Cambridge Chronicle

AND EASTERN SHORE ADVERTISER.

Saturday Evening, Oct. 30, 1824.

☞ A meeting of the Executive Council of Maryland will be held on Monday next.

☞ The Electors for President and Vice-President will be chosen throughout this state, on Monday the 8th day of of November.

New Orleans.—Accounts from this city up to September 21, state, that the sickness has lost none of its malignancy; every day brings with it the melancholy record of some victim to its desolating grasp. No less than seven Physicians had fallen victims to the disease since the middle of August.

Pennsylvania.—Joseph Hemphill, Esq. is elected a Representative to Congress from that state, by a majority of 5 or 600 votes over William Duane.

Uncommon Growth.—Mr. Samuel Stackhouse, has left at the office of the Mount Holly Mirror, a basket of Potatoes, raised on his farm near Mount Holly, of the largest growth we have ever seen or heard of:—as an evidence of their uncommon size, 14 of them measured a full half bushel.

On the fourth of July, 1826, half a century of our National Independence will be completed. On that day by the admission of Michigan and Arkansas, the number of States will have doubled, and instead of the original thirteen, there will be twenty-six states in the Confederacy. This calculation, we believe, is warranted by our present prospects.

The Charleston Courier contains the obituary of two persons who recently died in that city by the name of Cannon:—they were cousins, in the thirtieth year of their age; were born on the same day and left the world at nearly the same hour.

At Mr. Ladd's, No. 30 Wall street, New York, is a lump of pure Gold, found in Mecklenburg county, N. C. which has been sold by Mr. Ladd for the purpose of making a set of buttons for Le Fayette, to bear the likeness of Washington. It is an object of curiosity both in itself and for the purpose to which it is applied.

Yankee Girls.—At the late annual Fair at Pawtuxet, Rhode Island, there were premiums given (for substantial and fanciful household manufactures) to twenty-five ladies, about one third Matrons, and the remainder Misses. We think the bachelors will miss it very much, if they do not most assiduously persuade such fine girls to change their titles and their names.

It is a fact, and we have seen, says the New York Gazette, several letters stating it, that the French editors who had prepared articles announcing General La Fayette's reception in this city, were forbidden by the Censors from publishing one word on the subject, and such articles were suppressed. The effect of this tyranny will shew itself hereafter. An awful change in that country we fear is fast approaching.

A PRINTER's DREAM.

The Printer of the Farmer's Advocate says—"We do not pretend to 'believe in dreams,' but we had one a few nights since, of such a singular character, that we cannot resist an inclination to give it publicity. We dreamed (for printers are subject to dreams,) that all our delinquent subscribers flocked in, and paid up their old accounts—consequently, we immediately procured new type from New York, enlarged the Advocate, and paid off the paper maker. In this we were exceedingly delighted: but just as we were about to render a host of grateful acknowledgments to our patrons, an unlucky blundering little insect, (which we do think might have found better lodgings,) gave us such a friendly grip between the shoulders, that we awoke under the dreadful apprehension that the sheriff had favored us with a call. But 'twas all a dream—all but the bite."

TO MEDICAL STUDENTS.

AT the Annual Convention of the Medical and Chirurgical Society of Maryland, it was resolved, that Physicians be recommended to receive as Students, those only, whose classical attainments and correct deportment qualify them for the profession of Medicine,—Also, That before being admitted as Candidates for a degree, they should have read three years, attended two courses of Lectures, and have read and studied certain books which are particularly mentioned.

Mr. GALLATIN WITHDRAWN.

We find the following in a late number of the Richmond Enquirer.

Fayette co. Penn. Oct. 2, 1824.

Understanding that the withdrawal of my name may have a favorable effect on the result of the approaching election of President and Vice President of the United States, I request that I may no longer be considered as a candidate for the office of Vice President.

ALBERT GALLATIN.

The Equestrian Statue of Washington is now completed in the city of New York, and subject to the inspection of a committee who are to decide on its merits.

La Fayette:—The editor of the Boston Gazette says: "A worthy gentleman of Albany, who is somewhat celebrated for his eccentricity, asserted, in our presence, and we do not doubt the fact, that within one year there would be upwards of ten thousand children named after the distinguished Guest of the nation. He had an infant boy, to whom he meant to give the following name: Vanschoon Synderdict Pelt Moonhagen Vansart La Fayette."

In another eastern paper, we are told that a similar compliment to the Nation's Guest has been actually paid; and that an infant son of Mr. Giles Gardner, at Hingham, was baptised on Sunday last, by the name of "Welcome La Fayette.

RATTLE SNAKE.

This deadly reptile of late has been carried about as a show in boxes, and the keepers imagining them to be tamed, and and not having extracted their fangs, are exposed to continual danger. A melancholy instance is recorded in the Genessee Register. A man made his appearance in the village, "with a number of rattle snakes, which he carried in a box." While there, he handled his snakes as very harmless things, even allowing them to crawl over his face!—He was frequently cautioned against exposing his life in this manner; but disregarding the advice of more prudent persons he took out his snakes at Mr. Bristol's at the Conesus, and while one was crawling on his mouth, or rather between his lips, he received a bite on the temple of which he died next morning, a spectacle of indiscribable horror. He was decently interred by the inhabitants of that place.

Trinidad.—Jamaica papers of the 4th September, state that despatches had been received there, from Trinidad by Admiral Lawrence, informing him of strong symptoms of revolt that had shown themselves among the negroes of that Island. It was reported that a French fleet of 28 sail, several of them ships of the line, had arrived at Martinique.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Among the curiosities exhibiting at Marseilles, is a giant named Martin Rubega, who is 7 feet 2 inches in height, with finely proportioned chest, hands and thighs. His strength, it appears, is prodigious, for he breaks with facility a marble slab into pieces by a single blow with his naked fist. He is an Italian by birth, and the descendant of Gigli, whom Buffon has honored with a notice in his Natural History.—Paris paper.

Suicide.—The Schaffhausen Gazette gives an account of a suicide committed in a most extraordinary manner, by a man, at Marot, who filled his nostrils, mouth and ears with gunpowder, and then blew off the top of his head.

Murder.—The Schenectady Cabinet of Tuesday says—"just as this paper was going to press, John F. Van Patten, aged about 20 years, was taken to the jail in this city, for the murder of the wife of Mr. John I. Schermerhorn, of Rotterdam.—He made confession before the Justice's Court that he had loaded his gun for the purpose, walked to the house, opened the door, took deliberate aim, fired and retreated without ascertaining whether he had effected his object or not.

A gentleman at the request of three ladies of Fredericktown, presented Gen. La Fayette at the Exchange with a plant emblematic of their wishes—it was called life everlasting.

A GENERAL CENSUS.

The present Census of the whole World is said to stand thus:

Jews,	4,000,000
Pagans,	456,000,000
Mahomedans	140,000,000
Christians,	200,000,000
Total,	800,000,000

Deists and Atheists are comprehended, but not distinguished in either of these enumerations, as they do not avow themselves by any formation into bodies, but are anomalies in each class.

It is worthy of notice that the most ancient congregation, viz. Pagans, still subsist through the globe, and comprise more than one half of its general population; that the second in order of time, viz. Jews have, since the destruction of their Temple and City in A. D. 70, fallen to so near decay as to comprise only a 200th part of the whole; that the third denomination, viz. Christians, now include ⅓th part of the whole; and that the Mahomedans, who sprang six centuries after the Christians, and threatened to to annihilate them, occupy the space of one sixth part of the whole. It is also observable, that when an estimate of this kind was made about fifty years since, it was supposed that Christians amounted to one sixth part, now they have increased the one fourth.

A step further in this inquiry disposes of the Christians thus in their subdivisions;—

The Greek and Eastern Churches,	30,000,000
Roman Catholics,	100,000,000
Protestants, including all sects,	70,000,000
Total,	200,000,000

Those have all arisen since the promoting of the Universal Christian Chruch, 4,000 A. M. of which:

The Western and Eastern Churches began and united in the	6th Century.
Their separation	9th do
Mahomed	7th do
Christianity in G. Britain	7th do
Darkness of Popery and Mahomedanism	6th to 16th do
Waldenses	12th do
Wickliffe, Huss, & Jerome	13th to 15th do
Luther and Calvin	16th do
Reformation	16th do
Remonstrants	17th do
Protestant sects	17th & 18th do

It is unnecessary to enlarge this scale; the object is thus answered by shewing the divisions of people, and their denominations and dates; by which any person conversant in such researches will find occupation enough for his reflection upon the probable state of mankind during the ensuing half century under the advantages of an unexampled improvement, in every country and condition, both in arts, navigation, and commerce, domestic and universal; an enriched acquisition of every embellishment of intellect, literature, the fine arts, and chemistry.—London paper.

Extract from a letter, dated Fort Crawford, Prairie du Chien, Sept. 3d, 1824.

The Indians in this part of the country are not so peaceable as formerly. There have been two instances of murder within a few weeks, not a great distance from the Prairie: the first instance was a couple of deserters from St. Anthony, on their way to St. Louis; they were overtaken by a party of Chippewas, killed and scalped—the second instance occurred last month: four respectable persons living at the Prairie, left this post to go to St. Anthony; on the fifth night after their departure they came too, for the purpose of making a fire and cooking some provisions; they were unfortunately in the neighborhood of a Chippewa war party, it is supposed their number was about 100, who immediately killed and scalped them, leaving their bodies to be devoured by beasts and birds of prey; when they were discovered, the bodies were so lacerated as to make it impossible to discriminate between them. It has made some stir amongst us, and possibly the result may be an Indian war.

From the American Farmer.

☞ POSTPONEMENT OF THE Maryland Cattle Show, for the W. Shore.

This great annual festival of our farmers has been postponed to the 23d, 24th and 25th of November.

Various considerations led to the adoption of this measure—first, the days previously fixed upon, happened to be on the days of the yearly meeting of Friends in this city—and it has always been a matter of particular pleasure to the members of the society, as well as an eminent advantage to the institution, that its objects have been approved and patronized by that industrious and most exemplary class of our citizens.

It was thought, too, that the number of recent occasions for bringing the people from their homes, and especially the all-absorbing curiosity to see, and desire to pay respect to the "Nation's Guest," would prevent many from so soon leaving their homes again, and finally, when Gen. La Fayette accepted the Diploma of Membership of our Society, he claimed for himself "the honor of being a practical agriculturist," declared his partiality for its pursuits and expressed a strong desire to be present at our next exhibition; when if he can attend, as it is hoped and expected he may, the premiums will be delivered by his hand, to the fortunate competitors, with an inscription to that effect.—Under all these circumstances it has been judged, by the Trustees, expedient to postpone the next Agricultural Fair and Exhibition to the days above mentioned, one week after the Cattle Show at Easton, in Talbot county, which takes place on the 19th and 20th of November. It is most earnestly requested of the several Editors of papers in Maryland and the District of Columbia, all of whom are, from their politeness in forwarding the views of the institution, considered members thereof, that they will insert the above in their respective journals, and allow it to stand in a conspicuous place until after the Show.

To the Friends of General ANDREW JACKSON, of the Electoral District composed of Caroline, part of Dorchester amd Talbot Counties.

Being informed by some of my friends that there is a report made by some evil disposed persons, who arestriving to injure the election of Gen. Jackson, that I have declined being a candidate for an elector, and that they have also stated that I was the friend of Crawford and only intended to deceive the people—These reports, my fellow citizens, are false and I do positively deny them, and further declare to the public, that Gen. Jackson has always been my choice for President, and that I have never thought of declining; therefore my fellow citizens, I take this method to declare to the public, that I am still a candidate for elector of President and Vice President of the United States, and do pledge myself by every tie that is sacred, that if elected, I will vote for Gen. Andrew Jackson, for President of the United States.

The public's obedient servant,

DANIEL L. HADDAWAY.
