
Leadership

Greatness—that combination of a superior quality and power that makes one man stand out head and shoulders above his contemporaries was gloriously manifest in George Washington, Statesman—Diploma t Gentleman—Soldier and Leader.

Leadership among banks is conferred by the people upon that institution which renders the greatest service to the community. Superior safety and service—rendered with a touch of personal attention—backed by unlimited resources give The Peoples Bank unrivalled leadership in Kent County.

BREVITIES

—One of the outstanding social events of the week was the first annual concert given by the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company band in William Smith Hall, Washington College, Friday night, under the direction of Professor Schlosser, of Baltimore, who has been the instructor of the organization since its inception. The band is composed of forty pieces, and an excellent program was rendered, the soloists being C. Arthur Bacon, cornetist; C. E. Nichols, tenor, and Prof. Schlosser. About $100 was realized which will be used in payment of extensive improvements recently made in the interior of the fire house.

—Through the efforts of the officials of the Volunteer Fire Company Chestertown will shortly have a modern fire alarm system. Wires are being installed from the local telephone exchange to the siren alarm on the top of the fire house and when the service line is completed all alarms will be sounded from the telephone exchange instead of from the phone of some nearby store. A telephone will be installed at the firehouse to apprise the firemen of the location of the fire, and the entire town will be divided into zones and provided with a set of signal alarms from the old fire bell, the number of taps indicating the zone in which the fire is located.

—Farmers in the vicinity of Kennedyville have been bothered by stray dogs killing their poultry. Robert C. Kennedy killed three dogs as they tried to make their escape with three of his ducks. He has received $28 as part payment for loss of ducks and geese from the county commissioners. James Groves lost five wild ducks and a number of Muscovy ducks in the same way. Recently 12 dogs have been caught in steel traps set in fields. The county has set aside a fund to reimburse such losses.

—Neal A. Truslow, of the Truslow Poultry Farm, near Chester River Bridge, Queen Anne's County, has been elected vice-president of the Delmarva Hatchery Association. Harvey Holsinger, of Summitt Poultry Farm, Ridgely, was chosen as president of the newly formed organization. The purpose of the association is to foster and develop interest in breeding and hatching and to popularize the poultry industry. Members of the association are pledged to provide uniform courtesy, service and finest quality to purchasers from all over the country who seek Delmarva's annual output of thoroughbred baby chicks.

Women Riders Play In West

Miss Alverta Brice, captain of the recently disbanded Eastern Shore of Maryland Women's Polo Association; Mrs. T. J. Randolph Nicholas, captain of the Maryland Women's Polo Association of Baltimore; Mrs. Amos Koontz and Miss Catherine Bosley, both members of the Baltimore feminine contingent, left last Friday morning for Cincinnati, where they engaged in an outdoor polo match on Saturday with the feminine team of that city.

This was the first match staged between two women's teams of the East and Middle West and is the first indoor game played by the Maryland mallet wielders. Early in March Miss Brice will take all her horses from the Eastern Shore to Baltimore and will set up a riding academy in the Green Spring Valley. The Eastern Shore Star will also act as coach of the recently organized boys' and girls' polo teams among the younger Valley set.

Miss Rowena Woods, recent star of the Eastern Shore team, native of New York city and now living in Philadelphia, will enter one of her mounts in the gymkhana and music ride to be given by the Philadelphia Saddle Horse Association today February 23.

Miss Woods, will enter the lady rider class, the musical chair ride for ladies, the night shirt race and the jumping race.

It pays to establish a high ideal; study, work hard and keep everlastingly at it. A good school teacher gets $3,000 a year; the governor of the state gets $7,000 a year; cabinet officers, $10,000 a year; Ty Cobb, $75,000 a year—and Babe Ruth—complete returns not in yet.

Well, they have taken perjury from the marriage ceremony now—that promise of the bride's to obey.

DEATHS

In the death of William Marion Miller last Thursday night, Feb. 17, 1927, Rock Hall has lost its oldest inhabitant, the deceased having been born August 31st, 1836, on the farm on which he resided his whole life. He was the son of the late Michael and Harriet A (nee Legg) Miller. A half sister, Mrs. Thomas Edes, formerly Miss Sallie Parker, lives in Baltimore at present. While a young man Mr. Miller married Miss Mollie Maslin who died about twenty-five years ago. The surviving children are Charles L. Miller, Marion T. Miller and Miss Mollie Miller, all of Rock Hall. The late Mrs. Walter H. Hadaway, Sr., was the oldest child. There are ten grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren, these descendants being scattered as far west as Michigan and Kentucky. Fond of reading and very intelligent the deceased seemed always happiest by his own fireside with his family and an occasional guest. He was active until two weeks before his death and until the past two years had walked to the town weekly to visit his barber. Death was due to pneumonia and valvular heart trouble. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Sunday at Wesley Chapel, Rev. C. L. Dawson officiating. "Abide With Me," and "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me," were most feelingly rendered by the choir. The bearers were Milton Maslin, William Leary, Noble Moffett, Walter Hadaway, Sr., Walter Hadaway, Jr., and Elwood Burgess. Thomas H. Casey director.

Mrs. Mary Staats, wife of Frederick Staats, died at her home in Piney Neck on Monday, Feb. 21st, after a long illness, aged 63 years. She is survived by a husband, and the following children: Mrs. Edward Middleton, William Staats, Mrs. James Higgins, Frederick Staats, Mrs. Kirby Rodney, Franklin Staats and Herman Staats; also one sister, Mrs. Herman Jacobs and a brother Mr. Herman Kischnick. Funeral service was held this afternoon at 2 P. M. in Wesley Chapel Church, Rev. T. S. Barrett, officiating. Interment in Wesley Chapel Cemetery. C. L. Dodd undertaker in charge of funeral arrangements.

Rev. Charles Atwater Addresses Fire Department

The Chestertown Fire Department attended Emmanuel P. E. Church in a body on the evening of Feb. 20th where they took an active part in the service. The Rev. Chas. Atwater preached the sermon using as his text: "You shall have help." He drew, throughout his address, a parallel between the work of the fire fighters and the work of the Church as a whole; likening fire to sin and emphasizing the fact that the preventive work being done by the Department in teaching the public to be cautious and to avoid the dangers of fire just as the Church endeavors by its teaching to prevent people from falling into sin, is of equal importance, if not as spectacular as the rescue work they do after the trouble has begun. The work of the Chestertown Fire Department is most praise worthy, all of it being done without pay and the enthusiasm and willingness shown by the men is an inspiration to the whole County.

A Paramount Picture
Adolphe Menjou
—in—
"The Ace Of Cads"
—with—
Alice Joyce
—and—
Norman Trevor
Adolphe Menjou has been a villain in many pictures. He has been the hero in others. But not until recently did he attempt playing both roles in the same vehicle.
"The Ace of Cads," presents Menjou as the hero who purposely became a villain in the eyes of a girl who loved him. Paramount's popular star declares it the most remarkable character he has ever portrayed in that he plays the same episode twice, first as the hero and then as the villian.
Also Third chapter, "Snowed In."

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 28th
