THE COLONEL

BY HERT BART.

What the Colonel's business was nobody knew, and as to why he was there...

Curious people occasionally wondered how when it had been fully two years since...

When so important a personage as a bar-keeper indulged publicly in the idea of the initiation of Challenge Hill...

The result was a complete vindication of the Colonel, and a loss of considerable nature to the bar-keeper.

The Colonel, as an aged, cultured man as had ever been known on Challenge Hill...

"Seems to be something the matter gentlemen," said the Colonel blandly...

THE PERIL AND ESCAPE

Leave All to God. BY THE DECK OF BRUNSWICK, 1867.

Leave all to God, For the Highest knows thy pain, See thy sufferings and thy fears...

Be still and trust! For His strokes are strokes of love, Thy trust for profit bring...

Oh, teach Him not When and how to hear thy prayers: He will not hear thy cries...

THE PERIL AND ESCAPE. In the Spring of 1852 four miners built their cabin on the banks of a howling stream...

Then they contracted a solidly built dam of logs completely across the stream...
