WHY GEORGIANS WON'T STEAL.

I have been living in Georgia seven years and have never had but one visit from a beggar. have never locked my front door at night. My ly sometimes go from home on a visit to a unlocked, and nothing has ever been stolen that we know of. My stable and corn-crib is never locked. No honester people never lived than live around us. My opinion is that our people are most too lazy too steal and wouldn't go after corn unless it was shucked and shelled and acked. I believe that if I was to put a bag full of nice corn out at my front gate some fellow That is a good way and saves clerk hire, but I wouldn't advise our merchants to make the exnot exactly balance when he took account of stock -Bill Arp. THE RAT-CATCHER'S TRADE.

"I've killed mor'n a million rats with ferrets. If I don't die I hope to kill a million more. Why, I once killed 100 rats, on a bet, with my naked hands inside of twenty minutes. It's all in knowin' how. Pierre Lorillard lately offered me $5 a day to go Jobstown and clear the rats out of his stable, but I couldn't go on account of the disease among my ferrets. I couldn't afford it at that price, either. I killed 350 rats in the Continental hotel in one night, and I'm sure I can do as much in many another big house if I'm allowed. What do I do with 'em after I've caught 'em? Well, what I don't kill I can sell for ratting matches, and you bet there is always a good demand for 'em."-Philadelphia Times.

VERDICT IN THE DOVER RIOT CASES .- Last April. on the occasion of the visit of O'Brien's Circus to Dover, Del., a riot occurred there in which Chas. W. Henderson, one of the proprietors of the show, was seriously wounded. Nine young men of the town who were implicated were put under arrest, and the case was set for trial last week.
On Tuesday evening the jury rendered a verdict of guilty as to Thos. C. Denney and William Smith, the rest proving alibis. Denney fled the morning after the affair and is still missing. ---
