The Election.

It will be seen from the returns which we publish to day, that the Whigs, in the Election of Tuesday last, have sustained a most overwhelming defeat! It is unnecessary for us at this time, to express any onlinion as to the combination of causes which have brought about this result. When the smoke of the battle shall have cleared away, these causes will be sufficiently apparent and will fully explain all that may now seem obsoure.

the election of Gen'l Pierce bodes no definately heard from Georgia and good to the United States; yet we are not certain for General Scott. bow to will of the people, and even Should Gen Pierce obtain the vote of renture to indulge the hope that an each of the five States to be heard from, over-ruling Providence may so direct he will have 165 electoral votes to 30 for the counsels of the incoming adminis- Gen Scott. tration as to avert many of the evils which we have apprehended from the triumph of its measures.
