Several Thousand Witness Big Parade Here Wednesday Night

Governor McMullen of Delaware and Mayor Jackson of Baltimore Honored Guests. Jackson Lauds Splendid Work of Fraternal Organization In Aiding Needy

Several thousand people, hailing from every nook and corner of Cecil County, from Delaware, Pennsylvania, and other bordering communities, poured into Elkton Wednesday evening, many to participate in and others to witness the crowning event of the carnival week being sponsored by the local lodge of Odd Fellows. Fire Companies, organizations, industrial firms,unattached groups and individuals made up the gigantic parade, one of the best held in Elkton in recent years, and received the plaudits of the spectators who lined the street at vantage points to view the spectacle.

Led by an escort of Maryland State police and the Elkton band, the parade moved through the down-town section and other principle streets and thence to the carnival grounds on Railroad avenue wher after disbanding the bands took charge of affairs and for nearly an hour entertained with spirited music.

Following the band concert, interest was centered on the speakers stand where Mayor Henry H. Mitchell and members of the Town Council were hosts to the distinguished guest of the evening. Following a few words of appreciation for what the Odd Fellows lodge has meant to the community, Mayor Mitchell introduced Governor Richard T. McMullen of Delaware. Governor McMullen spoke of the kindly and neighborly feeling that has always exitsed between the States of Maryland and Delaware, and of the splendid spirit of Maryland's neighboring county, Cecil in always being in the forefront in advancing such a spirit.

Ovation For Jackson

Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore received a big ovationwhen he was presented by Mayor Mitchell. A few minutes late owing to a rush trip from Westminister, where he had participated in the Carroll County centennial celebration that afternoon, he was loudly cheered when he mounted the platform and again during his introduction.

Praise Fraternal Work

In praising the work of the local lodge of Odd Fellows, which earmarks the proceeds from the carnival for charity and relief purposes, Mayor Jackson said, "fraternal Orders have made a great contribution to the life of the Nation, and none has been more neighborly, more charitable or more friendly, than the Independent Order of Odd Fellows." He spoke of the years n the past when practically all charity came through like organizations, but with growing unemployment following the years of the recent depression, it has become a National problem, and is "now a problem of the Government."

Prizes Awarded

A committee composed of Mrs. Eloise Ash, Mrs. C. H. Gatchel, Mrs. Sylvester Preston, John Hull, C. Albert Ringold, A. F. Robinson, and E. D. E. Rollins, awarded prizes as follows for the parade, Fraternial, first prize, Delaware Lodge No. 1, Odd Fellows, of Wilmington;Second Minnehaha Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, of Newark. Fire Companies, first prize, North East; second Perryville; third, Cheasapeake City Women's Auxiliary, first prize, Cheasapeake City second, Perryville. Industrial, first prize, Elkton Bakery; second, Mac's Laundry; third Keys and Miller Lumber Company. Special Awards, first prize, Elk River Indian Reservation; second, Triumph Fusee and Fireworks Company; third Tony the tailor. One of the attractions in the parade was the Transcontinental Dog Team, composed of five huskies and driven by Mr. andMrs. P. J. Carroll, now enroute from Hazelton, B. C. to Halifax, N. S. The owners and team are stopping at Circus Park for the remainder of the week.

Prior to the parade, Governor McMullen and Mr. John Hull , Pennsylvania Railroad official who also served on the parade judging committee, were the guests of Mayor and Mrs. Henry H. Mitchell at their home on East Main Street.

Rotary Club Views Commercial Work Of Elkton School

Local High School Wins Three First And One Second Prize In Beacom Contest

John G. Leach Explains Commercial Work To Club In Address

John G. Leach of Beacom College, was the speaker at the Rotary Club on Tuesday June 1. Mr. Leach gave a very interesting discussion on the relation of service cubs to matters of general community interest, and then explained in considerable detail the work of the Commercial Department of the Elkton High School.

Elkton was one of 65 High Schools from 5 different states which entered a contest arranged by Beacom College, and in which the prizes were based upon the work done by the students in the Commercial Department.

Prizes To Elkton

A total of 3800 papers were entered in the competition. Elkton High School won first prize in typing, bookeeping and penmanship, and second prize in shorthand.

Margaret A. Hitchens, from the Elkton School was the winner of one of ten championship prizes. Out of a total of 180 blue ribbons awarded for the various types, 37 were won by members of the Commercial Department of the Elkton High School. There were also 38 certificates of award granted to students of the Elkton High School, to 21 members of the Commercial group and 17 to members of the Academic group.

Public Views Displayed

A display of the various types and specimens of work for which prizes were awarded was arranged on large placards and placed in the dining room of the Howard Hotel. A display of the thesis written by Mr. Edwin Barnes, on The Value of Radio in School, which was mimeographed by the Elkton Commercial Department was something that shows work which is particularly interesting and helpful to business houses. Mrs. Benton who is Principal of the Commercial Department of the Elkton High School, briefly explained the work of that department.

The members of the club displayed considerable interest in examining the wrk after the adjournment of the meeting.

County Demands Acceded

The principal controversy in the Convention was over the question of the proportion of votes between Baltimore City and the Counties. The Montgomery County Delegation assumed a militant leadership in this fight and on the motion of Mr. Alton Nichols, the President of the Montgomery Club, the County delegates requested Kent Mullikin to act as spokesman on the Convention floor. A resolution was introduced calling for the same representation as in the House of Delegates, namely, 36 for the City and 84 for the vision of 40 for the City and 50 for the Counties. A harmonious compromise was arrived at giving each County one additional vote so that the maximum total for counties wil be 73 and the City will remain at 40.

For Liberal Government

The Convention also adopted a resolution comitting the organization to a "liberal philosophy of Government and calling upon the Democratic Party to "present candidates" to expound their sinciere belief in this liberal philosophy." The Convetion also adopted a resolution reaffirming its constitutional prohibition to the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland as an orgonization taking part in State primary contests.

Have Definite Place

Kent Mullikin in closing for the Young emocrats pointed out that the Convention by resolution has reaffirmed their belief in the principales of a liberal democracy and he called n the Party leaders to adhere to a liberal philosophy in Maryland. He asserted "The Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland have a very definite place in the sun - a real mission to perform. I am happy that today by compromise we have settled our differences and that our Clubs now will be organized from one end of this State to the other. We are bound together by some years of association - we have worked together and not in vain. We helped point the way in 1936 - we learned to work with and under the guidance of the oder hands.

We do not seek to ursurp but rather to cooperate. We as an organization welcome all other Young Democrats and whether they join our groups or not we ask that they join with us in our ideals and our aspirations."

Mrs. Raskob Offers Fishing Fair Trophy

Mrs. John J. Rascob is offering a very beautiful trophy to be presented at the Fishing Fair Grand Contest, September 18th, and 19th, at the "Mouth of the Patuxent." off Solomons Island for the "most typical lady angler present." What the most typical lady will look like is a question that a lot of people are asking. Who will set the style, and how will the judges decide? A number of other trophies are ready and will be displayed in a number of cities in the summer.

The beautiful bronze plaque presented last year by the Sportmen's Luncheon Club od Baltimore, will again be awarded the Captain of the boat bringing in the largest fish on the Fishing Fair Day.

The Coast Guard Cutter, Apache and Pamlico have been requested and will be present according to word received from Rear Admiral R. H. Waesche, Commandant at Washington.

A committee from the Chesapeake Bay Fishing Fair Assoc., Inc., expect to give President Roosevelt a special invitation next week.

If you are really interested in fishing, you can get any infrmation concerning the Chesapeake Bay from the Chesapeake Bay Fishing Fair Assoc., Inc., Preston, Maryland.
