Beginning today Chestertown, Galena, Kennedyville and other points are to have two competing motor lines to and from Elkton connecting with fast trains.

The Philadelphia Transit Co. has contracted with the Baltimore papers to bring their papers which will arrive on and after today at 8 A. M.

Messrs. Caldwell & Davis, who were the first to inaugurate this route will reduce the fare to $1 after today and will make hourly trips.

You can hail a car most any time on Washington avenue and go to Philadelphia, Baltimore or elsewhere via Elkton.

CONFERENCE NOTES

The annual session of the Wilmington M. E. Conference convened in Wilmington Wednesday, Bishop Berry presiding. The conference will be in session one week.

The appointment of three district superintendents and the election of four ministerial delegates to the General Conference will feature the conference this year. Rev. E. L. Hoffecker, D. D., of the Wilmington District, Rev. Robert K. Stephenson, D. D., of the Dover District, and Rev. Robert Watts, D. D., of the Easton District, are the retiring district superintendents.

The four lay delegates to the General Conference, it is said, will be Melville Gambrill, Wilmington district; Martin B. Burris, of Middletown, Easton district; Thomas Bock, Princess Anne, Salisbury district, and either Judge Henry C. Conrad, of Georgetown, or E. J. Winder, of Milford, Dover district.

While the speculations are running wild, and each group of followers of certain individuals advance different theories, it is thought likely that the presiding bishop will make his selection of superintendents from the Revs: Vaughin S. Collins, W. A. Wise and J. W. Easley, of Wilmington; Rev. W. R. Mowbray, of Milford, Rev. J. Colona, of Georgetown and Rev. C. C. Williams of Laurel. Several of the ministers favored bringing Rev. Robert Watts, off the Easton District, and placing him on the Wilmington district for another six-year term as district superintendent.

KENT COUNTY ALMSHOUSE

Forty Years in Almshouse by one Who Knows—Representative Men On Boards.

The trustees of the Kent county almshouse from 1840 to 1880 includes the following:

Lower District—Joseph Harris, Isaac Gale, Sr., Alexander Harris, Thomas Burgess, George Wilson, John Brice, Benjamin Beck, Jackson Wickes.

Worton—Lewin Usilton, John Gale William Stevens, Robert Nicholson, Samuel Baker, Josiah Ringgold.

Up the County—Wm. Meginness, John Frazier, Aaron Gooding, Wm. Brice, Col. Johnson, Samuel Merrit, Thomas J. Mann, James Gale, Wm. Morris, Jacob Highley, Robert Griffith, James Spear, Richard Moffett.

Chestertown—George D. Holliday, George B. Westcott, John McDaniel, Thomas B. Hynson, Simon Wickes, Wm. Francis, John Russell, Jas. B. Kleand, Wm. B. Wilmer, Wm. Vickers, Sewell Hepbron.

The physicians to the almshouse 40 years ago were Doctors Joseph Cosden, Thomas Kennard, Morgan Brown, F. Wroth, Joseph A. Wickes, Benjamin Houston, A. A. Sappington, Samuel Beck, Alfred Perkins.

These men represented all businesses including farmers, merchants, bankers, lawyers and other walks and gave faithful attention to the county home.

The almshouse was a half mile west of Chestertown, opposite what is now Chester cemetery, which was burned in 1840. The inmates moved to Dr. Whaland's farm house, on the west side of the road close to the mill, until the trustees bought a farm for them. The trustees at that time were Joseph Harris, Josias Ringgold, George B. Westcott, who bought the Cruikshanks farm, four miles west of Chestertown, and set up farming. They employed Lemuel Skeggs to carry it on and there were only 16 inmates, nearly all white. They increased slowly until after the Civil War, when the colored people were set free. Nearly all the old ones left home and the children were not capable of taking care of themselves and had to go to the almshouse.

Lemuel Skeggs remained until 1851, and was succeeded by the late Joshua Copper, who remained 30 years. The inmates increased until 60 men, women and children were in the home.

THE people of this community are to have the privilege of hearing the celebrated Dr. S. Parkes Cadman again soon.

THE Chestertown Choral Club was surprised Tuesday evening upon receiving the resignation of their skilled director, Mr. W. W. Chapman. A committee consisting of Misses Mabel Toulson, Adele France, Eben F. Perkins and Fred. G. Usilton was appointed to wait upon Mr. Chapman and request and urge him to reconsider his purpose to resign and it is hoped they will be successful.

FARM DEMONSTRATOR APPOINTED

Kent Takes Her Place in The Front Ranks in Taking Advantage of Advice of Government Experts in Farming.

The County Commissioners of Kent county on Tuesday appointed Mr. L. L. Burrell as farm agent or demonstrator. Prof. Alford, of the U. S Department of Agriculture, recommended Mr. Burrell and upon this advice he was named. Mr. Burrell was born 33 years ago in Michigan, where, after graduating in the High School he taught for several ysars, then graduated in four years at the Michigan Agricultural College at East Lansing.

Soon after leaving college he was sent by the Government into New Mexico and Indian Territory to teach the Indians how to grow corn, etc. His experiences out West were worth a great deal to him and after 18 months there he returned and took a position with our Maryland Agricultural College in teaching and extension work. He served a year in Vermont and a year in Alabama so that he is well equipped for this work.

Mr. Burrell is in touch with the Agricultural Department at Washington and will be able to bring to our Kent farmers much valuable information.

He married a lady from Cumberland, has 2 children, and will reside in Chestertown. He made his first public appearance in Kent at the Still Pond Farmers Club this week.

GRANGE NOTES.

Kent county Pomona Grange will meet April 8th in Fairlee Hall. The noted guests of the day will be Judge James Alfred Pearce, Dr. H. J. Patterson, Dr. G. H. Alfred, State Agent Department of Agriculture and County Agent, Mr. Burrell, of Michigan, also State Lecturer, Reuben Brigham and wife.

A sparkling Literary program will follow interspersed with songs, readings, discussions, recitations and monologues. Meeting called to order at 10.30 A. M. sharp. Dinner at 12 o'clock. Afternoon meeting at 2 o'clock. Lecturers program at 3 P. M. Anniversary meeting at 7.30 P. M.

Still Pond Grange has held some very interesting meetings during the past month. Mr. Walter B. Harris has organized a boys corn club in connection with the Grange work. On March 17 after the business meeting the lecture hour was opened to the public to hear a most interesting debate—Resolved, that energy tends more to success in life than education. Affirmative, Brother Nicols and Sister Mary Harris Negative Brother Pharo and Sister Fogwell. The decision was in favor of the negative. Other features of the program were a number of songs by the Grange, readings Sisters Gale and Medders. Mr. Walter Harris gave a short talk on "How can we profitably employ farm labor during the winter months. Sister Evelyn Harris gave the books that have helped her most. She said in part that before she married they were mostly on music and since she married they were on the line of three c's—cooking, chickens and children. The roll call was responded to by a quotation on wordly wisdom. A fee of two cents is charged if the roll call is not responded to by the members and the lecturer has the grangers so well trained that it is seldom necessary to "pass the hat."

The lecture hour this afternoon will be opened to the public at 3 30. The subject of lime will be throughly discussed by those who have had practical experience with it. All persons interare invited to be present.

The Chestertown Grange met on Wednesday last and elected the following officers:

Master—Col. W. J. Vannort.
Overseer—John C. Smith.
Lecturer—Mrs W. H. Morris.
Chaplain—Samuel Vannort.
Steward—J. W. Newt n.
Asst. Steward—W. H. Morris.
Treasurer—William Vansant.
Secretary—Mrs. Romaine Morris.
Gate Keeper—J. B. Newnam.
Ceres—Mrs. Wm. Vansant.
Pomona—Mrs. J. B. Newnam.
Flora—Mrs. J. E. Morris.
Lady Asst. Steward—Mrs. H. B. Nicholson.

The Kent County Pomona Grange will meet at Fairlee next Saturday, April 8. A great day is anticipated and grangers from all over Kent will be present.

State Lecturer James T. Anthony has just returned to his home near Chestertown after a visit to Frederick county, in Western Maryland. He says that the people in that prosperous and beautiful County are very much interested in grange work and the membership is increasing.

The next State Grange meeting will be held at Easton and the National meeting at Washington, D. C.

The regular Monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the Rest Room on Tuesday, April 4th at 2.30 P M

Chester River Boats Not To Stop

The Pennsylvania Railroad will not be compelled to cease operating its Eastern Shore boat lines on Saturday, and the Baltimore merchants are not faced with loss of a traffic that is estimated to amount annually to some $30,000,000 and the general public a convenience which means much to them. The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered a suspension of the present order, pending the disposition of the petitions filed by various commercial organizations. The order is for an indefinite time.

DEATHS

Capt James F. M. Woodall, one of the best known men in upper Kent, died at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at his home in Georgetown, aged 70. He had not been out of the house for six months. He married a daughter of the late Capt. Andrew Woodall, who survives with two daughters, Mrs. Hurtt and an unmarried daughter No arrangements had been made for the funeral at this hour.

After an illness of several months, Mrs. Johanna Knight, widow of the late W. O. B. Knight, died at her home on Queen street Saturday last, of the infirmities of age, aged 75 years. She leaves two daughters and one son, viz: Misses Mary M. and Emma E. Knight, and Mr. W. O. B. Knight. The deceased was a sister of Mr. Robert C. Morgan, having removed to Kent from Cecil county. She was a woman of unusual intelligence, an indefatigable worker and whole hearted in everything she undertook. She was a faithful and devoted member of Christ M. P. Church and lived the principles she professed. She was a good woman.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, Dr. W. R Graham officiating and interment in Chester cemetery; undertaker, C. L. Dodd. Her two favorite hyms, "Rock of Ages" and "Crossing the Bar," were sung by Miss Clara B. Usilton, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton and Mr. A. L. Sparks. The pall-bearers were: Dr. H. L. Dodd, George R. Rouse, Elwood Whaley, Charles N. Satterfield, James G. Beck, George W. Morgan.

Louise A. Brindley, daughter of the late Alfred T. and Sophia H. Thomas, of Kent, died, March 21, at Huntington, W. Va. The deceased had lived in Huntington nearly six years and had many friends. She affiliated with Emmanuel Church and took an active part attending the morning service on March 19th.

The services conducted at her late home by the Ladies Auxiliary of which she was a member. They marched to the church in a body to attend the services conducted by her pastor. Rev. J. W. Critis. A solo by Mr. Robert Swauger, "Face to Face" was beautifully rendered also "The Silent River" by Mr. C. D. Dear, the choir rendered several selections very impressively. Interment in Spring Hill Cemetery, Huntington.

She is survived by her husband Mr. Thomas Brindley and little daughter, Sophie May Brindley and three sisters, Mrs. M. Ella Cosden, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. C. Kate Perkins and Miss Sadie M. Thomas, of Baltimore.

Thomas M. Pinkind died Wednesday at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Marshall V. Pinkind, in Baltimore. He was 18 years of age and besides his parents he leaves three brothers. The remains will be brought to Kent today by way of Rock Hall and burial at old St. Paul's. Rev. Mr. Johnson will officiate C. L. Dodd undertaker.

Mrs. Alexander Wheeler, widow of the late Capt. Alexander Wheeler, died in Chestertown early Tuesday morning, surviving her husband only a few weeks. The deceased was a grand neighbor and a good woman. She was in her 80th year. The funeral took place Thursday interment in Still Pond cemetery, Dr. L. E. Barrett, officiating, W. H. Krusen, undertaker.

STILL POND

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Roseberry and Mrs. John N. Bennett visited Baltimore this week.
