PENNA. FARMERS EAT ICE CREAM FOR THEIR BREAKFAST

An unusual event is here noted in the visit of 350 hardy tillers of the soil from Franklin county, Pa., to Kent county. They were accompanied by the 250 pound sheriff, constable and other business men. They rode mostly in expensive cars, 84 in all, and were in charge of Farm Agent Knode. They were met at the Kent end of the Sassafras bridge after a day's tour of Cecil county by President Paul E. Titsworth, of the College, Mayor C. N. Satterfield, Marion deK Smith from the Chamber of Commerce, A. Sydney Turner and Harry Russell of the Rotary Club. They were escorted to the college where the company partook of dinner.

The big college dormitories, the gymnasium, private homes and town hotels were requisitioned to accommodate the gathering and the visitors were royally entertained.

At 7.30 o'clock a public meeting was held, when President Titsworth welcomed the visitors on behalf of the college authorities, and fitting responses were made by R. D. Porter and County Agent Knode, each of whom talked on their observations of Eastern Shore farming. J. B. Crawford, president of the Franklin county Agricultural Association, presided. Other speakers included Prof. U. L. Gordy, Superintendent of Schools in Franklin County, a graduate of W. C. in 1894, representative of the Delmarva Eastern Shore Association, and Marion deK. Smith, of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Merrick Clements presented a musical program, Mrs. D. B. Ford pianist.

Yesterday morning a 6 o'clock breakfast including ice cream eaten on the college campus the Pennsylvanians left for a tour of Queen Anne's county. A pilot car from the Queen Anne's Chamber of Commerce met the delegation at the Queen Anne's end of Chester bridge and escorted to Centreville, where a big demonstration was held. They will take the ferry at Claiborne for a tour of several Western Shore counties on the return trip home.

As a token of their appreciation of the hospitality accorded them during their stay at Washington College, the Pennsylvanians presented Dr. Titsworth $500 to be used as the college authorities deem proper. To President Titsworth largely belongs the credit for bringing the Franklin county farmers to the Eastern Shore.

The visitors were pleased with the soy beans, corn, tomatoes and wheat, but oh, the fence rows! They said they never saw such filth, stating that the old hedges not only look bad but breed insects, etc. They were also surprised at the smallness of the horses, the absence of stone and rocks in the field, etc.

Lighting Tears Soles From Rock Hall Boy's Shoes

A bolt of lightning last Friday evening played queer pranks at Rock Hall. Mrs. Lloyd Stevens was stunned and fell to the floor. She has since recovered.

The same bolt entered the home of Capt. Frank Akers, which is protected by six lightning rods, by way of the telephone wire. It appeared to skip about through several rooms doing some damage to each, particularly the rugs and flooring, and went out through a window. Mrs. Akers' nephew, Edward Pfeiffer, was on the floor putting a sail on a boat. The lightning sent him across the room and seem to stun a leg that later responded to massage. He was wearing rubber soles on his shoes and these were ripped off as if a shoemaker had done it. It passed by Mrs. Louise Rodenhi and daughter, Miss Louise Akers, without much effect. Four men on the porch were not injured. All the telephones and electric lights in the north section of the town were put out of commission.

SALE OF A FINE FARM

N. Wiley and George E. Thomas, executors ancillary of the estate of Henry B. Thomas, have sold to Geo. V. Hatcherson the fine farm near Fairlee for $13,000. This farm contains 208 acres and has been tenanted by the Hatchersons for more than 50 years. This farm is surrounded by a public road on all sides.

DID YOU EVER SEE SUCH A BIG WHEAT CROP IN KENT?

Old Kent "The Land of Sweet Content," and the "Peninsula of Plenty" Ranks with the High Marks Reached by other Counties—Railroads and Boats Taxed—But very Little Held in Barns.

The wheat crop of 1926 will go down in history as one of the best ever raised in Kent county. It also proves that the forcasters do not know a thing about it. The moans and the groans of our farmers could be heard all over this Peninsula during the winter and early spring, but when the seasonable days came a great change took place and the result brings a smile to the farmer and all concerned. A situation confronts the buyer this year which is unusual. Trucks are hauling the grain direct from the thresher to the water and rail thus requiring a vast amount of rolling stock and numerous vessels. Heretofore the farmer would store his grain in his barn for a short while, but very few are doing this today.

Superintendent Culver at the Chestertown depot says they have sent out 75 carloads of 1900 bushels each. Other stations on the line have sent scores of cars especially Kennedyville, Millington, Massey and others.

Kibler & Sons and Metcalfe Bros. have bought most of the wheat in this section, buying over 225,000 bushels last week. One of these buyers last Friday and Saturday gave out checks amounting to $85,000. This week has witnessed a duplication of last week, making a half million bushels of wheat bought by these firms.

J. E. Hurlock raised 3690 bushels off of 100 acres on the farm recently purchased by him, known as the Pellington or Geo. Clement's farm, near Chesterville.

Hurlock Gale, on Clarence Baker's farm near Black's, got 2500 bushels from 110 acres. Dan Quinn will tenant this farm next year and Mr. Gale will remove near Galena.

W. T. H. Whiteley, near Melitota, got about 5300 bushels from 175 acres; slightly over 30 bushels an acre; a great crop.

John C. Wood, on East Neck Island, has threshed out 50,000 bushels of wheat thus far with his threshing rigs. H. C. Berg is partner of Mr. Wood in these rigs and is a hustler.

Howard Hadaway, of Brood Neck, raised on the Hulme farm, near Fairlee, 1200 bushels of wheat from 37 acres or 32 1-2 bushels per acre. In his 9 acre tomato patch he got 450 bushels or 50 bushels per acre.

Walter U. Lusby, on the Tolchester farm, tenanted by Charles D. Wood, got 3600 bushels from 135 acres. 15 acres produced an average of 40 bushels to the acre.

The Lusby-Dodd farm, near Chestertown, threshed 3100 bushels from 118 acres.

Dr. Julian T. Power had in 28 acres on his farm near Tolchester and got 751 bushels, an average of 27 bushels. This was following a crop of soy beans.

Julion Jones, near Chestertown, threshed out 3600 bushels from 110 acres, an average of nearly 33 bushels per acre.

Mike Grady, on the Meginniss farm, near Massey, got 2150 bushels from 70 acres.

W. T. H. Whiteley, near Melitota, has 175 acres from which he harvested over 5,000 bushels.

Sewell Lee on the Strong farm in Broad Neck got 28 bushels per acre from 98 acres. From 3 acres he threshed 140 bushels, an average of over 46 per acre.

Ridgely Brown, in Quaker Neck, got 33 bushels off his Fultz and 23 off bearded, an average of 26 bushels from 70 acres.
