Mrs. Harris Again Heads Garden Club

Mrs. M. Wilson Harris of Centreville was reelected president of the Queen Anne's Garden Club at the November meeting held at the home of Mrs. E.S. Valliant, Jr. Centrevile.

Also reelected for another year was Mrs. Orsen Nielsen, first vice-president; Mrs. John R. Smith, second vice-president; and Mrs. Edwin Churchill, treasurer. Newly elected officials are Mrs. Rodney Layton, recording secretary, and Mrs. Howard Ryland, corresponding secetary.

Mrs. Harris commended the work of Mrs. Edward Turner and Mrs. Clayton C. Carter with the Junior Garden Club, which now has a membership of 24 girls.

The girls are encouraged to have their own house plants and a flower garden. They have studied flower arrangements and conservation and made an excellent showing at the Reginoal Flower Show in Chestertown last spring, taking up honors in the miniature class, competing with adults.

The horticulture chairman, Mrs. James B. Lingle, showed some hardy camellia blooms, which can be grown in this part of the country. She said that "while most of your garden chores are over for the year, there are still some things that should be done now."

Some of the pointers for gardeners were: Clean up rose beds and burn fallen leaves if they are diseased; tie down long stalks of rambler roses and cut off high perennials; soak evergreens until freezing weather; feed house plants; bring in good loam and sand for transplanting house plants; and plan on paper your garden for next year.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, librarian for the Queen Anne's County Free Library, wrote thanking the club for making possible the flower arrangements by the members in the library throughout the year.

Methodists of Wye Mills Note 160th Anniversary

The eMthodists of Wye Mills Sunday celebrated the 160th year of organization with a home-coming in the little Wye Mills Methodist Church with the Rev. Mason Willis, as pastor.

It was on Nov. 23, 1795, that William Hinman, owner of the plantation known as "Wilton," turned over to the trustees of the "Wye Methodist House" the plot of ground on which the church and church house still stand.

In 1880, the old meeting house was replaced by the present church building. The church house was built in 1927. A complete program of inside and outside renovation is under way, beginning with the recently completed new proof.

The Rev. L.B. Morgan, associate pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Wilmington, spoke at the 11 am. service and the Rev. Waldo L. Dise, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Centreville, was the afternoon speaker. Edward E. Covington had charge of the song service.

Women of the church served luncheon in the church house.

Policy Drafting Session Set By Farm Bureau

Members of the Queen Anne's County Farm Bureau decided Monday night on policies to recommend to the Maryland Farm Bureau.

The annual membership meeting began at 8 o'clock in Centreville High School.

New directors for three-year terms were elected for both the County Farm Bueau and Associated Women.

Pesident to be Elected

Associated Women members elected a president and secretary in addition to the directors. Farm Bureau officers were elected by the board of directors at its regular meeting next month.

Delegates to attend the Maryland convention of the Farm Bureau in January were also elected Monday night.

County officials due for retirement include directors Franklin Burris, Lewis Davis, A.A.MacGlashan and George Welch.

Allen H. Cohey will retire as president of the organization on Dec. 12 when the directors elect a new president.

Receives Severe Shot Gun Wound in Hand

A 14-year-old boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Clark of Chester, was rushed to Easton Hospital on Monday afternoon after suffering with a shot-gun wound through his hand about 4:30 p.m. on Monday. Wayne Clark was duck hunting in a blind off Goodhand's Creek when he started to place his gun in a setting position in the blind. The gun accidentally went off. He was rushed to the hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate most of his hand, leaving only the thumb. He is resting comfortably at this writing.

ARTHUR S. NASH, Jr.

Funeral services were held Monday at 1:30 o'clock for Arthur Stewart Nash, Jr., 35, Queen Anne's County waterman, who died suddenly of a heart attack at the home of his sister, Mrs. George Taylor in Chester Saturday about 9:30 a.m.

The Rev. Hugh Clary, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Stevensville, officiated at services from the Taylor home, with interment in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Baltimore.

Mr. Nash was born on Jan. 22, 1920, in Chester, the son of the late Helen Caroline and Arthur Stewart Nash, Sr., and was a waterman all his life.

Besides Mrs. Taylor, he is survived by three other sisters, Mrs. Raymond Quinn, Glen Burnie; Mrs.Kenneth Burkett, Grasonville; Mrs. Mildred Haddaway, Chester, and a brother, John, Chester.

Dump Site Seen As Unsuitable

A site offered for the county's second public disposal area has been declared "unsuitable" by William F. Leaverton, Maryland State Roads Commission maintenance engineer for Queen Anne's County.

Mr. Leaverton told Queen Anne's County commissioners that he would not recommend the development of a disposal area on land offered by William E Coleman, adjoining his vault company in Crumpton because it was too close to residential areas.

Mr. Leaverton had been asked by the county board to inspect the site after Mr. Coleman offered the land. According to Leaverton ,the site was too close to the residential part of Crumpton.

He did, however, estimate that the site, could be developed at a cost of approximately $500 which would include fencing, digging the necessary pit and putting in an access road.

The November report of County Dog Warden William G. Lynch showed that 34 dogs had been impounded or shot. He discussed with the commissioners the overall picture with regard to enforcement of the county's new dog laws.

County Treasurer Charles E. Anthony, Sr., reported that of a total of $639,397.42 in real estate taxes levied in Queen Anne's County this year, $464,658.45 had been collected as of Nov. 21. There has been $3,393.70 abated from the tax books which means that 77 per cent of the county's tax bills have been paid.
