STRAW AS A FERTILIZER

U. S. Government experts in the Agricultural Department declare that straw has no value as a fertilizer, except the value of the carbon in same, and the great wheat producing farms of the West and Northwest, who have no market for the straw, burn it and use the carbon in the ash thus obtained, for what fertilizer it produces.

Barnyard straw, converted there into manure is valuable only as a conveyor of the fertilizing properties of the manure, (principally amonia) from the barnyard to the field. A small quantity only can be used to advantage by the farmer in this way. The farmers of Kent and Queen Anne's counties, Maryland, have an exceptional market for their straw at Chestertown, where the American Strawboard Company's paper mill will pay a price equal to more than ten times its value as a fertilizer.

They are offering today four dollars a load in the stack on the farm, and will send their teams to haul it, taking all of it as it runs in the stack, or part if you prefer.

The money thus realized will pay for real fertilizer ten times more valuable than the fertilizing value of the carbon in the straw.

Why not take advantage of this opportunity at once, and get the advantage of this year's operations on the farm. Call upon or telephone the American Straw Board Company, Chestertown, Md., and get full particulars.
