CONFERENCE NOTES

In the report of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society it showed that $5,008 had been raised the past year. Also that Miss Florence Harper, daughter of Mrs. Lavinia B. Harper, of Still Pond, had gone as a missionary to Pueblo, Mexico, and a beautiful letter from her was read to the conference by the secretary. The officers of the conference and the Baltimore Branch earnestly desire that her entire support should come from from these Eastern Shore auxiliaries and churches.

Resolutions elegantly framed were unanimously passed thanking Rev. T. F. Beauchamp, his Board and friends and also Rev. J. L. Ward and his church who by their courtesy and help had aided in the work of the conference and also to the press.

When the Conference convened the last morning there was a large attendance. Bishop McDowell, in a brief address commended Negro service in the world war and praised Morgan College for its work in behalf of Negroes. He recommended discontinuance of the expressions "dago," "sheeney" "Chink," "greaser" and "nigger," saying they are not nice words to use, as we go towards the establishment of Christ's Kingdom and world brotherhood.

The bishop announced the transfer of L. I. McDougle from the Wilmington Conference to the Baltimore Conference and his appointment to a pastorate at Washington, D. C.

Bishop McDowell read a newspaper clipping in reference to honors conferred upon William H. Alderson, (son of Rev. G. T. Alderson) in Italy, and spoke in a very flattering way of the action of young Alderson that led to the conferring of the great honors, which he followed up by a very flattering reference to our boys who had gone to the front.

Sentiment concerning President Wilson's leaving America seems to have been pretty well divided in the conference, for and against, though it did not come up in official discussions. Visitors and many residents have expressed that the conference had not mentioned the League of Nations. It may be partly explained by the fact that conference did not reach what the bishop called "the debating stage" until Saturday afternoon. It was the quietest conference in many years. is the verdict of many members and visitors.

Most beautiful and impressive was the closing service of Conference. At the beginning of the reading of the appointments by the secretary, Disston W. Jacobs, Bishop McDowell directed the ministers to gather around the district superintendent, to whom they had been assigned for the coming year, making four distinct groups. At the close of the reading the Bishop urged each group to stand by its leader during the ensuing year. A consecration service followed in which all members of the conference participated, the session closing with the benediction.

Dr. Boswell got a check for $500 from a resident of Chestertown for the Methodist Hospital.

A bequeath of $1,000 has been made by Mrs. Ruth Cahall to the Conference Claimants Endowment Fund.

STILL POND FARMERS' CLUB

The Still Pond Farmers' Club met at the home of E. A. Corey. After the address of the host and hostess the tomato situation was discussed. A resolution was passed endorsing the action of the Tomato Growers' Associations of Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey which have voluntarily reduced the price of tomatoes from 50 cents to 40 cents for 1919. This is a 20 per cent cut and if all other lines of business will make a similar cut (labor included) all will be well.

The next question taken up was "Does tenant farming 'cause farm property to retrograde?" This was answered in the affirmative but it was agreed that there are many exceptions. With a long term tenant and a landlord who is both willing and financially able to do his part it was agreed that farm property will improve but not to the extent that it will if the owner lives on the land. But with the short term tenant who moves every year or two farm property must retrograde as he has no permanent interest in the farm.

A very interesting subject will be discussed at the next meeting "Should a farmer's wife know all about his business?" The club will meet at the home of A. L. Harris on Thursday, May 29th.

Still Pond Grange will hold their special meeting on Saturday, April 5, at 2.30 p. m. A class will be taken in by J. T. Anthony at 4 p. m., and at 5.30 the supper will be served. The lecture hour will begin promptly at 7.30 p. m, at which time A. A. Harris will address us on the Fifth Liberty Loan, which we are calling the Victory Loan. Mr. Clarke will give us an impersonation, and there will be some more real singing by our Grangers.

Still Pond Grange will entertain the Kent County Pomona Grange on Saturday, April 12, in the School Building, at Betterton. We hope the Grangers will be able to get out on time! Start the business meeting promptly at 11 a. m., dinner at 1 p. m. and afternoon session at 2.30 p. m. At 7.30 p. m. there will be a moving picture show in the auditorium of the school, lasting for one hour.

WILLIAMS NOMINATED

In the Democratic primary at Baltimore Tuesday George Weems Williams won the Democratic nomination for Mayor, his vote being 24,936 against 20,967 for the present Mayor, James H. Preston. His mates Bryant and Smith won by 8,000 majorities. Williams carried the Annex and also the old city. All the opposition have declared their purpose to support the nominee so that there should be no doubt as to his election.

The Republican nominee is William F. Broening, who was unopposed in the primary, and the election will be held on May 6.

CONFERENCE SUNDAY IN CHESTERTOWN

The Two Methodist Churches Crowded With Eager Listeners—Many Visitors—Splendid Sermons—Beautiful Music—Hospital People—And Everybody Happy.

If there was a happier people anywhere than was to be found in Chestertown Sunday it must have been outside this world. Surely it was a great day and everybody seemed to be radiantly happy. Even the housewife, cook and servants wore a smile and these with the burdens of the day on their shoulders were made happy by the appreciation expressed for all their care and preparation.

There were scores of visitors here and the two Methodist Churches were packed to the doors with eager listeners. Where in years gone by, a trip to Conference meant a long and tiresome journey and rather expensive trip, good roads and automobile have revolutionized things, and today the family eats breakfast at home, piles into an automobile and spends the day at Conference. Hundreds of people were here from all points of the Peninsula. Automobiles began arriving early in the morning and by noon there were not less than two hundred machines parked along the principal thoroughfares of Chestertown, and possibly more.

The hotels and boarding houses were simply pushed to the limit to handle the visitors, restaurants having made special provisions for feeding the people, no one was forced to go away hungry. Many brought their lunches with them and it was a common sight following the morning service to see a jolly crowd of visitors packed in an automobile, feasting in real picnic style.

Services in the Methodist Episcopal Church began with a lovefeast, conducted by Dr. Robert K. Stephenson.

Bishop McDowell preached the morning sermon and was at his best. He took "The Centenary" for his theme and Matthew 18, 9 for his text: "I will follow Thee whithersoever Thou goest." Emphasis was put on prayer, stewardship of life and stewardship of property. No one who has ever had the pleasure of hearing Bishop McDowell deliver a "Conference sermon" can easily forget it. The Bishop talks quietly, yet clearly, and it is easy for one to follow him. As a pulpit orator the Bishop has few equals, and he seems to have the power to sway his audience with wonderful ease. At times his hearers were convulsed with laughter at some droll remark, and at others the relating of some pathetic occurrence brought tears of smypathy to the eye.

A memorial service was held early in the afternoon, when Revs. Alfred Smith, Wilbur F. Corkran, George L. Hardesty, W. G. Koons, Robert Watt, J. T. Herson and J. R. Bicking, respectively, read memoirs of Revs. Ralph T. Coursey, Wilmer Jaggard, W. H. Kenney and E. P. Roberts, Mrs. C. W. Prettyman, Mrs. George W. Wilcox and James M. Wise.

After the memorial service Bishop McDowell ordained Charles H. Atkins, W. S. Grant, William F. Godwin and Blanchard P. Moore deacons and Luther M. Broadway, L. T. McLain, John L. Prettyman and Charles W. Spry elders.

An evangelistic service was held at night, with Dr. Charles M. Boswell officiating. Mrs. Merrick Clements had charge of the music with Miss Mabel Toulson organist.

At the Methodist Protestant Church Dr. J. W. R. Sumwalt preached in the morning on "Selling thy clothes to buy a sword," the theme being sacrifice and service. It was a fine discourse, eloquently delivered to an appreciative audience. Music comprised an anthem with duet by Mr. and Mrs. J. Hydie Thompson and a selection by Christ Church male quartette "Eden Land."

In the afternoon Christ M. P. Church Sunday school had a number of visitors and was addressed by Rev. Milton McCann, who has been selected as secretary of the Conference S. S. Association, and who spoke of this work in an earnest manner. Rev. Edwin Gardner, of Pomona, made a most excellent address especially helpful to young folks.

As soon as the Sunday school was over an audience gathered in the church and Rev. L. W. Layfield, of Delaware City, preached the sermon, his theme being "giving up all for Christ and His Cause."

At night Dr. Carlisle L. Hubbard, of St. Paul's Church, Wilmington, preached to a packed house.

The music on this occasion was a special feature under the leadership of Miss Clara B. Usilton, organist. It included an anthem in which the solo was sung by Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton, duet by Mrs. W. Frank Jarrell and Mrs. Usilton, also a male quartette by Christ Church members Messrs. Bowers, Thompson, Usilton and Sparks, and a solo by Mrs. W. F. Jarrell.

The big Centenary mass meeting held in Christ M. P. Church Friday night was addressed by Bishop McDowell, Dr. L. B. Bowers and Dr. M. S. Swartz. It was a great occasion attended by a crowded house.

Saturday night another crowded house greeted the Anti-Saloon meeting, the speakers being Dr. Clarence True Wilson and Rev. Mr. Crabbe.
