assassin determined to murder the President. He had neither money nor pistol at the time. About the last of May he went into Omeara's store, corner of Fifteenth and F streets, in this city, and examined some pistols, asking for the largest calibre. He was shown two, simi- Isn't he awkward? lar in calibre, and only different in price.
On Wednesday, June 8th, he purchased the pistol which he used, for which he paid $10, he having in the meantime borrowed $15 of a gentleman in this city on the plea that he wanted to pay his board bill. On the same evening about 7 o'clock he took the pistol and went to the foot of Seventeenth street and prac-He then returned to his boarding place, and wiped the pistol dry and wrapped it in his coat and waited his opportunity. "On Sunday morning, June 12, he was sitting in Lafayette Park and saw the President leave for the Christian church, on Vermont Avenue, and he at once returned to his room, obtained his pistol, put it in his hip pocket and followed the President to Church; he entered the church, but found he could not kill him there without danger of killing some one else. He noticed that the President sat near a window; after church he made an examination of the window, and found he could reach it without any trouble, and that from this point he could shoot the President through the head without kill- ing believe! ing any one else. The following Wednesday he went to the church, examined the location and the window, and became satisfied he could accomplish his purpose, and he determined, therefore, to make the attempt at the church the following Sunday. He learned from the papers that the President would leave the city on Saturday, the 18th of June, with Mrs. Garfield, for Long Branch. He therefore determined to meet him at the depot. He left his boarding place about 5 o'clock Saturday morning, June 18, and went down to the river, at the foot of Seventeenth street, and fired five shots, to practice his aim and be certain his pistol was opposite Masonic Hall.

SATURDAYJULY 30, 1881. again on every such occasion ; Pretty, isn't she? Who made her dress? Is it surah, silk or satin? Is her veil real lace? She's as white as the wall! Wonder how much he's worth? Did he give her those diamonds? He's scared to death! Isn't she the cool piece ?

That train's a horrid shape! Isn't her mother a dowdy? Aren't the bridesmaids homely! That's a handsome usher! Hasn't she a cute little hand? Wonder what number her gloves are? They say her shoes are fives. If his hair isn't parted in the middle Wonder what on earth she married

For his money, of course! Isn't he handsome? He's as homely as a hedge-hog! He looks like a circus ciown ! No, he's like a dancing master! Good enough for her anyway. She was always a stuck-up thing. She'll be worse than ever, now. She jilted Sam Somebody, didn't she? No, he never asked her. He's left town, anyway. White as his collar! Why don't they hurry up? Did she say she would 'Obey?' What a precious fool! There they are married! Doesn't she look happy? Pity if she wouldn't? (Wish I were in her place!)

How gracefully she walks! Dear me, what airs she puts on ! Wouldn't be in her place for a farm ! I'll bet those jewels were hired. Well, she's off her father's hands at last! Doesn't she cling tightly to him, She has a mortgage on him now. Hope they'll be happy. They say she's awful smart. Too smart for him by a jugful
