The Citizen

FREDERICK, MD.

Friday Morning, January 5, 1866.

JOHN W. BAUGHMAN,
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

General News.

A serious riot took place at Springfield, Illinois, on Chrismas day, between the citizens of that place and a body of about fifty drunken soldiers from Camp Butler. Under the inspiration of bad whiskey, the soldiers thought they would clean out the town; but the police and citizens interposed, when a fight ensued, which resulted in the killing of one soldier and seriously wounding several citizens and two policemen.

The ice flood in the west branch of the Susquehanna, on Thursday night and Friday, caused immense damage to the lumbermen on that river. It was estimated that from sixty to seventy millions feet of saw-logs, valued at a million of dollars, passed Williamsport, Pennsylvania, during a single twenty-four hours.

On Friday last the boilers of the Cordelia Iron Furnace at Columbia, Pa. exploded, killing one man, injuring several others and demolishing the furnace buildings.

Dr. Bradford, Public Administrator of New York city, is a defaulter to the amount of $35,000 or $40,000. He says he lost it in stock speculations.

The propositions for negro suffrage in the District of Columbia are now modified so as to require an educational and property qualification on the part of the negro.

It is reported from Washington that the probabilities are that the bill giving bounties to the soldiers of 1861 will be passed.

Artemus Ward and wife were found dead at their residence in Worcester, Massachusetts, on Friday morning last, from the effects of inhaling coal gas.

The Kentucky Legislature will go into an election for United States Senator on the twenty-fifth instant.

The military in Texas are playing their "little brief authority" pranks much to the disgust of the Judical ermine in that State. In the District Court of Jefferson County a military officer recently entered the court room and ordered the Provisional Judge to release two Treasury agents, indicted by the Grand Jury for swindling, threatening him with punishment if he dared to disobey the order.

A squad of armed negroes, rendezvousing at the military hospitals near Jeffersonville, Indiana, went to that place on Christmas day, and while parading about the streets, shot an unoffending young German, named August Hammel, besides trying to provoke collisions with some other young men about town. The Mayor of that city demanded the surrender of the negroes for trial by the civil authority, but Gen. Palmer decided to give them up. He promised however, that they should be brought to a speedy military trial.

A New Haven (Conn.) grocer had for some time past missed small sums of money from his drawer, but couldn't guess where it went to. Last week he had occasion to remove an old counter, under which he discovered a rat's nest composed of $70 in bills and currency.

—Gen. Howard asks the modest sum of eleven millions and three quarters for his Bureau!—and $30,00,000 of it for teachers and school-houses for the blacks.

—One of the largest farmers in the United States is Mr. Bidwell, of California, the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture in the House of Representatives. He owns 25,000 acres of land, and last year his wheat crop was 38,000 bushels.

The Colored Tennesseean a paper published by the negroes in Nashville, says: "We must feel that every foreigner, whether German, Irish, of or whatever nationality, has far less claims upon the Government than we, who are "natives to the manor born."

The Massachusetts Senator has proposed so many bills for the consideration of Congress that he is called Bill Sumner.—Boston Post.

The White House and the Black House are at opposite ends of Pennsylvania avenue, Washington.—N. Y. Leader.

Four years ago a needlewoman of Paris lost her husband, and, in the violence of her grief, made a vow she would never marry again. Last October she was re-married. She went, on the Feast of the Dead, to pray on her first husband's grave; she begged him to pardon her violation of the vow; her excited imagination seemed to hear a voice from the grave exclaim, "Never!" She fainted away and remained in a swoon for six hours, and died the next day.

THE SOUTHERN CONGRESSMEN.—It is now reported that there is a probability of the Southern representatives to Congress being admitted to their seats, and that, too, at an early day. On Wednesday a week the Southern members held a caucus and resolved to go to their homes and remain there until the Fourth of March; but on the succeeding day, it is said that the Secretary of State, in conversation with Senator Segar, of Virginia, said the Southern members would all be admitted on the re-opening of the session, and requested Mr. Segar to return by that time, if he left the Capital.

A HARD HIT.—A gentleman recently returned from the South called on the President, and told him that at Richmond there were in a single school two or three hundred white children as poor and ignorant as any blacks to be found in the whole of the South, and urged that they needed the aid of the philanthropic everywhere. President Johnson replied that he was very glad one Northern man had discovered that there were any white people at the South.

Our Success.

At the beginning of this new year it is fitting that we should extend our congratulations, and express our earnest wish for the happiness and prosperity of our numerous friends, who sympathised with us in our days of trial; and who, by their generous patronage and words of hope and cheer have stimulated our exertions, and enabled us to place the "Citizen" before the public, once more, as a successful newspaper.

After a forced suspension of more than a year, we resumed the publication of the Citizen, a little more than four months ago; and, although discarding our old list of subscribers, and leaving it optional with all old friends to renew their former relations with us at their pleasure,—we are most happy to be able to state, for the information of many cherished friends, some of whom have stood by us for more than twenty years, —and for the gratification of other good and true friends of later years —that our subscription, for the county, is nearly or quite as large as at the time when the brutal Hunter interrupted us in our editorial labors, by his order of banishment. We believe our subscription for this county, while being quite as large as that of either of our cotemporaries, is, in quality, far better, as we are not aware of having a single "dead head" on our list.

It is also pleasant to state, that our list, notwithstanding its gratifying extent, is gradually but steadily increasing. Old friends who, in the start, for one reason and another, were not just then prepared to help us in our efforts, are now coming forward to cheer us with renewed expressions of confidence–long entertained–in our political integrity.

Our past success is, we venture to hope, a guarantee of that future patronage which shall equal our deservings, and justly compensate our industry, while stimulating our zeal in promoting the public good.

Our friends must, or we hope they at least will, remember, that it is our purpose to furnish them with a first-class newspaper, fully worth the money they pay for it, because of the quantity of interesting literary, political and news matter it contains.—They will please remember, that we are now, and have been all the time, publishing more of such matter than both of our cotemporaries together, and that, in order to do this, we must employ extra force, and are thereby subjected to extra expense. To justify us in adhering to the policy we have thus far observed, and which we desire to continue, we need a LARGE LIST of prompt paying subscribers. If our friends will only exert themselves to extend our subscription to the point it should attain—and will, with reasonable efforts on their part —we promise them that great columns of patent medicines shall never encroach upon the space which should properly be devoted to reading matter, in order to render the Citizen an anxiously expected and ever welcome visitor in every family in the county where its political principles are approved.

We would say to advertisers—it is folly to assume that that paper which is most crowded with advertisements is the best advertising medium. To-day—if we had accepted all, or half the propositions for advertising, acceptable in other localities, we should not have room for this article, much less for that variety of interesting selected matter which we present for the gratification and information of our numerous subscribers. Our paper circulates in every district and neighborhood in the county, and considering the number and substantial and influential character of the gentlemen who take our paper, we affirm, knowing whereof we speak, that in spite of all the repeated boastings to the contrary, we know no better or more profitable medium through which those who wish to buy or desire to sell to advantage, can make known their wants to the people of this county.

Judging the future by the past, and returning our grateful acknowledgments for the generous patronage extended to us by our friends, and the public, during the past four months, we enter upon the new year with a bright hope, as well as a fixed determination to deserve success.

The Future.

Congress adjourned for the holidays—the holidays have passed, and Congress will meet again on Monday. Previous to, and up to the day of adjournment, the most noted leaders of the Republican party had exhibited a spirit of defiant opposition to the reconstruction policy of President Johnson; and, as far as could be inferred from his message to the Senate, transmitted just before the adjournment, the President had determined to join issue with the Radicals, and try the question before Congress and the country.

His demands, severely testing, as they did, the loyalty of the Southern people, having been promptly met and acceded to by the Conventions and Legislatures of all the States lately in rebellion, that have had time to act, the President is, we have no doubt, unaffectedly anxious for their immediate restoration to all the rights, privileges and advantages enjoyed by the so-called loyal States, as members of the Federal Union.

The war being over, and slavery abolished, he desires a restoration of the Union. He wants the people of the late seceded States to elect their own Governors, and Legislatures, and to have the direction of their own State policy, as completely as the people of those States which have not been in rebellion, "so-called." He desires that these late rebellious States shall be represented in the National Legislature, the same as before the "rebellion"—in fine, to enjoy all the rights in the Union that are enjoyed by all the other States of the Union.—But the radicals want to keep them out—are not willing to allow the people of the Southern States to govern themselves, and would hold them by military power, and govern them as conquered provinces,—thus changing, fundamentally, the character of our Government, and defeating the accomplishment of the professed object for which so much blood and treasure have been expended—the restoration of the Union, with all the rights of the States under the Constitution, unimpaired. We cannot anticipate events. The issue is a most momentous one. If the President should fail in gaining to his support a sufficient number of the members of Congress, to vindicate and execute his policy, many patriots will begin to despair of the Republic. It may be that in a few weeks all apprehensions will be removed and the hearts of all patriots be cheered by the triumph of the President's policy, and the signal and humiliating defeat of the vindictive, disunion policy of the radicals.

LOCAL NEWS.

SALES TO COME OFF. On tomorrow, Saturday, the 6th inst Mr. Henry Lorentz will offer at public Sale at the Dill House, at 10 o'clock, his residence in West third street, two houses in west south street, a house on the road leading from Buckeystown to Urbana a number of buildings lots on the suburbs of this city, one half interest in 392 acres of land 11 miles south of Frederick, and 1292 acres of valuable timber and arable land in Washington County.

On Thursday next the 11th inst R Thomas, C. E Thomas, G W. Snouffer and G R. Hayes, Executors of Capt Otho Thomas, will sell at public Sale at the late residence of deceased, near the road leading from Point of Rocks to the Mouth of the Monococy—6 head of work Horses, 15 head of Cattle, 18 head of fine fat pen hogs, 15 large Shoats 19 head of Sheep—380 Bbls of Corn 100 acres of wheat growing, and a large quantity of valuable farming implements, together with household and kitchen furniture.

ADVOCATE OF MOB LAW.—The Examiner is the advocate of mob law. Its principles are dangerous and indifensible. If a man may be knocked down by a crowd and beaten for the utterance of an unpopular sentiment in one community, so may a man be beaten or hanged in another community for the expression of an opposite sentiment, or any sentiment, whether political or religious not popular with the mob.

There is no law on our statue book, there is no military law now in force in Maryland, by which a man can be imprisoned or fined for "hurrahing for Jeff Davis"; but the Examiner argues that if any returned rebel should so "affront the loyal sentiment" as thus to indicate his respect for the late representative of the ideas and hopes of eight millions of his countrymen, that the "loyal sentiment" may legitimately override all established law, and make a law of its own.

Now in many communities, as well as in many assemblies of persons, it might not be popular for an individual to hurrah for Abraham Lincoln; does the Examiner mean to say that such communities or assemblies would be excusable or justifiable in restoring to personal violence by way of punishing "the affront" to their "sentiment?" The principle upon which the Examiner attempts to palliate the "outrageous assault" to which we alluded last week, can find no force by the false impression attempted to be created that some one "hurrahed for Jeff Davis." Such is not the fact, and certainly if any one did, neither of the parties mal reated did so on that occasion, or on that day in public or in private.

The Examiner avows devotion to the "reconstruction policy" of President Johnson, and took occasion, last week, to denounce, for the first time we believe, those disunion radicals—Sumner, Wilson and Wade; from which we infer, that the conductors of the Examiner disapprove of and repudiate the political heresies of that trio of "Arch traitors," and have no sympathy or respect for their followers or admirers. Now, suppose some man were here in our streets, in the midst of this "loyal" union loving community, to "hurrah" for Charles Sumner,—are we to understand, that the Examiner would hoot on the mob to brick-bat and beat the individual so offending against the loyal sentiment of the Examiner, and its adherents? Who is prepared to "hurrah" for Chas Sumner—formerly the "right bower" of Abraham Lincoln? Before men hurrah for anybody or anything, is it necessary to know, in advance, at the risk of being mobbed, what the "loyal sentiment" is in regard to the person or thing they propose to "hurrah" for?

We still have hopes of the conversion of the Examiner from the errors of its ways, that it will repant its pernicious principles and ultimately become the stern advocate of "unconditional" obedience to those laws which have been long since enacted for the protection of persons and property,—The Examiner should remember, that popular sentiment is ever changing, and is not a shield upon which men of principle should depend for the security of their own rights.

GAME LAW.—The unusual scarcity, of partridges this season should be an inducement for sportsmen to pay strict obedience to the law which forbids the shooting of them after the 1st of January. The law also prohibits the shooting of quails, woodcocks and pheasants, after the above date.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK.—The First National Bank of Frederick has commenced business at the north west corner of Market and Second street. Thos. M. Markell, Esq., the late efficient Cashier of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank, having been elected Cashier of the First National Bank, has accepted the position and entered upon the discharge of the duties of the office.

MCAVOY'S HIBERNICON.—This exhibition at Junior Hall is a great attraction, the vast Hall being crowded on each evening with delighted spectators. The paintings are said to be admirable, and the singing and other performances very entertaining.

BIBLE SOCIETY.—At the Lutheran church on next Sunday evening, will be celebrated the 45th Anniversary of the Young Men's Bible Society of Frederick county. The Rev. Mr. Parode, of Middletown, will deliver the annual address on this interesting occasion. The public are invited to attend.

THE GERMAN BUILDING ASSOCIATION.—Held another meeting at Harugari Hall on Monday evening last and elected the following officers for 1866. Christian Eckstein, President, John Herold vice President, George Esterly, Secretary, Nicholas Brengle Treasurer, Directors: Frederick Zumstein, H F Debring, John S. Barucker, Michael Lielich, Louis Burke.

THE ENGLISH QUARTERLY REVIEWS. We call the attention of those of our readers who would like to be in possession of these standard periodicals, to the advertisement of Leonard Scott & Co, published in another column. In view of the high price of all printing material, and the admitted excellence of these publications, the publishers certainly offer great inducements to subscribers.

Maryland Farmer.

A new volume of this valuable magazine devoted to Agriculture, Horticulture, Live Stock, Florticultural, and Rural Affairs generally, commences January, 1866. That number is now before us and is well stored with valuable original and selected matter on Agriculture, and its kindred sciences. It is the only agricultural journal now published in our State, and deserves the support of every intelligent farmer who desires to keep pace with the progress of the age. The "MARYLAND FARMER contains 18 large double column octavo pages, with 4 page cover —is printed on good white paper and clear type. It is published by S. T. MILLS & CO., 24 S. Calvert street, Baltimore, at $1,50 per annum.

Mrs Clement C Clay is in Washington, where she is said to be indefatigable in her efforts to secure a parolo for her husband These efforts, we are told have a reasonable prospect of success.

COMPLEXION.—It is an impossibility for any person afflicted with a diseased liver or with disorder of the digestive organs, to have a good or clear complexion. "Hoflands German Bitters" will remove all disease from the liver and digestive organs, and by thus giving health and strenght to those organs, remove that sallowness of appearance and roughess of the skin noticed in so many. These Bitters are prepared by Dr. C. M Jackson & Co, 418 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and sold by all druggists and dealers in medicines at 75 cents per bottle.

There is another conflict of authority between the civil and military authorities in East Tennessee. Some months ago a party of soldiers killed a guerilla, named Thornhill. They were tried by court-martial for the offence, acquitted. They were, however, subsequently indicted before the Circuit Court of Jefferson county, and were arrested and remanded to prison. A military force sent by Major General Thomas to release the prisoners from the hands of the Sheriff and his posse was itself captured and imprisoned. General Stoneman then sent a force of two hundred men to release the prisoners and arrest all those who had resisted the order of General Thomas. If this last order is executed, it will include the Judge of the Circuit Court, the Sheriff, and many of the citizens of Danbridge, who turned out at the call of the latter At the last advices the military had taken possession of Danbridge.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

For the week ending December 30, the Treasury Department redeemed $214,820 in certificates of indebtedness, and $2,636,670 in interest notes and currency.

It is stated that nearly three hundred applications for clerical appointments in the Treasury Department were received and filed last week.

The Treasurer of the United States has received $34 348 500 from National banking companies as security for that amount of Government bonds deposited in banks operating under the national bank act.

The Louisiana National Bank, of New Orleans, capital $1 000 000, was established by the Comptroller of the Currency last week. Total circulation of national banks, $237,371,155

Securities for circulation of national banks amounting to $301 040,800 have been deposited in the Treasury Department.

The receipts from Internal Revenue since June 30th, 1865, amount, to $175,537,468,02

☞The Speaker of the Louisiana House of Representatives, Mr. Cage, was before the war one of the wealthiest, as among the most esteemed citizens of Louisiana. He had a crop of fifteen hundred hogshead of sugar, a large number of slaves, and extensive estates. Among other property he had three hundred working mules. This property has been all seized and—except the land—destroyed. Yet he seems cheerful under this extraordinary adversity, and vindicates, in the confidence and sympathy of his fellow citizens, the supreme value of worth and ability over the accidents of fortune.

MILITARY CLOTHING FOR THE FREEDMEN'S DEPARTMENT.—The War Department has given an order for the sending of a large quantity of irregular military clothing from the Schuylkill Arsenal, Philadelphia, to the Freedmen's Bureaus in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. The Arsenal is over stocked with military clothing and equipage of all kinds, the value of the goods being estimated at one hundred and twenty millions of dollars. It is all carefully packed up, and means have been taken to preserve it from moths and the effects of dampness.

SHERMAN AND JOE JOHNSON AT THE GAYOSO.—The Memphis Commercial of the 21st says:

"For the first time since his deposition by Jefferson Davis, Joseph E. Johnston met Gen. Sherman, evening before last, at the Gayoso House. It is needless to say that the greeting of these soldiers was kindly and cordial."

The principal part of the malice engendered by the war now remains among the cowardly stay-at-home politicians of the North.

NEGRO EQUALITY.—The English, who have heretofore been the strongest advocates of the doctrine of negro equality, have at length been brought to a realizing sense of the folly of such an idea, by the recent terrible outbreak in Jamaica. The London Telegraph, in an editorial relating to this affair, says:

"Events have proved that the negro is still a savage. * * It is plain that the blacks are utterly unfit to be trusted, and that it is absurd to confide any political power whatever in their hands * * * The constitution of Jamaica must be altered it we would preserve the colony for the crown, and protect its inhabitants from massacre. Seduced by the theories of professional philanthropists, we have treated barbarians as though they were civilized beings; or in the more energetic phrase of a colonist, "we have been petting panthers." It is time that this should end. * * * We must rule the African with a strong hand since we are bound to continue the thankless task of ruling him at all"

What will the negro equality fanatics say to this? When an Englishman admits that his opinion was a wrong one, the proofs of his error must be too palpable to be denied. In this case the English press and people see and acknowledge their mistake in granting social and political equality to the blacks, or rather in "petting panthers." Will the people of the United States be warned in time, and at once frown down the damnable doctrine of negro suffrage and negro equality? Or will they continue to be led by fanatics and designing demagogues to their ruin? Our people are petting the panther; let them beware that it does not turn and rend them —Jamaica is an example to all who are not blinded by prejudice; let us profit by it.

THE WESTERN HOG TRADE.—The receipts of hogs at Cincinnati, so far this season, reached 165,941 head, against 230 346 during the same time last year. The Cincinnati Price Current of Wednsday says:

The receipts of hogs during the week have been rather better than they were the previous week, but the market has been weak, and peices declined 50 per cental, closing weak at 10 25a $10 50 net.

The business of packing hogs in this city this season, so far, is far behind that of any previous season since 1850 so that the manner in which hogs have been kept back this season is without precedent in the history of trade, and therefore it is not surprising that it should attract attention, but the Western packers and dealers know full well that the hogs are in the country still, though probably not to the extent of last year's crop in number, yet fully up to it in pounds. For, in case there should be a deficit of 500,000 in number, which we regard doubtful, the increase in weight will fully make up this.

An Interminable Inquiry.

The Treasury Department appears to be one of the favorite branches of the public service for the official vampires that are eating up the substance of the the country. Fraud after fraud, and inquiry after inquiry, are the order of the day under the jurisdiction of Mr. McCulloch; and appear destined to continue so, for, at least, some time. A special commission has just been appointed to investigate things in relation to the cotton agents in the Southern States; and, if it sets about its work in earnest, will find a mass of villainy which will consume its labors of inquiry for many a day The truth is your shoddy "loyalty" cannot be a virtue, if Aristotle be correct, in affirming that "the virtues are in a train;" for it is now a fairly established fact that in, at least, public life, "loyalty may, in nine cases out of ten, be said, as Dr. Johnson said of patriotism, to be "the last refuge of a scoundrel" The blatent "loyalty" of the Black Republicans has certainly covered, for some years past, "a multitude of sins," and even though it were allowed to be for evermore a pass-word to office, would never be in the future, as it certainly never has been in the past, without a multitude of sins to cover.—N. Y. News.

A STRANGE COINCIDENCE.—An old friend of Governor Corwin, and who was present on the evening when the gifted Corwin was struck down, writes to the Columbus Journal a letter describing the scene as follows:

When at last the press about him lessened, I sat down by his side. What he happened first to say to me furnishes one of those strange coincidences which help to invest our lives with a tinge of the mysterious and awful, and which makes us superstitious. One of his first utterances to me was a startling description of what Tom Corwin was to be in twenty-five minutes after his utterance It was this: He said, "You are morbald than when I saw you the last day before I sailed for Mexico." I said, "Yes." He said, with the semi comical face which has become historical, "But then Julius Cæsar was bald." I said, "But Cæsar had fits." Then he assumed a more serious manner, and said. "Twenty years ago I saw a man fall in apparently unconscious paralysis when in the midst of excited discourse He was carried out by his friends in this condition, and his first act of consciousness was to utter the words you have just said:

"Cæsar had fits."

In twenty-five minutes after, I assisted in carrying Corwin out in the precise condition he had so strangely described.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, writing from Toronto, Canada, gives the following information concerning several rebel officers:

I met here General John C. Breckinribpg, General McCausland, Colonel Harry Gilmore, Major John Castleman Captain Hinde, and others who had been officers in the armies of the Confederacy. General Breckneridge looks and is in perfect health. It was represented during the war that his hair had turned from jet black to silvery white. That was a mistake. A few grey hairs are preseptable about the locks, that is all. He is keeping house in an humble retired way. He is much respected by the citizens, and is invited to two or three parties every week at the residences of the first families. He is a great walker, walking from six to ten miles a day, while the weather permits such exercise. He is a hard student, reading a great deal. I could not but think that it is a misfortune that a gentlemen of his culture and intellect should be lost to his country. All the gentlemen here of the Confederate army conduct themselves with great propriety and are treated with respect and attention by the citizens.

THE CHRISTMAS INSURRECTION.—Late Texas papers report that there is the strongest evidence that an intended massacre was postponed throughout the Southern States by negroes and abandoned whites. The uprising was to take place during the holidays, but the prompt and efficient action of the military has caused these malcontents to abondon, for the present, their contemplated massacre.

WASHINGTON COUNTY (MD.) RAILROAD. Contracts for the building of this road have been awarded to the following named parties, who are to complete the grading and masonry of the same within twelve months: Sections 1 to 11, both inclusive, to Major F Dorsey Herbert, of Hagerstown, E D. Smith & Co., of Philadelphia, and Mr. Wiley, of Harrisburg, Pa? No 5, to Levi Benton, of Sharpsburg, No 12 to Kirwin & Riley, of Harper's Ferry. And Nos 13 to 23, both inclusive, to Messrs. Appleman, Gantz & Ziegler of Hagerstown, and Mr. Decker, of New York.

☞Joshua Hill, the veteran Unionist of Georgia, when he was at Washington recently, is reported to have stated as an important fact in the history of secession in his State, that the Union men of the Georgia State Convention held the State from the vortex of secession until Mr. Toombs came into the capitol with the N. Y. Tribune in his hand triumphantly reading an editorial declaring that the Southern States had a right to secede, and that the Federal Government had no right to hold them.—"That," said Mr. Hill, overthrew us, and the State was rushed out of the Union."

Mountain of salt.—A striking curiosity has lately been discovered in Nevada Territory. It is a mountain of rock salt, situated about twenty miles from Meadow Valley, and only eighteen miles from the the head of navigation on the Colorado river. It rises abruptly from the plain about four hundred feet in height, a mountain of pure, sparkling, crystalized salt.

☞"It is well to leave something for those who come after us," as the gentleman said who threw a barrel in the way of a constable who was chasing him.

☞A fat man in Paris sold his body to the surgeons for for 1, 260 fr., went on a spree with the money, and died, and was immediately cut up.

TO CLERGYMEN.—A few reasons why you should use Hoofland's German Bitters.

1. Because it is the best tonic and invigorant in the land.
2. Because it is the prescription of an eminent Physician, and it is recommended by the experience of twenty years.
3. Because it is carefully compounded, of vegetable extracts, and is free from Alcoholic stimulant.
4. Because it is, therefore, never sold in steamboat saloons, bar rooms and low brothels
4. Because you can ask for it, without the blush of shame mantling your cheeks, and without the reprobation of your own conscience.
6. Because you can take it to your home, and administer it to a delicate wife or child without the fear of making or creating an appetite which might convert that home into a den of dissipation.
7. Because thousands of your brethren, of all denominations, have tested it, when suffering from Asthma, Nervous Debility, Bronchitis, or Dyspectic Sore Throat, with entire satisfaction.
8 Because a trial will convince you of the truth of all we have said
