KENT ISLAND'S PLEA

Patriotic Residents Seeking to Save Favored Land and Their Homes. forth every effort to save their favored land and their homes from despoilation by transferring it into an ordnance proving ground. They point to proof of their patriotism. Their sons have responded to the call to the colors. Willing hands are raising crops, also in response to a patriotic call. Without a dissenting voice they express themseives as willing-as only too glad-to sacrifice their island to help to win the war with Germany if such a sacrifice is necessary. They do not believe it to be necessary. They point to the scores of other sites equally available for ordnance proving, but which, unlike Kent Island, are sparsely settled, if settled at all, be
