Lightning Strikes Stable Also Stacks of Wheat

This section was visited by a continued thunder storm early Sunday morning. Lightning set fire to Thos. Vandyke's horse and cow stable on his Morgnec farm tenanted by his son, Robert and completely destroyed it. Robert worked like a Trojan and saved his stock, and with the help of neighbors, saved his barn which was only a few feet away. The barn contained wheat and corn. Ten tons of hay were burned. There was about $600 insurance.

George Parrott in Still Pond Neck lost four stacks of wheat from the same storm. It was 6 o'clock Sunday morning when two stacks were seen to be on fire. The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company was notified and they responded. For three hours these valiant fighters poured water on the stacks from a swollen stream 500 feet away and thought they had extinguished the fire. Early Monday morning the wind shifted and within a few hours the other two stacks were on fire and it was impossible to save them. Mr. Parrott had $66 insurance.

DEAD MAN IN TEAM

Walter Wells, a colored farm hand on the farm of James Groves, near Kennedyville, was found dead in his team on the public road between Locust Grove and Chesterville Saturday by the crew of a threshing rig. A number of teams had passed the man but thought he was asleep. Coroner Harry L. Dodd was summoned, and with Sheriff Goodman, he went to the place where the man was found, and after making an investigation determined that he was a victim of poison liquor, as there were evidences of his having been under its influence. He was about 41 years old.

MERRITT COLLISON KILLED ON RAILROAD

Merritt Collison, who has been driving one of Chance & Kirby's bread trucks for nearly two years, was killed at Still Pond Station railroad crossing Tuesday about 11 a. m. The regular passenger train on its trip to Chestertown due at 10.40 a. m. pas pulling in at the Station when this car attempted to cross. Mr. Collison, the driver, realized that he could not get across and turned down the track. Engineer Reed put on all brakes but it was impossible to avoid striking the machine. The auto was struck near the rear and badly damaged. Mr. Collison was taken from the machine and brought to Chestertown where Mr. Kirby, one of his employes, took him to Easton. He died shortly before reaching there. the doctor said from internal injuries.

The deceased was the unmarried son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Collison, of Piney Neck. He leaves besides his parents, one sister, Viola May Collison; also grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ashley. The funeral was held Thursday at 2 p. m. from Piney Neck Church, Rev. T. J. Sard officiating. The bearers were Walter and Owen Clark, Willard and Carl Ashley, Arundel Ashley, James Benton; interment in Wesley Chapel cemetery; C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

DEATHS

James Palmer Parrott, of Centreville, died last Sunday morning at 1:20 a. m., of a complication of diseases, at the home of his son, William F. Parrott, in that town. He was in his 76th year.

Mr. Parrott was born in Centreville September 23, 1849. He was a son of the late William Fletcher Parrott and Rachel Margaret Palmer Parrott, of Queen Annes County. After residing in and near Centreville for a number of years he went to Baltimore to live. Later returning to Centreville.

In 1893 he moved to Chestertown and was associated with the late B. F. Fleming in the Lime business for several years.

In 1900 he married Miss Frances Wilkins MacKenzie, who was a daughter of the late John Hunter MacKenzie and Deborah Ann MacKenzie, of Chestertown, who survives him with one son, William Fletcher Parrott, who was fermerly employed by Kent News in the mechanical department.

He resided in Chestertown until August 1922, when he removed to Centreville, where he resided until his death.

During his early manhood he was noted as having a splendid bass voice and sang for a number of years in the Walter Harmon Quartette.

He is also survived by the following neices and nephews: Misses Janie and Fannie McFeely, of Baltimore. Mrs. Paul G. Hayes, formerly Miss Mabel Thornton, of Colorado; Fletcher P. Thornton, of Summitt, Ney Jersey; J. Roane Smith, of Baltimore; Hugh B. Smith, of New York City; and William McFeeley Smith, of Brooklyn, New York.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Centreville; Rev. Frank White, officiating. Interment was made in Chester Cemetery, Chestertown. Charles L. Dodd, undertaker.

Specially well rendered music was furnished at the church by the choir and at the cemetery Christ M. P. Church male quartette rendered Mr. Parrott's favorite hymn, "Crossing the Bar."

The pall bearers at Centreville were Carroll Barcus, James Barcus, Bruce McKenzie, Earl McKenzie, S. Charles Walls, and Harry Kenton; At Chester cemetery the following acted as bearers: Fred G. Usilton, Charles S. Smith, R. Frank Elburn, A. L. Sparks, Bruce and Earl McKenzie.

Mrs. Millicent Bailey, wife of Harvey Bailey, died at her late home near Smithville, Tuesday, July 28th, aged 40 years. She leaves besides a husband seven children, also four sisters and one brother. Funeral was held Friday afternoon, interment at Easton; C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Mrs. Martha Elizabeth Richards, wife of Joseph T. Richards, of Philadelphia, former Chief Engineer of Maintenance of Way of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died Monday at Ashville, N. C. She is survived by her husband, who is a native of Cecil county, having been born at the old Richards homestead near Porter's Bridge, a son and two daughters.

Mrs. Catherine Eva Williams, wife of Fred. Jos. Williams, of Rock Hall, died at Easton Hospital Friday, July 31st, aged 46. Besides her husband she leaver four sons and five daughters, also two sisters and one brother. The funeral will be from Rock Hall Catholic Church, Rev. Father Earner officiating; C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Chestertown Enters Float In Millington Road Pagent

The recently completed highway between Sudlersville, and Millington, which forms the last link of the new "Shore Trail" was formally opened Tuesday. A colorful pageant and monster ceebration—the first of its kind ever held to mark the official opening of a new highway route in Maryland, was carried thru successfully. Governor Ritchie, Highway Commissioner John N. Mackall and Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, together with a host of other notables from Baltimore, the Western Shore, the Eastern Shore and Delaware participated in the ceremonies. Farson's band from Baltimore furnished music and the towns of Sudlersville and Millington gaily decorated to provide a festive back ground for the great throng of visitors gave an hospitable Maryland welcome. The entire route between Millington and Sudlersville was appropriately festooned with bunting, and at 3 o'clock the road was formally opened to permit an automobile bearing Governor Ritchie Highway Commissioner Mackall and other State visitors to pass over the boulevard. They were followed by an entourage of gaily decorated and beautifully patterned floats. Amon the floats was one sent by the State Conservation Commission depicting the State seafood industry, one sent by the State Road Commission showing the progress of State highway construction; another sent by the Sudlersville Chamber of Commerce represented Good Queen Anne, o whom the county of Queen Anne named; another represented Governor Grason, the first governor of Maryland elected by popular vote and a native of Queen Anne, contributed by the Queen Anne County Commissioners and another sent by the Kent County State Road Department, represented old Chester wooden bridge which crosses the river at Chestertown and which has formed an important link in the State highway since the building of the first State road here, the model of which was ten feet in length and was the handiwork of Edward B. Jones, of Chestertown. Fire trucks from Millington, Chestertown and Denton also turned out for the occasion. While the pageant was being formed in Millington, a baseball game was played in Sudlersville. Immediately after the arrival in Sudlersville, Governor Ritchie, Commissioner Mackall and Congressman Goldsborough were escorted to a stand where they delivered addresses. At 5.30 o'clock a banquet was served at Cox Memorial Hall, Sudlersville, by the Sudlersville Chamber of Commerce.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS!

The many friends of Washington College are eager to know what the attendance prospects are for next year. The figures given below will indicate the present situation, i. e. at the mid-summer time.

One of the surest signs of the progress which Washington College is making is its vital appeal to prospective Freshmen. Although the representatives of the college have been in the field scarcely more than a month, they have secured on the dotted line the names of 57 high school seniors who expect to enter Washington College next fall.

As a result of this study, every high school on the Eastern Shore of Maryland had been visited by the college representatives and nearly all the high school seniors interviewed before June. In addition, Messrs. Jarman and Nuttle had visited some high schools in other parts of Maryland.

It is the plan of Prof. Snyder to cover intensively, however, not only the nine counties of Maryland east of the Chesapeake, but to work also on the Western Shore, in southeast Pennsylvania, and southwest Jersey.

Of the 57 registrations already secured, 14 are from Chestertown, four from the Western Shore, eight from outside of Maryland, and 31 from the Eastern Shore. All in all 79 per cent of the applicants so far received are from Eastern Shore boys and girls. Looked at in another way, the figures give still another result. Of the 57 registrations, 13 are girls and 44 are boys. Thus it appears likely that there will be a large proportion of girls in this year's Freshman class.

Prof. Snyder now plans to work the Western Shore and out of the State territory during the month of August.

TWO MEN BADLY HURT

Brittain Townsend, a well-known resident of Quaker Neck, fell from his dearborn Thursday and was badly injured. He was delivering milk cans when the horse started up throwing Mr. Townsend out and breaking his collar bone. He was taken at once to a Baltimore hospital for treatment.

Charles Lambert, of the Cliffs, met with a painful accident Tuesday morning, while working on the water front of the Pioneer Point Farm, the summer home of Mrs. Helena S. Rascob, of Wilmington, when he caught one of his fingers between two logs, inflicting a deep cut. He was taken to the office of Dr. H. P. McPherson, of Centreville, where several stitches were taken. It is thought his finger will have to be amputated.
