ROCK HALL

Three young men are surveying the town to locate the best points for the location of water plugs. What a wonderful thing is faith. We till believe there will be water in Rock Hall and a bridge across Chesapeake Bay. Why not? Both are perfectly feasible.

The first sale of the season that of Richard Hague, below Fairlee, brought very good prices generally for farm implements and stock last Wednesday.

Twenty visitors at the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School brought the total attendance to two hundred and twenty-nine. Not so good as the preceding Sunday. Try again. Rev. W. S. Grant, the pastor took for a text "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ" from Romans 1:16 and a theme: "What is the matter with the world?" The evening sermon was delivered by Rev. Charles Atkins, of Concord. This followed Epworth League conducted at 7:00 P. M. by Miss Esther Grant who had prepared a number of specialties which included a solo: "Let the Weary World Roll On," by Mr. William T. Downey; with his grand daughter Miss Louise Davis, at the piano; a duet by the Misses Blanche Carter and Minnie Jacob; an address by Walter Clark; a recitation by Beatrice Donnelly and a trio by Miss Alice Thompson, Miss Clara Joiner and a lady from Baltimore with Miss Cora Thomas at the piano, the song being "Ivory Palaces." The Ladies Aid Society meets this afternoon at the church. Next Sunday at school in the morning, 9:30 o'clock, an Armenian will be present to tell of conditions in the Near East. He will preach also in the evening. Rev. Grant urged his congregation to continue work on the carpet fund, which is in addition to the expenses paid the Sunday before. The church is now very tastefully finished.

Wesley M. P. Chapel goes to Tolchester tomorrow on its annual outing where they expect to meet Kennedyvilleville people of the same denomination, the two schools having selected the same day. That gives Superintendent C. Frank Wheatley an extra hour to sleep. Don't ask questions. That is clear. Mr. Wheatley says that when he has a Sunday School crowd he can go to sleep as he doesn't expect anything to go wrong. Score one for Sunday Schools. The ladies of this church will serve luncheon at the sales of Harry White and Taylor's Ranch.

Several nice hauls of rock fish have been made lately the product being taken immediately to Baltimore for market.

Steam was noticed issuing from pipes at the canning house a few days ago. Sure indication that work will begin soon. Tomatoes seem very late this year, only a few early ones having been brought to the stores. A good many green ones have been shipped to the city.

Raum M. P. Chapel has the following interesting church notes: C. L. Dawson pastor, James Boulter, superintendent. Sunday School 9:30 a. m., Christian Endeavor Society 7:00 p. m., Church service 7:30 p. m., leader for our C. E. Society Sunday night Miss Anna Dierker. The topic for church is "The Burden." So all come out to church and Sunday School. Every one is welcome.
