Midshipman, Tom Lucke is racing in the Bermuda race next month aboard one of the Navy Yawls.

Democrats' New Leaders Facing Test

Members of Maryland's new Democratic hierachy were flexing their muscles this week, as losers held postmortems on the State Convention which divested their group of the control they held for a generation.

Both sides were in agreement on one thing, at least:

That the Tawes-Mahoney-Birmingham combine which has taken over the reins of the State party faces its acid test in the coming general election.

The new group has taken over the responsibility for running the campaign to elect Millard E. Tydings to the Senate. It must make a strong showing to prove its right to command.

Anything less than an all-out effort for Mr. Tydings could be fatal to the group and the personal aspirations of its leaders.

Lost In Convention

The combine which supported Mr. Tydings in the primary against George P. Mahoney was the one which lost in the State Convention.

So the responsibility for the general election has been taken off its shoulders—although most of its members will work for his election.

Opinion is divided among the "outs" who were "ins" so long as to just how they lost control of a State Convention with a winning candidate.

Friends of Mayor D'Alesandro, who was bumped from his job of Democratic National Committeeman are irked at Mr. Tydings for what they contend was his failure to try to start mending fences until it was too late.

Became Ill

Mr. Tydings took off for Hot Springs, Va. and a rest almost immediately after the May 7 primary.

He returned about twelve days ago—then promptly became ill of a tooth infection which spread to his face and put him to bed.

Help Keep Maryland Bautiful This Summer

Now that a belated Spring seems finally to have arrived in Maryland, Governor McKeldin has extended a cordial invitation to aMrylanders and out-of-state visitors to make full use of the many outdoor recreational areas the State has to offer.

Ninety-five wayside picnic areas, built and maintained by the State Roads Commission, have been spruced up in readiness for a banner sea son. An estimated one-third million persons made use of these facilities last year.

"I want to emphasize," Governor McKeldin said, "that picnic areas and other public recreation spots are for the benefit of all the people.

"It is imortant that we use and not misuse them. When we leave the area should be as spotless as when we arrived. With the factilities that have been provided, a little thoughtfulness and a minimum of effort on the part of each picnicker will insure that each area can be used with equal enjoyment over and over again. After all, if every picnicker leaves his trash behind, it won't be long before none of the areas will be fit to use."

Facilities referred to by Governor McKeldin include painted and labelled trash barrels placed in each recreation area, in cooperation with the Governor's Committee to Keep Mayland Beautiful.

Governor McKeldin also said, "I want to remind motorists of their responsibility not to throw trash along the highways. Maryland Clean Up Week was conducted by theKeep Maryland Beautiful Committee just before Easter.

As a result, Maryland roads are now in particularly fine condition as far as absence of liter is concerned. If each motorist will refrain from throwing his travel trash out the car window, but, rather, dispose of it in proper tash cans when he makes stops along the way, we can keep our roads looking Clean-Up Week bright all summer long."

County Brownie Scouts Rallied at Centreville

The Brownie Scouts of Queen Anne's County rallied at Centreville on Saturday, May 26, 1956. The four Brownie troops that attended were Troop No. 42 of Centreville, Troops No. 71 and No. 96 of Kent Island and Troop No. 140 of Sudlersville.

Following a parade and flag ceremony, Susan Baker of the Centreville troop presented a history of the Brownies. Margaret Mary Lowe introduced and was the narrator for a play that had been arranged and directed by the Junior Assistant Leaders of Centreville Troop No. 42, Betty Baker and Sally Gates. The members of the play which told of the history of the first Brownies were Michael Spitzer, Nance Lowe, Betty Jean Fowler, Carol Clark, and Susan Baker.

Games, songs and companionship helped to fill the day. As part of a prolonged International study, Kent Island troops led sons and games which had originated in foreign countries.

Sudlersville Troop No. 140 provided refreshments.

Ten Kent Island Homes To Be Open For Tour

Ten fine Kent Island homes, either old themselves or with a historical connection, will be shown in a tour June 16.

The tour is being conducted by the Women's Auxiiary of Christ Church, Stevensville, for the benefit of the church's parish house fund.

Queen Anne's County was not on the house and garden tour this year. Six of ten homes have never been open to the public.

Mrs. John Campbell White, ofChester, and Mrs. Reginald V. Truitt and Mrs. Walter Denny, both of Stevensville, are in charge of arrangements.

Oiginal Church Site

Also to be on the tour is the site of the original Christ Church. This church was built in 1652 and collapsed while restoration was in progress about 1840. Only the foundation remains visible.

It was at this spot that the Rev. Richard James, of the Church of England, brought here by William Claibourne ,is said to have conducted the first religious service in Maryland.

The homes wild be open from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. Luncheon will be served by the axuiliary at Camp Wright.

Houses Listed

The houses on the tour and their owners are:

Great Neck Farm, owned by Doctor and Mrs. Reginald V. Truitt.

Stinton, owned by Doctor and Mrs. Frank Novak.

Matapex, owned by Mr. and Mrs. P.C. Sedley.

Shipping Crek Plantation, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey.

Barnstable Hill, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell White.

Worker Burned, Home Destroyed

The home of John R. Coursey, well-known oyster packer, was extensively damaged last Friday and a workman slightly burned by the flames which started in the kitchen of the house.

John M. Holden, Kent Island fire chief, said that Stewart Palmer was burned on the hands when he attempted to snuff out fire which ignited while Palmer and Curtis Benton were remodeling the kitchen.

Three rooms downstairs were badly burned and the entire three-story house received smoke damage as firemen kept the flames from nearby homes.

Mrs. Coursey, who became hysterical during the fire, was taken to the home of her son, James, nearby and was treated by a physician.

Chief Holden said the alarm came in about 8:45 a.m. and that the quick use of a garden hose aided in keeping the flames from gaining too much headway.

Funds For Harbor At Queenstown Included In Appropriations

Word from Congressman Edward T. Miller has reached me advising that funds for the improvement of five Eastern Shore harbors were included in the Public Works Appropriations bill for 1957 which passed the House on Tuesday, May 22nd. These improvements have been specifically authorized by Congress and the total estimated Federal cost of each is less than $150,000. They were selected by the Committee, of which Mr. Miller is a member, on recommendation of the Corps of Engineers as economically justified improvements, or as providing for the safety and convenience of commerce as specified in the authorized legislation.

Included in this category is Queenstown Harbor, Queen Anne's County, which will provide a channel 7 feet by 75 feet from Queenstown Creek in the vicinity of the town wharf in Little Queenstown Creek and for a mooring basin 7 by 300 by 300 feet.

If the Senate passes the bill and it becomes law ,it is planned that this work will be completed within the fiscal year beginning next July 1st.

DAY NURSERY—Will care for children day or night. Large spacious lawn to play. Located on old Centreville-Queenstown Highway. Call Queenstown 3852.
