A Drink from Father's Well.

The dying man, who was so poor at this one hour of time, was rich in the worldly ossessions he was about to leave forever. He had houses and lands and bank stock. He had rich viands to tempt his failing appetite. It was his pleasure to drink of nany different wines at his grand dinners Yet his restless spirit craved one luxurya simple, homely thing-that all his wealth

He is speaking and they bend eagerly to hear. He is asking for a drink. His wife presses a goblet to his lips filled with a sweet and cooling draught.

Then his loving child pours out a glass of his favorite wine and tenderly begs him to "No! no! not that!"

He speaks wildly and they bend low and try to distinguish his broken and faltering "Bring-me-the-gourd!" 'What does he mean?" asks his wife in

"It - is-hanging-just-inside-of-the Papa, dear, what is it?" asks his sweet-"I-want-a-drink-of-fresh-waterfrom-father's-well !" That was all. He closed his weary eyes to open them in his heavenly home, where

The type writer is creating a 'revolution in methods of correspondence, and filling Tinware, the country with active, competent young ladies who are establishing a distinct profession, and bringing into our offices, lawyers' offices, editorial sauctums, etc., an element of decency, purity, and method which is working a perceptible change. The field is widening daily, not from crowding out of their places young men who have been in deverything usually kept in a first-class Hardware who have Heavy Hooks and Hinges, Strap and T Hinges, Shutter Hinges, Knob Locks, Pad Locks, Door and Shutter Bolts, Desk and Till Locks, Draw Pulls, Door Bells and Gongs, Bolts, Log Screws, &c. in the habit of claiming a pre-emption for in the habit of claiming a pre-emption for clerical work of all description, but in creating absolutely new positions. The art of dictation is almost a new art, but it is spreading rapidly and business men are beginning to understand that much of their lives has been wasted in the mere mechanical drudgery of letter writing, and that through employing a competent amancorrespondence with the least possible fric- any other Plow on the market. ### How to be a "Nobody."

It is easy to be nobody, and the Watchman tells how to do it. Go to the drinking saloon to spend your leisure time. You need not drink much now, just a little beer or some other drink. In the meantime, play dominoes, checkers, or something else to kill time, so that you will be sure not to read any useful books. If you read anything, let it be the dime novel of the day. Thus go on keeping your stomach full and your head empty, and yourself playing timekilling games, and in a few years you will be a first-class nobody, unless you should turn out a drunkard or a professional gambler, either of which is worse than nobody. There are any number of young men hangng about saloons just ready to graduate and

"Teaching, to me," said an enthusiastic school ma'am, "is a holy calling. To sow in the young mind the seeds of future knowledge and watch them as they grow and develop is a pleasure greater than I can tell. I never weary of my work. think only of -- " "I am very sorry," interrupted the young man to whom she was talking," "that you are so devoted to your profession, Miss Clara, I had hoped that some day I might ask you—in fact I called to-night to—but I hardly dare go on—" "You may go on, Mr. Smith," said the young lady softly. "I'm a little too enthuiastic at fimes, perhaps.'
