CENTREVILLE ACADEMY.

The Trustees have employed masters of ability, and of the most exemplary conduct, to teach in this Institution. It is under the best discipline, and the most rigid regard paid to the morals of the pupils. The Reverend DANIEL STEPHENS is Professor of the Latin, Greek, and French languages—Mr. SIMON CANTWELL Professor of the English language, Arithmetic, Mathematics, Geography, &c. As the youth of Queen Ann's and the adjoining counties can recieve as liberal an education at this Seminary as at any other, and the funds allowed by the State enabling the trustees to fix the rate of tuition at the most moderate terms, offers every inducement to parents and guardians to give it a preference. The situation of this place is well known for its healthiness—and board may be had in private families, on very reasonable terms.

KENSEY HARRISON, Sec'ry.
to the Board of Trustees.

june 29——9

NOTICE.

On application to me in writing, as one of the associate judges of the second judicial district of Maryland, by Thomas Welch, of Talbot county, in the recess of Talbot county court, praying the benefit of the act of assembly passed at November session eighteen hundred and five, entitled, "An act for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors," and the supplements thereto, a schedule of his property and a list of his creditors, on oath, as far as he can ascertain them, being annexed to his petition; and being satisfied by competent testimony that the said Thomas Welch is in actual confinement for debt only—I do hereby order that the body of the said Thomas Welch be discharged from imprisonment, and that he appear before Talbot county court on the first Saturday of November term next, to answer such interrogatories as may be propounded to him by his creditors, and also to deliver up his property to a trustee for the benefit of his creditors: and I do further order, that the said Thomas Welch give notice to his creditors, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in the Easton Star, once every two weeks, for the space of three months successively, before the said first Saturday in the said November term, before Talbot county court on the first Saturday in November term next, for the purpose of recommending a trustee for their benefit. Given under my hand, this ninth day of July, eighteen hundred and thirteen.

At a meeting of a number of citizens of the 21st regimental district, held at Rock Hall on Monday, 28th of June, agreeably to previous notice for the purpose of making arrangements for the celebration of the 37th anniversary of the independence of the United States.

It was agreed that a dinner be prepared at Rock Hall Cross Roads, the place of the late encampment of the troops during the time the enemy's squadron lay off Swan Point.

Col. Philip Reed was unanimously appointed president of the day, assisted by Maj. William Wickes and Capt. Robert Hodges.

Capt. Michael Miller was appointed to read the Declaration of Independence.

Capt. Michael Miller, Capt. Robert Hodges, Messrs. S. Wickes, Merrit Miller, Richard Ricaud, jun. Joseph Brice, Richard Spencer, jun. were appointed a committee of arrangements.

Maj William Wickes, Maj. Thomas Carvill, Capt. Robert Hodges, Capt. Thomas Harris, Capt. Michael Miller, Messrs. Peregrine Ringgold, William Crane, were appointed a committee of toasts.

After dinner the following toasts were drank:

1. The day we celebrate: may each succeeding anniversary produce increased happiness to the American people.

2. The United States of America: may we remember the admonition of a beloved citizen who was first in peace, foremost in war, and engrafted on the hearts of his countrymen, that, united we stand, divided we fall.

3. Washington: the man whose memory will be adored while liberty shall have votaries, and to whose name the fairest page of faithful history shall be consecrated.

4. James Madison, President of the U. States.

5. Elbridge Gerry, Vice-President of the U. States.

6. The Senate and House of Representatives of the U. States.

7. The memory of George Clinton, late Vice President of the U. States, the patriot soldier and practical statesman: his memory will be long held in grateful remembrance by his grateful country.—Soft sigh the winds of Heaven o'er his grave.

8. The State of Maryland.

9. His Excellency Levin Winder, Governor of Maryland, and the Executive Council.

10. The Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Maryland.

11. The war: it is an evil thing, but since the die is cast, let us cordially unite in such measures as will accelerate an honorable peace.

12. The mediation of Russia: may it terminate in dispensing the blessings of peace to our country.

13. The heroes who have fallen in defence of our country: may that voice which called Montgomery, Mercer, Warren, and an host of other heroes into the field, be ever implicitly obeyed, when directed to an American breast.

14. Liberty of the Press, and toleration of religion: sure pledges of a true enlightened and virtuous people.

15. The Army and Navy of the U. States: may the former imitate the example set them by the latter.

16. The memory of James Lawrence, the officers and crew of Chesapeake: they have not tarnished, but painted in vivid colours, the American flag.

17. Agriculture and commerce: may they be speedily restored, and manufactures duly encouraged.

18. The American Fair: our best companions in pease, our greatest care in war—may they reward those only with their smiles, who are willing to defend their rights.

VOLUNTEERS.

By Mr. Matthew Dean, (an old soldier). May the free born sons of America not depend upon toast drinking to fight their battles, but shoulder their firelocks and march with bravery to meet the enemy, as did the heroes of '76.

By Mr. John Bradshaw. The volunteers of America—taught to dress by Bunker's Hill, to march by Saratoga, to feel by the banks of Trenton, charge bayonet by the Cowpens, and take aim at our enemies in Canada.

By Mr. John Hanfield, jun. May the spirit that actuated our patriotic sires during our glorious revolution, stimulate their sons in the present contest, and may every American be prepared to offer up his life upon the altar of his country.

By Richard Ricaud, jun. May party warfare at this momentous crisis be extinguished, and every American heart pulpitate with the patriotism of '76.

By the President of the day. The committee of arrangements: they are entitled to our thanks for their assiduity in preparing and arranging the entertainment of the day, and for their marked and polite attention to the company.

After the president and vice-president had withdrawn—

By Mr. Peregrine Ringgold. The President of the day—let us thank him for his services as our leader on the 15th of April last.

By Mr. Michael Miller. The Vice-Presidents of the day—We thank them for their attention on the 15th of April last, as well as the present time.

EXTRACT—DATED

"Fort George, Upper Canada, July 9th.

"The purport of this letter is sufficient to harrow the feelings, I was going to say, of the Boston Junto; but certainly will those of any class of human beings who are possessed of the feelings of men.

"Yesterday, about 12 o'clock, P. M. an attack was made on two of our pickets, by a force of British and Indians. A small detachment of 30 men, were immediately ordered, under the command of the Adjutant of the 13th reg't. to proceed to the support of the pickets, while a large body was preparing to follow under Major Malcom. The bravery of the young gentleman who commanded the first party, led him on to penetrate into a thick wood, where the British and Indians lay in far superior force; consequently, after a short but gallant struggle, his party was defeated, only 5 having made their escape—13 were killed, or after being wounded were barbarously murdered in the following shocking manner:—First—their privates cut off and thrown in their faces—and then their ribs on the left side cut open with a tomahawk, and their hearts torn out!! They were then scalped and mangled in the most awful manner—some with their throats stuck with a knife.—One poor unfortunate being survived until this morning—he had been slightly wounded in the head—and was, after being taken struck on the head with a tomahawk, and stuck in the throat with a knife, & otherwise mangled. You could take hold of the hair of his head and move his whole scull—he died in excruciating agony, and was buried by us this morning with the honors of war. The residue of the party were either made prisoners, or afterwards murdered—the Adjutant was wounded and seen led through the woods by two Indians. We succeeded in repelling the enemy with considerable loss——but as they had waggons preparing to convey their killed and wounded, we are not able to know their loss.

"Two of the five men who made their escape, were first made prisoners, & stated to the British (who were painted as Indians, with streaks of red and green round their eyes) that they were glad they were taken, and were going to desert the first opportunity; and carried on the plan so well, they were suffered to remain in a house, while those who took them ran out to fire at some of our dragoon——they took that opportunity and made their escape, tho' considerable annoyed by dogs. The above is a statement of facts—I shall make no comments.

"We are here entrenched—the British are endeavoring to raise a large body of militia, which they have no doubt succeeded in, as they pay no respect to our paroles—and are reinforced by a large body of Indians—their regular force is not much increased—I presume from every account, they have from 1500 to 1800 regulars, about 400 Indians—militia, we cannot form an estimate of their number—but as we are situated we should be able to repel 5,000 opponents. I presume nothing will be done on our part, until our fleet decides the mastery of the Lakes.

"I have broken open this letter for the purpose of stating that the body (as is supposed) of Lieutenant Eldridge, the Adjutant of the 13th, has been brought in this moment, naked, and mangled in the manner mentioned of the others."

BUFFALOE GAZETTE, EXTRA.

Tuesday evening, July 13.

The Editor of the Gazette with pleasure announces to the public, that he has just received a communication from Fort Niagara, stating that Maj Cyrenis Chapin and his company, have safely arrived at that post. It appears that a British guard under command of a Lieut. were taking Chapin's Corps to Kingston in boats; that the Major conceived a plan of escaping by rising upon the guard & making them prisoners, which was most gallantly executed, probably in the afternoon of yesterday. The Maj. arrived at Niagara this morning, after rowing desperately all night, and fortunately escaping some of the enemy's boats which gave him chase.

We have no further particulars. The Maj and his company may be shortly expected home; when we hope to obtain a satisfactory account of the action at the Beaver Dam and much other interesting matter, which shall be speedily laid before the public.

VIRGINIA AND MASSACHUSETTS.

During our glorious contest for independence, Massachusetts and Virginia were the two most prominent States in the Union. They were emphatically designated as "the two eyes of the Union," and the main pillars on which the revolution was founded. The choicest spirit of those days, both in the cabinet and the field, were from these states. Washington, Warren and Putnam, Samuel and John Adams, Hancock, Lee, Patrick Henry, Franklin, Jefferson, James Otis, and a host of other warthies, whose names irradiate the page of American history, and will be handed down to the latest posterity, originated from Massachusetts and Virginia—In '75, Massachusetts was singled out as the object of British vengeance. In 1813, Virginia is the victim. In '75, when Boston was threatened with starvation, the generous Virginians flew to our relief; their wheat and their corn averted the intended vengeance of the British, and revived our drooping spirits. And will Bostonians in 1813, when the ports of Virginia are blockaded by the same cruel foe; when her towns are sacked, her citizens murdered, and her amiable females exposed to violence: will they, we ask, at the instigation of the British faction, look on with frigid indifference? Altho' Virginia has been "tented to the quick" by the abuse of this faction, still does she speak to Massachusetts in the language of affection; still does she call upon her in friendly accents to unite in the great cause of our common country.

Chronicle.

COURT MARTIAL.

On the 10th of June, 1813, Simeon Montgomery, James Devans, Benjamin Hall, Robert Booth, Thomas Crossing and James Marsh, of the militia at Erie, were tried on the following charges:

Charge 1st—Disobedience of orders.

Charge 2d—Mutinous conduct.

Specification—In arming themselves and taking possession of the block house, swearing they would not submit but with the loss of their lives.

The members of the court martial after maturely weighing the testimony of the parties, are of opinion that the prisoners named in the indictment are guilty of the charges alledged against them: that the offence in their opinion, is of such a nature as to be destructive to armies, and disgraceful to a reg't of militia now in service at this place, sentence them to be punished as follows; First. Stoppage of one months pay, to be kept in confinement in the block house or other fit place for twelve days and nights, chained by one leg, and further to be handcuffed from 7 o'clock, P. M. until 5 o'clock, A. M. next day, and at the expiration of said term to be discharged and drummed out of camp, escorted by a sufficient guard, and as such order their sentence to be recorded, and to be published in the newspapers of the place.

The enemy retiring.—The British squadron yesterday morning took their departure down the Potomac. They were seen as far as Blackstone's Island under full sail. We are sorry to part with them, without having evinced our gratitude for recent favors, & an earnest of future friendship.—We cannot conjecture their destination.
