Maryland Politics.

The democratic congressional contests in Maryand, which come off this year, are beginning to attract attention. The Baltimore Sun, of Tuesday, indulges in the following speculations : The report comes along now and then from the first, or Eastern Shore district, that there is an element, and one of some importance, which, if the conditions are favorable, will support Gov.

Henry Lloyd, of Dorchester, for the congressional nomination in opposition to the renomination of Congressman Charles H. Gibson, of Talbot. There are people in political circles who insist that there is something in this report. In the second district, composed of Cecil, Harford, Baltimore and Carroll counties, the canvass has developed almost to the point that it is Wickes for defense. safe to say that ex-Congressman J. Fred. C. Talbott, of Baltimore co., will contest with Congressman Shaw for the nomination. Mr. Talbott was in this city on Saturday with his Baltimore county friends. He says his friends want him to go into the contest, and that if he does he will do his best. OBITUARY .- A beautiful character passed from our midst to a fairer world on Saturday this plant and is among the first shippers to the morning, April 24. In the person of Mrs. MARY MORGAN, the wife of Mr. John W. Morgan, the world knew one in whom many natural and christian graces abounded to an unusual extent. She was the daughter of Mr. Thos. Gale, of lower Kent, but married young and spent nearly 56 years of her happy wedded life in Cecil ounty, where she raised eleven children, who have all attained positions of honor and influence. She died in her 74th year, beloved by many, many friends - a sheaf well-ripened in devoted christian living for the heavenly garner. In the words of her pastor, Rev. Mr. Tomkinson, she left a priceless legacy to her children in the recollection of her loving, sainted life, the sweet odor of which will ever be fresh in the memories of those who knew her." Surely, she asth gone to reap the certain fruits of a life well spent in the Master's service. w. G. P.
