Thunder Of Big Guns In "Tell It To The Marines"

Film a Mighty Drama Staged On Elaborate Scale With Lon Chaney Starred

The surge of war—thunder of big guns—these are the settings for a wonderful human drama in one of the real master pieces of the screen, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's much heralded EPIC of the Marine Corps, scheduled for showing at the Lyceum Theatre, Chestertown, Friday and Saturday of next week.

"Tell It To The Marines" is a mighty drama, told amid great battleships in grim war maneuvers; amid strenuous frays in an Oriental wilderness; amid the confusion and bustle of Marine barracks—but, after all, these thrills, bits of comedy and inspiring spectacles are incidental—incidental to the love of a young American and a pretty girl—and the gruff but fatherly love of a grizzled Marine sergeant for the boys he scores and belabors like a terrible taskmaster, but at heart is proud of.

It is the story of the soul of the Marine Corps—the story of the human loves, tragedies, and ideals of those whom the world knows as "First to fight."

And it's glorious entertainment! One roars with laughter at William Haines, as the recruit, in his troubles with the paint—his introduction to the "Admiral's barge"—and his troubles with the sergeant that land him in the brig. One thrills at the mighty spectacle of a whole battle fleet in maneuvers—its guns belching flame—and the grim Marines who feed them their explosive food.

It's the story of the soul of America.

Lon Chaney, as the grizzled sergeant, has a role the like of which he never played and may n ever play again—a role he does not act—but literally lives. It may well go down as one of the real Chaney classics.

Eleanor Boardman makes a charming heroine, and Carmel Myers a subtle Oriental vampire. Mitchell Lewis as the bandit chief, and Eddie Gribbon as the comic corporal, contribute some gems of acting.

DEATHS

Mr. Charles D. McCleary died at his home on Kent Circle on Monday evening following a stroke of paralysis on last Friday evening, aged 80 years.

The deceased was one of Chestertowns highly respected citizens, and at the time of his death was Deputy State Forester. He is survived by his widow, one sister Mrs. M. E. Bryan, of near Tolchester, and a brother living in Queen Anne.

The funeral service was held from his late home this afternoon at 2 P. M. conducted by Rev. N. O. Gibson. Interment in Chester cemetery.

The pall bearers were Alfred Crouch, Frank Shahan, Alwyn Culp, Fred G. Usilton, Howard Melvin and John Bartley. William T. Hicks undertaker in charge of funeral arrangements.

Charles L. Gill died at his home in Chestertown about seven o'clock Friday morning. He had been sick only a few days and on Thursday had a stroke of paralysis and a second one at night from which he did not recover. He was well-known all over Kent county having been deputy sheriff of Kent county and also several times a candidate for sheriff. He was popular and well thought of all over the county. For several years he has been with his sons, Gill Bros., in the conduct of their big ice cream and milk business in Chestertown. He was 64 years of age and leaves a widow, Mrs. Della C. Gill. four sons, Hepbron. Frank, Lee and Henry Gill, two sisters, Mrs. Kennedy, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Bower, of New Jersey, and a step-mother, Mrs. John R. Gill of Delaware. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, with interment at Still Pond Cemetery, Rev. N. O. Gibson officiating. The bearers were his four sons and two nephews, R. A. and J. R. Kennedy. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Mrs. Henrietta Leaverton, nee Jeffers, died Thursday, March 31st, 1927, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sarah M. Crosby, near Rock Hall, at the advanced age of ninety years. The deceased was born October 30th, 1836, in Queen Anne County, a daughter to Benjamin and Henrietta (nee Roach) Jeffers who later moved to Cecil County and then to Pool's Island when the little girl was four years old. Afterwards a farm bordering Chesapeake Bay and Bush River was purchased and from there Miss Jeffers married the late James Richard Eagle Shaw, of Kent County and spent most of her married life near Rock Hall. There were seven children born of the marriage of whom Mrs. Thomas E. Joyner and Mrs. Crosby, of Rock Hall, and Mrs. John T. Wriston, of Pittsburgh, Pa., survive. Her grandchildren are Mrs. James Wickes Sappington and LeRoy R. Crosby, of Waterbury, Conn., Mrs. Vernon A. Hunter, of Baltimore, and John Wilmot Crosby, of Los Angeles, Calif. Richard and Gaylord Hunter are great grandchildren.

About ten years after Mr. Shaw's death the widow married, 1880, the late Garey Leaverton, who died a little more than three years later on his farm near Hynson Chapel, after which Mrs. Leaverton resided with her children, about twenty years being spent in Pittsburgh.

The deceased was greatly beloved by a large cidcle of people and lived to see many of them pass to the Great Beyond toward which her face was steadily set through great faith. She had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Rock Hall since early matronhood, and in younger years was a leading teacher in the Sunday School and took part in all church activities.

The funeral service was conducted Saturday afternoon, 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter by the Rev. William H. Revelle, her pastor, and interment made in Wesley Chapel Cemetery, the bearers being Frank Davis, Benjamin Durding, Charles Kendall, James Taylor, James Durding and Charles Judefind. Thomas H. Casey director.

Mrs. Charles Smith, of Betterton, passed away suddenly in the early hours of Thursday morning. Mrs. Smith was a member of the Methodist Church and of the Ladies Aid Society, also of the Rebecca Lodge who had charge of the service at the grave.

A devoted mother, industrious, generous, sympathetic, always ready to lend a helping hand, were characteristics which endeared her to many people with whom she came in contact. Beside her husband and children Mrs. Blanche Newcomb, of Baltimore, Howard and Alpheus Smith she is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Messrs. Horace, Samuel, James, Thomas and Harper Brice, Mrs. Mary Myers and Mrs. Alfred Bowman, also six grandchildren.

The funeral service was held at two o'clock Sunday afternoon from the residence and was in charge of Rev. Clark and Dr. Stone. The bearers were Messrs. Harper Brice, Harry Willis, Alfred Bowman, Thomas Brice, Horace Brice and John Smith. The funeral was very largely attended and attested to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Wilbur Harrison, formerly of Rock Hall, son of the late James Harrison, died at his home in Baltimore Friday, April 1st. 1927. He leaves a wife, Hallie. daughter of Walter Kirby, of near Rock Hall. Funeral services weer held Monday and interment made in Baltimore.
