OUR NOMINEE FOR JUDGE.

We place at the head of our columns this week the name of Colonel Edwin H. Brown, nominated for Associate Judge of the Second judicial district, by the convention held here on Thursday. Whilst we had hoped that that honor might fall to a worthy son of old Caroline, we cannot fail to recognize the fact that Colonel Brown possesses, in a marked degree, the qualities which go to make up a good judge—large knowledge of the law, sound judgment, keen discrimination and sterling integrity. Thus equipped he is worthy to succeed the Hon. Frederick Stump, whose long and honorable career on the bench endeared him in an unusual degree to the people, who had every confidence that in his hands the scales of justice were ever in equal poise, regardless of conditions or circumstances. To succeed such a man; to share in the honorable record the bench of the Second circuit has made, and to join the present bench in perpetuating and brightening that record, is an ambition creditable to any man. Colonel Brown has the additional incentive of succeeding on the bench a line of illustrious men from his own county which was almost continuous, for between Hopper and Carmichael and Robinson the space of time was comparatively short, and it is to be hoped that this line, after the few years since the death of Judge Robinson, will be renewed by the elevation of Colonel Edwin H. Brown to the bench. The best efforts of the Caroline Democracy will be put forth to that end, and doubtless many personal friends, not of his party, will lend a hand; but it behooves the Democrats of Queen Anne's to roll up a majority for him that has no precedent even in that staunch Democratic county.

"UNSELFISH CONSIDERATION"

One might suppose from the manner the Union speaks of the county commissioners' "unselfish consideration of the public welfare," that the majority portion of the board had gratuitously given their time and attention to the supervision of the improvements which it is claimed has been made and simply put their hands in their pockets and paid the debts which it is claimed has been paid. Their unselfishness did not reach either of those points. The taxpayers have very distinct recollection of having a hand in paying all the county's debts that have been paid. They recall that the highest tax-rate in the county's history was laid for three successive years for that purpose. There is not a single instance that can be cited where the present board of county commissioners have shown "unselfish consideration for the public welfare" in the expenditure of the people's money. The few things directly in control of the commissioners give instances where they have failed to show anything but a selfish consideration for their party favorites. In the matter of public roads they took the alternative of spending one or two hundred dollars among their party people, (the bills for which will be well masked in the expenditures published next year,) rather than save three or four hundred dollars of the people's money in the working of the public roads of a single district. There are undoubtedly a few miles of public road in the county for the betterment of which they deserve credit, but the roads throughout the county are not in a better condition now than when the present board took them in charge, nearly four years ago, although the annual expenditure upon them has been fully as large as under former management.

The concensus of opinion at Washington is that President Roosevelt will have an opportunity to prove his quality as a fighter when the tariff question comes up in Congress this winter. President Roosevelt has pledged himself to carry out the reciprocity policy of Mr. McKinley, but there is much reason to believe he will encounter the opposition of powerful influence hostile to the principle of reciprocity in trade.

The Baltimore News says Ex-Senator Gorman expects to make several speeches during the present campaign.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

While organized labor lost a fortune in its battle with the Steel Trust, Mr. Morgan's combine has not suffered materially, if reports from the headquarters of that concern are to be relied upon. It is semi-officially stated that the net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation during the past six months have amounted to $54,000,000 and that a dividend will soon be declared on both classes of stock issued by the company. When a trust has grown so powerful that it can inflict an almost fatal blow upon a great branch of union labor and make half a hundred millions at the same time, the situation has become serious, and Americans will appreciate the gravity of the political problem involving this phase of capitalistic economy. Unless decisive steps are taken to regulate the evil, the octopus will have, within the next decade, so involved the working classes in its far-reaching tentacles that the feudal system will seem a veritable Elysium by comparison.

Of late, Hawaii has had more than her share of political turmoil and internal brawling. Now comes the report that Governor Sanford B. Dole has resigned and the official notice of his retirement is en route to Washington. There is a strong opposition to the gubernatorial incumbent in certain quarters and efforts have repeatedly been made to smirch his official character. It is not to be forgotten, however, that the present Governor has accomplished a great deal for his country, he has been a reliable executive officer and that his successor, if Mr. Dole has resigned, is likely to be more or less of an experiment as well as the representative of a faction that has stirred up affairs in the Pacific islands repeatedly since they passed into the control of the American Nation.

Farmers in this vicinity are not worrying about the rise in the price of coal nor are they looking well to their wood piles. They are sure the winter is going to be mild and that precautions against extreme cold will be unnecessary. Their predictions are based on the fact that the hornets are building their nests close to the ground. Old farmers say this is a never failing sign of a warm winter with little or no snow. When the nests are built only on stout trees, high from the ground and close to the trunk, then the following winter will be a rough one and there will be plenty of snow.

Earl Li Hung Chang has once more recovered. Now that there is a growing prospect of comparatively friendly relations between China and the powers, he feels almost convalescent. When matters looked dark and threatening, the earl was scarcely expected to recover. Bret Harte knew his individual when he wrote that "For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the heathen Chinee is peculiar." Earl Li is a superb diplomat, but he has all the characteristics of his race nevertheless.

Thus far Mr. Roosevelt is practically an unknown quantity even among the leaders of the party that placed him second to Mr. McKinley at the last Republican national convention. It is expected, however, that within the coming two months the new President will be compelled to declare himself on the leading issues of the hour. Whether he will prove to be more subservient than Mr. Hanna had hoped for is a matter of interesting speculation at the present time.

The trust spirit is still unchecked. It continues to ride rough-shod through the avenues of business, crushing all opposition. The next on the program is a patent-leather combination, which proposes to have a capital of nearly $100,000,000. By the time it has become thoroughly organized, Mr. Morgan may be expected to step forward and have a foot in it.

It is currently reported in the press of the country that President Kruger, of the Transvaal Republic, South Africa, will send emissaries to President Roosevelt asking friendly intervention in behalf of the Boers. President Roosevelt is of the same stock, Hollanders, as President Kruger.

Although numerous alliances against the Democratic organization in New York city have previously been made, few of them have succeeded even temporarily in caging the Tiger.

The war in the Philippines is not over yet. A disastrous fight took place on Sunday last and forty-eight American soldiers were killed and eleven wounded.

The Democrats have already inaugurated a lively campaign in some parts of the State, and very soon all the counties will be deeply interested in the canvass.

Mr. John P. Moore has been renominated for the Senate and Mr. Frances H. Purnell for clerk of the court in Worcester county.

The United States Naval Academy entered upon its fifty-seventh academic year Tuesday.

The fall term of the Court of Appeals of Maryland will begin Monday, October 7.

Unless you register next Tuesday you cannot vote this year.

Mr. McKinley's estate was valued at $210,000.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES NOTIFIED.

Dr. Joshua W. Hering and J. Frank Turner, Esq., Democratic candidates on the State ticket, were formally notified of their nomination on Wednesday. Dr. Hering, replying to Dr. George Wells, who made the notification speech, said:

"The action of the Democratic State Convention in placing me again before the people of Maryland as its candidate for the important office of Comptroller of the Treasury, and of which you give me official notification today, is an honor which I deeply appreciate. Especially am I gratified at the fact that the nomination comes to me as it came to me two years ago, with such unanimity as to impress me with the belief that my candidacy is a response to the genuine desire of our party throughout the State.

"In accepting the nomination two years ago I stated that, in my view, 'the holding of public office is a sacred trust committed to the individual for the time being by the people, whose servant he is, and in accepting it he is bound by every consideration of honor and good citizenship to give to the people the best service of which he is capable.'

"In the official term which I am now serving I have endeavored to act upon this principle, and if chosen by the people for a second term it will be the principle that will continue to guide me.

"The Democratic party, which has had charge of the government of Maryland since 1867, except for the brief period of four years, is to be congratulated upon the record it has made in reducing the net public debt of the State from $7,614,413.43 in 1867 to $2,885,269.13 at the close of the fiscal year of 1900, a reduction of nearly five millions of dollars; in reducing the State tax rate from 20 cents on the $100, as it was in 1867, to 17 cents on the $100, as at present and during the same period making large expenditures for the erection and equipment of the State's reformatory and other institutions; in fostering and developing a public school system which is the pride of every citizen of Maryland, and which gives to every child in the State, without regard to race or color, the opportunity for a liberal education, and in giving to our people everywhere the blessings of quiet and orderly government.

"The able and business-like administration of the affairs of our State by his Excellency John Walter Smith is such as to merit the cordial approval of our citizens. And we point with satisfaction to the fact that under the economical management of the Democratic majority in the Legislature of 1900 the session cost the taxpayers of Maryland nearly $6,000 less than the session of 1898, the cost of the session of 1898, including per diem, printing, etc., being $173,824.49, while the cost of the session of 1900, covering the same items of expense, was $168,003.99, a difference of $5,823.50.

"A close examination of the figures will also disclose the fact that the appropriations made by the Legislature of 1900 were less than those of the session of 1898.

"The condition of the finances of the State is in every way satisfactory and its credit is of the highest. A bid of 102.67 was made for $200,000 of its 3 per cent. bonds in July last. The State has the option to redeem these bonds in nine years from July 1, 1901, and the offer was the highest I believe, that has ever been made for any State's bonds.

"The campaign upon which we are now entering is one involving, distinctively, questions which relate to the management of our State affairs, and our people will be called upon at the coming election to choose from among their fellow-citizens those whom they desire to represent them in these interests so vital and so important to them.. It is a campaign of the highest importance to us, both as citizens of the State and as members of the Democratic party, and we enter upon it with confidence because we believe Maryland to be a normally Democratic State and because we believe also that the highest interests of our people demand the continued supremacy of the Democratic party and the people will so judge in November next.

"If the action of the convention in my nomination shall be ratified at the coming election it will be my earnest purpose to serve the people of my State, the whole people, to the best of my ability."

Mr. Turner, in acknowledging the notification, said: "This nomination, coming as it does as a ratification of my appointment by the Court of Appeals to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of their accomplished clerk, the late Mr. Frank Ford, it is indeed most gratifying to me, and my fellow-citizens throughout the State may feel assured that if elected I shall devote my best energies to such an efficient and faithful discharge of the duties of the office as to merit the confidence which will thereby be reposed."

Free Delivery Comes High.

Official estimates for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1902, which Postmaster General Smith will submit to Congress at the opening of the session, call for an aggregate of $6,250,000 for rural free delivery service throughout the country, an increase of $2,750,000 over the current year. The total for the free delivery service proper, operated in cities, is $18,745,000, an increase of nine per cent. The grand aggregate for the entire postal free delivery service, including free delivery and rural free delivery, is $24,995,000.

POINTS TO DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS.

Some conditions would seem to indicate a sweeping Democratic victory in every county on the Shore. Talbot and Dorchester were worrying the Democratic leaders but the Independent Republican tickets which have been nominated there almost assure the election of the Democratic ticket.

Caroline is safe for a small Democratic majority as is Kent. The ballot law will be a great help to the Democrats in these counties by eliminating largely the purchasable vote which has recently been going solidly to the Republicans.

In Cecil the campaign has been on for a long time. The Democratic ticket was nominated long before the State convention and harmony in the party ranks is complete. Somerset with its varying Republican majority of from 300 to 800 promises to redeem itself this year. The Republicans have almost abandoned all hope of winning and are now centralizing their efforts to secure the election of Oliver Beauchamp for Clerk. They admit that this can only be accomplished by the aid of Democratic votes, and the only question is whether they can get enough of them or not.

The frantic attempts of Mr. Goldsborough to belittle the independent movement in Dorchester are really funny. At headquarters in Baltimore he tells his admiring friends that it amounts to nothing but the next day he comes home and begins a series of mass meetings long before the campaign has started anywhere in the State. As a matter of fact ex-Congressman Kerr is telling his friends some very plain, blunt truths about Goldsborough's leadership which these alleged leaders cannot refute. Just where the fine hand of Mr. Stone is in Dorchester's fight will be seen after the Republican defeat. With Goldsborough's elimination an opening will be left in the county for Stone's "closer" friends.

The same game can be observed in Wicomico. The Republican ticket as dictated by Congressman Jackson is admittedly about the weakest that could have been named. This fact taken in connection with the nomination of Graham for Judge and his well known affilliation with the Goldsborough - McComas organization would seem to be a story of as neat a trick as was ever turned. If Graham's defeat had been Mr. Jackson's dearest wish he could not have done more to bring it about in Wicomico than he has done. Without speaking personally of the gentlemen on the ticket, it may be said that politically, not one is an ally or friend of Graham's. Moreover the old-fashioned Republicans are not convinced of their party regularity. With Graham eliminated from Wicomico politics as he would be by defeat, Stone would have another fresh field to work in where he would find likely prospects.—Salisbury Advertiser.

ANARCHY WAS NOT KNOWN.

Mr. Frank A. Richardson, a noted Washington correspondent, says the question of dealing with anarchy is a tremendous question. The men and women who in the last 50 years have advocated and committed the horrible crimes, which if unchecked will sweep away all peace and security, were not and are not ignorant persons. To the contrary, most of them are not only possessed of acute mentality, but are educated nearly, if not quite, up to the advanced public school standard. They write and talk with abundant and skillful fluency. Anarchy, or the results of anarchy, need never be feared in this country if it is only to the ignorant we are looking. I fancy no man in this broad land of ours would advocate the restriction of educational facilities for the masses. Most surely I do not uphold any such proposition. At the same time no amount of harangues from the pulpit or the stump or in yellow journals can alter the facts. It is the fact, the solmen fact, that crime in this country has not decreased in anything like the ratio in which education has increased. Why, look right here in the capital of the nation. The ratio of crime in this city is five or ten times greater than before the Civil War. Then there was no public school education to speak of. Now it is absolutely universal. Fifty years ago the term "anarchy" was unknown in the United States; there was no such thing as class antagonism. Now who does not know that envy, jealousy, discontent and class animosities pervade from end to end our borders? Who does not know that these sentiments and feelings are industriously fanned by unscrupulous and educated demagogues and adventurers? Who will deny that the teachings of unprincipled but educated so-called popular leaders are fast obliterating and wiping out the laboring classes; that at the rate at which we are progressing there will soon be no more workingmen, but we will all be gentlemen and professors. Yet, as I say, we cannot call a halt in the march of universal education.

Autumn is Here.

The evidence of the changes in the seasons is quite apparent. The veranda groups of the summer have retired to the interior of the house, and as one passes in the chill darkness outside they make a pretty tableaux as they sit about the table in the family dining-room, the glow of lamplight falling about them. The atmosphere has taken on the healthy vigor of autumn, and although the foliage has not yet begun to put on radiant hues of autumn, the goldenrod and its companion blossoms bloom in the country lanes and fields. The boating trips and tennis playing of summer have given place to long walks in the woods. The young folks who were made silly by what the waves said as they sat on the beach with a stretch of starlit sky above them and the water thumping the sands at their feet, are equally susceptible to the language of falling leaves and the whispered comments on man and things the trees occasionally make to one another. Nutting parties will soon be in order, the boys and girls will tramp about and gather health and strength from the October sunshine, to return home in the hazy twilight with rosy cheeks, keen appetites and a certain appreciation of the light and warmth and creature comforts of the fireside.

Mr. W. J. Murphy, having failed to comply with the terms of sale of the store at Hobbs, the public is notified that we will continue to sell at reduced rates until further notice. The stock is still for sale to a reliable party.
