Soldiers Fate And Argonout Entered In "National Cup"

4th Renewal Of Brush Classic To See Country's Best Jumpers In Action

2 Flat Events And One Brush Race Will Precede Feature At Fair Hill

With the fourth renewal of the Foxcather National Cup Steeplechase to be contested at Fair Hill on September 11, only a short time off interest in the brush classic is being shown all over the country. From Saratoga comes word that James E. Ryan, trainer of the largest public stable in hunt racing, will point about five thoroughbreds for this race that now has a value of $6,700.00 making it the second largest 'chase purse in the country. Of this number one is certain to be Soldiers Fate, who lost last year's running of the "National Cup" by the proverbial whisker to Frank M. Gould's What Have You. The letter was later sent to England to compete in the Grand National.

Morris Dixon will send the gray contender Argonaut out for gold and glory. Argonaut, owned by William J. Strawbridge of Philadelphia, went well this spring when he garnered the Billy Barton at Pimlico under the able handling of Morris Dixon. In that race he defeated such as Crooning Water and Soldiers Fate. The gray jumper has not faced the barrier since that race and may need a conditioner to put him at tops, he will have this opportunity on September 6th when the Adjacent meet will be held at Rye, N. Y.

J. G. Leiper another sportsman from the Quaker City has named two for the event in Corky and Toymaker. The first named will no doubt be a formidable contender and should go well over the big jumps at Fair Hill as he can go over both brush and timber.

The supporting card for the "National Cup" is filling well and the capacity crowd that will be here on the 11th will enjoy the two flat races and the brush race over the regulation course that will furnish a background for the feature event.

The 135 boxes have been sold for many weeks and at present the host organization is busy filling the large demand for reserved seats. The membership in the newly formed National Cup Association is now over the 500 mark and its members hail from all points of the United States and Canada. With this large and varied support in back of the jumping classic it should not be many years before America will see a race that will attract the following that is enjoyed by the Grand National held at Aintree, England each spring.

Fatal Motor Accident Causes $25,000 Suit

Mrs. Grace Christie, colored, of Havre de Grace, has filed a suit through her attorney Frederick Lee Cobourn for $25,000 damages against Adolphus Mitchell of New York as a result of an automobile accident in which her husband Lloyd Christie was killed.

The accident occured about 1. 30 on the morning of June 23 about 1½ miles south of North East, when Christie and several other men from Havre de Grace were enroute north on Route 40 in a car drven by Elmer Bullock. A truck driven by Miller sideswiped the Havre de Grace car and Christie was caught under the wreckage. Deputy Sheriff Elwood Racine happened along a few minutes after the accident and assisted in getting Christie from the wreck. He was rushed to the Havre de Grace Hospital but succumbed a few minutes after he was admitted from a fractured skull and other injuries.

Yacht Owner Burned By Explosion On Boat

John McGrann, of Lancaster, Pa., was seriously burned about the hands, arms and face by an explosion on his yacht the Conestoga, a forty-foot craft, just as he with a party of friends were preparing to take a trip down the Chesapeake Bay.

The yacht was tied up at Schaefer's wharf at Chesapeake City when the explosion occurred. The cause of the explosion has not been determined. The cabin of the boat was partly blown off and set afire by the blast.

McGrann was hurried to the hospital at Elkton where he received treatment for his wounds.

Man Held For Murder InJail Here Last Week

Lloyd Pusey, 44-year-old itinerant preacher and his evangelist wife, Mary Pusey, whom he is accused of slaying with a hammer at Linden, New Jersey last Friday, were detained overnight in the Elkton jail Monday of last week and the following morning were given twenty minutes by State's Attorney Rollins to get out of town.

While here the couple attempted a sympathy racket and a report of their activity lead to their arrest. They left town immediately following the State's Attorney's reprimand and on the following Friday New Jersey police arrested the man and charged him with murdering his wife.

Reports from Elizabeth, New Jersey, where Pusey is being held a prisoner, indicate that he will enter a plea of self defense. Pusey asserts that his 44-year-old wife provoked the fatal beating by attacking him with an umbrella. The New Jersey prosecutor said the umbrella, which was found in the car in which the woman was slain, did not show any signs of having been used as a weapon.

WOMEN RULED ELIGIBLE

Maryland women are as eligible for appointment to public office as men, according to a ruling of Attorney General Herbert R. O'Conor, which was made public today by Governor Harry W. Nice in connection with the appointment of Mrs. Wilson Ryan, of Hyattsville to the Board of State Motion Picture Censors.

The Governor asked for the ruling when his right to appoint a woman was questioned, although he said the equal eligibility of women had been established when he named Mrs. Lula E. Powell as police magistrate. Mr. O Conor ruled Section 13, Article 69, of the Maryland Code specifically decides the eligibility of women.

In addressing the Governor the Attorney General wrote, in part:

"You mentioned particularly the fact that in many of the statutes the Legislature used the pronoun 'he' and 'his' in referring to persons appointed to the offices in question. You ask whether or not this language would indicate that a woman can be appointed to office. It is my opinion that the use of such language is for ease of expression rather than an attempt to prohibit the appointment of women."

Gala Opening Ceremony Planned For C & D Canal

Baltimore Association Of Commerce To Mark Event Next Spring

Plans for a ceremony next spring to mark the formal opening of the modernized Chesapeake and Delaware Canal are being made by the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

War Department dredging of the canal is months ahead of schedule, the Export and Import Bureau of the association reported yesterday, adding that "it is probable that the canal, 27 feet deep and 250 feet wide, will be in a position to take vessel traffic averaging about 20 feet draft by December or January.

Widening Bay Channels

Chesapeake Bay approach channels, the same depth, but 400 feet wide, are expected to be completed at an earlier date, the bureau reported, although considerable routine dredging work will be rquired during the early part of next year before the canal's final dimensions are attained.

Approximately four months' work must be done after the funds are made available, according to Capt. H. D. King, Commissioner of Lighthouses. It is doubtful whether the funds will be transfered by the Treasury to the Bureau of Lighthouses for at least several weeks after passage of the bill.

Two Tie-Up Basins

The bureau is transmitting to the United States engineers in charge of the project comments by local and national shipping interests on methods of traffic control in the canal.

Two tie-up basins are contemplated at either end of the canal, one at the Delaware river side and the other in Back creek on the Chesapeake side. Future tie-ups points, for which funds are not available at present, are planned on either side of each bridge crossing the canal.

More Business For The Marriage Mill

Prospects for an increase in the number of marriages here have taken a jump with inauguration of the 3-day marriage law in New York State which went into effect August 31. With similar laws effective in Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania ranging from 48 hours to three days, Maryland offers the only door without restrictions to altar-bound couples who seek quick service when little Dan Cupid finds his mark.

Maryland's 48-hour law, passed during the session of the last Legislature , was made inoperative by the signatures of more than 10,000 voters who took advantage of the referendum clause in the State's constitution. The question will be settled by the voters in the 1938 election.

It is stated that in New York City, one hundred and seventy couples obtained licenses on the day before the new law became effective. This was more than six times the usual number for one day. Hereafter, in New York State, 72 hours must elapse between the issuance of the license and the ceremony, a law instituted to discourage "gin" weddings.

Surplus Maryland Potatoes Bought By Federal Agency

Action Saves Prices From Being Forced Down With Loss To Farmers

Potatoes Consigned To Relief Agencies For Persons On Relief Rolls

More than 37,000 bushels of potatoes were purchased recently from Maryland producers by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation in an effort to remove surpluses from normal trade channels, it is announced by S. B. Shaw, chief of the Maryland State Department of Markets. Officials of the State Department of Markets inspected the potatoes and cooperated in other ways in making the purchases.

The potatoes were consigned to the relief agencies of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Maine, Indiana and the District of Columbia for consumption by persons on relief rolls.

A program for the purchase of surplus potatoes have been under way in a number of states Mr. Shaw says. It was instituted when it became evident that the potato market would be greatly burdened by current supplies far in excess of normal requirements, which would force down prices and reduce returns to farmers.

F. R. Wilcox, vice-president of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, states that the primary purpose of removing surplus potatoes is to encourage the domestic consumption of agricultural products and thus help producers to reduce the quantities available for commercial outlets. "Purchase programs are designed first of all to preventprice disasters in the markets for agricultural prducts," he explained.. "The removal of depressing surpluses permits the market to function normally and prices to improve," he asserted. The purchases benefit not only the individual from whom they are made, he stater, but all producers of the commodity involved.
