Centreville Businessmen Plan Active Holiday Season

Children's Aid Drive For $2500 Began Monday

Milk Bottles, Pin Ball Machines Helping. Theatres To Give Benefits

The Maryland Children's Aid Society drive in Queen Anne's county for $2500, to be used for kiddies who are homeless and have no persons to properly care for them, was launched last Monday morning, and will officially close December 6th. Last night a meeting of the directors of the several districts with C. C. Mickle, Jr., of Centreville, Chairman of the drive, met in the court house, Centreville, for a check-up of the progress made for the three days since the drive was opened. Approximately $500 was reported already collected.

Although the drive will officially close Monday, many persons who are anxious to help with benefits, and were unable to plan their affairs for this week will stage them during the coming week, and the receipts will be added to the funds.

Among these will be a motion picture benefit at the Church Hill Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 15 and 16, when the show "She Married An Artist" will be shown. The picture is being shown through the courtesy of Fred Kline, owner and Franklin Everett, manager of the theatre. Tickets are being sold by Church Hill school children. Harry Green, owner of the Queenstown theatre, has also offered a motion picture benefit which will be annnounced later and other county theatres will probably hold similar events.

Milk bottles have been placed in stores throughout the county for contributions, and business houses that have pin ball machines are contributing a part of their receipts toward the fund.

The committee in Queen Anne's county working for the drive is Mrs. Joseph M. Ge.orge, Mrs. Walter C. Eastburn, Mrs. Ralph Swann, Mrs. E. H. Covell, Mrs. Lee Bell, Mrs. Richard Davidson Mrs. Horace M. Morgan, Mrs. Spencer Merrick, representing the several districts, and Mr. Mickle is the county chairman. All of the money raised will be used for destitute children who through neglect and other causes and from circumstances that are in no way their own fault have been deprived of a proper home. No person working in the interest of the drive in Queen Anne's county receives any pay for their work. Miss Marion Rau, Field Representative for Harford, Kent, Cecil and Queen Anne's counties, who has assisted in the organization of the Queen Anne's county chapter is paid by the state organiza-

Miss Harper To Be Wed Tuesday

Marriage To Take Place In Baltimore

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Harper, daughter of Mrs. J. Frank Harper, of Centreville and Baltimore, and the late J. Frank Harper, for many years a member of the Public Service Commission of Maryland to Mr. Charles Ayres Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lowe Baker, of Baltimore, will take place next Tuesday morning, December 7th, at 11 o'clock at St. David's Church, Roland Park, Baltimore.

Miss Harper will have Miss Doris Maddux, of Wilmington, as her maid of honor, and Mr. Nowland B. Gwynn, Jr., of Linthicum Heights, will be the best man. The ushers will be Mr. Vernon Kelly, Mr. Jack Brashears, Mr. Edwin .Obrecht, Mr. Edward Baurenschmidt, Mr. .William Hazlett and Mr. Paul Berge, all of Baltimore.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple will leave for a wedding trip through the south.

Miss Harper was graduated from the Bryn Mawr School for Girls and from Goucher College, Baltimore. She spends her summers in Centreville and has many friends throughout the county.

Hands Need License To Gun On Boss' Farm

The exception which permits people to gun on their own land without a license does not apply to their hired help. Employees must get a license or risk arrest.

James Hammond, farmhand who works for William T. Bishop, was found gunning without a license on Mr. Bishop's farm by Game Warden John W. Perry. Davidson Kirby, farmhand employed by De Butts Moore on the Simpson farm, was apprehended similarly by the game warden gunning on the Simpson farm. Both appeared before Magistrate J. West Thompson in Police Court Monday evening charged with violation of the game law. They were found guilty and had sentence suspended upon payment of costs.

SANTA'S MAIL STARTS

Thanksgiving Day is passed and it is less than a month to Christmas. Betty Lu Burns of Chester has already sent us her letter to Santa to be forwarded to the old gentleman's home at the North Pole.

For the last couple of years Betty Lu has been the first to get her message ready for Saint Nick. You can guess that it arrives in plenty of time to avoid the Christmas rush. Here's what she says:

Dear Santa:

As Christmas is only a few weeks away I think it is about time I should write to you. This year I want a wrist watch, ring, a dy-dee baby, galoshes, and anything you can spare. Don't forget all my cousins, friends and teacher.

Your little girl,

BETTY LU BURNS.

Chester, Md.

As heretofore the Record-Observer will handle the mail for Santa Claus. But don't be late getting your letter ready. Seems as if there were a couple of dozen messages which did not reach us last year until the last minutes and we wondered if Santa got a really good peep at them. It is really surprising what a drift of letters pile in during the final week when boys and girls suddenly realize that they have forgotten to tell Santa how good they have been.

We shall be glad to act as Santa's little helper again this year and collect his mail for him. But if you'll take our advice, and we have handled many a letter, take your paper and pencil or pen and ink early so that you may see your letter in print.

For Christmas is just around the corner and it is going to come up on us fast.

Robert A. Cairns Dies At Home In New England

Was Engineer In Building Of Centreville Water-Works In 1888-89

Robert A. .Cairns, of Waterbury, Conn., under whose engineering the Centreville Water Works was built in 1888-1889, nearly fifty years ago, died at his home in Waterbury Monday of last week. He was 77 years old.

Mr. Cairns for forty-six years had been city engineer for Waterbury and many vast improvements to the water system of the city are outstanding monuments of his ability. His greatest work, perhaps was the boring of the Shebaug tunnel, which was so stupendous that it has attracted nationwide attention. This vast undertaking was begun in 1920 and was not completed until ten years later. Between two and three million dollars was spent on the tunnel project. The underground tube runs under two ridges of hills and under Bantam Lake to connect the West Branch Water System of Waterbury with the Shebaug River at Litchfield.

Mr. Cairns was born December 2, 1859, and attended Waterbury public schools, and graduated from the Waterbury English Classical School and Williston Academy at Northampton, Mass. He later worked in the Waterbury Brass Company factory and learned the trade of machinist after which he enrolled at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute from which he was graduated with honors as a civil engineer in 1885. He later taught descriptive geometry and mathematics at Rensselaer, before becoming City Engineer. . While at Rensselaer teaching Mr. Bairns sandwiched the jobs at Centreville, and the supervising of a water works system at Middletown, Delaware, and the building of mountain roads in Vermont.

Mr. Cairns came to Centreville in 1888 as engineer in the building of the Centreville Water Works. The Board of Town Commissioners at that time were the late Dr. Robert M. Price, William W. Busteed and Walter Harman. While in Centreville he met Miss Mary Clash, a daughter of the late Captain Charles H. Clash and Sarah Anderson Clash, whom he married on October 15, 1890. Mrs. Cairns is a niece of Miss Winnie Anderson, of Church Hill, and Mr.. Cairns and his family have kept in touch with the county by their frequent visits to Miss Anderson's home.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, John C. Cairns, of New Britain, Conn., and two daughters, Mrs. Ruth E.. Cairns Conne, and Miss Allison Cairns, of Waterbury.

He was a member of the Waterbury Club, the Rotary Club, Waterbury Country Club, and Waterbury University Club. Scientific Societies of which he was a member included the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Connecticut Chapter of that Society, of which he was a past president; the Rensselaer Society of Civil Engineers, and the New England Water Works Association which he served as a director and member of the Executive Board. He was a member om St. John's Episcopal Church, and for many years had been a Vestryman.

Nearly $13,000 Paid In Savings

Christmas Funds Greater Than Last Year

Nearly $13,000 will be paid to Queen Anne's countians by three banks in Christmas Savings within the next week. They include $8,000 from the Centreville National Bank; $3655 by the Queesntown Bank of Maryland, and $1,183.75 by the Hillsboro-Queen Anne Bank.

The little more than $8,000 from the Centreville National Bank will be the property of 250 depositors; 182 depositors are included in the Queenstown Bank Fund, and 50 depositors in the Hillsboro-Queen Anne institution. However, the entire $1,183.75 from the Hillsboro-Queen Anne Bank will not come to Quen Anne, the deposits including the savings of a number from Caroline and Talbot counties.

The funds paid from the Centreville Bank and Queenstown Bank are a considerable increase over 1936. The Centreville Bank in December of last year paid $6,500 to 220 depositors, while the Queenstown Bank paid $2,824 to 155 depositors.

Ducks Plentiful As Open Season Calls Gunners

Rain Mars Opening Day. Blackheads, Swans Thick In County Waters

The open season for shooting wild waterfowl opened Saturday with prospects for a far better season than last year and a fairly good season considering the stringent regulations.

Despite rain and fog which put quite a damper on the opening a number of Queen Anne's sportsmen turned out bright and early Saturday. Better weather this week brought gunners out in force. The nimrods were chary about admitting the amounts in their bags but they had pretty good sport none the less.

Only two licenses for duck blinds were taken out in Quen Anne's. Up to Tuesthe Centreville postoffice had sold thirty ducking stamps at $1 each, much less than in some years but up to the 1936 figure for the same time.

Waterfowl were found to be plentiful in Queen Anne's waters. There are more blackheads than ever before, especially in Eastern Bay. These birds used to be the big flock for county sportsmen but in recent years blackheads have been very scarce. Now they are coming back. Black ducks and mallards are also plentiful.

Swans are thick everywhere in the Chester river ,so thick that sportsmen get pained discussing them. . The birds are on the protected list. Rafts of swans are vacationing near Queenstown, off My Lord's Gift and Blakeford points. At various spots they remain less than a stone's throw from shore.

A flock of geese circled over Centreville about 10 o'clock Sunday night flying low and apparently without a clear destination in mind.

Some Kent Island sportsmen were all set to work on a flock of ducks that had been vacationing in a creek near Stevensville but ran into a blank Saturday morning. Whether the ducks carried a calendar or some poacher got into them before gun time was unknown.

Federal authorities have been vigilant in checking up on baited areas so as to to detect violations of the law prohibited shooting over baited territory. Near sighted nimrods may be bothered determining when to shoot as nine varieties are protected, including canvasbacks, redheads, ruddy ducks, snow geese, brant, Ross' goose, wood duck, bufflehead and swans.

Lions Clear $50 For Charity; Attend Bazaar

The Queenstown Lions cleared something more than $50 for their charity fund at a public bridge party held in he Queenstown elementary school Wednesday evening of last week. A crowd filling the assembly room was present. Bridge, pitch and 500 were played.

The Lions attended in a body the bazaar of the Kent Island Women's Club at Stevensville last night, the dinner there supplanting the regular meeting.

COL. W. .H. GIBSON ILL

Col. W. Hopper Gibson, Former Chief Judge of the Orphans' Court for Queen Anne's county is critically ill at his home in Centreville. Col. Gibson is the oldest resident of Centreville who was born here and has continued to reside here throughout his life. He was a former member of Governor Warfield's Staff and is Eastern Shore Representative of the New York Life Insurance Company which position he has held for fifty-five years.

Leaders Change As Final Date Is Set In Contest

The Quen Anne's Record-Observer subscription contest in which $100 in cash prizes will be given away is rapidly drawing to a close, and the final date on which the contestants may enter their subscriptions will be December 14th. The final lists of names must be in the mail by midnight on December 14th, in order that they may obtain credit in the contest for the money, which will be awarded as follows: 1st prize, $35; 2nd prize, $25; 3rd, prize, $15; 4th prize, $10; 5th prize, $5. Announcement of the winners will be made in the issue of December 16th.

This week, Mrs. Louis E. Jones, of Chester, who last week stood in second place, again climbed to first place; Mrs. Wedge Jones of Dominion, who was in first place, is a close second. while Miss Helen Tatman of Church Hill, still retains third place; Mrs. D. V. Cecil, 4th, and Miss Elizabeth Nickerson, 5th, and Miss Jeannette Saddler is in 6th place. Miss Evelyn Cannon and Mrs. Gilbert Brown are running neck and neck for the seventh place.

Those who have subscribed this week are: Mrs. Etta Orrell, John R. Mandrell, Harry Rittenhouse, William E. Robinson, Mrs. Fred Quimby, Mrs. Calvin Butler, Thomas J. Cook, Dr. H. F. McPherson, Centreville.

Roy T. Skinner, and Earle T. Robinson, Queen Anne; Miss Fannie B. Merrick, Joseph M. George, Phonnie Davis, Sudlersville; John Stutz, Fred W. Stevens, Crumpton; S. J. Massey, P. Frances Meeks, William R. McGinnis, Chestertown; Miss Winifred Wilson, John N. Godwin, Mrs. Lemuel McGinnis, Barclay; John N. Faulkner, Camden, N. J.; W. H. Fisher, Jr., Durham, N. C.; Joseph W. Children, Adults To Share In Features Scheduled

Rotary Will Join In Bringing Santa To Centreville. Carol Singing, Prize Awards Listed For Final Week. Coupons Start Saturday

Centreville businessmen united Friday evening at a banquet in Hotel Centreville in drawing up plans for an active Christmas holiday season. All the features which will add zest and spirit to the program have not been announced but among the leading events will be a visit of Santa Claus to meet the children of the county, a community sing and the award of $150 in cash prizes during Christmsaas week.

The Rotary Club as usual will join with the merchants in sponsoring the visit of Santa Claus. Each year for the past five or six, several thousand children had a chance to meet the jolly saint and get a handshade for luck toward a well-filled Christmas stocking. Tentative plans call for the monster gathering to be held at the Little Theatre at a date yet to be announced.

The Queen Anne's county Community Sing will be held at the Courthouse Green on Monday evening, Dec. 20, with the Rev. L. Colvin Randall chairman of the committee in charge. Pastors, choirs and congregations of all county churches are to be invited to participate and several of the ministers may have a turn at leading the singing. All the old time and well beloved carols will be included in the program. Several hundred are expected to participate in the sing.

The cash awards are to be conducted on a plan a shade different from last year, although the eligibility rules will remain the same. Awards are to be made by drawings at the Courthouse each evening from Monday, December 20, to Friday, December 24, from 7 o'clock until 8.

On each evening $30 in cash will be distributed in one award of $20 and two awards of $1 each. All duplicate coupons will continue to be eligible for prizes each night with the exception of those drawn for awards. Persons holding the winning coupons will be given until 8 o'clock to claim the prize. In the event that any money is not claimed it will be set aside for an extra prize to be awarded on the final evening of the drawing. How large the extra prize will be is speculative but if one or two of the $20 prizes should miss being claimed the first time it can easily become the major prize of the awards.

Beginning Saturday coupons will be given by all bsuiness men participating in sponsoring the Centreville holiday program. One ticket will be given with each purchase amounting to twenty-five cents, a second from 26c to 50c; the next from 51c to 75c; and so on with each twenty-five cents of purchase money the basis for a coupon.

There is no limit to the number of tickets for which a customer may be eligible, the amount of his purchases being the deciding factor. Last year a single customer made purchases in one store which allowed him a full roll of 1,000 coupons. On the other hand a number of people whose coupons represented various purchases from a quarter to a dollar were represented in the prize winners. . There is no charge for the coupons. They are given free with each purchase.

One exception has been made in favor of barbershops, whose business is made up to a large extent of shaves at 15c. In barbershops only coupons will be given for the first 15c purchased; thereafter on the same rates as by the stores.

G. Myron Latshaw is chairman of the committee in charge of the ticket distribution to merchants. He will be assisted by W. Marvin Barton and Elmer C. Kessler.

Ray Tabler is treasurer of the business men's group and is also chairman of the membership committee. His associates on the committee are Robert T. Newell, Lawrence Callahan and Frank Willis.

The publicity committee includes C. S. Thomas, chairman; J. Grant Yates and John Goldsborough and the slogan determined upon is "Buy In Centreville."

Orphan's Court Room Will Get Needed Repairs

New Flooring, Masonite Paneled Walls To Be Installed Promptly

Another much needed bit of repair is to be given to Queen Anne's venerable Courthouse following action by the County Commissioners at their session Tuesday ordering improvements to the office of the Orphans' Court and Register of Wills.

The plans call for reflooring the office and paneling the walls with masonite both of which will add a business-like touch to the interior. Improvement of this office has been recommended on several occasions and was included in the Grand Jury's report for the May term of Court. The work will be done by W. H. Cronshaw of Church Hill.

It is understood that further improvements of the interior of the Courthouse are contemplated in the immediate future while a fairly definite determination has been reached to dress up the outside walls next spring when the weather is favorable.

The gradual face-lifting which the venerable structure has been receiving in the past two years has been badly needed. While the work has proceeded piecemeal as one shabby feature after another was corrected the improvements will eventually give the building an entire new dress.

The treasurer's office was the first to be thoroughly remodeled with a new safe, and a long glass-front counter desk and flooring installed. The metal work and eaves on the outside of the building were repaired and repainted. The county agent's office was redecorated into a bright, cheerful place.

The judges' room was attractively remodeled and lavatory facilities have been added to the Grand Jury room. New metal shelving was added to the Clerk of Court's office and new floor covering to the lower corridor.

Besides the task of dressing up the exterior the major tasks remaining include some sort of treatment for the county commissioners' office, the Grand Jury room and ceiling of the lower corridor.

The commissioners say that the improvements have been forced upon them by the condition of the building which was reaching a degree of shabbiness and disrepair that Grand Juries and outside organizations have commented upon it.

150 Dogs Chase Fox In Big Hunt

Reynard Turned Loose On Deaver Farm

Joining in one of the biggest foxhunts of the season upwards of a hundred enthusiasts from Queen Anne's, Talbot and Kent counties with a combined pack of a hundred and fifty dogs gathered at Hill Anthony's farm near Centreville Wednesday morning to view a chase lasting several hours. Word of the chase got around fast and automobiles filled with men and women were rolling up to the starting point in fleets.

A bagged fox was turned loose in Henry Deaver's wheatfield. It headed for the Corsica river, turned back, made its way to the Green farm and the Kenworthy woods, coming into view several times. The oversize pack of dogs kept well together throuhout the chase and gave the spectators a thrill as they swung across a field in full cry.

Among the hundred or more present including farmers able to enjoy the sport because farm work has slackened were Dulin Clark, Charles Quimby, Hill Anthony, Cromwell Clark, Claude Anthony, Bob Cosden, Bill Quimby, Fred Kaufman, Otto Kaufman, Elmer Anthony, Fred Quimby, Howard Ryland, E. O. Willis, Grant Yates, Asbury Bartlett, Fred Dukes, Wilson Dukes, Howard Price, and Joe Holden.

MASONIC LADIES NIGHT DEC. 10

The annual Ladies' Night of the Centreville Lodge of Masons will be held on Friday December 10th. The banquet will be served by Mrs. Frank Barney at the Little Theatre.

PRICE HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Price Homemakers' Club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Steiff Tuesday afternoon of last week with Mrs. John W. McKenney newly elected president in charge. Miss Ruby Kirk, County Deomnstration Agent gave an interesting talk on Parliamentary Law. Those who attended were Mrs. John W. McKenney, Mrs.. Melvin A. Chance, Mrs. Clark Morris, Mrs. Howard Stant, Miss Margaret Leager, Miss Ruby Kirk, Mrs. Helen Jarrell, and daughter, Miss Dolores Steiff and Mrs. Steiff.

DR. PRICE HOME

Dr. Samuel J. Price of Queenstown returned Saturday from Washington where he has been undergoing treatment for the past few weeks. He is reported much recovered and is expected to be back in the harness next week.
