high tariff nominee, W. H. Taft. And what happened to Leader Mann's predictions? The manufactured product of the United States is estimated at $30,-000,000,000 as compared with $20,000,ooo,ooo in the census of 1910. The capital invested in American manufactures is placed at $26,500,000,000 against the former $18,400,000,000.

The corporate income of the country for 1916 is estimated at $5,000,000,000 against $3,200,000,000 in 1912. The total volume of wages paid in manufactures, applying a 12 per cent. increase for 1916 over the census estimate for 1915 is estimated at $5,200,- | 000,000 against $3,400,000,000 in 1910. And so far from there being evidence of "damnation for the home industry," as predicted by our stand-pat minority leader, the records of the home building about 35 per cent., which is sustained by a further 35 per cent. gain in the volume of bank deposits. In fact, wages, product, railway and mill earnings, bank clearings, bank resources, building enterprise, all show that the level of American prosperity in 1916 is fully 35 per cent. above the olume of 1912; and this in every part of the Union and in every branch of industrial and commercial enterprise.
