EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lowndes, Jr., now on their wedding tour, have had a romantic courtship. The groom is the son of the Governor of Maryland and his twin brother, Richard, though already married, is apparently the man who won his bride for him. While Richard was riding westward on a railroad train he was met by an old college chum of Lloyd's, who insisted on believing him to be the latter. Richard protested in vain and was introduced as Lloyd to a party of girls, among whom was Miss May Campbell Quinn, daughter of J. C. Quinn, vice-president of the First National Bank of Chillicothe, Ohio. Richard got away as soon as he could, but not until he had made an impression on the young lady. At the first opportunity he notified his brother of the circumstances and Lloyd and Miss Quinn were soon in correspondence. It was not until after they were engaged that Lloyd told his fiance that he was not the man she had met previously. The resemblance was so close, however, that the lady was satisfied to carry out her promise and they were married in Chillicothe last week.

At the last meeting of the Washington Anti-Imperialist League, a resolution was unanimously adopted calling attention to the anniversaries of the death and birth of George Washington—Dec. 14th, and Feb. 22nd—the trend toward imperialism on the part of his successor, now in office, in direct contradiction to the lessons taught by the life and laid down by the farewell address of Washington, and the necessity of keeping the life of Washington, as a beacon light before his countrymen.

Maryland has reason to congratulate herself upon the number of excellent men elected to the legislature. With such men as Wilkinson, Latrobe, Knott and King as leaders in the House, and the general high average of the membership, some decidedly beneficial legislation may be expected.—Cecil Democrat.

The announcement that fertilizers are likely to be much higher next season is unwelcome news to farmers. Phosphate rock is now selling at $4.50 per ton, while only $2.65 per ton was paid for it a few months ago. All fertilizer materials have advanced correspondingly.

Book News for December is a holiday number of the most practical and helpful sort. It not only maps out the whole field of Christmas literature, but divides and subdivides it so as to reduce to minimum the task of selecting books to suit all tastes and ages.

The Snow Hill Messenger says Hon. Lloyd Wilkinson is the choice of the Democratic members-elect of the House of Delegates for Speaker of that body.

THE INIQUITOUS TRUSTS.

Mr. Richard Croker, one of the great leaders of the Democracy of the Empire State, gives it as his opinion that one of the great issues of the coming presidential campaign will be the encroachments of the trusts upon the people. In this opinion many other leaders of equal eminence in party councils of the nation join Mr. Croker. Their conclusion is logical. The Democratic party has ever been the brave champion of individual rights. What the great organization will do under the conditions cannot be doubtful.

Mr. A. B. Farquhar, a well-known Pennsylvania manufacturer, expresses the sentiments of the masses in saying, in a recent paper, that the trusts have "overreached" themselves. The people cannot and will not submit to the extortions imposed on every hand. The voters, through their representatives in Congress and their chief magistrate to be elected next year, will demand and receive the legislation necessary for their relief:

"We are not claiming," says Mr. Farquhar, "that associations of producers are under all circumstances an evil, for we freely admit that in some form they must continue to exist—that union for business purposes is something that has come to stay. The evil comes in when the association is encouraged to oppress fellow-citizens by a monopoly which legislation has made. Precisely the same organization may be a flagrant evil if granted a monopoly, and quite harmless if not so favored. Further, the monopoly that renders the trust formidable may arise from other source—possession of land, deals with private corporations, and what not—as well as from legislation. But it is senseless to speak of that as disproving that legislation may be and is used to create monopolies. Why are the trusts and combines so much more harmless in England than here? Just because legislation there does not put a weapon in their hands to aid in reducing citizens to submission."

TITLE OF PURCHASERS TO CROPS.

Chief Judge McSherry, of the Court of Appeals, one day last week delivered an interesting opinion of the bench on a new question in this State.

It is this: Can a mortgagor, whose mortgage is in default, plant a crop and then execute a bill of sale of that crop to a third person, and thereby deprive the purchaser of the mortgaged farm from claiming the growing crop, if the farm be sold under the mortgage while the crop is still growing? The vendee under the bill of sale brought an action of trover against the purchaser of the farm for the value of the crop. The crop was planted when the mortgage was overdue. The mortgagor sold the crop by a bill of sale to the person who furnished the fertilizer with which the crop was planted. Before the crop was ripe and before it was harvested the mortgagee and the purchaser at that sale afterward cut the crop and still holds it. The Court holds that the execution of a bill of sale by a mortgagor does not constructively sever the crop from the land, and that as the crop was actually growing and was annexed to the land at the time the land was sold it passed with the land to the purchaser and that the latter's right to it is superior to the right claimed by the vendor of the fertilizer under the bill of sale. If the mortgage had not been forclosed until after the crop had been cut by the mortgagor or his vendee, the title which the bill of sale conveyed would have been good. Every person who buys a crop growing on mortgaged land is liable to have his title to the crop defeated if the mortgage is foreclosed and the land with the crop growing on it be sold before the crop is actually severe and cut. Though a growing crop is for many purposes treated and regarded as personal property, yet until it is actually cut and severed from the land it forms part of the mortgagee's security for the payment of the debt due to him, and he cannot be deprived of that security if he forcloses the mortgage and sells the land while the crop is still standing.

JOHN WALTER SMITH.

Colonel Smith began life a poor boy in Snow Hill. This does not mean that he was in any great stress of circumstances, for his father was a farmer in fairly comfortable circumstances, but young Smith started as a clerk in the general merchandise store of Mr. Richardson, whom he afterward succeeded as the head of the firm, in much the same way that hundreds of other young farmers' sons have started before him. At first he did not devote all his time to the store, but went to the Snow Hill High School for certain months in the year and clerked the rest of the time. Then he became regularly employed and finally was taken in as a member of the firm. In the meantime he had married Mr. Richardson's niece, who came to him, however, without fortune. Mr. John B. Moore, recently elected State Senator from Worcester county to succeed Colonel Smith, was also taken into the firm, and the name was changed to Richardson, Smith, Moore & Co. It is now known as Smith, Moore & Co., and does a large business both wholesale and retail. While this has always been a profitable business, there were, of course, certain limitations to it, and it was not until the firm under Colonel Smith's lead went into the lumber business in a large way that it began to be known as a considerable factor in the business of the State. The start was modest in this line; first one or two saw mills were started in Snow Hill and their product disposed of among the residents there. This was followed up by the establishment of about a dozen small mills throughout the country. Then came the building of the large mill in Snow Hill, where between 200 and 300 men are now employed. This was made necessary chiefly by the securing of large contracts for making boxes for the Standard Oil Company, and constitutes an enormous business in itself. Most of the oil that is shipped abroad goes in tin cases holding 10 gallons each. These are encased in wooden boxes and it is these boxes that are made extensively in Snow Hill. The lumber comes from the Carolinas in schooners and steamers, and now there is landed each week from outside points an average of 5,000,000 feet of lumber in the log. This is cut up and shipped away. In addition to this lumber business, Colonel Smith is a two-fifths owner of the business of Messrs. R. T. Waters & Son, of Baltimore, a firm which does a very large business. With this firm he is interested in large tracts of timber land in the South, one of these tracts is said to be half as large as the State of Delaware. A lumber man recently heard Colonel Smith say that he owned now sufficient timber to keep his mills going for 15 years. Colonel Smith is president of the Snow Hill National Bank and was primarily responsible for its organization. It is the only national bank in Worcester county and does a considerable business. He is a director of the Fidelity and Deposit Company and a considerable holder of its securities. He bought them early, when the price was much lower than it is at present, and has realized a considerable amount on them. Colonel Smith has been a constant believer, too, in the value of other Baltimore securities, and has been known as a "ground-floor" man in most of the big trust companies and similar corporations which have been organized in Baltimore in recent years. His wide influence and good judgment in financial affairs have made his co-operation in their organization highly desirable.

Of Col. and Mrs. John Walter Smith a Philadelphia Record correspondent writes: The home life of Mr. and Mrs. Smith is an ideal one, and those fortunate enough to partake of their hospitality are charmed with the harmonious blending of these two lives, and go away feeling the age of chivalry has left bequests to some of those who live in the nineteenth century. Up to two years ago Colonel and Mrs. Smith's family consisted of two lovely daughters, but death claimed one, and the parents were almost heart-broken. The other daughter for a year, has been the wife of a rising young lawyer of Baltimore, Mr. Arthur Foster. Their home is in that city, but their summers will be spent with their parents in the beautiful home in Snow Hill. The wife of the Governor-elect is not only a true friend, but is a woman whose ear is ever open to the cry of the needy. Of her charity she makes no demonstration, but obeys the Scriptural injunction of not letting her right hand know what her left does. She is possessed of deep feeling, and even yet feels keenly the loss of her daughter. Her sympathies go out to all who are in distress or trouble of any kind. She is rather above the medium height and has an erect carriage, which gives a dignity to her appearance. Her face is gentle and refined and is crowned by an abundance of gray hair, under which shine soft brown eyes. Mrs. Smith is exceedingly popular among her neighbors, and is not in the least ceremonious with them. Her manner is cordial, and the grasp of her hand firm and friendly. Colonel Smith has found in his wife not only the sharer of his sorrows and a ready comforter, but a true sympathizer in all his ambitions in the political world. He has had her wifely counsel at all times, and if at any time discouragement came, she has been by his side with words of hope and cheer.

Mr. C. M. Lloyd has made extensive improvements in his mill property near Crumpton. Much new machinery has been added.

A Plea for the Helpless.

To the Editors of the JOURNAL:

May I beg a limited space in your valued JOURNAL in which to call attention to "The Henry Watson Children's Aid Society," of Baltimore, which, from its organization, September 18, 1860, has rescued thousands of children from lives of degradation and crime. As we are very desirous to continue the placing of our wards in your county we beg your assistance. This society believes that the best disposition which can be made of the majority of the unfortunate children, who are thrown upon the mercy of the charitable public, is to place them in good country homes. Children who, from the misfortune or the neglect of their natural guardians, are deprived of the happiness of home life, should be taken away from their old environments and placed where they can make new ties, and where they may learn by experience what are the daily cares and joys of happy family life. There can be no nobler charitable work than to provide a home for a poor child in which it may receive kind care and moral training. May we beg your numerous readers to aid us in our work, either by taking into his or her family one of our little wards or by urging some friend or neighbor to do so. In this connection we would call your special attention to our "little tots," ranging in age from infancy to eight years. Our experience of over forty years teaches us that it is easier to train a child under eight years than it is one over that age. A younger child will prove much more desirable in the long run, as its habits are not formed, and it will as a natural consequence the more readily settle down in the home of its adoption. In families in which there are no young children the above arrangement is particularly desirable.

Our wards go out upon a fair trial of two months. Should they prove undesirable they can be returned upon a prompt notification, with cause of complaint, to the society's office. We desire to find homes (1) in which children of any age may be adopted, and (2) in which children of any age may be received and in which they may remain until 18 years of age. They must receive during the intervening years proper physical and moral care, and be given at least four-and-a-half months' schooling each year until the age of 16 has been reached. A careful oversight is kept of each and all of our wards, who are visited at regular intervals by our experienced agent. We would gratefully receive the address of any person able to give a thoroughly good home to any of our wards. Applicants and others desiring further information, with printed reports of our work, will please address any of our special correspondents in your county, viz.: Thomas H. Evernham, W. F. DeFord, Henry T. Nuttle, F. P. Covey, George L. Potter, M. P. Hutchinson, and J. M. Vincent, or Miss Mary Willcox Brown, general secretary, Room 14, Wilson Building, No. 301 North Charles street, Baltimore, Md.

Good Prices for Poultry and Game.

The largest receipts have been in turkeys and wild game, turkeys being greatly in the majority. Receipts of chickens have been lighter than usual, while the supply of domestic ducks and geese is comparatively small, although enough for the demand. It is not thought the demand will exceed the supply of any line of poultry. The supply of wild game is not as large as the dealers desire. From six to eight carloads of turkeys principally from West Virginia, Tennessee and other Southern States, reached Baltimore yesterday. Each carload averaged about 1,000 fowls. Buyers for the markets and retail stores gathered in large numbers about the commission houses and distributing depots, securing their supplies. Live turkeys sold at wholesale at from 10 to 13 cents a pound, according to quality; chickens at from 7 to 8½ cents, ducks at about the same figure, and geese from 8 to 10 cents. The markets today for poultry and game will probably establish the retail prices. Dealers yesterday thought they would be about as follows:

Turkeys alive, pound, 10 to 14 cents.
Turkeys, dressed, pound, 14 to 16 cents.
Chickens, alive, pound, 8 to 9 cents.
Chickens, dressed, pound, 11 to 12½ cents.
Ducks, dressed, pound, 10 to 12½ cents.
Geese, dressed, pound, 10 to 12 cents.
Partridges, dozen, $2 to $2.50.
Pheasants, pair, $1.60 to $1.75.
Canvassback Ducks, pair, $4.50 to $5.00.
Redhead Ducks, pair, $2.50 to $3.00.
Mallard Ducks, pair, $1.25.
Blackhead Ducks, pair, 75c to $1.00.

Chesapeake bay diamond-back terrapin are selling at from $18 to $75 a dozen, according to size. Oysters retail at from $1 to $1.50 a gallon shucked, and from $3 to $5 a barrel in the shell. One firm on South Charles street yesterday received 20 carloads of celery from Michigan. Pumpkins, for the pumpkin pie, could be bought for 25 to 30 cents each.—The Sun.

As a cure for rheumatism Chamberlain's Pain Balm is gaining a reputation. D. B. Johnston, of Richmond, Ind., has been troubled with that ailment since 1862. In speaking of it he says: "I never found anything that would relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It acts like magic with me. My foot was swollen and paining me very much, but good application of Pain Balm relieved me. For sale by W. E. Brown, Denton; R. J. Colston, Ridgely; Hugh Duffey, Hillsboro.

Minor Items.

Malcolm Anderson, who stabbed and caused the death of Olyn T. Hynson, in Easton, on July 2d, was placed on trial in the Talbot court on Monday last. It took about one hour and a-half to secure a jury, of which Thomas E. Leaverton was chosen foreman. State's Attorney Mullikin made the opening address, telling the story of the death of Hynson, and Mr. Charles S. Carrington made the opening address in behalf of the prisoner, urging that he ought to be acquitted. The testimony was then taken. The case was given to the jury at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. At four o'clock a verdict of manslaughter was returned.

The Talbot jury in the case of Joel Dean against the P. W. & B. R. R. Company on Friday of last week rendered a verdict for $1,500 for plaintiff. Mr. Dean's claim of damages was on account of one of his legs being broken by a hand car collison in Cecil county.

Montyaloo A. Cole, the Pennsylvania University dental student who killed his rival, William A. Montague, of Wyoming, Del., with a baseball bat, was found guilty of manslaughter by a Wilmington jury. Cole was sentenced to five years in the State prison.

Mrs. Laura V. G. Lamdin, mother of Mr. William F. Lamdin, who is well-known in Denton, died at her home, near Perryville, Cecil county, on Friday of last week, aged 64 years.

It is said the Pennsylvania Railroad will place a new steamer on the Baltimore-Claiborne route and will establish a regular Pullman service over the B. C. & A. railway division.

The plans for the Rehoboth club building are now being drawn by Baltimore architects, and ground on which the building is to be erected is being graded.

Among the recent marriage licenses issued in Talbot was one to William Frazier and Miss Berthena Carroll. The bride is only fifteen years old.

Easton people propose to put in a fire alarm system.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use Without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by W. E. Brown, Denton; R. J. Colston, Ridgely; Hugh Duffey, Hillsboro.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a regular meeting of Marydel Council, No. 92, Jr. O. U. A. M., held Nov. 15, the Secretary was instructed to communicate the following resolutions of condolence to "our bereaved Brother William H. Smith and his beloved wife, who mourn the loss of their only child:"

Resolved, That we express our sincere sympathy to off Brother and his wife for the loss of their only child. As we have gone through the school of affliction, by the loss of every form of connection, which can bruise the human heart, we well know the trial through which our Brother and his wife are passing, for we have felt the same; even as He in whom was found no sin.

Resolved, That we commend our Brother and his beloved wife to Him who said, "Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted." And as a befitting tribute to the departed, be it furthermore

Resolved, That in sympathizing with our Brother and his wife, a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the minutes, a copy sent to each of the newspapers at Denton, and a copy sent to the sorrowing family.

The Talbot Grand Jury.

Talbot wants more effective legislation against liquor-law violations. The grand jury said in its report to the court Tuesday:

"A great portion of our time has been occupied with local option cases, together with their regular sequence—namely, fighting, swearing, disorderly conduct, etc. A saving might be made to the taxpayers if such cases could be disposed of without going to the grand jury room. We would infer from the regular appearance of the same crimes that a large number of persons in and around Easton make law-breaking and court-attending their principal and most lucrative business. Confinement in jail and in the House of Correction have lost their terrors and something more distasteful to this class must be resorted to. Will the Legislature solve this question? is the query of a heavily-taxed public." The grand jury condemns the Queen Anne's railroad crossing at grade over the public road near Hillsboro and the Pennsylvania crossing at Railroad avenue and Dover street, Easton.

Liquor licenses were granted to all the Chapel district applicants, except Messrs. Morgan and Walls.

My son has been troubled for years with chronic diarrhœa. Sometime ago I persuaded him to take some Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. After using two bottles of the 25 cent size he was cured. I give this testimonial, hoping some one similarly afflicted may read it and be benefited.—THOMAS C. BOWER, Glencoe, O. For sale by W. E. Brown, Denton; R. J. Colston, Ridgely; Hugh Duffey, Hillsboro.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sample bottles at W. E. Brown's, Denton, Md., or Rickards & Co's., Marydel, Md.

Santa Claus is here!

See the great big jovial fellow, with his Christmas tree on his arm, as he looks down on the Arcade from his corner of the grand stairway!

Don't we all wish we knew what those laughing eyes might tell us, if they would?

What glad surprises he has for the children! But he can't be coaxed to tell his secrets.

The shopping is comfortable now — the stocks of pretty things and useful things are full and complete. You can buy things now, and have them sent home or some place else, whenever you wish.

Games

Some of the new board games:

Fire alarm. There are four engines and one man to each. The object is to see which engine can reach the fire first—their speed being governed by the throwing of dice. $1.

Ben Hur. There are four colored chariots and four dice. The one who throws the highest has inside track to reach the goal. 75c.

Aladdin, 75c; Light brigade, 75c; Arabian Nights, 75c; Fairy land, 50c; tiger hunt, 40c; foot ball, 40c; quoits, 20c; archery, 20c; Old Cape Cod, 20c.

Card games combining instruction and amusement:

Game of birds. Cards containing pictures of various birds are numbered one to thirteen. The contest is to see who will have a complete set of bird books at the end of the game. 25c.

White Squadron, 15c; flag, 15c; nationalities, 15c; Artists, 25c; Yellow Stone, 25c; May Flower, 15c.

Block games are pretty much alike. Some make pictures, some both pictures and alphabets.

Little pony, 10c; soldiers A B C, 10c; battleship, 15c; wild animals, 50c; starry flag, 20c.

Scrolls — fit together into pictures.

Battle ship, 20c; Manila, 40c; Rough Riders, 40c.

Of course the old favorites —among them:

Boys' Clothing

Three new lots of boys' frieze top coats ready.

One handsome style is made of Oxford-mixed frieze, with neatly fitted velvet collar; body lined with serge and sleeves with satin; sizes for 7 to 16 years. Very dressy. $10.

Top coats of blue frieze, lined with Italian cloth; sizes for 6 to 16 years. Splendid coats for the price. $5.50.

Top coats of all-wool frieze, with sturdy iron-yarn sleeve-lining, and Italian cloth body lining; deep French facings; sizes for 5 to 16 years. $4.50.

Pure worsted "dress-up" suits for $5. Last year we thought $8.50 a low price for a pure worsted suit. These in neat stripes and checks, mostly grays; double-breasted jackets. Another grade at $6. Eight patterns in all. Sizes for 7 to 16 years.

Wanamaker $3 Shoes

For men and women.

Three dollars will buy pretty nearly as good-wearing shoes as can be made—that is, in this store. If you pay us five or six dollars, you will get finer and handsomer shoes; but for everyday wear, granting that you are particular about shape and looks, you'll hardly want better shoes than we show for $3.

Men's shoes in the sturdy but flexible boarded calf, smooth calf, shell cordovan, enamel grain, winter russet, chrome kidskin—all with double oak-tanned soles, welted, of course, in bull-dog, London and Waukenphast toe-shapes. Shoes that a good shoe store may match for four dollars. A good dollar saved, by choosing from these.

Women's shoes of fine kidskin, in fall and winter weights, with welted oak soles, yet very flexible; patent leather or kid tips; laced or buttoned; $3. Worth a dollar more.

A most complete range of sizes in these regular lines of shoes.

OUR FACILITIES.

It is cheaper to make the clothes we sell than to buy what some other concern makes, and it is far cheaper per suit to make ten thousand suits, than to make a hundred. Each and every detail of large manufacturing clips a little from the cost, and these little savings amount to considerable in a suit.

We buy, and use, thousands of yards of cloth, and hence we can buy at closer prices, and offer a wider range of patterns. We employ hundreds of skilled tailors and craftsmen all the year round. Our workroom is here on the premises, and is clean, well-lighted, and sanitary. No shoddy cloth, and no half-sewed workmanship find their way into "Oehm" clothes. The best that can be made for the least possible price, is what you get here, not occasionally, but always.

We'll send you samples, catalogue of latest styles and prices, and self-measurement blank, for the asking.
