THE WORLD WE LIVE IN

Florida Switching

Florida, N. J.—A new way for an automobile to derail a locomotive was shown here when a car driven by Stanley Greak struck and turned a switch mechanism just as a fifty-car freight lumbered down the track. The train shunted to a siding, crashed through a dirt bumper, came to a stop with the locomotive wheels buried two feet in the earth and ten feet from the depot. earth and ten feet from the depot. Greak said his car lights went out on him.

Brightening Philly

Philadelphia—Mayor S. Davis Wilson injected a little humor for the benefit of Army-Navy football fans in special signs pointing the way to the Municipal Stadium. The signs depicted an agile Quaker racing along, towing a mule and a goat.

Inauguration Seats

Washington—Planning the most generous accommodations ever finished for such a ceremony, Capitol architects are outlining seats for 14,000 to witness President Roosevelt's inauguration in January. No protection against the weather will provided except for wooden sheathing on the Capitol steps where 2,100 will sit. If the weather is too bitter the President may take oath in the Senate Chamber.

Dodges Shooting Star

Perth, West Australia—Pilot James Woods flying the Derby-Perth route came within 600 yards of colliding with a huge meteor. The pilot"s first warning came when his plane was illuminated by a bluish sort of light. He promptly banked his ship, then watched the meteor until it grounded with a terrific thud.

Teaches Beekeeping

Dolgelly, Wales—Beekeeping is being added to the subjects taught elementary school pupils in Merioneth county. The man behind the idea is Watkin Williams, police sergeant by profession, beekeeper by hobby. Incidentally the pupils may learn how to be as busy as bees.

Dumb Acting Is British

London—Asserting that the art of pantomine is strictly a British role the Ministry of Labor has refused Barbara Vernon, American actress, a permit to pantomine Mother Goose. Miss Vernoi was allowed to act in England, provided she took speaking parts.

Poland's Big Dam

Warsaw—Damming the Dunajec River at Nowy Sacz is creating one of the largest artificial lakes in Europe. The reservoir built as a public works project of the Polish government is designed to check floods, furnish electric current.

Last Farm Goes

New York—The last farm census showed that Manhattan borough of New York had one farm. The next census will change the figure to zero. The last farm, a one-acre plot where Joe Benedeto raised corn, cabbage and other stuff for his nine children has been bought for use as an auto-trailer camp.

Loses Thumb, Dies

Holland, N. Y.—Unable to throw off the shock of having a thumb torn off by a bolting cow twelve days ago, William Milleville, 60-year old farmer, died. Milleville had tied one end of a rope around the cow's neck, the other around his thumb.

Hot Dogs Are Bologna?

Memphis—Judge E. B. Carter refused to see any legal difference between frankfurters and bologna. A merchant charged with violating Sunday ordinances by selling frankfurters argued that it was legal to sell bologna, a delicatessen item. The judge, dismissing the case, put it up to the license bureau to draw the line.

Memory Lingers On

New York—As an antidote for homesickness for New York Viscount Astor, returning to England, took with him 300 prints of "Little Old New York. He plans to hang them in his home.

A Gun's A Gun

Tully, Ireland—It's against the law to have a gun in the house here without a permit. Mrs. Annie Murdock, cited into court because she lacked a permit for an antique weapon, protested that it was an heirloom handed down from Queen Anne's time. She was fined and the gun confiscated. She doesn't need a permit now.

More Nagging

Atlantic City, N. J.—Dr. R. J. Trevorrow, college head, says that if it were not for family nagging most college students would drop out after two years and go to work.

Silver Coffin

Chicago—Noted as a city for splurges at funerals of assassin's victims, Chicago adds that Michael L. Galvin, head of the teamsters and truck drivers union until shotgun fire from an automobile killed him. Galvin's union provided a $5,000 silver coffin and a special car for each of three of Galvin's wives who attended the obsequies. One wife did not appear.

Bridge And Music

San Franciso—Fritz Kreisler does not like the way radio treats good music says that people should make the sacrifice of paying their way to hear concerts and recitals, that "I bid three spades" is no proper accompaniment to a Toscanini broadcast.

Speaking List Announced For Bureau Banquet

T. J. Keating, Jr., To Be Toastmaster; Dr. H. C. Byrd, Speaker

Dr. Harry Clifton Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, will deliver the principal address at the Eighth annual banquet of the Queen Anne's County Farm Bureau which will be held at Cox Hall in Sudlersville Wednesday evening, December 16 at 6:30 o'clock. Approximately 250 members of the county Bureau and their friends are expected to be present.

Thomas J. Keating, Jr., of Centreville is to be toastmaster at the banquet. Besides Dr. Byrd, other speakers will be Harry H. Nuttle of Denton, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau and Charles E. Wise of Baltimore, secretary of the state body.

The program will also include an invocation by the Rev. C. M. Griffeth, pastor of Calvary M. E. Church of Sudlersville; Greetings by John M. Smith, president of the County Farm Bureau; and benediction by the Rev. Walter C. Eastburn, rector of St. Luke's Church at Church Hill.

The Sudlersville Quartet will present vocal numbers on the program while Miller Brothers orchestra is to play for the dinner and for dancing afterward, if the guests desire.

The banquet is an annual affair designed as a get-acqquainted meeting for Bureau members where they can also greet old friends and chat about crops, farm work, social life and what not. With the members associated through locals the general gathering is also intended to create a feeling of solidarity in the county body.

Members will be permitted to express any views they have about the work of the Farm Bureau as well as to discuss problems of marketing of other features of farm life.

The committee in general charge of the affair consists of Kenneth W. Baker, Miss Isabel Bewick, Robert T. Newell and J. B. T. Merrick. John W. Smith is chairman of the committee arranging for the dinner portion.

Governor Calls Extra Session For Social Law

Assembly Convenes Tuesday. Unemployment Insurance Act Needed By Jan. 1

Governor Harry W. Nice has called a special session of the General Assembly next Tuesday, December 8, at noon to enact necessary unemployment insurance legislation to enable Maryland to tie in with Federal laws and make available for the State nearly three million dollars representd by the 1936 payroll tax upon Maryland employers.

While special sessions may be called for a single purpose, frequently other legislation crops up. To obviate this Attorney General Herbert O'Conor urged the Governor to request that the action of the General Assembly this time be limited to the one measure proposed.

Meanwhile a subcommittee named to prepare unemployment insurance legislation to be presented to the session agreed upon changes in their original draft to meet objections. The changes include elimination of a tax on the earnings of employees; elimination of a clause which would set the exact percentage amounts of employers' contributions; inclusion of a merit-rating rating clause to be standarized after sufficient basis of experience is available.

Representatives of the Social Security Board in Washington sat in on the meetings of the sub-committee to aid in ironing out kinks which might prevent Maryland from sharing in the Federal program.

Comptroller William S. Gordy, Jr., advised that collections necessary under the proposed legislation should be handled by a special department of his office.

Advancement of the date of the special session from the 15th to the 8th was made necessary because of the short time intervening before the first of next year, together with Christmas holidays further lessening time for deliberations if the deadline were to be met.

Children Send Christmas Mail To Santa Claus

Many Have Made Up Their Minds About Suitable Gifts

Queen Anne's little folks are again letting Santa Claus know well in advance what they want to find hanging on the Christmas tree or placed near enough to it on Christmas morning.

The Record-Observer will print these letters as they come in and welcomes all the children of the county to its columns in order that Santa may have an idea of just what he can do to make every little heart happy.

The letters that arrived this week are as follows:

Benefit Supper For Firemen To Be Held Tonight

Women Throughout The County Working For Huge Success

Everything is in readiness for the big turkey supper to be held this evening in the Methodist Episcopal Church House, for the Good Will Fire Company of Centreville. The several committees with Mrs. Vachel Downes as General Chairman, have announced that preparations have been made to serve the five hundred people which they have set as their goal.

The heads of the several committees assisted by women from the immediate community, and from every section of the county, have put forth every effort to make this the big event of its kind in the county this fall.

The first suppers will be served at 5 o'clock, and continue until the last guest has been served. Any persons desiring their supper sent to them also will be accommodated if they will send for them.

About 6 o'clock, the Fire Compay, headed by F. Asbury Bartlett, Chief, and Howard E .Price, President, all in uniform, will attend the supper in a body.

The funds raised from the supper will be added to the Treasury of the Company, which is the oldest volunteer company on the Shore, to assist them to defray expenses of new equipment which has been recently purchased, and also to help with the expense of rebuilding their department headquarters.

Charlie Barnet Famous Maestro For Local Dance

Alumni Dance To Feature Thrilling Music of Youthful Artist

Charlie Barnet and his famous radio orchestra which is heard in nightly broadcasts over WABC and the CBS network from coast to coast has been chosen to furnish music for the annual Christmas dance of the Centreville High School Alumni Association.

Charlie Barnet sings, plays saxophone and directs his own orchestra, and his presence in Centreville will be a rare treat for the nearly six hundred members of the association who are expected to attend the annual affair.

The annual Christmas dance is outstanding in its importance among the social events of the season, and with the popular maestro and his swing music it is expected that a larger crowd than ever will attend. The guests will include members of the association who will return to Centreville and the county for the holidays.

Control Board Leases Former School Office

Renovations To Delay Dispensary Opening Until December 10

The Queen Anne's county Liquor Control Board has leased the first floor of the McKenney building, formerly the school board office, as the location for the county dispensary to be opened in Centreville. Present plans call for the opening of the store between December 10 and 15, according to the amount of time needed for necessary arrangements.

The building is to be completely renovated with plate glass windows on the front and side, installation of an oil burner, shelving, counters and other equipment. Members of the Control Board are in Baltimore today, Thursday, making arrangements for a safe, cash register and other items. All stock needed for the opening has already been ordered, and purchases are being made direct from distilleries.

The Control Board held its first lengthy session Wednesday at which the members, Spencer C. Hammond, Chairman, C. S. Thomas and Felix E. Gardner considered applications and other details. No appointments have been determined upon. All employees and the chairman of the Board will be bonded.

It is the intention to model the store, which will be the only one in the county for the present, upon the lines of those in Salisbury and three Worcester county towns. Following the advice of Control Boards in the two lower counties, the Centreville store will be open from 8 a. m. until 10 p. m. weekdays except Saturday and from 8 a. m. until 12 p. m. on Saturday.

Hall Barton Heads Sons Of Legion District

J. Hall Barton of Jeff Davis Post, American Legion, has been appointed vice-commander of the Sons of the American Leigon for the North Eastern Shore district comprising Talbot, Caroline, Queen Anne's, Kent and Cecil counties. His appointment to the office marks the second in succession given to a member of Jeff Davis Post, Mr. Barton succeeding W. Ray Tabler, now vice-commander of the American Legion for the same district.

Generally active in Legion affairs, Mr. Barton was one of the prime movers in the organization of the Jeff Davis Post Squadron of the Sons of the American Legion. His place as chairman of the Sons of the Legion committee in the post will be filled by Letha E. Taylor.

WPA Projects For Improving County High Schools Approved

Congressman Goldsborough Notifies County Superintendent Day. All High Schools To Get Treatment. County Pays $2,524; Government $10,035.90

That the WPA Project for the improvement of the five Queen Anne's County High Schools which was proposed last month will become a reality was made known late yesterday afternoon when Franklin D. Day Superintendent of Schools for Queen Anne's County received the following wire from Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough.

"WPA officer has received a go order on the five school buildings in Queen Anne's county.

T. ALAN GOLDSBOROUGH,
Member of Congress."

The entire project will cost $12,559.90 of which the county will pay $2,524.00 and the Federal Government $10,035.90.

The project was first proposed by the Board of Education and the Board of County Commissiners for Queen Anne's county, and provided a plan for a Federal project providing for paint and repair to the five county high schools located at Sudlersville, Church Hill, Centreville, Queen Anne and Stevensville.

All of the schools will be painted, and at Sudlersville School radiators will be placed in the Home Economics and Vocational Agricultural rooms, and the ceiling insulated.

At Church Hill the school will be wired for electricity and the ceiling insulated.

At Stevensville the plaster will be removed from the outer walls which will be waterproofed and replastered and the building insulated.

At the Centreville school plastering that is in bad condition will be replaced, and the entire building painted.

At Tri-County in Queen Anne the rooms formerly used for Home Economics and Vocational Agricultural work will be entirely reconditioned.

The project was worked out by Franklin D. Day, Superintendent of Schools, and William P. Elliott, director of WPA work for this section. Announcement will be made later when work will be started.

Santa Claus In Airplane To Land At Centreville For Early Christmas Visit

Free Movies—Santa Claus Party—Community Carol Singing—Cash Gifts To One Hundred Shoppers—Arranged By Business Men

Xmas Lights To Be Turned On Saturday

Santa Claus has taken to the air! He will reach Centreville in his airplane for a Christmas visit on Saturday afternoon. December 12th according to plans made by the business men of Centreville last Tuesday at a dinner at the Hotel Centreville attended by forty men. Santa will land at the Horse Show grounds and be escorted into town where he will parade the streets, spreading his cheerful message. Robert T. Newell is chairman of the committee to welcome Santa Claus.

But this is only one of the important Yuletide events planned. On the morning of Saturday the twelfth, there will be free movies for all children under twelve years at the Centreville Opera House. T. E. Dewing is arranging a special program for the kiddies. White children will be required to bring old toys, which will be distributed later by the fire department. Colored children will be admitted to the balcony without bringing toys.

Community singing will have a special place in the celebration. Rev. L. C. Randall was appointed chairman. The first Sing will be on Tuesday evening, December 15th in front of the Court House. The churches and choirs throughout the county are invited to be there. The Sing will be repeated again on Monday evening, December 21st. This will prove very inspiring. Many interesting features will be introduced at this affair. Familiar old Christmas carols will echo over the town. Over two hundred singers will participate.

The children will have another date with Santa Claus at the Christmas tree in Centreville on Saturday, December 19th. This time he will distribute candy to all. This is always an annual event but this year it will be held in the afternoon at three o'clock. The Rotary Club which sponsors this party will again be in charge. It will be arranged so that every child will be given his candy directly from the hand of Santa.

Citizens of the town are asked to decorate their homes and assist this movement to have a brilliant and jolly Yuletide. The merchants are offering special prizes for the three best decorated homes. This will be arranged in conjunction with the Woman's Club of Centreville. Mrs. Mary Remington, Miss Marie Shortall and Miss Pearl Bishop will assist.

Cash Awards To Customers

Christmas shoppers in Centreville will have other important reasons for visiting the town and making purchases. Beginning this coming Saturday, December 5th, and extending to December 23rd, tickets will be given for every purchase of twenty-five cents or multiple thereof. Cash prizes of fifty, twenty-five, fifteen, ten and one hundred, one dollar bills will be distributed on December 23rd to those who hold the lucky numbers. In this way without cost, one hundred and four shoppers in Centreville will share in the profits of the Centreville merchants. The merchants will give full particulars to each shopper beginning next Saturday. Wirt D. Bartlett is the chairman of this contest.
