THE JOURNAL.

ROCKVILLE, MD.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1844.

FOR PRESIDENT,

HENRY CLAY,

OF KENTUCKY.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN,

OF NEW JERSEY.

MARYLAND PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

For the State at Large.

WM. LINGAN GAITHER, of Montgomery.
JAMES B. RICAUD, of Kent.

Congressional Districts.

1. THOS. S. ALEXANDER, of A. Arundel.
2. WILLIAM PRICE, of Allegany.
3. CHAS. R. STEWART, of How. District.
4. AUGUSTUS W. BRADFORD, of B. city.
5. HENRY E. WRIGHT, of Queen Anne's.
6. SAM'L HAMBLETON, Jr. of Talbot.

☞ Mr. PRATT is the first Whig Go-ernor that has ever been elected by the ople, since the alteration of the State nstitution. It is not only a victory it a complete overthrow of their par- restores law and order—by the g out of the servile demagogues ave never failed to make their of- however small, a battering ram, to down the whig cause, and to per- e those who were politically oppos- o them. With all their organization l machinery of office, we have tilted m over—upset their chicken cock— we will try and keep them where belong, for having abused the trusts osed in them.

☞ Monday night last, a grand ill ina n and procession took place in Roc g. We are indebted to the ladies for participation in rendering it not o d, but one of the most splendid that ever before occurred in this place. he Glee Club sang their merriest songs—and the ladies smiled upon the Whigs, to encourage them on. Mr. J. M. KILGOUR delivered a most admirable address, and every whig heart swelled in triumph over the victory they have gained. A few Polkats attempted to break up the celebration, by throwing fire balls among the ladies, and by using insulting language; but they were foiled, and every thing went off admirably, and to the satisfaction of all.

THE LOCO CROWING.—The poor Polkats are indeed to be pitied. They nearly killed a poor horse in bringing the news of the Baltimore election, from Washington, on Wednesday last, and then they crowed, yelled and screached—burned tar, and danced around the hickory pole like maniacs. During all of Thursday, no Whig could show his head without being insulted with "go in your holes"—"Coon's tails are on the fence," &c. A diu n, with a vile tongue, was place horse by the Polkats, to para reets, and make doggerel rhym their opponents, as they passed the evening, the news of a ctory came thundering in upon the Locos. It was then a day of rejoicing for the Whigs; and so goaded had they been by their unrelenting, blackguard opponents, that they payed them back, with some interest. Not a Polkat could be seen—the "BUZZARD" had removed them, as nuisances.

A great number of arrests have been made in the city of Baltimore, of persons for illegal voting. One of the persons arrested, states that the agent of the Rail Road brought him to that city, free of charge!

The political excitement has been such as to require nearly the whole of our Journal to be occupied by political matter. We shall be enabled hereafter to give our readers more of a variety.

MARYLAND ELECTION.

Amongst the numerous frauds, perpetrated by the Locofocos, at the late Election, one was of so flagrant a nature as to call forth the execration of all honorable men.

A man, calling himself Jerome Brown, who works for, or is Bar Keeper at the Tavern of Mr. Maher, in Washington City, was conveyed to the Polls in Berry's district in this County, by an Irish resident therein: objection being made to vote, it was a good deal canvassed at the window of the Judges room, and among other dissentients, one voter stated, that in last April, he met Jerome, with his Trunk, on the road to Washington, and on the same day saw Robert Brown, who told him his "Jerome had left him," and that he was sorry to part with him; but that he had gone to live with Mr. Maher, in Washington, and would be likely to get into some office there, through Mr. Maher, who held a situation under Government, and Mr. Richard Butt, and himself, Robert. This canvassing took place in Robert's presence. Jerome being sworn, said, in substance, that he made Robert's his home when in these parts. Being allowed a vote, he cast it for the Locos.

But charges of this kind are sure to kindle wrath; a warrant was demanded against Jerome, who, with the aid of Robert's Horse, vanished.

It would sicken freemen to hear the frauds and perjuries practised by the Locofocos. Warrants are issued against several offenders here, as in Baltimore and elsewhere; and it is to be hoped they and their accessaries will be brought to condign punishment.

The result of the Whig triumph is a death blow to the Locos seeking office; to their compeers, holding appointments, it was a Bread and Butter concern.—Well may the latter lament, that "Othello's occupation's gone.

OBITUARY.

DIED, on the State of Maryland, on Wednesday the 2nd inst., of a galloping consumption, LOCOFOCOISM, aged 16 y's. The deceased became a resident of our State, about six years ago. He has been engaged, (indeed the ringleader) in all the many acts of villainy, that has been practised on the people of Maryland, from that time until the present. But he now is gone, and although he was the greatest villain that ever escaped the gallows, he has nevertheless, left a large number of friends to mourn over his remains. The wicked and abandoned wretch died just as he had lived; he left the world with a lie in his mouth, uttering curses against all honest and correct men.

ANOTHER PILL.—The election took place last week in Delaware, for Inspectors of Election. The Whigs were rather indifferent as to the result, and only got a majority of 106 in the State.

The Locos, ever ready to catch at crumbs, somehow made a wrong calculation in the figures, and gave themselves a victory. They raised a transparency upon their Hickory pole, and crowed until some coon, who pitied them, told them how the matter stood. The poor fellows took to their holes again, saying that there was no luck for them. If they can only get Arkansas, they will creep out again, and screach like night-owls.

The Locofocos are boasting at a great rate, about the largeness of the vote they made here on Wednesday last. The impudent scoundrels, if they had one atom of shame left, they would be as silent as the grave on the subject. As great asses as many of them are, there is not one of them so great a fool, as not to know, that but from the downright and flagrant rascality of a portion of their judges of election, the Whigs would have got a majority at these polls.

O'Connell, the Irish patriot, has been liberated from prison by the English Government. It is thought that he will now succeed in his object: the repeal of the Union, and the establishment of an Irish Parliament. If this is to release that unfortunate country from her miseries, God speed their cause.

FASHIONS FOR OCTOBER.

THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION.—We have the pleasing consolation of announcing to our Whig friends throughout the Union, the favorable result of the Election in MARYLAND. It is a victory of which we are proud to boast, knowing the exertions of our opponents, and the extraordinary increase of the popular vote throughout the State. It is a victory that even exceeds that glorious one of 1840; as the whole patronage of the State depended upon the result, and the Locos fought like devils for the spoils. The popular vote has increased, over that of 1840, [which was considered the largest ever given] by 7,248—and over the vote for Governor, in 1841, by 11,279. The Locos have increased their vote within the last four years, 5,738. The Whigs have increased theirs within the same length of time, 1,510 votes. The State of Maryland, laboring, as she does, under so many disadvantages, such as poor lands, direct taxes, and the great inducement which the far West holds forth, it seems impossible for this extraordinary increase to have fairly taken place. The apportionment law allows five persons to each vote; thus, according to this ratio, the increase has been 29,240, which together with the overplus made by the apportiontment of '40, gives the State another Representative in Congress. We allude to this increase of the vote to show the improbability of its having been effected honestly. We take our own County as an instance. For the last nine years the vote has not varied over one hundred, either way, from 1650. This year, the increase is 342! and what is more singular no person can account for it, except it has been, in a great measure, effected by fraud. The Whigs of Old Montgomery have done their duty nobly—they have overthrown the most corrupt and desperate party that ever organized, by coming, in one solid phalanx, to the support of Whig principles. Let us stand at our posts, and in November we will give them such a "Waterloo defeat," that they will find it useless to import illegal voters, and may (?) turn honest. We shall give a general history of their actions, and particularly of the Judges of Election in our next publication.

The full returns are in from all the Counties—some official and others unofficial. They show the following results of the votes cast for Governor:

Those marked thus* are Locofocos.—The election of Mr. Quynn is contested.

The Senate will be composed of 15 whigs and 6 locofocos—the House of 61 whigs and 21 locofocos. Whig majority on joint ballot 49.

☞ The Rockville Mass Meeting was every thing that we anticipated. About three thousand of the most enthusiastic Whigs assembled that we have ever seen. After partaking of a sumptuous barbecue, the immense crowd were addressed by REVERDY JOHNSON, Esq., of Baltimore; Hon. GARRETT DAVIS, of Kentucky, and CHRLES SHERMAN, Esq. of Alabama. Perfect good feeling prevailed throughout the day, and the ladies were present in great numbers, giving their smiles to the Whig cause.

The Chief Marshal and Aids are entitled to the thanks of all present, for the able manner in which the several delegations were waited upon, and the procession, generally, conducted.

From the Journal Extra of Thursday last.

MONTGOMERY.

We have just received the returns from the whole county of Montgomery; and in the memory of man never was there such exertions made by the Loco Foco party to effect their purpose as at the present time. It will be seen by the following table, that the vote has far exceeded all anticipations; the whigs contesting every point with the exception of Cracklin District, and there, it will be seen that 40 more votes were given than ever before was known. In the whole county the vote exceeds that of '40, the largest ever given, by 322—being a whig gain of 80, and an unaccountable loco gain of 238! How this has been effected, remains to be told. Having a majority of the Judges of the Elections, they have defeated our Commissioners by fraud and illegal voting; and in three of the Districts the election will, in all probability, be contested.

Upon the whole, we have achieved an extraordinary victory—having elected our Delegates, and given a maj. for Pratt of 182. We ask the Whigs to pick their flints and try again. The persons who have defrauded us will be prosecuted and prevented from corrupting our elections hereafter.

The whigs have had to contend with the army of office-holders, such as tax gatherers, County and State officers, and right sorely have we felt their influence. In Rockville District, the unprecedented vote of 528 was given; where this number of votes came from, remains to be told. In Cracklin, we were more deceived by the violation of political faith on the part of those we ardently supposed would act with the whig party than we thought men capable of, whose political integrity, from appearances, could not be brought into question. By their duplicity, the management of the county affairs has been thrown into the hands of the Loco Focos. Like the prodigal son, we hope they will return to their duty in Nov., and redeem what they have so shamefully lost, as whigs.

In Berry's district, the whigs fought nobly. Blair, of the Globe, was there with his forces, marshaled under a drum and fife; many of them were illegal voters, and although their votes were challenged, they were permitted to vote. Clarksburg and Medley's, as well as the Whigs of Rockville done their best.

We charge the whigs "never to give up the ship," but rally around the standard of Henry Clay, and we shall yet be delivered from the hands of Locofocoism.

We would advise Mr. George M. Bibb, the present accidental Secretary of the Treasury, that if he has any thing to do in his office, to remain there and do it, and not to be traversing the country and persuading the Locofoco rowdies to offer large bets to the Whigs that Mr. Clay would not be elected President, and making them believe that he would furnish the money for betting. We heard a Locofoco of this place, a few days ago, boasting that Mr. Bibb had promised to pay the bets made against Mr. Clay, if they should be lost. Now this is the same Mr. Bibb, the same honest nullifier (which bye the bye, now means traitor) who was one of the principal agents, in 1826, in buying up Amos Kendall for the very purpose of his publishing and swearing to lies against the character of Mr. Clay. Blair with all his propensities for lying, does, nevertheless, sometimes tell the truth. He was right when he said that any man, professing to be a Democrat, who would accept a Secretary's office under John Tyter, that it was proof positive of his being a dishonest politician. Verily, Mr. Bibb, you are the very kind of a Secretary for such a President as John Tyler.

ELECTIONS.

Elections took place on Monday last in Georgia and Arkansas. In the former eight Congressmen and members of the Legislature were chosen. The delegation now in Congress from Georgia consists of two Whigs and six Locos.—The last Legislature, elected in 1843, was Whig by a large majority. That of the preceding year, 1842, was Loco Foco. The accounts from all quarters of the State are favorable to the success of the Whig cause, and it is confidently predicted that our friends will carry six of the eight Congressional districts.

In ARKANSAS the election was for Governor, who holds his office four years, a member of Congress, and members of the Legislature. This State has always been a Loco-Foco strong-hold. The Legislature is chosen biennially. In that of 1842 the proportion of Locos to Whigs was about as two to one.

Yesterday elections were held in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey.—In PENNSYLVANIA, a Governor, who holds his office three years; twenty-four members of Congress, besides one to fill a vacancy in the present Congress; and members of the Legislature are to be chosen. The Legislature last year was Loco by a large majority, and the delegation in Congress was equally divided. The Whigs entertain strong and well-grounded hopes of carrying this State.

OHIO holds her election for the same description of officers—a Governor, who holds office two years; twenty one representatives in Congress, besides two to fill vacancies in the present Congress; and members of the Legislature. The Congressional delegation elected last year comprised nine Whigs and twelve Locos. The Whig majority on joint ballot, in the Legislature elected last year, was two. The election in this State will be warmly contested, but all our information is decidedly favorable to the Whigs.

NEW JERSEY.—The election in this State lasts two days. It is for Governor, by the popular suffrage, for the first time, and members of the Legislature. The Newark Daily Advertiser pronounces the State to be as decidedly Whig now as she was in the days of the Revolution, and says that she will vote in October and in November of this year as she did in 1836 and 1840—for the Whig candidate and their cause.—American.

ILLEGAL VOTERS.—We are preparing for publication, a list of the persons who voted illegally, at the several polls in this county, on Wednesday last. Persons who can give any information, will please furnish us with their names.

We notice a long advertisement published in the Globe and the "Polkat," from a man who calls himself David Conrad, who hails from Waterford, Va., in allusion to some statement made by us. We shall attend to his case when we get time. We have larger fish to fry at present.

Married,

On Tuesday morning last, by the Rev. Joseph H. Jones, Mr. WM. H. ADAMSON to Miss MARGARET ANN ALBY, all of this county.

Pole Raising.

☞ A WHIG POLE will be raised in the village of Brookville, on SATURDAY NEXT, the 12th instant. The voters of the county are invited to attend, as able speakers are expected to be present on the occasion to address them.

The Ladies of Brookville respectfully invite the presence of the "Rockville Clay Glee Club," to receive a banner, prepared by their fair hands, as a reward for their zealous exertions in behalf of the Whig cause. oct 9

Leesburg Whig Festival.

☞ The Whigs of Montgomery county, who propose attending the Festival at Leesburg, are invited to meet at Poolesville, at 7 o'clock on TUESDAY MORNING, the 15th instant, whence a cavalcade will march at that hour precisely.

The officers of the several Clay Clubs are requested to attend with the banners of their respective Districts; and the gentlemen who served as aids and assistant marshals to the Rockville Festival, are particularly invited to join the gathering. W. M. STEWART.
