AN EVAPORATOR FOR DRYING FRUIT.

Be sure to see the De'aware Fruit Dryer and buy the low priced Dryer that makes the high price This Dryer was invented for the purpose of saving a part of my own crop of peaches in 1875. Thousands of backets of fruit had rotted in my orchard. The Smocka and late White Peaces were ready to dry when I began, yet the peaches dried after that, with a common stove without grate bars, sold for two hundred dollars. I improved the Bryer greatly in 1876 and this year, and claim that it will dry Fruit and Vegetables so that they will be very nearly as light and rich in color when dry as when put fresh in the That which darkens the more fruit than all else is the vapor that is thrown off in drying and remains in the dryer until it passes through all the fruit in the way the outlet. My invention, by the use of tubes, takes the greater part of that moisture out of the main chamber without its passing through the fruit, and suppplies dry heat to every five trays continually, thus retaining the natural color by quick drying. When the fruit is nearly dry it is slid into a milder heat in the finishing chamber. The following certificates show what is thought by those who have seen, used and sold the fruit for two years;
