PROSPECTUS FOR 1864.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST,
"The Oldest and Best of the Weeklies."

The Proprietors of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST—which paper is now in its Forty-third Year—would simply announce in their Prospectus for 1864, that they design maintaining for their weekly the high character it has already acquired as

A FIRST CLASS LITERARY PAPER!
They have reason to believe that the stories of MRS. WOOD, author of "East Lynne," &c.; MISS BRADDOCK, author of "Eleanor's Victim," &c.; MARION HAMILTON, author of "A Lion," &c.; MISS VIRGINIA F. TOWNSEND, and numerous other excellent writers, have been generally regarded as possessing the greatest merit and the most absorbing interest; and they design procuring for THE POST in the future as in the past, the best Stories, Sketches, and other Literary Novelties which they can possibly obtain. They intend commencing in the first paper in January,

A New Novel, by Mrs. Wood, Author of "EAST LYNNE," &c., From advance sheets, expressly forwarded to us from England.

This Story will be called
"Oswald Cray,"
and will be about the length of "Vermer's Pride" and "East Lynne."

In addition to the Stories written expressly for THE POST, the Editor also strives to lay before his readers, the best Stories from the English Periodicals. And gives, in addition to the Tales and Sketches, more or less Agricultural Matter, with a reliable, Receipt, News and Market Departments, every week.

THE LARGEST PAPER IN THE WORLD,
THE WAVERLY MAGAZINE.
A WEEKLY PAPER,
Devoted to Tales, Poetry, Music, History and General Intelligence.
MOSES A. DOW, Editor and Proprietor.

The unexampled circulation which this paper has obtained, in about two years, bears ample evidence of its merit. Its contents are most original, from the best writers in the country—of whom it numbers nearly one hundred, male and female, as regular contributors. The music is worth more than the price of the paper, and is a prominent feature as it is either newly imported, or written expressly for it. It contains sixteen pages in each number, 11 by 15 inches.

Terms, $2 a year, or $1 for six months, six copies to one post office, $5. All subscriptions stopped at the end of the time paid for. Postage only 20 cents a year, when paid in advance at the office of delivery. Sample numbers will be sent, if requested. A new volume of 416 pages commences every January and July. A title page and index included in each volume.

Among the notices of the press, we will only cite three, as a sample of all the rest.
Waverly Magazine.—A new era of beauty and style, in the publication of newspapers, has been introduced in the bringing forth of the Waverly Magazine. This is not a pamphlet, but an elegantly printed newspaper, in the quarto form. The style is rather showy, but elegant. It is filled with a great variety of matter, prose and poetry, tales, sketches, essays and music. A few years ago it would have been a marvel in the newspaper enterprise. [West Citizen.]

The Waverly Magazine.—We are happy to perceive, by the last number of this elegant publication, that it has acquired the wide popularity which its high literary character and fine typographical appearance could not fail to procure for it. Each number contains more reading matter than any of its weekly contemporaries, and as much, almost, as any of the monthlies. Choice music is likewise given every week. [Cottage Gazette.]

Waverly Magazine.—We have received, from a friend, a number of this elegant sheet. Boston has become noted, of late, for its beautiful productions in the newspaper department, and the Waverly stands No. 1 in the list. Its contents are mostly original, and, and it numbers among its best contributors the best talent of the country. Its editor, Moses A. Dow is a fine writer, and has already obtained an enviable reputation among the fraternity. [N. Y. Journal. Address, MOSES A. DOW, June 25 Boston Mass.]
