A Democratic Mass Meeting is scheduled to take place in Chestertown on Monday evening, October 20. Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough and others will be the speakers for the occasion. TROPICAL RAIN STORM

Kent county was in the path of a tropical storm that raged all day Monday and most of Tuesday. It reached its height Monday night altho most of Tuesday rain fall continued heavy.

These rains are known to have taken a toll of at least 13 lives, entailed tremendous property damage, laid crops prostrate, flooded coal mines, interrupted traffic and resulted in heavy losses to shipping.

Five persons are known to have been drowned in flooded eastern Pennsylvania streams, two in New York State; one was electrocuted by a fallen wire, and five were killed in South Carolina in a collision caused by blinding rain.

The loss locally is chiefly in the corn crop. The corn was beaten down so that it will be impossible to use a cutter. The tomato crop also will be cut short.

The total rainfall from 8 o'clock Monday morning until noon Tuesday was a trifle over three inches, bringing the total for the month, to 5.21 inches, exceeding the figures of any month since June.

The total rainfall so far this year, has exceeded that for many years. The nine months of this year show a total of 53.93 inches, which includes the snow fall (estimated at 8 inches when melted.) For the year 1923 the total precipitation was only 42.12 inches. With a gain over last year of more than 10 inches so far, this year will probably beat all records for rain for the past fifty years.

The Scout Executive for the Eastern Shore Council will arrive in Chestertown Monday, October 6th and will remain there until Wednesday evening, October 8th. He will make the Voshell House, Chestertown, Md., his headquarters.

HON. JOHN W. DAVIS SPEAKS IN MARYLAND

He Is Endorsed By Opponents As Well As By Friends As Well Fitted For The Presidency.

John W. Davis came to Maryland to inaugurate the final phase of his campaign for the Presidency, addressing 5,000 people at Frederick during the afternoon and more than 20,000 in Baltimore Wednesday night.

Renewing his attack upon the party in power, Mr. Davis appealed to the American people to repudiate a political regime which he insists has proved unfaithful to its trust, a regime unguided by strong and effective leadership and one convicted of corrupt administration.

He declared in favor of fullest measure of home rule and personal liberty and contended that the country must fight again for the preservation of those rights of the people laid down when the Republic had its birth.

These rights, he reminded his Baltimore audience, included full freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of the press, freedom from search and seizure and trial by jury; rights, he said, which should not be surrendered, come what may.

The greatest outburst of enthusiasm that greeted the speaker came when he carried his audience back to the scenes of 1912, enacted in the same hall, and through the turmoil of which emerged Woodrow Wilson, first as the leader of his party and next as the masterful figure in the politics of the World War.

Mr. Davis himself was a delegate to the Baltimore convention, and 12 years later destined to stand upon the spot where Ollie James declared Woodrow Wilson the nominee of his party and as a Presidential candidate address a great massmeeting of Baltimoreans.

Welcomed By Frederick

Earlier in the day Mr. Davis was welcomed to Frederick by the largest gathering of voters to attend a political meeting in that city in a generation. He was the guest at luncheon of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of the State and later responded to the applause of a multitude that overflowed Courthouse Park and filled the streets around it.

The party leader outlined to this audience the policies which his party stands for in this campaign; appealed to the women of the country to assume their full share of the burden of politics and statesmanship and boldly defended his running mate, Gov. Charles W. Bryan, against those who have felt the Nebraskan vastly inferior in character, in culture and in achievement to the head of the ticket.

The Quaker Neck Community Club met Wednesday and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. J. W. Brown; vice president, Miss Genevieve Brown; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Knight. Representatives to the Kent County Council, Mrs. D. W. Ingersoll, Mrs. Henry Brown, Mrs. Kellogg Smith, The club will meet October 15th at 1.15 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Wm. Knight. Before the business meeting the club will discuss remodeling old hats. On October 20 they will hold a joint meeting with the Quaker Neck Parent-Teachers' Association at the Middle School. Miss Jessie Campbell will speak on the county school for the farmer.

W. T. Pippin has been awarded the contract to put a new asbestos roof on the Chestertown M. E. Church.

The Tolchester steamer will leave Tolchester on Fridays at 4.30 p. m instead of 5.30 p. m. as advertised elsewhere in this issue.
