A CARD

The industrial history of Kent county now being prepared by me, is rapidly nearing completion, and promises to be the most graphic and complete historical work ever prepared on this county.

Conditions have been such that I have not been able to see and interview everybody as yet, and would appreciate a line from any who are interested.

Having gone to much expense and trouble in the compilation of data on Kent and its people, I feel justified in saying that those of import in Kent's past, present and future, should feel an interest in a work of this kind.

All communications will be treated confidentially. Because of the scope, character and general makeup of this book, it is necessary that I request you not to confound this with any other project.

OYSTERMEN SOLID FOR MR. HARRINGTON

The oystermen of this State now have a chance to show their appreciation of the efforts made by the Hon. Emerson C. Harrington in their behalf, and from reports received at this office, they intend to give him their unanimous support in this campaign for the Gubernatorial nomination. They all know that he has been their friend at all times and without his help they realize that thousands upon thousands of acres of the best oyster bars in this State would have been taken from them and leased out to capitalists.

They also know that it was Mr. Harrington, who prepared the plank in the Democratic State Platform of 1913, under the captian of "Rights of Oyster men," and who aided materially in its adoption that year, and through this pledge the Shepherd Oyster Bill was prepared, presented and by the following Legislature.

When this bill came up before the Legislature it looked as though it would be impossible to pass it. But this did not discourage Mr. Harrington. He knew he was right, and with the aid of Senator W. W. Beck, Representative Turner and other members of the House, he succeeded in accomplishing one of the greatest victories known to the oystermen. This bill has stood the test of the Court of Appeals, and has restored thousands of acres of the best oyster bars in this State to the oystermen.

Not only did he do this, but the year before, in 1913, he was largely responsible in preventing the issue of leases, for which applications had been made, for thousands of acres of the most productive oyster rocks in the State, and caused a re-survey of the bottom, which resulted in restoring to the oystermen, Dorchester county alone, about 30,000 acres of natural oyster rocks, which had previously been surveyed and declared barren by the Shell Fish Commission and ready to be leased.

This is only part of the work Mr. Harrington has done, and is doing, for the oystermen. He has their interests at heart and will always be found working to safeguard their God-given rights. They know this, and September 14th they will show him their appreciation by giving him the greatest majority ever received by a candidate in the State.

DEATHS

Paul B. Graham, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. R Graham, of Chestertown, died at the home of his parents, on Queen Street, Monday morning at 4.30, after a long illness, aged 39. He leaves beside his parents, a widow, Mrs. Laura J. Graham and three children, Paul, Joseph and Sarah Francis and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Mabel Graham Billingslea, of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Mrs. Jesse Adkins, of Salisbury; Walter W. Graham, of Baltimore; Harold C. Graham, of Washington; J. Newell Graham, Baltimore. Funeral was held Wednesday, at 2 p. m., Rev. D. L. Greenfield officiating, assisted by Dr. L. E. Barrrett. The bearers were Walter M. Graham, Harold C. Graham, J. Newell Graham, E. Dale Adkins, S. Lansburg and Maurice Hoffman. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Mr. Graham for many years was cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank in Washington when his health failed. His search for health led him far west, where regaining his health, he again secured a very prominent position. But again his health failed him and he returned to Chestertown, where a year's rest put him in fair health again. He then secured a position with the State Roads Commission. The indoor life was Mr. Graham's undoing, and he suffered a breakdown from which he was unable to rally. The deceased was efficient and highly accurate as an accountant and he readily secured many responsible positions, but his health each time broke down. He married the accomplished Miss Laura Fearson, of Washington, who has patiently and tenderly nursed him through all the weeks and who has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

Mrs. Mary J. Gibson, one of the most highly respected and best known women in lower Kent, died last Friday of Bright's disease at her home near Tolchester, aged 50 years. She leaves the following children: Roy Gibson and Mrs. Blanche Cares, of Baltimore; Millard, Reuben, and Gladys Gibson, of Kent; and stepchildren: Harry, John, Elwood and Laura Gibson. The pall bearers were: J. Page Gale, A. P. Forman, Charles Wood, Samuel Gears, Byrd Sutton, Linwood Sutton. Funeral was held from her late home Sunday conducted by Dr. Nickerson, interment in Chester Cemetery C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

John Cecil Waters, infant son of Joseph and Mary E. Waters, died in Piney Neck Tuesday night, aged 9 days Funeral held Thursday, Rev. A. Travers officiating. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

CONFIDENCE IN HARRINGTON'S SUCCESS GROWS

Nomination Certain, Says Observers—Lee's Reasons Do Not Satisfy.

The most remarkable thing in the present State Democrat primary contest is the way the Harrington sentiment grows and keeps a-growing.

This growth has not been the mushroom product of an over night origin, but the slow, steady growth that brings strength and endurance with it.

When the fight first started the Lee forces had their campaign all mapped out. They knew or thought they knew just where they stood.

The Baltimore Machine, headed by Mahon-Padgett-Loden et al was the first political move. A conference was held. An understanding was reached. A working basis found. In consideration of certain things as yet not fully divulged to the general public, these gentlemen agreed to deliver the votes of Baltimore City to Mr. Lee.

Gentlemen in the Counties were then called in. A working agreement was reached with these and they agreed to deliver the votes of their Counties.

After these preliminaries were "satisfactorily" there was nothing to do but wait the auspicious moment.

The gun was loaded, cocked and primed. Nothing stood in the way of a quick get-a-way when the signal was given. The time came. Senator Lee made his announcement. The single gun had been fired. His lieutenants and allies at once jumped in with a whoop and hurrah. With boasts and claims they made the welkin ring from one end of Maryland to the other.

The idea was to make it appear as a spontaneous outburst from the people. A recognition of justness and merit. Unfortunately for their plan the scheme failed, the machine worked too smoothly. The hand of a shrewd political manipulator was too plain to be hidden. The enthusiasm was seen to be manufactured: the confidence assumed and the claims a bluff. Purity and civic righteousness was the slogan.

The people stood aghast. Mahon-Padgett-Loden et al crying out for reforms: standing for economy: fighting for the abolishment of useless offices: against the distributing of patronage to "the boys"; for the rule of the people and the downing of the bosses. Had the political millenium come! The people were for a moment dumbfounded, dazzled. The boldness and effrontery of the move took their breath.

They murmured to themselves "purity and reform, Mahon-Padgett Loden et al. Could such a thing be?

It was too much, their eyes began to clear. They began to think, to observe, to reason. The practical political machine of Baltimore City leading a reform fight! Preposterous! Then why this combination with Lee? Why this alliance with a man to whom they had always been opposed?

The people of the State will know that the Baltimore City machine is not in politics for the health of its members. An understanding had been reached with the Lee forces, what was it? The people believed not the trash of disinterested motives. Baltimore City politics are not played that way any more than are the politics played by Mr. Barroll of this county.

Mr. Lee is a member of the United States Senate—an office to which the Democratic party of Maryland elected him at his most urgent request.

The term was not expired. The office has always been regarded as being a more important and influential one than that of Gvernor. Many a Governor has left the gubernatorial chair for a seat in the Senate, but Senator Lee seems to be the first one to want to leave the Senate to be governor.

He has tried to explain his queer and unnatural choice. His explanations are recognized as being but empty platitudes. The people can see but one reason—an overwhelming ambition to be the BOSS of Maryland. He wants to beat some one. He has made an alliance with the worst and most practical machines in Maryland in order to do this. The people have but little patience with a fight just made to "beat" another Democrat. They have elected Senator Lee to the United States Senate. They did it at his request so that he could uphold the hands of President Wilson. When he asked to be sent to the Senate, the skies of the county's welfare, looked bright and clear. No cloud was on the horizon threatening us with a grave war.

The United States has never faced a more trying and critical period since it became a nation than it now faces. The European war has shadowed every land, threatening peace and prosperity.

There is danger and grave danger of our being forced into the terrible conflict every day. We need our men—our able men—in the Senate to help in this crisis. If Senator Lee has the ability he says he has, he ought to be willing to fill out his term as United States Senator and use this ability to keep his country out of trouble. This is no time to resign, but a time to show the stuff of which he is made. This is no time to engage in a petty fight to beat some political opponent. The people are seeing things as they really are. They don't believe in supporting any man for Governor whose pleas are as weak as are those of Senator Lee. Then again the deal between the Baltimore City Machine and Senator Lee pleases neither the people of Baltimore nor the good thinking people of the State. A stream cannot rise higher than its source. Purity and civic righteousness can never be the outgrowth of this marriage.

A FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT

A Big Passenger Car Strikes A Telephone Pole Near Betterton—14 Passengers in Car Two Badly Hurt—One Seriously.

The big passenger car belonging to Graham, Clements & Sutton, filled with Mr. Harry R. Graham, wife and six or eight guests, Chris, the Candy Kitchen proprietor and a visiting friend, left Betterton Thursday, about 11 P. M. for Chestertown, Mr. Percy Jewell chauffeur. This was a pleasure trip of the car and not a regular run. Mr. Jewell stated to the NEWS man, "When we were about a mile from Betterton I saw a carriage approaching. I blew my horn several times and noticed that the team did not budge a foot. Still I continued to blow and finally when I met the team I pulled out of the road in order not to strike the vehicle. In pulling out of the road I struck a telephone pole which crashed through the front of the car and over we went. The top was smashed to pieces and the two Greeks on the front seat with me were the only ones seriously hurt. Chris was in the middle and he was struck on the head so hard that his skull was crushed."

Chris' friend, who was on the right side, received a broken nose, black eye, scratched face and a bruised side. Miss Hildebrandt received a cut on the head, Miss Catherine Gilpin a cut on the head and Mrs. Yates a bruised arm. All the others were badly shaken up.

Mr. Graham got in touch with his garage and Mr. Speilberger went to their relief. Mr. Ray Bonwill was the first to the side of the wounded and rendered efficient help. The two Greeks were hurried to Dr. H. G. Simpers' office and he soon advised their removal at once to Easton hospital.

A message from Easton Hospital at noon yesterday says, "patient has rallied and condition looks more favorable. Skull badly injured and arm broken."
