Democratic Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT:

WILLIAM J. BRYAN,

OF NEBRASKA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT:

ADLAI E. STEVENSON,

OF ILLINOIS.

FOR CONGRESS—SHORT TERM:
EDWIN H. BROWN,
of Queeen Anne's County.

FOR CONGRESS—LONG TERM:
JOHN P. MOORE, of Worcester County.

VOTE THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

We exhort you, farmers of Caroline, to consider most seriously the effect of your ballot before you decide upon which side you will cast it next Tuesday. Consider whether or not you can afford to assist to remain in power in the nation a party which has practiced, in its administration of affairs, a discrimination against the farmer more deadly to his interests than open antagonism would have been. That has been demonstrated beyond question. The land from which you are to gain a livelihood has not deteriorated in quality or productiveness, but it has in price. Why? Because the policy of the Republican party has virtually closed the door in the face of the former buyers of the products of farms, and driven them to seek food supplies elsewhere or through other channels. The disposition of the cereal crops has been, by this means, put into the hands of organized speculators, who make prices for them that are most advantageous to themselves and least so to the farmer producers. Can you, in justice to yourselves, in any manner aid in perpetuating the rule of a party pledged only to the protection and betterment of the speculators and the trusts? Can you aid the party that would centralize the money of the country in the hands of those who have already absorbed the larger proportion of it? On the other hand, can you not, ought you not to do all in your power to put into control of affairs the party representing your best interests? The party that opposes taking from the buying people, in the shape of tariff taxes, money to give in bonuses to those who have their money in factories instead of in farm lands? The party that would give to us again a government by the people and an equality of opportunity to all classes of people, as it was in days prior to Republican rule, and particularly that of these latter days, when the trusts and the national banks run the Republican party?

The time has come when the farmers of the country should do something toward bettering their condition as a class—now that classism and favoritism must be met and overcome, by like means, it seems—or their condition, which has grown steadily worse under this regime, will grow rapidly worse under a continuance of it. The safety of the farmer, the wage-earner and the young man who aspires to a business career, is in arraying themselves against the criminal aggression of the Republican party, by its licensees at home and its armed forces abroad; against the party that taxes every article of merchandise for the benefit of a small class of capitalists, and burdens every householder thereby without benefit to the government. It is to the best interest of the farmers of Caroline county and of all sections of the country, and their duty as well, to vote the Democratic ticket this fall, without regard to past party affiliation, and we believe they will not fail to do it.

DEMOCRATS ARE HOPEFUL.

Democrats enter the last week of the campaign hopeful of success. They have every reason to know that the plain people of the country—those who earn their living by brain or brawn, and who have no interest in or sympathy with the trusts, which are so rapidly crushing out all opportunity for the success of individual effort in any industrial or commercial line—are overwhelmingly in favor of the election of Bryan and Stevenson. They do not underrate the power of the forces which are working in unison for the re-election of Mr. McKinley. On the contrary, they know there is danger—grave danger—that the unscrupulous use of bread and butter coercion by those forces, will result in defeating the will of the people in a sufficent number of States to re-elect Mr. McKinley. All that men can do to meet this danger is being done by the Democratic leaders, from Mr. Bryan down, but after all, it is the voters themselves who will determine the result, and it is dificult to believe that there are a sufficient number of American voters who can be purchased by money or compelled by threats of discharge from their positions, to vote against their honest convictions and in favor of retaining this trust-ridden, imperialistic administration in power. This country never saw a more important election day than November 6th will be. The result will show whether a majority of the American voters prefer being free men, each a sovereign in his own person and an equal participant in a free government, or serfs under an imperial government, the every important act of which is dictated by a moneyed oligarchy.

MR. CLEVELAND SEES VICTORY.

A dispatch from Princeton. New Jersey, late Monday last, gives the following interview:

"Ex-President Grover Cleveland, in an interview which I had with him predicted a landslide to William J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate for President. He advanced several reasons for this.

"For an hour the great Democratic statesman fought shy ot any reference to the political situation. He urged that he no longer took any active interest in politics and was content to look on. Then our conversation turned to the conditions in the West, and after a little reminiscent talk Mr. Cleveland said:

"'You will see a landslide for Bryan the morning after election. Of this I am confident.'

"I replied that the indications, according to the Republican leaders, were favorable to McKinley, but he quickly retorted:

"'Of course they are. That is policy. What I tell you is my private opinion.'

"There was no doubt concerning the former President's sincerity in his expressed belief. When I asked him what reasons he had for so thinking he continued:

"'You do not understand the conditions. There are elements all over the country at work which it would be impossible to draw into line for McKinley. In the first place, union labor is for Bryan. In recent years this section of labor has been a factor in politics and it certainly is not favorable to the interests of capital.

"'The traveling men are for Bryan. These men, who are a small army, are of the opinion that the Republican party is the protector of corporations, and by the amalgamation of industrial interests many of them have been thrown out of employment.

"'In the Northwest, in Minnesota, in Dakota and Iowa, there are many Hollanders. Sympathy for the Boers, who are their own flesh and blood, will induce them to support Bryan. See if I am not correct.

"'I have no desire to be drawn into any controversy over the results of the election, but if the Republican managers honestly think that President McKinley will be re-elected, it is my opinion they are mistaken. They do not know the situation.'

"Further than this Mr. Cleveland refused to discuss the campaign. He said that Mr. Bryan is a remarkable orator and has a magnetic personality, which is responsible for his tremendous popularity. I asked him what the effect of an oratorical campaign is. He said:

"'Well, for a man who can talk like Bryan, it is a successful method; for a candidate who is not an orator it would be a dismal failure.'

"Mr. Cleveland concluded by saying that he was 'out of active politics.'"

The day following Mr. Cleveland denied in the papers the interview, which was followed by an affidavit of the correspondent that the interview took place and was correctly reported.

DEMOCRACY AND AMERICANISM.

From the Baltimore Sun.

What can be the overwhelming interest the misnamed Honest Money League can have in the continuance of the Hanna foreign policy, necessitating the maintenance of a large army and navy?

Why do they call the league Democratic, while advocating Republican foreign policies? Why do they so entirely ignore the living issues and keep on pounding the 16 to 1 corpse? Why do they want to resurrect the dead and so completely neglect the living issues, involving the perpetuity of our system of government?

In 1896 the free silver issue was forced forward, but the real question then was, Shall our Government pass into the hands of combines and trusts, or shall it remain in the hands of the people? Now things have so far progressed that this year the real question is whether the American system of government shall survive, or whether the principles of the Declaration of Independence shall be denied and our Constitution ignored and defied. The people do not pretend to fully understand the money question, yet believe that it does not matter so much what kind of money we are to use as it does what system of government we are to have. They know that if we adopt a money system that may prove none of the best we can easily change it, but the people's liberty, once lost, can only be restored through bloody revolution, and even then the result would be doubtful. They look at the two South African republics—wiped out.

I, for one, with all my decided convictions in favor of free money, free trade, free ships and sailors' rights, and my radical opposition to all the anti-American Republican policies, which have crippled our shipbuilding industries and driven our merchant marine from the high seas, am willing to let all these economic questions rest for the time and join my fellow-citizens and help wrest our Government from the hands of the Republican leaders, the allies of foreigners, the enemies of Americanism.

When the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution are again re-established by the election of Bryan and Stevenson we will have plenty of time to discuss economic questions.

I confidently believe that there is not enough trust money in the world to bribe, purchase, coerce and delude enough people to defeat Americanism for a mess of pottage. The result must and will be in favor of Bryan, Stevenson, liberty and American independence.

H. S. MANCHA.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The issue is clearly drawn, says the Baltimore Sun, and the division between the parties was never in any national contest more clearly drawn. On the one side all the greedy, predatory and unscrupulously selfish interests of the country are massed, crying for another four years of material prosperity—for themselves. On the other side are the hosts of the plain people, the honest, industrious, unselfish and patriotic men, who love their country and only seek to keep it for their children what it has been until now for them—the land of liberty and equal human rights, with a fair chance in it for all and unfair favoritism for none. And it is by the victory of the plain people now, as in every previous crisis of our history, that the true prosperity of the country—true because based on the everlasting moral equities and not on purely mercenary and material grounds—will be most surely promoted.

"The greatest point of difference between this campaign and that of 1896," says Senator Gorman, "is that the Democrats who left us then have returned to the fold. Four years ago when we held a meeting it was hardly possible to get any business man or men prominent in professional life to go on the platforms. This time things are different, and large numbers of those who left us have come back. As for the general situation, all I can say is that the National Committee has confidence in the result, and Mr. Bryan himself is confident that he will be elected. The masses of the people seem to be with the party this time more strongly than in former campaigns."

The official announcement of the total population of the United States for 1900 is 76,295,220 of which 74,627,907 are contained in the 45 States representing approximately the population to be used for apportionment purposes. There is a total of 134,158 Indians not taxed. The total population in 1890, with which the aggregate population of the present census should be compared, was 63,069,756. Taking the 1890 population as a basis, there has been a gain in population of 13,225,464 during the past 10 years, representing an increase of nearly 21 per cent.

Chairman Jones, of the Democratic National Committee, says: "The Democrats have made an honest campaign. We have appealed to the heads and hearts of the American people. We have won the fight and, by heaven, we will not be defrauded out of our victory by the chicanery of election judges. If our Republican friends will be honest there will no trouble, but intimidation at the polls or attempted dishonesty in the count will be met by such methods as may be necessary and entirely effective."

Free Press of Lincoln, Nebraska, announces result of postal-card ballot among its German readers. Nine thousand votes cast, principally in Middle Western States. Total gives McKinley 3,106, Bryan 5,861. Proportion in your favor, 3 to 1 in Indiana, 4 to 1 in Ohio, 3 to 1 in Iowa, 2 to 1 in Wisconsin and Nebraska. Looks like a landside.

Hon John P. Moore was with Mr. Bryan much of the time during the tour through the State last week. Mr. Moore says Mr. Bryan impresses most profoundly his hearers and all with whom he comes in contact. He believes Mr. Bryan's campaign has greatly strengthened the party all over the country.

A vote for the Democratic candidates this year means that the people are in favor of a strict construction of the Constitution of the United States, and opposed to the benevolent assimilation of the Filipinos, and the criminal aggression that would seize their native land by force of arms.

The money league of Baltimore has spent thousands of dollars advertising anti-Democratic speeches, etc., throughout the State. Naturally, they want this matter placed in Democratic papers. In this they sometimes fail, however.

Vote for Brown and Moore, and show to the people of this State that the First Congressional district is unalterably opposed to paying tribute to the Trusts, as well as to the fine-sounding heresies of the sound money cranks.

General A. H. Goffroth, of Pennsylvania, who was a Congressman before the civil war, and who was one of Lincoln's pall-bearers, says he considers Mr. Bryan the ablest statesman of the times.

Cheers from over 150,000 throats rang in William J. Bryan's ears Saturday night during his second progress through New York city, and 50,000 persons listened to his speeches.

Mr. John K. Cowen is trying to make the B. & O. a Republican railroad company. And the directors will probably make him understand that it can't be done.

Caroline is now Democratic. If a very large part of wealthy Mr. Jackson's barrel is not sent here the county will go Democratic next Tuesday.

Mark your ballot in but one place—in the blank space at the right of Jackson and Liberty—first column.

Senator N. B. Scott, of the Republican National Committee, was one of the speakers at a banquet given to Governor Roosevelt in New York on Friday night of last week. Senator Scott said, among other things:

"Right here I want to say I believe in trusts. They are a good thing. The Standard Oil Company put in pipe lines to all the small towns where oil is produced, and if it was not for the Standard Oil Company this prosperity that we have wouldn't be there today."

Senator Scott's views coincide with those of Chairman Hanna exactly. Is it any wonder the trusts are so liberal?

The First Congressional District of Maryland is unquestionably safe for Moore and Brown, notwithstanding the claims of the Republicans to the contrary. Queen Anne's, Worcester and Wicomico counties will give at least an aggregate of 1700 majority for the Democratic ticket.—Centreville Observer, Chairman Smith says Caroline does not belong in the doubtful column this year. It is Democratic.

Mr. Cleveland thinks there will be a landslide next Tuesday—something like that of 1892—perhaps.

Mr. Bryan this week received in Ohio a welcome almost equal to that he met in New York.

Many people now believe as does the Sun, that in Maryland Hanna's game is surely up.

Chairman Vandiver says we will carry the State sure.

The greatest Democratic meeting for years will be held next Tuesday.

THE CRISIS IS AT HAND.

From the Baltimore Sun.

The crisis of the nation is at hand. On Tuesday the voter will determine whether this country is to remain a real republic or enter upon the reign of empire, militarism and an unholy conquest 10,000 miles from Maryland, with its attending evils. If the vote is cast for empire there will be no getting away from the consequences and the workingman will be the first and greatest sufferer. Imperialism brings the workingman to the lowest plane of serfdom, and, aside from the enlistment of a large standing army, whose ranks he must fill when death and disease deplete it, it brings him into competition with the Chinese and Filipinos, both of whom work for pauper wages. With four more years of the McKinley-Hanna Administration and the Trusts' Attorney-General, Grigg, in power, what has the workingman to hope for, what has the small capitalist to expect, what has the manufacturer to look forward to? The Trust invites the cheapest labor (and the Filipino and Chinese will come in very well and meet their needs). The Trusts stifle capital and will drive the small manufacturer out of business, and as the Trusts monopolize trade there will be no competition.

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days, to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequaled. For sale by R. J. Colston, Denton; Hugh Duffy, Hillsboro; T. W. Smith, Ridgely.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps, of Poteau, Ark. "It cured me of bloody flux, I cannot speak to highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion, if not praise, of those who use it. The quick cures which it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. For sale by R. J. Colston, Denton; Hugh Duffey, Hillsboro; T. W. Smith, Ridgely.
