William Malay & Jared Shattuck Ship Mercator & Jared Shattuck & William Malay } These causes came on to be heard on the Libel, Protest, Replication and Testimony taken in the cause and were argued by Counsel, on consideration whereof, the Court affirms so much of the sentence of the Circuit Court as awards compensation for the Mercator and her cargo to the Libellant, and approves of the Sentence on the Report of the Commissioners, except as to that part which rejects the claim for advances for the outfits of the vessel and the wages of the crew, and which admits the charges of 540 Dollars on account of the expences attending the application to the government of the United States, and of 326 12/100 Dollars on account of expences attendant on the ineffectual attempt which was made to prosecute an appeal in England. In these respects the account is to be reformed, for which purpose so much of the Sentence of the Circuit Court as respects this part of the subject is reversed, and the cause is remanded to the Circuit Court to be further proceeded in as to justice shall appertain, each party to pay their own costs. In the Court afterwards the following agreement was filed, and by consent of parties by their Counsel, was made a part of the Sentence and Decree of this Court, viz:

"It is agreed in these cases, that the account stated on the other side is correct according to the Decree of this Court in these cases rendered; and that a final Decree be made by this Court, awarding to the Libellant, the said Jared Shattuck, the payment of $33,864 25/100 by the said William Malay, in full for damages and restitution, in these cases decreed.
