The usual boasted harmony in the party is not apparent to outsiders either. The ticket neminated may have some strong points from a Democratic view, but they are not unusually glaring. The nominees for the Legislature are known as straight-out-Gorman John Walter Smith-for-the Senate-Democrats, and the candidate for Clerk, and about all of his following, are opposed to that gentleman for Senator. The delegation from the Fifth District came to the Convention unpledged. The delegates for Mr. Day expected their help in nominating their man, and assisted in nominating the candidate from the Fifth. At any time during the Convention they could have nominated Mr. Day, but they refused to vote for him to the last. There is still one vacancy on the ticket and from all reports there may be another. But of course good Democrats can look over all these little unpleasant features, shut their eyes and vote the ticket straight.

Republicans in Baltimore. In the city this week the man in the glare of the lights is Frank C.
