EDITORIAL NOTES.

In 1894 there was a considerable diversion from the Democratic congressional nomination, on account of an independent ticket, but the Democracy won. In 1896 there was no independent ticket, to draw from the Democratic party, but by flooding the district with a barrel of money (more than could be expended) the Republicans won by a narrow majority. In 1898 an independent ticket reappeared, but the Democratic nominee was triumphantly elected by a good majority. This year there will be nothing to deflect the party vote, and Bryan, Stevenson, Brown and Moore will, we believe, carry the district by an old-fashioned majority. It ought not to be less than two thousand. Let every Democrat and every opponent of President McKinley and the strenuous Roosevelt put forth every possible effort in the good cause from now until the sixth of November.

There are many Germans in Maryland, and among them are some of the State's most substantial citizens. Heretofore their influence has been pretty evenly divided between the Democratic and Republican parties. This will not be the case this year, for the Germans in Maryland, as well as those in other parts of this country, are very strongly opposed to the administration's imperialistic and military policy. So strong are they in their convictions that they are already organizing clubs, (and many former Republicans are joining) to secure the election of Mr. Bryan. One important organization with this end in view was formed in Baltimore last Wednesday. The secretary says he thinks there will be two thousand members enrolled within a month.

The New York Sun, the leading McKinley organ of New York this year, (the Sun by the way is always on the losing side) has a long article on the election betting now in progress. It says:

The rational odds on McKinley are no more than 5 to 4, or less, say 10 to 9, and even these should be the other way unless there soon runs throughout the Republican party and the causal supporters of the principles that it stands for an understanding of the danger which is in Bryanism and a resolve to overcome it by the individual effort of every man. Wake up, all!

The Sun is frightened, badly frightened, as are all other champions of the soulless trusts which are fastening their fangs in nearly every independent business in the land, and threatening the liberty of American citizens. There will be a greater panic before the rout in November.

Missionary Hanna is making a city to city canvass for the "stuff" that Republicans hang their hopes upon in the national campaign this fall. The Philadelphia Republicans responded nobly, and guaranteed half a million dollars to the campaign fund. Hanna knows where to go a-fat-frying and those out of whom he frys it know where to go for the jobs that bring them the fat. In other words, they are investing some of the money that protection has allowed them to squeeze out of the people in the past, with the assurance that their opportunities in that direction will not be abridged.

For many years there has been much complaint among farmers and housekeepers throughout the State, and particularly on the Eastern Shore, on account of the scarcity of reliable labor. Hon. Thomas A. Smith, Chief of Bureau of Industrial Statistics, has mapped out a plan, as noted in an article in the JOURNAL last week, which promises to be of great benefit to employers and employes alike in all parts of the State. By a free State employment bureau he believes a great deal of the troubles heretofore experienced may be remedied.

Judge Burke, of Baltimore county, Md., has rendered a decision to the effect that the grantor must pay for the revenue stamps on a deed conveying property. Judge Burke held that the grantor of a deed agrees to deliver a valid deed to the grantee, and that in order that a deed be valid, it must have the revenue stamp attached, and therefore the party selling the property is required to furnish them. It is probably the first decision rendered in Maryland.

The Census Bureau this week announced the population of Baltimore to be 508,957. That this is much less than the actual number of people living within the city limits is generally believed.

Mark Hanna is making a tour of the United States and laying assessments. He has an enormous sum of money to raise for vote-buying purposes, and he is about it early in the campaign.

In the showing of dividends paid to its stockholders by the Standard Oil Company since it gained monopolistic control of the oil product and market in this country there is found ample proof of the excessive profits possible to trustism at the expense of the people, says the St. Louis Republic. The Standard Oil Company has already paid out in dividends in the total amount of its capitalization several times over. It has just declared an 8 per cent. dividend, amounting to a total of $8,000,000. It has thus far this year declared dividends reaching an aggregate of 38 per cent., or more than one-third of its capital stock. It pays more annually in dividends than all the national banks in the United States. It is little wonder that the American trusts are glad to contribute vast sums to keep in power in the Government the political party which protects and strengthens their monopolies at the expense of the people. It is little wonder that the people are wearying of the gigantic tribute which they are compelled to pay to the trusts. What would be wonderful indeed, however, will be a failure of the people at the polls next November to take steps to correct this evil of trustism by removing from power the party of the trusts.

The Republicans in the county convention last Tuesday adopted their standard platform. The writer no doubt did not observe the glaring inharmoniousness of the two planks of the platform which praise the Republican policy of protection and denounce monopolies. Republicans favored protection for the infant industries of this country years ago, and it might then have been an excusable expedient, but at this day, when our manufacturers are clamoring for the chance to compete with all comers in the East, regardless of the pauper labor that may be used elsewhere in competition with our "protected laborers, it is about time to put manufacturers on their merits or on the demand and supply basis with farmers and others. This model Republican platform admits that much, by denouncing monopolies. Without protection of prohibitive proportions there could not have grown up monopolies of such character as the local Republicans denounce. Protection is their parent, and to praise the parent and denounce the legitimate offspring, is to present an apparently needless spectacle of inconsistency.

State Senator John P. Moore, of Worcester county, the Democratic Congressional nominee in the First district, was in Baltimore Tuesday and said the prospects indicated a big Democratic majority in the district. Senator Moore opened his campaign Wednesday by attending the Kent county fair, at Tolchester, and Thursday he went to Easton to the Talbot county fair.

Hon. Richard Croker, the reputed boss of New York City, will, it is said, take the stump during the campaign for the special purpose of warning the young of the necessity of fighting the trusts. "This is a young man's campaign," he said, "Now we are going to see that the young men have more votes than their employers. They are going to elect Bryan."

Chairman Vandiver of the Democratic Committee gives it out that he succeeded in effecting a thorough organization of the party in every part of the state, and desires all Bryan clubs to communicate with his headquarters and keep in touch during the campaign.

"I know I am rather early," said the brisk agent; "but let me sell you a little device to close your doors next winter. Nothing like being prepared." "I won't need anything," said the small dealer, sadly; "the trust will have closed my doors by that time."

FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITOL.

Evidence continues to multiply showing that Illinois will be found in the Democratic column this year. After expressing his opinion to that effect, Mr. W. H. Broad, of Chicago, said: "There are a number of reasons for believing this, but I am convinced that opposition to imperialism will have a greater influence in the undoing of the Republicans than any of the other issues. There is a big German vote in Illinois, especially in Chicago, and the Germans, almost to a man, are opposed to the imperialistic policy of the present administration. There is also a very bitter factional fight among Illinois Republicans, and although it dosen't come much to the surface, the feeling is so strong that it will be impossible for them to make a progressive and harmonious campaign in the state. Opposition to the trusts will also lose the Republican ticket a good many votes, and with the labor troubles in Chicago and all the suffering that has resulted from them, the Republican orators will find it difficult to convince the workingmen there that the country is blessed with an over-abundance of prosperity."

That the Democratic leaders are thoroughly posted on what the Republicans are doing and are meeting every Republican move, is made apparent by the following remarks of one of them: "Against the prosperity statistics which are being manufactured by the Census Bureau, we will place some hard facts which indicate that many classes of men who have to depend on their labor for a living are not prosperous. Take for instance the anthracite coal miners. The coal trust has cut down the number of work days so that miners are expected to live on three days' work a week. This means that they can barely exist. In New England, some of the cotton mills are shut down and others are running on half time. The silk mills of New Jersey are running on short time, and one of the big silk manufacturing companies has, within the last week, gone into bankruptcy. We are looking for the 'scare' which the Republicans have intimated they will give the country, that attention may be called to the money question. It may come at any time, and the small volume of trading in Wall street indicates a fear there that a money squeeze may be impending. When the West begins the moving of its crops and calls upon the East for money to do it with, and if coincidentally, a Russian or any other European loan should be placed making drafts upon our gold supply, a very little artificial encouragement would produce the 'scare' which I think the Republicans contemplate."

Representative Vandiver, of Mo., has been investigating a cost of government by Commission, under the McKinley administration. Owing to mixed systems of bookkeeping he has only partially succeeded, but he shows that more than two and a half millions of dollars have been directly appropriated for commissions, not including the Postal Commission, the California Debris Commission, or the Mississippi River Commission. That the expenses of these various commissions have been much larger than the direct appropriations is certain, but the Treasury gives no details. They are included in items which appear on the books as for "National Defense," "Miscellaneous" and "Emergency," and which aggregate a total expenditure for the last fiscal year alone of within a fraction of twenty-two million dollars.

IMPERIALISM'S MENACE.

A large standing army is ever a menace to a Republican form of government.

A Republic can have no subjects. When we made allies of the Filipinos we disputed Spain's title.

Spain's title was based on force alone.

We were at liberty to deal with the Filipinos according to American principles.

Heretofore this nation has been prompt to express its sympathy with those who were fighting for civil liberty.

Our opponents seek to confuse imperialism with expansion.

A colonial policy means a few traders, a few taskmasters, a few office holders and a large army.

The question is not what we can do, but what we ought to do.

I oppose the sordid doctrine that would place a price on the life of an American soldier.

I thought it safer to trust the American people to give independence to the Filipinos.

I believe that we are in a better position to wage a successful contest against imperialism.

The Filipinos do not need any encouragement from any American now living.

Our whole history has been an encouragement to battle for liberty.

God himself placed in every human heart the love of liberty.

We cannot repudiate the principle of self-government.

Sympathy for the Boers does not arise from an unfriendliness toward England.

Militarism will inevitably change the ideas of our young men from the arts of peace to the science of war.

In a monarchy a king gives to the people what he believes to be a good government.

In a Republic the people secure for themselves what they believe to be a good government. It is not necessary to own people to trade with them.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhœa After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhœa and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhœa that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by R. J. Colston, Denton; Hugh Duffey, Hillsboro and T. W. Smith, Ridgely.

If our farmers want a good stand of grass instead of sorrell, all they need to do is to apply the "LeGore Combination Lime" on wheat this fall; it will also increase the wheat crop one-third. The analysis of the soil after an application of this lime shows that it unites ammonia, phosphoric acid and potash in the soil and attracts nitrogen from the air, freely; but the increased crop proves it much more satisfactory to the farmer. The extra growth of grass, corn and wheat that it produces will convince the most skeptical. For prices, testimonials and any further information, address, LEGORE COMBINATION LIME CO., LeGore, MD.

To the Deaf.

A rich lady, cured of her deafness and noises in the head by Dr. Nicholson's Artificial Ear Drums, gave $10,000 to his Institute, so that deaf people unable to procure the Ear Drums may have them free. Address No. 4874 The Nicholson Institute, 780 Eighth Avenue, New York.

From the Kent News.

The Democratic Congressional nominees are both received with general satisfaction throughout the district, and the leaders are not only confident of their election but expect to get a big majority.

When wit is kind as well as playful, when information knows how to be silent, as well as how to speak, when good will is shown to those who are present, we may know that we are in good society.—August Ladies' Home Journal.

If farmers wish the best lime to grow good grass, corn and wheat on barren land, use the "King Combination Lime." It gives the land power to draw nitrogen from the air. It has the staying qualities for years after its application, it is superior as a land improver and crop grower to anything on the market. We invite tests with bone fertilizers or any other lime in use. For testimonials and terms, address, KING LIME CO., LeGore, Md.

THE ECONOMIC
CORN HARVESTER AND CARRIER,

HAS REVOLUTIONIZED CORN HARVESTING

Wherever the Machines have been tried. Without exception the farmers of Caroline and everywhere else who have tried them commend them highly, and the demand for the Harvester is heavy. With two men you can cut from ten to fifteen acres per day. With the monthly help usually found on the farm the expense will be only from 20 to 30 cents per acre. With help that costs $1 per day your expense will be from 45 to 60 cents per acre. If you have a large acreage of corn to gather (80 to 100 acres) you will save enough with the machine in one season to pay for it. The average farmer would certainly save enough (even with a lesser number of acres) to pay for an Economic in two seasons. It is not complicated. There are no expensive repairs to buy, as in the case of a complicated machine. Besides

It Will Last a Life Time

If taken care of. The hard, laborious part of corn harvesting will be done away with when you get a machine, as well as the greater part of the expense and trouble of labor at times so uncertain. With an Economic you will be sure that your crop will be harvested promptly at the proper time. These facts the progressive farmer will not fail to appreciate.

Call at the Ridgely factory and see the machine, or on any of the farmers who are using them.
