"THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET."

FOR PRESIDENT:
GROVER CLEVELAND,
Of New York.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:
ALLEN G. THURMAN,
Of Ohio.

President Electors at Large:
JAMES HODGES, [] HENRY PAGE.

District Electors:
1. W. SCOTT ROBERTS, [] L. GOODMAN, MILLIE,
JAMES A. BERNARD, J. C. CONGER,
WILLOUGHBY N. SMITH, HATTERSBY W. TALBOT.

FOR CONGRESS:
HON. CHARLES H. GIBSON,
Of Talbot County.

ELECTION.....Tuesday, November 6, 1888.

HON. SAMUEL J. RANDALL WAS REMOVED from Washington last Saturday to Castanea, Pa., not far from Philadelphia, and the change has been highly beneficial to his health. He says he is sure now to recover rapidly.

Mr. BLAINE sailed for America on Wednesday on the new fast steamer New York, and is expected to reach New York harbor on Tuesday or Wednesday next. The fruit exchange at Laurel, Del., was boycotted last Wednesday by the local buyers, who refused to buy on any fruit offered through the Exchange. The station forwarded nearly four thousand crates of peaches that day to distant markets.

The peaches are said to be premature, badly in Delaware. Crawford's Late and even Smoke are now going to market.

The prospect now seems favorable for fair prices for peaches. The numerous canneries, drying houses, and shippers at the stations along the railroads will be able to consume even the immense crop in prospect, and the demand for good fruit will be so great that growers who take the trouble to properly market the peaches will get paying prices.

DEATH OF AN ESTEEMED LADY.—Mrs. Sarah Ann Gale, wife of John Gale, of Worthington Manor, in this country, died on Monday afternoon last, after a long illness in the 74th year of her age. Mrs. Gale was a member of St. James' Church, and many ministers of that charge will hear with sorrow of her demise. In the whole neighborhood she was recognized for her many good qualities and will be greatly missed. She leaves two sons—John and Wm. R. Gale—and one stepson, Thomas Gale.

The funeral at the late residence on Wednesday morning was largely attended and the remains interred in Chester Cemetery by the side of her late husband. Rev. S. B. Treadway conducted the services assisted by Rev. J. W. Trout, of Washington, D. C. Rev. F. T. Little of Elton, met the funeral procession at the cemetery and took part in the services there.

A FINE ENTERTAINMENT.—Prof. A. H. Merrill, of Vanderbilt University, Tenn., is paying a visit to Rev. B. F. Benson and is announced to give a monologue reading of Mrs. Burnett's celebrated story, "Esmeilda" in Edesville Hall next Tuesday evening. The professor is an Eastern Shoreman who has won many laurels on the platform. The lecture will be up to the mark, and it is to be hoped that the tariff enables them to pay better wages to American workers.

THE THIRD BATTALION, M. N. G., composed of Companies A, of Elton, Capt. W. G. Parnell; Company C, of Easton, Edward Roberts, and company D, of Cambridge, Capt. T. H. Henry, together with the Prince George's Rifles, Capt. Chew, the Leonardtown Rifles, Capt. W. F. Chesley of the Fourth Battalion, numbering in all about two hundred men, went into camp for ten days at Camp LeCompte at Bay Ridge last Monday afternoon. The battalion is accompanied by the Eastern Cornet Band, numbering twenty pieces. Lieut. Col. Jas. L. Woodford, of Cambridge, is in command.

JULY HAS BEEN UNUSUALLY COOL.—The month of July has been unusually cool. The highest point reached by the mercury during the month was 94 degrees and the lowest 57 degrees. The record at the Baltimore signal office shows the last to have been the coolest July in seventeen years, the average temperature being 67.9 degrees. The average mean temperature for the first eighteen days in July was seventy-six degrees. The records of previous years show that July 15 is usually the warmest day in the year, the temperature gradually rising up to that date, then gradually receding. This year, however, instead of averaging 76 degrees the mean has been but 74 and 35 degrees.

PREPARED FOR THE CAMPAIGN.—The members of the democratic national executive committee have been summoned to New York city to assist in mapping out the features of the presidential canvass. Senators Gorman, Randolph, Kenna and Senator-elect Barbour left Washington Monday night for New York to participate in a meeting at democratic headquarters. In referring to the coming contest, Senator Gorman remarked before leaving that he does not expect the speechmaking part of the campaign will fairly begin before the first of September, but in the meantime all the political machinery in the various States will be overhauled and placed in perfect running order. The tariff question will have to be fully explained throughout the New England States, so that the workingmen may not to be led astray by republican utterances. Hard and contentious work will be necessary all along the line, but the great struggle will be over New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana. These are the old battle-fields of the last campaign, and they will be again the scene of most of the desperate fighting.

ELSTON'S HANDSOME CELEBRATION.—The centennial celebration at Elston on Thursday of last week of the creation of the town under its present name by act of Assembly was a handsome affair, reflecting great credit on its citizens. The programme comprised an interesting entertainment by the children on the school-house grounds, the reception of Mr. L. D. Baldwin and his retinue, a procession of military and civic organizations and a trades display, and an oration by Gen. Bradley T. Johnson. The weather was very hot and humid, and fine, though there had been some rain on the Eastern Shore, and some of the floats were very elaborate and handsome. The town was decked out in flags, and altogether the day was one that will be long remembered by those who participated in the celebration. Speaking of Elston, Mr. George Green said: "I have traveled over this continent from Nova Scotia to Astoria, and from Durhuth to New Orleans, and I am reasonably well satisfied with Elston." The Eastern Shore is the garden. After General Johnson's oration, speeches were made by Mayor Latrobe and Col. John L. Thomas of Baltimore.

A FRUITFUL CRASH.—As the six horse team attached to a large wagon belonging to Mr. Joshua D. Wardell of Towson came to a standstill near the B. & O. Railroad depot at Gorham Crossing, near Sykesville, one day last week, and when it had gotten about half way over the bridge while the horses were pulling, the bridge suddenly gave way, precipitating the wagon, horses and the three men to the bed of the stream below. The men and horses were thrown upon the water, and upon the wagon and horses. The horse on which the teamster was riding was instantly killed, two of the horses were crippled, and the other two were severely maimed. The horses were with great difficulty extricated from the water and broken timbers. The bridge was a wooden structure, and was in a very poor state of repair and weak condition. The county commissioners of Howard and Carroll counties had recently taken steps to replace it.

PEACH NOTES.

Crawford's Early peaches will begin to market next week. This is one of the standard yellow varieties and with it will begin the great peach rush. It with the Old Nixon and Stump—two red varieties which quickly follow—will test the peach market.

The DeFord property, near Chestertown, also offered on Tuesday, was withdrawn—ten carloads per day of Crawford yellows and Old Nixon variety. Six hundred and forty bushels comprise a carload, and the dwelling and shop at $600. The property is now held by Mr. Pearce at private sale.

The peach cannery in Chestertown begins active work next week. They will be engaged with corn the first of the week—Messrs. Burchinal, Downey, Brown & Co. advertising for 5,000 barrels of Troths.

"THOMPSON'S LINE" for the Baltimore peach exchange is advertised in another column. The line will begin operations next Wednesday, Aug. 8, instead of the 6th as has been announced.

The highest price paid at the Chestertown railroad station this week for peaches was $5c. per basket, and this was for best grade.

The fruit exchange at Laurel, Del., was boycotted last Wednesday by the local buyers, who refused to buy on any fruit offered through the Exchange. The station forwarded nearly four thousand crates of peaches that day to distant markets.

The peaches are said to be premature, badly in Delaware. Crawford's Late and even Smoke are now going to market.

The prospect now seems favorable for fair prices for peaches. The numerous canneries, drying houses, and shippers at the stations along the railroads will be able to consume even the immense crop in prospect, and the demand for good fruit will be so great that growers who take the trouble to properly market the peaches will get paying prices.

PROSPEROUS.—Mr. Wm. H. Cacy's fertilizer factory near town is preparing for an immense fall trade in fertilizers. The factory is to be opened on Aug. 10. Many tons of manure and other materials have been brought to the factory nearly two thousand and "car boys"—boxes of acids and returning the empties. A large addition to the factory is now being made. Mr. Cacy states that the sales of his brands—"Standard," "New Life," and "Reliance"—have doubled in three years, and the present season bids fair to be larger than ever.

A HORSE TRADE.—Jacob Levi, a horse trader of Baltimore, with the farm of Mr. W. T. Newell, in this town, sold a large pair of Kentish ponies two weeks ago and traded a young horse for a gray pony.

He will now spend considerable time in the movement to break the Republican control in the sixth district and to send Col. H. Kyd Douglas to Congress.

SATURDAY EVENING.—A bill in the United States Senate, at the request of the Federation of Labor, to prohibit "the importation of an alien or foreign laborer, mechanic, artist or artisan under agreement to perform labor." It seems that the most highly protected industries in this country import the cheapest labor that can be obtained abroad to supplant home mechanics and laborers while at the same time progressing that the tariff enables them to pay better wages to American workers.

THE THIRD BATTALION, M. N. G., composed of Companies A, of Elton, Capt. W. G. Parnell; Company C, of Easton, Edward Roberts, and company D, of Cambridge, Capt. T. H. LAY MEMORIAL ALTAR.—Thos. Davidson, of Fifth and King streets, Wilmington, Del., has the contract for erecting in the Protestant Episcopal Church of this town an altar in memory of Bishop Lay. The altar will be of Italian marble, with columns of blue marble, and the cap and base of the columns will be of pure white marble. It will be 9 feet long at the base and 7 feet in height. The large panel immediately above the altar will be 12 feet at each end. Its four corners will be a small triangular pedestal, carved and lined with precious serpentine. Carved on the panel under the table will be wheat to the left and grape vine to the right, and between them will be the words: "This do in remembrance of me." The inscription will be as follows: "In memory of Henry Champin Lay, first Bishop of Easton; born December 6th, 1822; died December 15th, 1885. So he fed the hungry with a faithful and true heart." The altar will be completed and erected about September 1st.

THE LEVY LIST.—The most interesting article we have published for some time will be found on the first and second pages of today's news. It should be carefully scanned by the tax-payer, and no doubt will be. It explains the expenditure of every dollar collected from the people for the running expenses of the county, and nothing can be more satisfactory than such a full and clear presentation of the public expenditures.

A SHORT STOPPAGE.—About 5 o'clock last Wednesday evening the piston of the engine which runs the machinery at the strawboard mill broke, and the works were all brought to a stand still in consequence.

Mr. Eliason promptly dispatched Mr. Matthews, the superintendent, to Philadelphia for a new piston, and by Monday morning the repair will be made and the mill running again.

EXERT BROWN, col., aged 8 years, was run over by an ox-cart and killed near Tolchester on Thursday morning. He was recently from a small triangular pedestal, carved and lined with precious serpentine. Carved on the panel under the table will be wheat to the left and grape vine to the right, and between them will be the words: "This do in remembrance of me." The inscription will be as follows: "In memory of Henry Champin Lay, first Bishop of Easton; born December 6th, 1822; died December 15th, 1885. So he fed the hungry with a faithful and true heart." The altar will be completed and erected about September 1st.
