EDITORIAL NOTES.

Another Democratic measure has come to the front in Congress. A Michigan representative has introduced an income tax bill. It provides that on the thirtieth day of June, nineteen hundred and five, and annually thereafter, taxes shall be levied, assessed, and be collected upon the gross incomes of all private persons and corporations, within the States and Territories of the United States, including the District of Columbia, which are liable to taxation under the Constitution of the United States, and which shall be apportioned as therein prescribed for the laying of direct taxes, and assessed and collected at the following rates, that is to say, on all incomes of less than one thousand dollars per annum, on one-hundredth of of one per centum; on all incomes greater than one thousand dollars per annum, and less than ten thousand dollars, one-half of one per centum; on all incomes greater than ten thousand dollars, and less than one hundred thousand dollars per annum, one per centum; on all incomes above one hundred thousand dollars per annum, five per centum. One by one the Democratic measures are being seized upon by the wise Republicans in Congress, who want to stay there.

The following extract from a sermon by Rev. E. M. Jones, colored, to the Mississippi M. E. Conference is pregnant with live thought. It shows him to be an expounder of advanced doctrine among his race which, if followed out, will do much toward allaying the bitter prejudice against the colored race, engendered by such irresponsible negroes as the reverend Jones describes:

"The average young negroes of today are shiftless, worthless and care no more about the church tnan a hog cares about a parlor.

"The tendency of the young American negro of today is not to love the church, but the world. Not to love the prayer meeting, but some place of sin. Not to love the Bible, but a deck of cards.

"The majority of criminals among negroes are young men. The jailbirds are young men. Go to the prisons and you will not find many old negroes there, but that worthless set of young men. They loaf, breed crime, commit crimes and disgrace the whole race. We must face these facts and go to work."

As compared with the average of the past 20 winters, the present winter has been an exceptionally snowy one. There were 10 days in December on which snow fell, against an average of six, and the total fall was 17.2 inches as against an average of 3.3 inches. The heaviest snowfall during any previous December was 12 inches in 1887. Three inches of snow fell in November, the average for the month being but eight-tenths of an inch. The average amount of snow-fall in January is 5.6 inches on on six days, whereas there have already bee 15.3 inches of snow on ten days this month. The greatest amount of snow ever recorded in any January was last year, when 16.6 inches fell.

The following are the officers of the new M. D. & V. system, which includes the Queen Anne's Railroad: President—S. M. Prevost, of Philadelphia, third vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; vice-president—Captain Willard Thomson, of Wilmington; secretary—James R. McClure, of Philadelphia; treasurer—Harlan G. Scott, of Wilmington. Travellers and shippers along the Queen Anne's line expect and, no doubt, will enjoy much better facilities as soon as the new organization takes charge. Fruit-growers especially will be benefited by the change in management, as it will give them freight connections north which will be of great importance.

The right to vote is not a natural right; there is no denial of the "right" or privilege by attaching to it reasonable conditions which bear upon all classes with exactly the same force; and it should be the aim of the State or constitutional authority to limit the suffrage to such a degree that it will be exercised, in so far as human wisdom can provide, for the good of the State." This is the conclusion of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, one of the ablest as well as one of the oldest of the great Republican newspapers. It is in direct conflict with the view of Congressman Jackson.

General Kuropatkin has suffered another defeat, and Russian hopes have fallen again. With nothing but defeat in Manchuria and with incipient rebellion at home, the cup of the Czar's woes is almost full.

Mr. Roosevelt is a Democrat and doesn't know it. He will find out later, however, if he insists on his tariff reform and anti-trust policy, that he is altogether in the wrong party.—Wheeling Register.

Queen Anne's Democrats will, it is said, unanimously renominate Mr. John E. George for Clerk of the Circuit Court.

The B. & O. building in Baltimore will be thirteen stories high, and will accommodate 2,000 employees.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

An unusual and dramatic scene was presented in the House of Representatives last week, when railroad rate legislation being under discussion, the Democratic leader, Representative John Sharp Williams, appealed in his efforts to curb the power of the railways. "We are committed to this proposition because it is Democratic in principle," declared Mr. Williams, "and I do not hesitate to say that we are glad to find the President of the United States on the question is more of an American citizen, more interested in the welfare of all the people, than any particular Democrat or Republican." Then, turning to the Republicans, Mr. Williams said, "We will toe-mark the President's tracks on this subject and we call upon you, as American citizens, to help us to toe-mark them." Mr. Williams' remarks were greeted with a burst of applause from both sides of the chamber, although it was noteworthy that many of the Republican "leaders," among them, Cannou, who was not in the Chair, Dalzell, Grosvenor, Payne and others, failed to applaud and even looked disgusted.

Mr. Williams' remarks followed soon after a caucus of the Democratic members of the House at which it was determined to support the President in his movement for railway rate control, such action, it having been argued, being dictated by patriotic motives, which should stand above partisan considerations. It is also true that the Democrats in the Senate will stand solidly in support of any measure sent over from the House which carries into effect the President's recommendations, although it is entirely possible, even probable, that Senator Elkins, as chairman of the Senate committee on Interstate Commerce, will be able to prevent any measure of real value being reported to the Senate.

That there is no possibility of railway legislation at this session is conceded by those familiar with legislative procedure. The Senate leaders have craftily brought about a situation which precludes the possibility of any important legislative enactment before March 4th. To accomplish this end they once more made a tool of the ever-willing junior Senator from Indiana, Mr. Beveridge. Senator Beveridge was told to bring in the Statehood bill and that the leaders would help him pass it, although they never intended so doing. Mr. Beveridge, never loath to assume a roll which makes him the center of attraction, gladly responded and for days and weeks the Statehood bill has dragged its weary way through the Senate, Mr. Beverage believing he was making progress, while the leaders declared that "nothing could be done until Statehood was disposed of," and all the while were laughing in their sleeves. Now it has become evident, even to Mr. Beverage, that he cannot pass his bill, but he does not even now know that he has been made the cats-paw of the leaders.

The best policies of the President have no more specious friend, no more covert enemy, than Speaker Cannon. The President recently declared that any government employe who exerted influence with members of Congress to obtain an increase of salary must be discharged. This did not please Mr. Cannon, who is an arrant spoilsman, and he immediately passed the word that "lump-funds" must be abolished, and so they are being. "Lump-funds" are appropriations made in lump sums for the several departments, so made that the respective cabinet officers may, at their discretion, reward employes with increase of salary. Opposed to the "lump-fund" is the "statutory roll," that is a list of places for which Congress fixes the salaries. Clerks in all departments are being transferred to the statutory roll so that their salaries cannot be increased except by Congress and those who actually deserve and to whom their chiefs would like to give increases, must appeal to members of Congress or go without.

MANURAL VALUE.

Where fertilizers or manures have to be relied upon lies the manural value of a feeding stuff. This is the nitrogen in the protein and phosphoric acid and potash in the ash. Wheat bran and cotton seed meal have a high manural value, but that of corn meal is low. By keeping the manure, a large proportion of the fertilizing constituents of the feed is recovered in the manure and can be used to enrich the soil. By growing and feeding more leguminous crops the amount of grain is diminished, the value of the manure is increased and the soil is enriched in fertility. Leguminous crops derive the largest part of this nitrogen from the atmosphere during their growth, requiring little application of nitrogenous manures. They enrich the soil ration in nitrogen which they derive from the atmosphere without cost to the farmer, besides improving the mechanical and physical condition of the soil.

Her Ironing Set Her on Fire.

While busy with her weekly ironing several days ago, Mrs. Harvey Truitt, near Oak Grove, dropped some of the clothes she had ironed on the stove. They caught fire, and in attempting to save them the woman's own clothing blazed up. Her screams brought her husband, who, after much difficulty, extinguished the flames. Hitching up his fastest horse the husband drove like mad, with his wife wrapped in blankets, six miles to Seaford. Mrs. Truitt was badly burned about the body and arms, but is now rapidly improving, considerthe nature of her burns.
