Feature Program Labor Day To Climax Love Point Celebration

Political Leaders To Top Speaking Event. Veteran Judges Judges To Gauge Merits Of Bathing Beauties. Spectacles Arranged For Each Day

Climaxing the big four-day Kent Island Celebration at Love Point over the coming week-end, a group of State and Shore leaders in public life will be guests of the sponsors and will participate in a speaking program on the afternoon of Labor Day, the final day of the fete.

Included in these will be the Hon. Lansdale G. Sasscer of Upper Marlboro, president of the Maryland Senate and senator from Prince George's county; Mayor Howard W. Jackson, of Baltimore; Hon. Milton L. Veasey of Pocomoke, senator from Worcester county; Hon. William R. Wilson of Ingleside, senator from Queen Anne's county; and Millard Tawes of Crisfield.

The Kent Island Celebration, a hospitable event which annually draws from 15,000 to 20,000 to Love Point, will start on Friday and terminate Monday, Labor Day. Spectacular features have been carded for each day with a series of attractive dances arranged for the evening. The celebration is being announced six times daily over WFBR of Baltimore this week, following each news broadcast.

The program for Labor Day is an outstanding one with the speaking program the highlight. Senator Wilson will introduce the various guests with band music and other features interspersed.

Other events for Labor Day afternoon will consist of a Bathing Beauty contest for Eastern Shore girls, swimming and boat races. The Bathing Beauty event, in which the girls will not be called upon to swim, will be judged by a board of five judges, tentatively including Senator Wilson, former Senator James E. Kirwan, the "grand old man" of Kent Island, Hugh Legg, 83-year-old veteran of Stevensville; Charles I. Boyle of Queen Anne and Charles L. Roe of Church Hill.

Following the swimming races the winner of the Beauty Contest will be crowned at the ceremonial on the beach.

Gold medals will be awarded the winners of the swimming races to be held off Love Point Pier. These will all be short distance events and will be divided into classes for boys, and girls and races open to all comers.

A considerable grondswell of interest and curiosity has developed in the Mock Wedding to be held on Sunday afternoon, the participants in which are to be a number of well-known residents of Queen Anne's county. Heading the wedding party will be Charlie Cannon, of Centreville, fun-maker de luxe.

On both Saturday and Monday races for inboard and outboard motor boats and for workboats will be held with cash prizes hung up for the winers. A number of boat racing enthusiasts from the Chesapeake Bay area have already indicated intention of participating in the contests. The course will be laid out so that a full view of the speedy boats can be had by observers ashore as well as those in the spectator fleet.

Daily thrills involving airplane stunts and parachute dropping are scheduled for each afternoon under the direction of John S. Payne of Baltimore. An orchestra to be chosen from a list of outstanding bands is ot be selected. This will be on hand throughout the Celebration and will play for the nightly feature dances. Carnival attractions including sea boat rides, chair plane, ferris wheel and similar pleasure stunts will also be on the grounds.

Refreshment booths wil be setup, provision for free parking arranged and full thought given for the comfort and entertainment of the huge throng of visitors.

Surprise Dinner For F. A. Ross On Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Moore and son, Billy, of Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wyatt and daughter, Doris Ann, of Marydel, Mr. Roland Knotts, of Hartley, Del., Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Knotts, and daughter, Dorothy, Mrs. Katie Stafford, and sister, Miss Mary Knotts, of Templeville, motored to Rehoboth last Sunday and gave their cousin, Mr. Fred A. Ross, a surprise dinner in honor of his seventieth birthday.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rollins, of Narberth, Pa., Miss Hattie Cannon, of Seaford, Del., and Mrs. Blanche Turnlim, of Rehoboth.

Miss Kathryn Alva Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross and Delaware's only Grand Opera Singer was also home for the occasion. Miss Ross has been singing in Italy and France for several years, and has been spending several weeks with her parents. She will return to Italy the latter part of September for the opera season.

OPENS TENT MEETING

An old fashioned tent meeting conducted by the Rev. L. W. Savage will open at Burrisville Sunday with an afternoon service at 2 o'clock and an evening service at 7:30 o'clock. Services will be held each evening except Monday at 7:30 p. m., with preaching by the pastor, music and singing with vocalists from Marcus Hook, Pa., to be present.

Church Tour Is Arranged By Homemakers

Public Invited To Join Club Women's Trip Without Charge

A tour of the historical churches of Queen Anne's county open without charge to the general public, both men and women, will be conducted under the auspices of the Queen Anne's county Homemakers' clubs Friday, September 10, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

The tour will start at Centreville and will end at Stevensville. Those attending are asked to secure their own transportation and provide picnic lunches for a picnic hour at Church Hill shortly after noon. The committee in charge consists of Miss Ruby Kirk, home demonstration agent, Mrs. Isabel B. Wilson and the presidents of the various Homemakers clubs, whose members have put in some time studying churches as a basis for the outing.

The first stop will be St. Paul's in Centreville at 11 o'clock. Rev. Alward Chaberlaine, rector of the church, will conduct the tour at that point with a history of the church to be given by Mrs. Franklin Day followed by group singing.

The party will then leave for Church Hill to visit St. Luke's where the rector, the Rev. Walter C. Eastburn, will conduct a short service and will also serve as guide for the party around the building and grounds.

Following the picnic lunch the tour will proceed to Old Dudley's Methodist Church near Sudlersville, reaching there about 1:20 p. m. The history of the church will be given by Mrs. Austin Roberts, who will also act as guide, and group singing will be led by Mrs. M. Grace Rambo.

Mrs. Percy Bittle will be guide and historian at the next stop, Bridgetown Episcopal Church, which is scheduled for 2:10 p. m.

From there the tour will proceed to St. Peter's Catholic Church at Queenstown, with arrival set for 3:25. Mrs. Algernon Carter will give the history and serve as guide with a possibility that the Rev. Francis J. Fisher, pastor, may conduct a brief service.

The last stop will be at Christ Church at Stevensville, scheduled for 4:20 p. m. Rev. Matthew S. Higgins, rector, and Mrs. Higgins will collaborate as guides and in presenting the history. At this point the tour will disperse.

An added feature will be a display of watercolors of Queen Anne's churches prepared by George F. Hall of Chester. These will be shown at St. Luke's Church.

County Girls Attend 4-H Camp

Betty Collier Takes Amateur Night Honors

Five girls and two leaders representing Queen Anne's county 4-H Clubs attended the annual Kent and Queen Anne's Clover Leaf Camp held at Hunting Field Farm near Rock Hall from Monday to Saturday last week.

The group included Betty Atkinson, Church Hill; Anne Hayden, Centreville; Virginia Collier and Betty Jane Collier, Grasonville; Thelma Ware, Barclay; and Mrs. Isabel B. Wilson and Home Demonstration Agent Miss Ruby Kirk, the latter two as camp leaders with Miss Helen Skelinger, of Chestertown. In all fourteen girls and the leaders gathered at the camp.

Except for an over-sufficiency of rain the girls reported a pleasant time and a satisfactory week. Two extra cabins had been erected bringing the total to four and a recreation room and dining room were provided.

A detailed schedule of activities was carried out mixng classes with sport and recreation. An exhbition of craftsmanship was held Friday, the girls displaying hooked rugs, three-corner ties, napkin rings and raffia work made at camp.

A kiddies party was held Monday evening and Amateur Night Friday evening. At the Amateur show Betty Jane Collier who impersonated Eleanor Powell, won first prize for acting while Thelma Ware as John D. Rockefeller took honors for the best costume. Miss Skellinger was Major Bowes, Mrs. Wilson, Shirley Temple, Miss Kirk, Alice in Wonderland, Anne Hayden, Joan Crawford; Virginia Collier, Betsy Ross and Betty Atkinson, Fred Astaire.

Odd Fellows To Award Sedan Saturday Night

Car Sale Held To Provide Funds For Transfer Of Lodge Room

Drawing for the Ford two-door sedan be given to one of the thousand shareholders in the car will be held by St. Tamamny's Lodge of Odd Fellows on the Courthouse Green in Centreville Saturday evening at 11 o'clock. Shares on the car may be bought up to that hour.

The committee in charge of the draw will be John Goldsborough, chairman; O. K. Nelson, Noble Grand; Abe Epstein, treasurer; Howard Tinley, secretary; and Alfred Covington, past Noble Grand. The car will be exhibited and will be turned over to the winner as soon as he is ready to take it over.

Proceeds from the car sale will be used to help meet the cost of transferring the lodge rooms of St. Tammany's from the present location to new quarters in the second floor of the Furbush Building on Water Street, now occupied by Barton Brohters, as well as for repairing and renovating the new rooms.

The lodge has outgrown its present home whcih it has occupied for the past ten years. Increase in membership in the last three years has brought the roster up to eighty-eight Odd Fellows.

The new quarters are expected to provide greater facilities for lodge meetings and for the occasional entertainments. Establishment of a recreation room is also contemplated at the new site.

In line with the greater space available St. Tammany's has laid plans for organizing a degree team under the co-captaincy of Dr. James W. Crowl and William H. Carter. Paraphernalia for the team has already been purchased and selection and drilling of the team will get undreway as soon as possible.

The degree team is expected to be ready to take candidates over the road beginning with next January. Heretofore the small quarters have necessitated sending candidates to Easton for the works by the lodge there.

Appreciation Day Fr'day At Baseball Game

Fans To Give Club Record Attendance As Testimonial For Fine Sport

Tomorrow, Friday will be "Queen Anne's County Appreciation Day" at the Centreville Baseball Park, when the local team will meet the Pocomoke team for the final scheduled game for the season. The game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

The celebration of "Appreciation Day," has been arranged by F. Asbury Bartlett, as a special occasion when fans from all sections of the county are urged to attend to show their appreciation for the summer's sport. This will be an opportunity to express by their attendance their gratitude to the Phillies for bringing the team to Cenreville; to the players for the splendid sport they have given the community, and the Queen Anne's County Sports Activities Association , who through their cooperaiton made the baseball park and the team possible.

The baseball season in Centreville is rapidly drawing to a close. The local team has only three more games to play on the home grounds before the scheduled season is over.

They are Friday with Pocomoke, which will complete the schedule for that team; Sunday with Salisbury, to complete the games, and the Monday afternoon, Labor Day game with Dover. The final game of the schedule will be played at Dover Monday night.

It is expected that the three final games in the local park will draw the largest crowds of the season. Centreville has been playing fast baseball, and retains its place in the line-up for the play-off, which will take place immediately after the final games of the schedule.

Hayden, Ruthsburg Church Elects Staff

Recent elections among the members of the Hayden and Ruthsburg Methodist Protestant Churches, resulted as follows. Samuel Jester and Edmond Larrimore; and as Stewards—Mrs. George Mullikin, Mrs. Charles McCollister, Mrs. Clark Morris,, Mrs. Melvin Chance, and Mrs. Samuel Jester.

The Ruthsburg members, to serve as both Trustees and Stewards, elected Mrs. Norman Mason, Mrs. William Quimby, Mrs. Elijah Dean, and Messrs. William Jester and Harry Rittenhouse. These officers will hold office until the first of June, 1938.

County Judging Team Places First At Fair

The Queen Anne's County 4-H Judging team placed first yesterday at the Cambridge Fair in the Clean Milk Demonstration contest. Those in the team were Edwin Atkinson and Walter Turner, of Church Hill.

They will go to Timonium Fair on Monday, where they will judge in a contest with three other teams from other counties. The winner in the Timonium Fair contest will go to the National Dairy Show to be held next month.

In the Cambridge Fair contest Kent county won second place; Wicomico third and Talbot fourth.

Begs Sandwich Gets Bullet In Wanton Killing

Joseph Brown Dies At Kent Narrows. Walter Summers Held

Charged with shoting Joseph Brown in what was described as a cold blooded killing, Walter Summers, 26-year-old negro from Nassawattox, Va., was held without bail by Magistrate J. West Thompson in Police Court for action by the Grand Jury.

Brown, a negro about 40 years old, died almost instantly at Kent Narrows Sunday afternoon when Summers, it is said, pumped a bullet into him without warning. According to Deputy Sheriff Louis Perkins, Brown approached one negro, asked for a sandwich and received part of one.

He next asked Summers, seated in a car, for a sandwich. Summers said he would give Brown a sandwich and then, it was said, pulled out a pistol and fired. The bullet struck Brown in the left chest and coursed downward through the heart and kidney.

A coroner's jury convening Monday brought a verdict charging Summers with the killing. Members of the jury were, M. M. Price, J. Ollie Pippin, O. K. Nelson, Pharis Morris, Handy Robinson, Wendell E. Shawn, Joseph Kurch, Spencer Sparks, Mowbray Benny, Tilghman Rhodes, Frank Miles and John T. Meredith.

Following the shooting Summers tossed his pistol into the marsh where it was found by boys. The weapon was a large 30-20 police special, practically new, and fully loaded. A dirk knife with a five-inch blade was found upon him when he was searched by Sheriff T. Herbert Everett and Deputy Sheriff Perkins.

Officers are checking on a report that Summers has served time for shooting three persons in Virginia prior to coming here to work at a Narrows packing plant.

G. W. Chesbro To Leave County For Belair Post

Miss Margaret Wiggins Also Steps Out To Use State Scholarship

George W. Chesbro, execuive secreary of the Queen Anne's County Welfare Board, has resigned his post to take effect on October 1 at which time he will become executive secretary of the Harford County Welfare Board with offices at Bel Air.

Mr. Chesbro has been assigned to the Centreville office since January 28, 1936, during which time the work of the county office has been brought from its initial stages into a level which it is expected to be fairly permanent.

Another member of the staff, Miss Margaret Wiggins, will leave shortly to take an eight-months course at the Pennsylvania School of Social Work in conjunction with the University of Pennsyvania. Miss Wiggins is the recipient of a state scholarship for the course. Her place will be filled during her absence by a junior worker to be named from a list of two eligibles.

A very slgnt increase in the number of cases handled by the Welfare Board was noted in the report for August just issued by Mr. Chesbro. Old Age pension were paid to 259 persons, four more than in July, representing a total outlay of $2,795.65 or an average of $10.78 per person. This total is said to be close to the total number of persons to be added.

Aid to dependent children was given to 32 families representing 93 children, one more family and one less child than in July. The expenditure amounted to $588.27 or an average of $6.32 per child.

Aid to the blind was stationary with a total of $45.50 paid to four persons. Relief was granted to 27 persons, one more than in July. It amounted to $308.13, or an average of $11.41 per person.

TUBERCULOSIS CLINIC

The monthly tuberculosis clinic for Queen Anne's will be held at the County Health Office on Friday, September 13, with Dr. Seth H. Hurdle in charge.

Joseph Coleman Drowned From Boat Tuesday

Searching Parties Work For Hours To Recover Body From Kirwan's Creek

Searching parties from all sections of Kent Island joined in the search all day Tuesday even into the night for the body of Joseph Coleman, sixty-nine years old, of Chester, when his empty boat with crab lines still intact was found at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. The search continued until after midnight and was resumed again yesterday morning early. About five o'clock the body was found floating in Kirwan's Creek by Leonard Brown and Edgar Wyatt.

Mr. Coleman, who was a well known waterman of Chester, had left his home about 4 o'clock Tuesday morning to go crabbing. Abuot 11 o'clock his boat was found by his son, Paul Coleman and Laurence Chance, who were also engaged in crabbing.

The lines were still out, and it was believed the man had been stricken ill and fallen overboard.

Searching parties were immediately formed and all day and far into the night neighbors and friends grappled for the body, without avail. However, shortly after resuming the search yesterday morning, the body was sighted floating in Kirwan's Creke by Leonard Brown and Edgar Wyatt.

When the body was recovered a deep gash was found on the head, which was believed to have been caused when the man attempted to remove sea weed from th propeller of his boat, and was knocked overboard.

Mr. Coleman has made his home on Kent Island for many years, where he was one of the most highly respected citizens. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Addie Simms. He also leaves five sons and six daugthers. They are Ellison, Appsley, Wesley, Purnell and Paul Coleman; Mrs. Frank Lewis, Mrs. Edna Harris, Mrs. Milton Buschman, Mrs. Earle Thompson, and Miss Lydia Coleman, of Kent Island, and Miss Myrtle Coleman a school teacher in Baltimore. He also leaves two sisters Mrs. Ella Kersey of Chestertown and Mrs. Cora Gardner, of Kent Island, and a brother, Whitefield Coleman, of Chester.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Kingsley Methodist Episcopal Church, conducted by the Rev. James F. Langrall, and interment will be in Stevensville Cemetery.

Repairs Madd In High Schools For Fall Term

WPA Projects Completed. Elementary Attendance Shows Steady Drop

Queen Anne's county schools will open the fall term of 1937-38 next Wednesday morning September 8th, when all children who have reached the age of six years wil go tripping back to their classes. Of special interest to many will be the improvements that have been made in the several high schols in the county.

The work has been accomplished jointly by WPA projects, with the cooperation of the County Commissioners and the Board of Education.

At Church Hill and Sudlersville High the buildings have been repainted, both the interior and exterior, under WPA labor, and the county has installed running water.

At Tri-County Centreville and Stevensville schools the buildings have been under repairs, also including paint. The Tri-County and Stevensville buildings have been completed and the Centreville school will be finished early in September.

The only changes in the curriculum of the schools will be the addition of an Industrial Arts and Domestic Science Department in the Tri-County and Stevensville schools. John T. Brnehl, Jr., of Centreville, and Miss Julia E. Norman, of Stevensville have been appointed to the posts and will divide their time between the two schools.

Two one teacher schools—I. B. and Wye Island have been closed on account of lack of attendance. The contract for transporting the I. B. children to Church Hill has been awarded to the Massey Motor Company, of Church Hill and the Wye Island children will be taken to Queenstown or Centreville.

The falling off of attendance in elementary schools picked at random in three years stretching over a considerable length of time, discloses the fact that while there are less children now in elementary school, due to decrease in population, many more of those who finish elementary school take advantage of the high school courses than formerly. In 1908-09 Queen Anne's county had 2,329 elementary school children enrolled, and only 44 high school students, making a total of 2,375. There was at that time, however only one high school

Entries Loom Large For Horse Show; Eventful Day Forecast

Start Classes At Race Track Monday At 10 O'clock A. M. H. Courtney Jenifer, K. A. Clark To Judge Exhibitors To Be Luncheon Guests

The stage is set and practically all details are in readiness at the race rack and show grounds of the Queen Anne's County Horse Breeders' Association near Centreville, for the seventeenth annual Horse Show which will be held next Monday, Labor Day. The cream of the equine family in Queen Anne's and adjoining counties and many from the Western Shore and Delaware are being groomed to look their best when they go on exhibition for the annual event which bids fair to be the biggest and best in the history of the association. Many exhibits are expected not only from the county but from many other sections. Already Allan Browning Lane, Secretary of the Association has received entries that would indicate the list will be unusually large.

Nineteen classes, including nine draft classes and ten hunter classes besides four running races will make up the program which will begin promptly at 10 o'clock, when the draft classes will be shown.

H. Courtney Jenifer, of Baltimore, one of the best known judges of horse flesh in the East will come to Centreville to judge the show. Mr. Jenifer is well known here, where he has frequently attended and judged the annual events. K. A. Clark, University of Maryland, will judge the Draft classes.

Prizes, including tack, ribbons and harness are being offered in all classes. There will be leather halters, fly swats, bridles, stable sheets and many other articles of stable equipment. Two special cash prizes have been offered for Draft classes. They will be $5.00 for the person who best handles his entry, and $$5.00 for the best bona fide work horse in the show.

In the Hunter and Saddle classes children's pony section is expected to be unusually large.

Following is the list of classes to be shown:

Draft Classes

Class I—10:00 A. M.—Unregistered draft suckling colts and fillies. To be shown in hand or accompanied by dam.

Class II—10:20 A. M.—Registered draft suckling colts and fillies. To be shown in hand or accompanied by dam. All breeds. Each breed will be separately judged and separate prizes awarded in each breed.

Class III—10:30 A. M.—Unregistered draft yearling colts aad fillies. To be shown in hand.

Big Delegation Opposes Liquor Sale At Narrows

Kent Islanders, Led By Rev. Mr. Langrall, Voice Dry Sentiment

A delegation of some fifty-odd residents of Kent Island led by the Rev. James Langrall, pastor of the Stevensville M. E. Church, voiced their opposition to the establishment of a branch of the county dispensary at Kent Narrows or at any point on Kent Island at a meeting in the Courthouse Tuesday evening called by the Queen Anne's County Liquor Board to determine the sentiment of the people in the section regarding the branch dispensary.

The Control Board, through Ernest W. Grubb, secretary-treasurer, who presided, deferred announcemment regarding their section. J. Reynolds Friel, ppresident of the Board was unable to attend. Felix Gardner, associate member of the Board was present and sat at the speaker's table.

While more than sixty people were present a checkup by Mr. Grubb showed only three from Kent Narrows present to oppose the branch and two present in favor.

The meeting was called in response to a petition signed by thirty-seven oyster packers and residents of Kent Narrows and adjacent territory asking for the branch dispensary. A counter petition containing two hundred signatures from Kent Island was presented at the meeting by the Rev. Mr. Langrall in oppositon.

Earle Coursey and Gerald F. Harrington were the speakers in favor of the branch, advocating it as a means to do away with bad liquor said to be sold in the section illegally.

Rev. Mr. Langrall led the opposition, charging that the branch would result in more liquor being consumed, with a possible increase in relief rolls, with tempting watermen from their work on windy days, with the possibility that liquor buying might cause little children to suffer and with increased danger when driving on the roads. He said that Kent Islanders did not want the dispensary branch at the gateway to Kent Island.

Others who spoke against the branch were J. W. Baxter, E. G. Thompson, J. W. Taylor, J. B. Tolson. Several of these said they were in favor of enforcing the law against bootlegging which brought a statement from Mr. Grubb urging the gathering to join actively in suppressing illegal liquor selling.

A number of ladies were present but no speakers appeared from the fair sex.

Stevensville Boy Joins U. S. Marines

Alfred C. Lowe, Ex-Kayman, Enlists Friday

Alfred C. Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Lowe, who reside at Stevensville, was accepted for enlistment in the United States Marine Corps on Friday and transferred immediately to the U. S. Marine Barracks, Paris Island, South Carolina for his inital training.

Young Lowe attended Stevensville high school for three years, and it is his intention to further his education while serving with the Marines through the Marine Corps Institute located in Washington, D. C.

Lowe was formerly a member of the Maryland National Guard where he was attached to Company "K".

Upon successful completion of his initial training at Paris Island, South Carolina, young Lowe will have the opportunity to travel with the Marines through assignments in Foreign Countries, aboard ships of the United States Fleet and many places in the United States.

Young Lowe enlisted in the United States Marine Corps at the Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Room 325, Post Office Buliding, Baltimore, which announces a limited number of vacancies during the month of September, 1937.

Announce Engagement Of Miss Margaret Nash

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Nash, of Chester, anounce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margerat Nash, to Mr. Marvin Whittle, of Baltimore. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Miss Nash is a graduate of Stevensville High School, in the class of '31, and also of Strayer, Bryant and Sttraton now in the employ of Montgomery & Ward & Co.
