A LIVING ADVERTISEMENT

There are widows and children in Kent county that are living advertisements of the benefits of protection from life insurance, also there are some that you see received no protection, for the Father and Husband either forgot, or didn't give the snap of his finger what became of his people when he checked in. The chances are it was the latter. Many a poor widow is working day in and night now, that her offspring might live. While you are reading this advertisement twenty-three men died in the United States and left widows and children who will be dependent on charity. How can YOU provide for your widow and children? Ask FRANK SIMPERS. Strength or ability to carry out its promises is the first consideration when selecting the institution to place your life insurance with. The Economic World, one of New York's leading business papers, speaks of the Continental Life (whom I represent) as being, proportionately speaking, in a financial sense perhaps the strongest life insurance company in the country. Want more details? Ask FRANK SIMPERS. Give me a chance to handle your life insurance. I have nearly one thousand policy holders in Kent county. Ask some of them how I handle their business.

CHAUTAUQUA COURSE

Rev. G. T. Alderson inaugurated a quartette of fine lectures in the Chestertown M. E. Church this week which were fairly well attended and greatly enjoyed. Hon. J. A. Pearce introduced the speaker the first evening—Dr. S. N. Mitchell, President of Delaware College, his lecture being on "The Peace Treaty and League of Nations." It was one of the best addresses heard here for sometime. Miss Helen Rouse sang a sweet solo.

Dr. Robert Watt, of Wilmington, gave his lecture, "The Church On The Job," on Tuesday evening. Mrs. D. B. Ford sang a solo of rare merit. J. W. Russell was called upon to introduce the speaker.

Wednesday night the illustrated lecture, "The Mass Movement In India," was presented by Captain Howard Davis. Prof. Ten Hoor favored the audience with a violin solo, Miss Toulson, accompanist.

The final lecture was on Thursday night by Dr. E. L. Hubbard, his subject being "Borrowing." It was a deep, learned and powerful presentation by a man 70 years of age but who looked and spoke as a man of 50. This lecture alone cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, and Dr. Alderson is to be congratulated upon bringing such talent to our midst. The soloist was Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton.
