Shaunnessy, of Emmittsburg, and Miss Grace Glenninger, of Pittsburgh, are counselors.

An open air circus was staged at Camp Carvel yesterday afternoon befor a large audience.

LOCAL FIRE CO. BUYS INHALATOR

Arlington L. Sparks, President of the Chestertown Fire Company, called a meeting of his cabinet Monday afternoon and gave an order for an inhalator. The motive which prompted the purchase were several recent events.

Members of the fire company have realized since the rescue of Frisby Spencer, Negro, from a well on the property of Frank Elliott, in Fairlee, several weeks ago, in which an inhalator was used to revive the almost suffocated man, that such an apparatus is a necessary adjunct to the firemen's equipment, and the recent drowning of young Finn at Rock Hall, spurred them on in the purchase of the machine.

The apparatus cost $250 and will be paid for from the treasury of the Fire Company. It will be placed at the disposal of the physicians of the town and county. A similar machine is in use by the Easton Fire Company.

On the day the machine was ordered Mr. Hendershott, of the Wills, Supplee Co., entered Mr. Sparks' store and left a fine donation from the company and from himself as a personal gift.

PLAN NOW FOR THE PROPER HOUSING OF YOUR POULTRY

Those planning to build new hen houses are urged to get busy soon in order that time to do a respectable job may be used. Last minute jobs are usually poor jobs. Plans for the Maryland Poultry House worked out after years of testing are free for the asking from your County Agent.

Prizes given every night.

The hospital shares in proceeds every night except first two nights when the ambulance gets proceeds.

BEAUTIFYING THE PARK

H. Ballard, landscape gardner, of the University of Maryland Extension Service, Tuesday conferred with officials of Chestertown Rotary Club and the Board of Town Commissioners relative to beautifying the public square in the center of the town and other public places.

R. H. Collins, Jr., is chairman of the Rotary Committee having the matter in charge.

For several years there has been a public demand for beautifying public places, which have added much to the attractiveness of the town's main thoroughfare.

During the past year, however, it has been difficult to induce flowers and grass to grow because of the dense shade from the beautiful Norway maple trees in the square and the use of the Park for public purposes.

Mr. Ballard made a number of suggestions for beautifying the spot and the Board of Town Commissioners, which exercises jurisdiction over the squares, and other public officials will confer upon a plan of improvement to make the public squares the real beauty spots of the town.

He suggested the removal of three trees so as to let more sunshine in and also the removal of the bandstand. The Band will be consulted as to the disposition of the stand.

NEW PROFESSOR OF BIOLOGY

To take the place of Dr. Viola A. Graham who, last spring, resigned from the professorship of biology at Washington College, the authorities have been fortunate in finding Dr. Helen E. Murphy.

Dr. Murphy comes to Washington from the University of New Mexico where she has been assistant professor and associate professor of biology since 1922. She received both her under-graduate and graduate work from Cornell in which institution she took her doctorate in 1920.

At Cornell, she was very highly thought of, for she was selected first as graduate assistant in biology and later as graduate instructor, even before she had completed her work for the doctorate. During the years 1920-21 she was acting assistant professor of biology at Colorado College and during 1921-22 the acting biologist in Scripps Institute of the University of California.

Her writings on biological subjects have appeared in a number of scientific journals. She is a scientist, possesses ability of a high order and she has distinguished herself particularly among her students and faculty colleagues as a teacher.

Dr. Murphy, a native of New York State, has enjoyed a cosmpolitan experience as a student teacher in the large universities of the Empire State, Colorado, California and New Mexico. Washington College is fortunate in adding her competency and experience to its teaching resources.

The statement in last week's papers that the late John W. Duyer was a former sheriff of Kent county is a mistake. He was a constable and tax collector, but never a sheriff.

HEROIC EFFORTS TO SAVE MAN

Chestertown has been the scene of many events but none have been fraught with more trying experiences than that of Sunday evening when the life of a bright young student was at stake. Samuel Finn, aged 22, of Boston, Mass., a graduate of the Boston School of Technology and a member of the Reserve Officers' Training Camp at Edgewood, Md., was the victim of drowning.

Young Finn, whose father is dead and whose mother is now in Europe, and who is said to have no other relatives in this country, joined James Spear, of Millington, this county, a fellow college graduate and R. O. T. C. companion, at Elkton Sunday. From there they went to Rock Hall, where a swimming party, composed of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ahern, Richard W. Comegys, Jr., and his sister, Pauline Comegys, all of Millington, Miss Laura Emory, of Centreville, and Miss Louise Prettyman, of Galena, all of them popular in Kent and Queen Anne's County society.

Mr. Finn was the only member of the party who could not swim. The others swam out some distance in the water, while Finn began venturing out, wading and treading water. Suddenly he disappeared. Someone on shore saw him go down and called to the swimmers. The strange part of the affair was that he never came up again. It is believed that he stepped into a deep water section, recently dredged for the harbor. This was about 5.45 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Other members of the party and persons about the shore conducted a search for Finn's body, and found it on the bottom about five minutes after it had disappeared. When it was brought ashore, a hasty effort was made to resuscitate the young man there, but it was decided advisable in a few minutes to rush him in the local Firemen's ambulance to the home of Dr. Harry G. Simpers, surgeon for the fire department.

Dr. Simpers called in the County Nurse and members of the medical detachment of the National Guard, all of them trained in the art of resuscitation, and on his lawn was staged the heroics which followed and which drew out the townsmen.

It was not long before automobiles were lined up about the physician's yard, to see the guardsmen, under Dr. Simpers' direction, roll the water victim and try all the known tricks of artificial restorations.

Dr. Simpers telephoned to Easton, 37 miles away, asking that the new pulmotor of the fire department with a tank of oxygen, and an operator, be sent at once by airplane. S. H. Hathaway, of Easton, a well known pilot, manned a plane, and accompanied by Dr. Jack Zerbie, with the pulmotor and oxygen oboard, took to air from the Easton Airport. It was dark by this time, and the pilot in some way got off his course, and soon found the plane hovering over Galena section, 16 miles from Chestertown, where he was compelled to make a forced landing due to some trouble with the plane. Dr. Zerbie and the pulmotor, therefore, were taken to Chestertown in an automobile by James D. Davis, Jr.

This caused some delay in the use of the pulmotor on the young Bostonian. However, men worked fast and methodically with the pulmotor. For two hours more the work was kept up but in vain.

Dr. Simpers had given two powerful injections of adrenaline to the young man without any results.

Finally, as the hour of eleven came, Dr. Simpers announced that it was useless to keep it up. That all signs of life had disappeared. There were a few who thought it might go on a little longer, but both physicians agreed that Finn was dead.

Young Finn was a native of Russia where his mother now resides. His father is dead. On Thursday, an uncle from Boston, arrived to take charge of the body which was at the Tobin understaking establishment at Millington. It was thought that the body will be shipped to Europe for burial.

ROCK HALL CARNIVAL

Thursday was the big night at Rock Hall Firemen's Carnival and it was a grand success. One of the biggest crowds ever seen in the town was present and the committee in charge managed the affair finely. Federalsburg won $25 for best band and $15 for coming the longest distance. Chestertown won $20 for having the most men in line. Church Hill won $10 for making the best appearance.

"The Duke Steps Out" at the New Lyceum next week.

FIVE PEOPLE HURT

Five young Baltimoreans who spent the week-end at Betterton resort are in Union Hospital, Elkton, after their roadster skidded at the intersection of the Betterton concrete road and the Chestertown-Elkton highway, at 3.00 o'clock Sunday morning.

The injured are Robert Hoover, 21, dislocated shoulder, lacerations of the eyes and dislocated hand; John Kleer, 20, abrasions of the eyes and several teeth missing; Mary Pattle, 17, fractured shoulder; Dorothy Pattle, 18, her sister, abrasions of the hips and legs, and Dorothy Manshaw, 20, lacerated legs and shoulders.

The car, which was completely demolished, was taken to a Chestertown garage. Passing motorists discovering the overturned car and injured passengers, called the Chestertown ambulance from a nearby telephone and the youths were taken to Elkton by Carl LeCates, emergency driver.

The automobile was rounding the curve, proceeding north to Elkton, when the accident occurred. The condition of the injured persons is improved.

SEASON OF PUBLIC SALES

Last week the News began advertising personal property sales of farm equipment, thus making the beginning of the sale season.

In almost every community one or more of these auctions will take place during August or early September. Already dates are being marked on the sales calendar and thousands of dollars worth of property will go under the hammer.

For many years August has been a popular month for sales of personalty, and this year probably will prove no exception.

Maude and Jennie, the popular mule twins, and various other items on the sale will be back again to attract spirited bidders from ambitious owners.

The recent upturn in wheat probably will reduce the number of sales. Many farmers each year become discouraged over either the poor outlook of unprofitable market prices, but the recent advances will create a firmer tone of aptimism in many quarters. But, even at that, August probably will be a busy month for the auctioneers.

Harry H. Legg, on his Flatland farm, threshed 37½ bushels per acre off of 50 acres and sold same for $1.31 per bushel.

W. Frank Jarrell threshed 352 bushels of wheat from his field of eight acres on the Wickes farm, near town. This makes a yield of 44 bushels per acre which is the largest yield in Kent or any other county as far as we can learn.

L. A. Sutton got 32 bushels per acre off 100 acres.

Albert Groves on the Fairlee farm of T. W. Eliason threshed over 5,000 bushels, one of the finest crops reaped off this farm for many years.

What is believed to have been an attempted wholesale delivery of prisoners of the Kent county jail here was frustrated Monday when Sheriff J. Thomas Hadaway discovered that brickwork above the door leading into the main corridor of the second floor cell tier had been torn away, preparatory to enlarging the hole so as to petmir a man's body to pass through.

The door opens upon a stairway leading from the front door of the jail. There are about a dozen colored prisoners and one white man imprisoned in the jail. None of the prisoners have thus far admitted having cut the hole.

HORSE SHOW ON AUG. 21

The Kent County Horse Show Association will hold its fifth annual show on the William French farm near Chestertown on the Tolchester road at 2.00 p. m. Wednesday, Aug. 21st.

The Horse Show Association will not be responsible for any accident to horses or people.

A GREAT HEAT WAVE

Kent county and all the East have been gasping for a week under a heat wave which started Saturday. In various sections Sunday temperatures approached the century mark. The highest point for the day was 98 degrees, which was reported from such distant points as Albany, N.Y., Baltimore, Phoenix, Ari., St. Louis and Washington. The mercury stood 92 in Montreal, Boston, Cincinnati, Detroit, Philadelphia, Portland, Ore., and San Antonio, Tex.

New York City, where the temperature was 92 degrees, was deserted by about 3,000,000 people who sought comfort by jamming nearby beaches and filling highways leaving the city. Seven persons were drowned in the Metropolitan area.

The drought, which has been virtually unbroken for a month, gave further cause for alarm to farmers and brought to Canada a forest fire situation which Dominion officials believe to be the most serious since 1923. While crops were wilting throughout the Atlantic seaboard States and Eastern Canada, and the wheat crop of Western Canada was reported hopelessly scorched, produce farmers in the Metropolitan district faced ruin unless the drought ends speedily.

At Northport, Long Island, where farmers of the vicinity have lost their entire apple crop, summer visitors have been forced to hire teamsters to cart water from the few wells that have not already run dry. The Mayor of Mountain Lakes, N. J., has announced that all water will be shut off between the hours of 11 a. m. and 5 p. m., while authorities of several other New Jersey towns have urged residents to refrain from watering lawns or washing cars.

The Chestertown mercury registered on Saturday 90 degrees; Sunday 92; Monday 98; Tuesday 84; Wednesday 90.

The weather bureau reports July the dryest month in the history of the weather bureau.

CHESTERTOWN GOLFERS DEFEAT REHOBOTH CLUB

The Chester River Country Club golfers defeated the Rehoboth Country Club team here Saturday by the point score of 13½ to 10½. The match was one of a series in the Delmarvia League.

Finlay, in the No. 1 match, put the visitors ahead with a triumph over the Chestertown player by 2½ to ½ points. The results follow:

Chestertown — Stenger, ½ point; Russell, 2; Beatty, 3; Strong, 3; Collins, 0; Beck, 2; Falls, 2½; Metcalfe, ½. Total 13½.

Rehoboth—Finlay, 2½ points; Sipple, 1; Vinton, ½; Thompson, 0; Smith, 3; Caloway, 1; Staples, ½; Odgen, 2. Total 10½.

All the Chestertown players did well, but Horace Beck brought down the gallery when he made a fine put from a long range.

Robert C. Kennedy's sale Thursday was the first of the season. Cows brought as high as $172 while horses averaged $60. Implements sold fairly well.
