The Sick.—Thomas McNeill is confined to his room.

Dr. C. C. Jacobs has been dangerously ill all week. Improvement was noted yesterday.

Mrs. John Stevens is recovering from a severe illness.

Escha May, 8-year old daughter of R. T. Powell, of Washington, D. C., is seriously ill with malaria and pneumonia.

Miss Bose Shearer is better.

Election of Officers.—The Millville milling company, of Jefferson county, W. Va., a flourishing corporation in which a number of our countymen are interested, held its annual meeting in Cumberland Tuesday. About $60,000 have been recently spent on the plant making it one of the finest properties of the kind in the United States. The following gentlemen were elected:

President—David W. Sloan.
Vice-President—Lloyd Lowndes.
Secretary and Treasurer—John W. Sanders.
General Manager—John W. Avirett.

IN MEMORIAM.

Died in Washington, D. C., January 2, 1887, Miss CATHARINE LEMMERT.

"Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O death."

With a heart deeply touched with a sense of sadness, and the fading of all earthly things, we take our pen in hand to write a tribute to departed worth, and mingle our affectionate sympathy with the sad and sorrowing.

It is difficult to realize that one yet so young, so full of hope, has been touched by the death angel and gathered to the grave, yet—

"Gone to the grave in all thy glorious prime,
In full activity of zeal and power,
A Christian cannot die before his time,
The Lord's appointment is the servant's hour."

The subject of our notice in early life connected herself with the Lutheran church of which she continued a faithful member to the day of her death.

Her nature was so open, so true, so generous and liberal, that out of many hearts will often come the vain but pleading cry:

Oh for the touch of a vanished hand
And the sound of a voice that is still.

"Why should we weep for those who die?
Those blessed ones who weep no more;
Jesus called them to the sky,
And gladly have they gone before.

"For them no bitter tears we shed,
Their nights of pain and grief are o'er;
But weep our lonely path to tread,
And see the form we love no more.

CORRESPONDENCE

RELIGION IN THE THEATRE.

FROSTBURG, MD., Jan. 24, 1887.

To the MINING JOURNAL.

Permit me to thank you most heartily for your just rebuke, in last Saturday's edition of your paper, of a class of preachers and religionists of the various denominations who so devoutly maintain the pious character of the theatre. No doubt nine-tenths of the people present last Monday evening were what are called "pious people." What the minister fails to do, and the church member, dove-tailed into the world and blinded by pleasure-seeking in what is so frequently termed "innocent recreation," sees no necessity for doing, in the name of not a few, I thank you, as the editor of a secular paper, and an outsider, for doing. What a verification you have given of the teaching of the Word of God that the world, disgusted with the conduct of the professors of religion, will utterly condemn what is called the church, for want of principle, piety and consistency.

Hit them again, do. Maybe they will be brought to shame.

AN OPPOSER OF SHAMS.

GENERAL ITEMS.

Eastern Views of the Coal Trade.

New York.—The effort on the part of the producers to pool them or syndicate their interests, still goes on, and those affecting to be advised of what is going on assert that they are about to definitely arrange such a syndicate for the settlement of percentages of soft coal deliveries at the seaboard as will enable them advance quotations and maintain them throughout the season. The demand for soft coal is certainly very heavy and the trade prospects encouraging on all sides.—Mining Record.

The market for soft coal continues extremely active. It is now claimed that the following are the correct percentages in the tidewater soft coal pool—Clearfield, 32¾ per cent.; Cum-Cumberland and Elk Garden, 42¾ per cent.; Pocahontas, 10¼ per cent.; Chesapeake and Ohio, 10½ per cent; Beech Creek, 10 per cent. and Erie, per cent. Be this as it may, the next point and the main one, we should say, is how much money is the consumer to pay for his coal. The operators in the Cumberland district have already agreed to give their men an advance in wages, dating from the 1st of March next, the amount of such advance depending upon the price established for the coal for the present year. All the competing districts will have to pay an advance. The prices of coal f. o. b. at the several coast ports are to be agreed upon it is said this week. No bids are reported from Boston on the Fitchburg contract, and therefore it looks now as if the pool would hold.—Coal Trade Journal.

The producers of this coal have practically none to offer for sale. We have heard of $5 having been paid here, while much higher prices could be obtained. In Boston $4.85@$5 has been paid. The supply of cars on the Pennsylvania road is very scarce. The Baltimore is furnishing a liberal supply, but vessels are so scarce and freights so high that but little is doing from Baltimore. The demand for bituminous coal, partially owing to the strike of the anthracite coal handlers, is very large.

The bituminous coal pool is making satisfactory progress, but there are still many details to settle. The coal companies, both in the Clearfield and Cumberland region, have promised their miners an increase in wages on March 1st, provided the trade can be put upon a satisfactory basis by that time, which it is expected to do by means of the new pool.

Boston.—There is a slightly improved outlook visible. While spot coal is much sought for and would command from $4.75@$5, according to the exigency of the buyer, yet we look to see lower figures obtained soon. A number of cargoes are bound to this port, and will help out. Naturally enough, no one has cared to talk of season contracts lately. The active season is now almost here, however. —Engineering and Mining Journal.

SINCE the establishment of the "Mammoth Hardware Store" in this town the people have enjoyed a service which has met every demand and pleased every taste.

The secret of this phenomenal achievement lies in our strict and constant adherence to the following principles:
