KENT HOSPITAL NOW WORKING

The Kent County Hospital added new equipment during the past week to the operating room and received a number of blankets and bed-linen in response to the call that went out for an increased supply of those articles. It is indicative of the need which the hospital is filling to note that as against ten cases which were operated upon for tonsils and adenoids among Kent children in outside hospitals during the whole of last year there have been fifteen operations during the past month now that the facilities are near at hand and financially within the reach of the people.

This week sees eight operations, three on Tuesday with Dr. H. P. Copeland as surgeon and five Thursday under Dr. F. A. Holden. A nurse has been engaged to care for the hospital patients until the new county nurse, Miss Margaret White, takes up her duties in November.

The P. E. Laymen's Union supper at Fairlee on Thursday night was a big success. Bishop Davenport made the address. The following officers were elected: President, Page Gale; secretary and Treasurer, Paul Comegys; one vice-president from each parish were elected.

The Wesley Chapel supper last week netted $470.

Dr. R. W. Trapnell, of St. Andrew's Church, Wilmington, after 15 years of service, has accepted a call to Norfolk, Va.

To The Citizens of Chestertown:

Next week, October 7 to 13, is National Fire Protection Week. The Commissioners desire that all rubbish and other matter about the premises that would be likely to cause a fire be removed at once. The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company have appointed a committee to inspect all the chimneys in the town and this has our hearty approval, as the records show that most of the fires in our town in the past few years have been chimney fires. We trust that you will lend your cooperation in this work. The higher the effort of our firemen, the cleaner the town all help in obtaining lower insurance rates which is the thing that benefits us all.

COM. OF CHESTERTOWN.

QUAKER NECK NEEDS SLAG ROAD

A delegation from Quaker Neck headed by W. B. F. Cranor appeared before the County Commissioners on Tuesday. They brought a certified check for $1,500 as their part of a contract heretofore agreed upon for the building of a slag road from Bond Church to Quaker Neck Wharf. This proves how interested the people are in good roads.

The nine foot road building program for future hard surface roads to be built in Kent county, as adopted by the Kent County Chamber of Commerce, received the approval from the County Commissioners on Tuesday.

With approximately 68 miles of wide hard surface state road already completed connecting the principal centers of the county, it has been estimated that there remain about 80 miles of secondary roads yet to be paved.

Kent counties annual allotment of state funds for hard surface roads, as derived from the gasoline tax, will build approximately four fifths more nine foot road than sixteen foot road. This will serve that many more people and will relieve the county of the upkeep of that additional mileage each year. Those sections of Kent county which are now using nine foot roads are among the boosters of this program.

Half of the present gasoline tax is used for maintenance. This maintenance money is not apportioned where needed. Therefore with a nine foot concrete slab and the burden of building and maintaining shoulders thrown on the State, Kent county stands in a position to get her full share of this maintenance money.

COLLEGE MAKES GOOD SHOWING

Washington College held Maryland helpless in the first half of the season's opener in Byrd Stadium Saturday and then the Terrapins put in heavier men and won, 31 to 0. A small crowd was soaked in the open stands.

It was quite a struggle for the boys. Until midway of the second quarter the ball seesawed between the 30-yard lines.

Then Quarterback Blackiston threw a couple of 20-yard passes to Radice and Parsons that put Maryland six yards from a touchdown. This opportunity was lost when Blackistone's pass was grounded behind the goal after an offside penalty had set Maryland back.

Kessler, Roberts and Snyder reeled off a total of 60 yards in long gains for the first touchdown, a neatly executed pass, Kessler to Roberts, finishing the double time march.

This was followed on the next kickoff by a 60-yard run to a touchdown by Roberts. He ran through the hole visiting team.

The feat was almost equalled several plays later by fullback Snyder, who galloped 64 yards from scrimmage across the Washington goal. Two successive blocked punts gave Maryland another touchdown, the second being recovered behind the line by Right End Heagy. Near the end of the third quarter Maryland recovered an enemy fumble 13 yards from the goal and shoved the ball over on two plays. Kessler counting.

Maryland's subs reentered the contest in the final quarter and again got the better of it. Washington College made one first down completing a pass near the end of the contest. Maryland added only one point after touchdown. McDonald made this on the fifth score. He had previously failed, as had Roberts twice and Kessler twice.

ELOPING PAIR HONEYMOON IN KENT JAIL HERE

Pretty Redda Jacona, 8 West Third street, Marcus Hook, Pa., and Angelo Manerchia, 210 Market street, same city, came here late Saturday night to be married after having failed to secure a license at Elkton. They were directed by a local taxi driver to Thomas Dixon, deputy court clerk, who arose from bed and went to the courthouse to issue the license. The girl gave her age as 19 and the groom said he was 22 years old. They visited the Rev. Wilbur F. Corkarn, pastor of the M. E. Church here then and were marked in the patronage of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Manerchia then secured lodging at the Pippin Hotel. Shortly after midnight, Vita Jacona, father of the girl, and her two brothers, Joseph and Tony Jacona, appeared on the scene after having traced the runaways to Elkton and thence to Chestertown. They clamored for admittance, but Charles R. Pippin, of the hotel refused to let them in. The bride and groom, afraid of consequences kept quiet. Consequently, the irate male relatives of the bride sat all night in their automobile outside the hotel, hurling threats up to the bridal window and demanding admittance to the hotel.

Monday morning the father of the bride consulted State's Attorney S. R. Collins and preferred charges of perjury and insubordination against his daughter, who, he says, is just 17 years old. He declares he will prefer other charges against his son-in-law, who insisted on going to jail with his wife. Both have been guests of Sheriff J. T. Hadaway until the case came to trial. Thomas F. Healey, a local lawyer, has offered his services gratis to the couple.

Both bride and bridegroom said that they have known each other all their lives and that there is no reason why they should not be married. Parents of the girl it is contended, have kept them apart for two years but they have been meeting clandestinely.

The pair were given a hearing on Wednesday and as the father failed to appear the case was dismissed and the young bride and groom left here happy.

KENT WOMEN HURT IN CRASH

Mrs. Earl Nickerson and Miss Stella Spry, of Kennedyville, are in Easton Emergency Hospital as the result of an automobile accident early Sunday morning when a car driven by Albert C. Seney, of this town, collided with their car which was driven by David Nickerson, son of the injured woman.

Mrs. Nickerson suffered a broken knee cap while Miss Spry has a broken ankle. The crash occurred between here and Kennedyville while the Nickerson family were returning home from an evening spent here. Miss Catherine Nickerson escaped with minor cuts and bruises. In the car with Mr. Seney, who was driving south, were Israel Heller, Herbert Usilton and George Burk, all of this town. None of them were injured, though both cars overturned and were almost completely demolished.

Mr. Seney who was arrested by State Corporal Jesse M. Bradley on charges of reckless driving, was released under $500 bail for a hearing as soon as the injured parties are able to appear.

With October 25 set as the opening date for the New Lyceum Theatre the management is busy arranging the program for the opening period which will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, October 25, 26, 27.

The photoplay secured for the opening is "Street Angel," a Fox special, starring Janet Gaynor and Chas. Farrell. These were the stars of "Seventh Heaven."

"Street Angel" has recently completed a 11 months run on Broadway at $2 prices and broke all records for a popular price run at the Roxy Theatre. It has recently finished a run of four weeks in Baltimore at the New, where all time records were smashed.
