VOL. 80 — CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND, AUGUST 9, 1919 — No. 10

"IF" AND "WHEN," "NOW" AND "THEN"

There is no "IF" about dying, and should be no "WHEN" about insurance. Do it "NOW," and "THEN" it will be done. Put down on the margin of this paper all the money you have saved by not insuring, and if you can't find the money, you can keep the paper, or else find out how to really save money by asking FRANK SIMPERS, who represents one of the best dividend paying companies in America. Don't believe me, but ask one of my policy holders. The chances are he is your neighbor, for I have a thousand in Kent county.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The Chestertown Ice Plant is working hard to accommodate the public, but owing to conditions of labor we will be obliged to adopt some regulations for all. We will be forced to close the doors for delivery at six o'clock p. m. except Saturday when we will keep the plant open until eight o'clock. On Sundays for those who need ice for sickness or other necessary purposes, it will be delivered at the plant until ten o'clock a. m.
We request all families where ice is delivered in quantities less than 25 lbs. to please place same in their refrigerators themselves, and where ice over 25 lbs. is to be placed by the ice man, please have your refrigerators cleared and let them put the ice in place wanted, and not keep the men to replace the articles. When one patron keeps the ice man waiting you make it that much later for your neighbor and friend to get his ice, which means considerable delay at the end of the route. Trusting these requests will be willingly observed, I am yours very truly,

DEMOCRATS IN FINE TRIM

Factional Wrinkles Ironed Out And Party Is Ready For Fight—Genuine Harmony Prevails.

Democrats of all factions are generally in fine fettle, as the result of the gathering of leaders at the State Central Committee meeting on Wednesday, which resulted in the selection of Major Brooke Lee for Comptroller, State Insurance Commissioner Thomas J. Keating for Attorney-General and Caleb C. Magruder for Clerk of the Court of Appeals on the ticket headed by Attorney-General Albert C. Ritchie for Governor.

Party men said that they had a ticket with which they could go before the people in confidence; that they had adjusted factional troubles so effectually that they were on an even footing, at least, with the Republicans from a strict politician standpoint, and that, with no important primary contests, they were in position to begin at once a campaign that would last until November. This free from handicaps, they believed they would win, because they believed the Democrats could beat the Republicans in Maryland at any time in a fair fight.

LOCAL POLITICS

This good feeling in State politics should have a good effect upon local politicians. There are frequent "harmony" conferences in Kent between the Democratic factions. The organization has offered to divide the places on the ticket, as nearly as possible, on the 50-50 basis, and a partial agreement made by some of the leaders is as follows:

Organization to name senator, one member of County Commissioners Board, two Judges of Orphans' Court, Treasurer, two members of State Central Committee and two of the State Delegates, while the anti-organization will name two members of the House of Delegates, a Judge of the Orphans' Court, Sheriff, one County Commissioner, one member of the State Central Committee and a delegate to Baltimore, making nine places for the organization and seven for the antis. This is looked upon by most Democrats as a fair division, and efforts are being made to make up the ticket on this basis.

Every one who claims to be a Democrat should lay aside all prejudice and objection and aid in the good work.

In the Republican ranks a sharp fight is on for control between Clerk of the Court A. Parks Rasin and John D. Urie. Each aspires to be chairman of the State Central Committee. There are several spoken of as candidates for senator, among whom are County Commissioner John N. Bennett, A. H. Covey, Henry Brown, Harry Willis and Herbert Urie.

WELCOME

When Freedom from Her mountain height looks down on you and me,
And views this demonstration to you
boys from o'er the sea—
To each brave lad in khaki clad—to him who wears the blue—She'll hear our shouts of welcome as the eagle screams for you.
A kindred feeling thrills our hearts
with all consuming pride,
To greet once more you soldier boys
on whom the world relied
To fling a despot from this throne—
to bear a wondrous creed
To men who dreamed of liberty, but never knew its meed.
No matter where you served the flag,
you had but one intent,
To show the world that Maryland had loyal sons in Kent:—
You stood between the starry flag and
one we now abhor,
And waited for the day you'd cross
the Rhine's polluted shore.
"They of the free heart's hope and home," throw wide your folds today O'er these the boys who drew the sword that held our foe at bay;
They're with us now—we know their worth—to each we proudly bow,
And with immortal chansons place the
the laurel on each brow.
The thunders of the mighty surge no
longer shake the world—
The warring legions rest in peace—
their battle-flags are furl'd:
The boys who left our homes are here
again within our ken,
Enough to pale the glories of a million other men.
The trumpets hail them one and all—
come, let your smile attest
Your ready welcome to the boys—to these, Kent county's best:—
Then, as you smile, forget not them—
The ward afore the foe—
Nor let reflection fail your soul to heed another's woe.
Now, hero's all, forth among the toilers of the earth—
Leap to the fray without delay—discover what you're worth—Strike hard and well, your deeds will tell—you have the brain and thew;
Our State should feel her wondrous weal to have such boys as you.

A GREAT DAY IN CHESTERTOWN

5,000 Visitors Throng The Streets—53 Autos Carry Soldiers—200 Fed At Supper—Speaking, Dancing, Music—Electric Display Fine—Decorations Beautiful—Everybody Happy.

Chestertown was aglow with enthusiasm Thursday and a rousing welcome was given to the soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses. The town was decorated from one end to the other, while every home and business house displayed the national colors. High street from the Voshell House to the Kent News Building was roped off and beautifully decorated with all kinds of bunting and colored paper. Electric lights made the place as light as day and Superintendent Hope B. Hudson worked hard to make it so appear.

The crowd is estimated at over 5,000 and eclipsed any other occasion in this respect. All work was suspended throughout the farming district and all joined in giving the boys a great day. The baseball game between Kennedyville and Centreville resulted in a victory for Centreville by score of 2 to 0. A large crowd attended.

At 5 o'clock the great parade of the soldiers, in decorated automobiles, took place, led by Capt. G. Allan Jarman. This was followed by speaking in the park. Richard Bond, of the McCormick Spice Company, Baltimore, was the orator. Presentation of memorial certificates by Colonel Brooks, of Quaker Neck, followed. Supper was served on the Court House green, which had been handsomely decorated by Red Cross workers. Mrs. Jane Vickers Robinson was in charge of this part of the entertainment. Gaul's Band, of Baltimore, furnished music. Walter Swindell, of Baltimore, lead the singing and certainly had the pep. The colored soldiers had their celebration also, out in a grove at the foot of Cross street, with two colored pastors the orators. At night a dance was held. They had the fine band from Cambridge.

Catherine Gillam and Clara Johns were in charge of the colored soldiers' supper.

There were 136 white soldiers, sailors and marines and 130 colored who partook of the supper.

The dance in the Park was a new thing here and kept up until midnight. It was a gala scene with the bright lights, flags, flowers, pretty women and good music with a border of sightseers on foot and in machines.

All are to be congratulated upon its great succecs and the co-operation of every one was delightful.

The executive committee, appointed by the Governor, was: Howard Turner, Betterton; Curtis E. Crane and Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubard, Chestertown. Other chairmen were Mrs. J. Hydie Thompson, decorations; Harrison W. Vickers, parade; Thomas W. Perkins, dance and tables; A. M. Culp, lighting; Chas. S. Smith, athletics.

WEDDING NOTES

James Hilbert Kendall, a Rock Hall boy recently returned from overseas and honorably discharged from military service, was married in Baltimore on Thursday, July 21st, to Miss Gladys M. Donnelly by Rev. George J. Kromer at his home. The bride was gowned in pink satin with hat to match and carried bride roses. Her cousin, Mrs. Robert L. Wilson, gave her in marriage. Her sister, Miss Leona Donnelly, was bridesmaid and Clifford Jordan, of Emmitsburg, best man. A reception was held at 317 West Thirtieth street, the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Donnelly, and on Thursday the couple came for a visit to Mr. Kendall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Kendall, at Rock Hall. They will reside in Baltimore.

MARYLAND JUDICIARY IS MADE STRONGER

Annapolis Paper Pays Glowing Tribute To Talbot's Favorite Son.

The Annapolis Advertiser, commenting on the appointment of Judge Adkins to the appeals bench, says:

"Judge Adkins comes to the Court of Appeals with the advantage of 12 years' experience on the bench in the lower court, and he is understood to be well fitted in every way for the promotion. Before his appointment by Governor Warfield in 1906 he had been a man of large affairs and of extensive practice at the bar, widely known for his character and attainments. Doubtless one of the reasons that influenced Governor Harrington in deciding to name two judges instead of one in the circuit was that by promoting Judge Adkins he would be enabled to add to the Court of Appeals the most useful and available man he could find in the circuit for immediately taking part in the work before the higher court, the April and October terms of which are to be held before the voters in the Second Circuit will have an opportunity to elect a successor to Judge Constable. By advancing Judge Adkins to the chief judgeship Governor Harrington has done the best service by the higher court and to the people of the whole State. He has given that bench an associate whose character, attainments and temperament, as well as his industry and experience, fit him in an eminent way for its arduous and important tasks. Judge Adkins was appointed to the bench in the first instance by Governor Warfield, who selected him from among a number of able lawyers, including J. Harry Covington, since chief justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. Governor Harrington is a keen and reliable judge of men, like his predecessor, Governor Warfield. That the choice of two such governors with their especial capacity for recognizing the needs and the strengthing and maintaining of the Maryland judiciary should have rested on Judge Adkins is a remarkable thing, and no greater tribute to the Talbot purist could be paid."
