$185,000 PAID BY SAM'L G. CALDWELL

A GREAT TOMATO SEASON IN KENT CO.

The canning season of 1924 has virtually been brought to a close by the heavy frosts of the past week, only a few tomato fields being sufficiently protected to leave the fruit worth handling. A big truck load of tomatoes came thru town Wednesday and here and there is a patch protected by vines. While the season opened late favorable weather has made it possible for factories to run abnormally late, and much fruit was saved which growers feared would be caught by frost.

The Phillips Packing Company at Cambridge thru Frank Price has bought 80,000 baskets at Chestertown for which an average of 50 cents per basket was paid.

S. G. Caldwell loaded for Campbell Soup Company at Bohemian Bridge, Crumpton, Deep Landing, Chestertown and Ship Yard about 342,000 baskets of tomatoes, averaging about 54 cents per basket. Thus paying the farmers in the three counties about $185,000.

Chas. H. Crowding at Worton, carried nearly 50,000 baskets to Buck Neck and Betterton.

Merritt Spry thinks he hauled about 15,000 baskets to Odessa. Here the prices ranged from 45 to 65 cents per basket.

It is estimated that the tomato crop in Kent brought to our farmers and land owners $325,000.

Prevailing good weather up to this time, leading buyers to believe that a greater number of goods would go up than estimated some time ago, has resulted in a slight market slump. Number 2 tomatoes are today $1.05 and threes $1.50, while the price for standard goods has been to $1.10 and $1.60. It is felt by many canners that better prices will prevail when the presidential election is over and buyers realize how meague the pack is to meet practically empty shelves.

Another claimant for the best tomato crov come from friends of Ernest D. Briscoe on the Kelly farm, near Betterton. He has delivered from 20 acres, to the New York canners, 183 tons or 10,980 baskets. Considering the size of the acreage this is an exceptional yield. The tomatoes were of fine quality. Has anyone done as well? Mr. Briscoe for the vast five years has averaged nearly nine tons to the acre.

THREE RIVERS FOR TOLCHESTER FERRY

The charred hull of the ill-fated excursion steamer Three Rivers which was burned July 4 off Cove Point with a loss of ten lives, was sold on Thursday at auction to the Tolchester Beach Improvement Company. The price was $2500.

The hull will be rebuilt into a ferry boat for the automobile ferry line between Pier 16, Light street, and Tolchester, which will be opened today by the Tolchester Beach Improvement Company, according to Frederick W. Kolb, secretary. He said the rebuilt vessel probably will be in service by next May or June.

Only two marks are necessary to vote for Goldsborough, Davis and Bryan.
