WHEAT AT 51 CENTS

Farmers throughout the county are cutting wheat and it is believed that by the end of the following week the entire crop will be in the shock. Leading growers in the county are predicting that there will be a big yield.

Chestertown buyers were offering 51 cents a bushel for July delivery on Thursday, at which price the yields will have to be unusually large to enable the growers to reap a profit from the crop.

Linesman Drowned At Booker's Wharf

Joseph Piller, 45. of Baltimore. was drowned shortly after 1 P. M. Tuesday at Booker's Wharf, on the Chester river, when he either jumped or fell from the pier while weighted down with heavy hammers and tools. Piller was working in that section with the telephone linemen.

With several other workmen, Piller had spent the noon hour on the pier and was preparing to return to work when some of the men boasted jokingly of their acquatic prowess. Piller is said to have announced he could easily swim weighted down with his tools.

None of the others believed he would attempt to jump into the water, but he either leaped or lost his balance. William D. Gosnell, another employe, jumped overboard fully clothed, in an effort to save him, and narrowly escaped drowning.

The men grappled for Piller's body for almost an hour before it was recovered. Dr. William Henry Fisher. of Centreville. directed resuscitation efforts and John P. Cocoran, of Pioneer Point Farms. went to the scene with two tanks of oxygen. All efforts to revive the man were futile, however.

An investigation was made by S Charles Walls, coroner. and the body was taken to an undertaking establishment to be removed to Baltimore for burial.

THERE WERE ten young men who took the examination for scholarship at Washington College before the Orphans' Court Thursday. They were Ivan Culver, Walter Rees, Stevens and Edwin McCrea, W. F. Jarrell, Jr., Robert Sutton, Elmer Boyles, Gilbert Ingersoll, William Nicholson, Frank K. Barnhart.

ONE OF THE largest catches of rockfish caught with hook and line recently in Chester river in one day's sport was landed one day during the week by Capt. Spencer Urie and a party of two anglers from Rock Hall.

Mrs. Joseph Downey, one of the anglers, reported in Chestertown that the party landed 250 pounds of rock weighing from one to eight pounds each, and when they ran out of bait the fish were still biting ravenously. Two gallons of shrimp were used as bait, for the finny tribe took the hook as long as anything to eat was in sight.

The fish were caught near the surface of the water only a very light sinker being used to carry the baited hook a few feet under water. Another remarkable haul of hardheads and rock was landed by seine haulers in Lankfords Bay at the mouth of Phillips creek one day during the week. It is said that a wagon load of hardheads was landed together with a large fish box of big rock. The run of rock and hardheads near the mouth of Chester river is great.

GOLDSBOROUGH'S ANSWER IS FINE

Congressman Goldsborough on June 24 received a telegram from the President asking his views on his proposed debt moratorium. This was a postponement of debt paying by Foreign counties. Congressman's Goldsborough's answer was as follows:

My Dear Mr. President:

I just have your telegram asking my views on the Inter-governmental debt moratorium proposed by you and appearing in last Sunday's papers. The National wealth is increasing by many billions a year so that the present problem of statesmanship is not one of production, but one of distribution. Your proposal involves a recognition of this fact and is certainly a palliative. I am, therefore, in favor of it. At best, however, you propose the treating of a symptom and not an attak upon the disease that causes the symptom. We can't have general prosperity in this country while International bankers loan with one hand enormous sums of money to decadent foreign governments, for which they get large commissions, and with the other hand exercise pressure upon the President and Congress to cancel or modify the terms of Governmental foreign loans. The wealth of the country will continue to be concentrated in the hands of a few as long as monopolistic traiffs throttle trade and interfere with normal competition. The economic welfare of the average citizen will never be achieved as long as the present policies of indirect taxation place consumption taxes on the great masses of the people and relieve those who would not be burdened by the payment of them. In short, the present economic condition is due to the fact that no real attempt is being made to solve the problem of keeping up the buying power of the American people as a whole. I do not mean to be unsympathetic. I have been in public life long enough to realize the enormous pressure brought upon public men by powerful interests, but I believe the people now understand what the real economic problem is and would follow the leadership of the President of the United States in its solution. I, as a member of the House of Representatives, certainly would."

SHERIFF VICKERS received 12 more Federal prisoners Wednesday. It is said that the Court is having many requests from prisoners when sentenced to be sent here. The NEWS article has had wide circulation.

THE Kent County Board of Election Supervisors organized on Wednesday last by the election of C. Frank Crow as President, W. O. B. Knight, clerk, and R. H. Rogers, Esq. as attorney. J. Hydie Thompson and Thos. W. Trew are the other two members of the Board with Mr. Crow

PEAK OF THE CRAB SEASON

The crab season is at its height in Talbot county. Crabbers are reaping a harvest, the peak being reached last week when one crabber received a check for $141 for his weeks' work, according to reports. It is said that he caught fourteen barrels in one day. These crabs were sold to a St. Michael packer.

A crabber at Tilghmans received a check for $110 for his weeks' work. These two are believed to be the highest for this years' work for any single week so far. Strange as it may seem, one week the crabs were plentiful and the preceding week they are scarce. Then the warm spell set in and they became plentiful once more.

One crabber said there were signs of being an abundance of crabs for the time being but he looks for a dropping off in the supply before long. He also said he never saw so many soft crabs as was seen the past two weeks. Hundreds were landed by crabbers in a day, and they were so plentiful that they brought but 30 cents a dozen for the large ones.

This week the crabbers were bringing in three and four barrels each, and the crabs looked much fatter than those caught a week or two ago. Along the shores of Tilghmans men and women were seen in large number looking for soft crabs. Their catches were sold to dealers at from 30 to 45 cents a dozen.

Boys and girls were seen wading along the shores in quest of crabs. They seemed to be catching them; filling sink boxes with them.

Crabbers are getting 2 cents a pound for crabs and while they are plentiful good wages are being made.

DELEGATION WINS

A delegation consisting of patrons of Worton Cooling Station visited the Willis-Jones-Supplee headquarters in Philadelphia recently on behalf of continuing the operation of the plant at Worton.

After arguments pro and con it was decided to continue to keep the Worton plant open until October at which time it would positively be closed. The farmers returned happy over the result of their visit.

NEW BALL PRESIDENT

J. THOS. Kibler has been elected President of the Chesapeake Bay League of baseball. He succeeds Norman Wallen, of Millington, who resigned as president of the league and will act as treasurer of the organization.

A meeting of the league officials and the managers of the six teams in the loop was held in Chestertown on Thursday evening and plans made for the future.

Fights Change In Rural Boxes

W. Irving Walker, former member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Queen Anne's county and known as the father of the rural free delivery mail service in Maryland, has called on Congressman Goldsborough to protest to the Postoffice Department against a recent rulling which would change all rural mail boxes from the left side of the road as traveled by the mail carrier to the right side of rural routes.

Mr. Walker in a letter says:

"The enforcement of such an order is going to prove a death trap to numerous children and women and others who get mail from country roadside boxes. There is no comparison in the danger to mail carriers depositing mail in these boxes or to the traveling public in comparison to that to patrons of the mail routes themselves.

"The carrier frequently has whole batteries of these boxes at crossroads and other points and has ample time to pull up to and depart from them by giving ample and sufficient warning to the traveling public and if he does not it is because of his anxiety to cover his route in the shortest possible time.

"Children and women are the principal ones who get mail from these boxes and endanger their lives in compelling them to cross the public highways in order to collect their mail should not be thought of for a minute and I trust that you will do everything in your power to have such an order of the Postoffice Department rescinded."

Mr. Walker takes issue with the Postoffice Department that carriers must violate the rules of the road by stopping to boxes on the left side, and contends that they may easily alight and walk across the road from right to left, leaving their cars on the right side.

"Carriers are in too big a hurry to cover their routes," he says, "and get back home. With a little more leisurely method and more careful covering of their routes they can easily abide by the road laws and at the same time do their work sufficiently well without the unnecessary removel of boxes from their present positions."

PUBLIC SCHOOL PRIZES AWARDED

The prize winners at the Chestertown High School as announced by Prof. Owen C. Blades last Friday night were as follows:

L. Bates Russell, Sr., Medal for Declamation, Margaret Evelyn Miller.

Balfour Key, Rebecca R. Anthony.

Miss Susan Roberts' English Prize, Evelyn M. Bennett.

Mrs. Grace Bennett Jones' Shorthand Medal, R. Erma Adams.

Ex-Senator W. B. Copper's Ten Dollars in Gold, William Oliver Comella.

Dr. Wm. R. Redden, of New York, Medical Director of the Cleanliness Institute, made the address to graduates in the several high schools. His theme was an important one, viz., health.

Two hundred and seventy thousand deaths a year are caused unnecessarily by unsanitary habits of people who allow germs of colds and other disease to pass from person to person in the United States merely because the average individual does not take the trouble to be clean in the medical interpretation of the word, Dr. Redden told the graduating classes.

The speaker said further that an economic loss of 15 billion dollars a year results in this country alone, from sickness which is eight times the loss resulting from accidents. Loss of time and money in industry could be largely prevented, he said, by ordinary sanitary precautions being taken by householders and children in homes and schools and by factory workers, precautions now being overlooked.

"Handlers of food in restaurants and hotels and soda fountain dispensers could, by taking the simpltst measures of precaution, prevent many contagious diseases from passing from drinking cups and plates and knives and forks to unsuspecting patrons. The same thing might be said of housewives and of persons who thoughtlessly sneeze in other people's faces and use handkerchiefs and towels carelessly."

THE ANNUAL firemen's carnival at Sudlersville which will close June 29 was featured Wednesday night by the annual firemen's parade. The Chestertown Volunteer Firemen's Band won first prize of $20.

ADAMS' Floating Theatre will be at Rock Hall next week. This company is unequaled in the high type of programs put on and their large audiences prove their popularity. See adv.
