Our "Seal of Satisfaction," which is printed on every sales check, means satisfaction as to PRICE, quite as well as satisfaction in quality of merchandise and service.

Nearly all of our Fall merchandise has been bought on the new, lower cost level and has been priced on that same basis.

On any merchandise we own at higher levels the price has been adjusted and revised downward and is now based on to-day's lowest replacement cost. We safeguard the interest of our customers at all times. It's right—and it's good business.

The fact that many customers purchase here, after shopping around at other stores, conclusively proves the merit of our merchandise and VALUES.

The Noblest Instrument Is An Organ

and it ought to be in every musical home, but space and cost sometimes prohibit the installation of a pipe organ. However, an two manual reed organ, built on the exact principles and measurements of a pipe organ—and used in the studios of such organists as Gibson, Dethier and others—such an instrument closely approximates a pipe organ and has everywhere given great satisfaction. It can be built to the special specification of organist and to match the design of any room. Adapted for lodges. Call and hear it.

A DELIGHTFUL RECEPTION

A very delightful reception was given Friday evening, October 22nd, by Mr. and Mrs. Griff Eldridge, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Hurtt and Miss Denham, of Georgia.

The many charming and beautifully gowned women, among the decorations of cosmos and autumn leaves, made the old Eldridge home awake with life and brightness.

Mrs. S. Wills Lusby was gowned in black Georgette, with cream lace trimming, and wore diamonds; Mrs. Robert Ferguson, in steel voile, wore garnets; Mrs. George W. Padley wore blue satin with black velvet hat, also diamonds; Mrs. W. F. Coale, pink and white voile; Miss Frances Davis, blue Georgette and picture hat; Miss Alverda Ferguson, pink voile; Miss Lillie Fergguson, green Georgette, Georgette, beaded; Miss Julia Deshane, black Georgette and picture hat; Miss Ada Davis, pink and white Georgette and picture hat; Mrs. J. Frank Biggs, of Middletown, French creation of blue and pink crepe, cut steel trimming, lace and diamonds.

The many gentlemen present saw that each lady was served with a most bountiful collation, from eight until nine o'clock, after which the young people participated in dancing, which they enjoyed thoroughly. Candles in antique holders cast a weird, soft light over the dancers, the whole forming a picture recalling fairy stories of our childhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge leave for Georgia in the near future and their many friends regret the loss of such a popular host and hostess.

FARM HOUSE WASHED AWAY

One of the oldest landmarks of Maryland is now under the Chesapeake bay, says the Centreville Observer. The remaining bricks of the abandoned old farmhouse on the Love Point Farm were recently washed away and the site of the structure is covered by the waters of the bay. These bricks shared with those in other colonial dwellings the tradition of having been "brought from England," and after three centuries of exposure to the elements "many of them are still in an excellent state of preservation as they now lie imbedded in the sands of the bay shore."

"The washing away of the land in this neighborhood has been particularly rapid. Many residents of Kent Island can recall when a large field and an orchard separated the house from the shore line. The barns and outbuildings, all built west of the house and the shore, have long since gone. Their former site is now hundreds of yards out in the bay.

This condition exists in Kent county also. Along the bayshore near Tolchester the land is washing away steadily every year.
