MR. SLAY'S REPLY.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The communication in the Republican organ of Kent county in its issue of Oct. 30, 1895, charging me with having solicited Thomas E. Norris and George W. Harper to support me as an independent candidate in 1883 (or any other year) is a lie out of the whole cloth.

About the middle of September last I made an unqualified denial, both in the KENT NEWS and Chestertown Transcript, of this baseless report. It is in keeping with the course of this Republican organ that it should wait until its last issue before the election to produce any testimony in support of this report, which it first circulated, and that the testimony produced should be of a man wholly irresponsible pecuniarily for any statements he might make and one with whom I never had any business, political or other relations.

The only facts from which the imagination of this man could coin the lie he has sworn to are these: After the Democratic nomination in 1883, I visited Still Pond once, and only once; that was in company with John W. Loud, a gentleman well known for his integrity of character and high regard for truth. Our mission to Still Pond was directly the opposite to what Mr. Norris has sworn to. There were a number of influential Democrats in that section who refused to support the Democratic ticket. It was reported in that vicinity that I too would not support the ticket, but would become an independent candidate. Mr. Loud and I went for the express and only purpose of contradicting that report and to urge Democrats to support the Democratic ticket. We stopped at Mr. John Z. Clark's, not very far from Still Pond, on our way, and told him our business, a fact he tells me he well remembers. We saw a number of Democrats in the streets of Still Pond, and in some way attracted the notice of Geo. W. Harper, and possibly Mr. Norris. We certainly did not call upon them. Mr. Harper inquired about the truth of the report, and we told him in the presence of others, possibly Mr. Norris, that under no possible conditions would I (Mr. Slay) become an independent candidate, much to the apparent chagrin of Mr. Harper. My best recollection is that Mr. Norris was hanging around us in the streets and put in some words. No man who met us there had or could have had any doubt as to my purpose to have nothing to do with any scheme looking to the defeat of the regular Democratic ticket.

It seems hardly possible to me that any one who knows me or who will take the trouble to inquire about me, would think I would tell a deliberate lie for the office of State's Attorney.

"Who steals my purse, steals trash;
'T is something, nothing;
'T was mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands;
But he that filches from me my good name,
Robs me of that which not enriches him,
And makes me poor indeed."

I don't feel that affidavits are necessary to sustain Mr. Loud's and my own positive statements, but as others may feel different, we hereto attach our affidavits.

WM. M. SLAY.

STATE OF MARYLAND, KENT COUNTY—To wit:

I hereby certify, that on this thirteenth day of October, in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-five, personally appeared before me the subscriber, a Justice of the Peace of the State of Maryland, in and for Kent county, aforesaid William M. Slay, and made oath in due form of law that the matters and facts stated in the foregoing communication are true as therein set forth; and at the same time also personally appeared before me John W. Loud, and made oath in due form of law that the matters and facts stated in said communication in reference to his visit to Still Pond with Mr. Slay, and what took place, are absolutely true as therein set forth.

DEATH OF A GOOD MAN.

JOHN W. COLLINS died suddenly in Baltimore last Tuesday morning. For six years past he has held the position of collector in the Consolidated Gas Company of that city, and in the performance of duty he was passing along Pratt street on the morning stated when he stepped into the Maltby House and took a seat. This action on his part was no doubt caused by some premonition of illness. He had been sitting in the hotel but a few minutes when he was noticed in apparent pain, and one of the guests of the hotel suggested to him that he be taken home. His reply was "It is too late." In a few minutes he was dead!

The news of this occurrance was a special shock to the writer as we had spent a pleasant afternoon together only two days before when Mr. Collins and his good wife were met in the rare indulgence of a stroll in the beautiful fall-tinted groves at Druid Hill. He was looking specially well and we whiled away the brief moments in happy reminiscences. Among other things he said: "Do you know that I am six years older than my father when he died? He was counted an old man and yet he died at 62; I am now 68, but I do not realize that I am old." He referred to his good health and pleasant situation and several times spoke of the great kindness of his friend, Mr. N. T. Meginniss.

Mr. Collins was postmaster of Chestertown for 22 years, and was followed by Mr. Wm. H. Hamilton. Thirteen years ago he moved to Union Bridge Carroll co. after a short stay at Hanesville, in this county. He engaged in the drug business there but was not sucessful and removed to Baltimore. In that city after a time he found a friend in Mr. Meginniss, who secured him employment which was both pleasant and remunerative, and his family were never more happily situated than when the summons to the other world reached him last Tuesday.

Mr. Collins was most conspicuous in his long residence in Chestertown for Godly character. He was prominent in the Methodist Protestant Church, as was his father before him. His "daily walk and conversation" was above reproach, and being gifted in prayer and exhortation, he was a spiritual power in every means of grace the church afforded. In protracted meetings he was the man always to be depended upon. The loss to the church here in his removal was sorely felt. This grand religious character he carried with him wherever he went, and made his impress upon the world about him. At the time of his death he was one of the most valued members of Christ M. P. Church, Baltimore.

Mr. Collins leaves a widow, one son Ben, and three daughters, Lottie, Flora and Minnie, all unmarried, and a wide circle of relatives and close friends, who are sadly afflicted by his sudden demise.

Though many long years have passed since he left Chestertown, and the old Church—in which he was such a lovely and familiar character—has been superseded by a more modern edifice, JOHN COLLINS has a warm place in numerous Christian heart here. Indeed his religious life was so inwroughtwith the "new birth" of many here that the glow of memory will never dim and his "going on before" will grip their anchor all the deeper within the vale. Heaven is so much sweeter for the loved ones there! Oh, that we may all realize a glad reunion in the beyond.

Undertaker J. E. Blackiston met the remains at Rock Hall last Thursday and the interment was in the family lot in Wesley Chapel Cemetery.

CHURCH NOTES.

The Kent County Sunday School Convention will be held in Chestertown on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 23 and 24th, and not on Monday as reported.

The Official Board of the Dover M. E. Church has decided unanimously to invite Rev. L. E. Barrett, P. E., of Wilmington District, to become the pastor of that charge next year to succeed Rev. W. L. Murray.

Rev. Samuel Edson has tendered his resignation as rector of (St. Mary's Whitechapel) parish, and accepted a call to Shrewsberry parish, in Kent county. Mr. Edison has endeared himself to his parishioners and made a great many friends outside his congregation during his three years' rectorship here, and his departure is much regretted on all sides. —Denton Journal.

The Epworth League of the M. E. Church held a literary exercise Tuesday evening which was of universal interest. Miss Elizabeth Scott, of Galena, read an able paper on "Mercy and Help;" Rev Aloysius Green, of Whitesville, Del., made an address on the purpose and influence of the League. Mrs. Joel R. Clements read the scripture lesson. Miss Anna May Downey sang a pretty solo and also a pretty duet with Miss Mary Brown. A reading by Miss Fannie Stuart and organ recital by Miss Anna G. Lambert were also features.

Rev. Jesse Shreeve, pastor of the M. P. Church at Kennedyville, is in the midst of a glorious revival. Rev. A. A. Bichell is assisting the pastor. Up to Wednesday evening twenty persons had professed religion and deep impression seems to prevade the entire community. The meetings will be continued all next week.

Miss Alice Palmer addressed large audiences in the Methodist churches in town Sunday on the temperance question.

The meetings at Fairlee and Union M. E. Churches still continue with unabated interest and up to date there have been over 80 conversions. Bro. Galloway is still there. May the good work continue.

Reported Better.—A late report from Millington says the scarlet fever patients are convalescing and there are no new cases. There are but five cases in town. The schools will be re-opened in a few days.

Hughes, Samuel Stewart, Sandy Hastings and Charles Harris. In the third district the decision of the register was reversed in the case of Joseph Hynson, Chas. Carroll and Wm. H. Court adjourned yesterday.

Curiosities.—Miss Elsie and Master Lee Plummer, children of ex-Sheriff E. J. Plummer, sent us some curiosities last week that they found along the bay shore at their home, Plum Point. One was a tooth, ten times the size of a man's while another was a large stone with a hole in it evidently belonging to an Indian. It appears to be of stone but is doubtless petrified wood.

New Police Boat.—The sloop Hugh Bolton, of Annapolis, has been secured as a guard boat for Chester river by the Board of Public Works and Capt. Wm. Urie placed in command. She entered on her duties this week. The steamer Gov. Thomas has been assisting Capt. Hyland the past week in keeping the dredgers from Swan Point and Chester river.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR.

Gundry—Hines.

Emmanuel P. E. Church, Chestertown, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Tuesday morning. The contracting parties were Miss Katie Hines, daughter of the late Jesse K. Hines, one of the most popular ladies of Chestertown, and Dr. Richard F. Gundry, of Catonsville, Md. The church was charmingly decorated, although simplicity was observed. At the appointed hour, as Miss Mary Hurtt rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal party approached the altar, where the Rev. Dr. Roberts met them and performed the beautiful service of the church. First came the ushers, Dr. Wm. S. Gardner, Dr. F. Dyer Sanger, Dr. C. P. Gilpin and Eben F. Perkins, Jr., then the maid of honor, Miss Grace Gundry, then the bride leaning on the arm of her brother, Dr. W. Frank Hines. At the chancel the groom and his best man, Dr. Lewis H. Gundry, met the bride and Dr. Hines gave her away. She was handsomely and tastefully attired in blue silk crepon with black satin and chiffon, wearing a black velvet hat trimmed with ostrich plumes and pink roses, and carried white chrysanthemums. Miss Gundry was sweetly gowned in white pompadour figured Dresden silk tinted with green velvet, and carried white chrysanthemums. A wedding luncheon was partaken of at the home of Dr. W. F. Hines, and at 1 o'clock the party started for Price's Station amid a shower of rice. They will enjoy a trip North, after which they will take up their residence at Catonsville. The presents were lovely. Among those from a distance who were present were: Mrs. Richard Gundry, mother of the groom; Mrs. Thomas Gundry, of Toronto, Canada; the Misses Edith, Mattie, Alice and Grace Gundry; Miss Evans, of Toronto, Canada; Mrs. Pagles and Mrs. Fennimore, Columbus, O.; Mrs. John Elliott, St. Lucia, West Indies; Mrs. Horace W. Beck and Mrs. Wm. S. Walker, Jr., St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. Fannie E. Hoops and Miss Sadie Perkins, Baltimore; Master Horace W. Beck, St. Louis, Mo.

Mair—Roeder.

Mr. Alexander Mair, a popular young salesman of Betterton, and Miss Annie G. Roeder, a belle of Worton, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roeder, were married at the home of the bride's parents, near Hanesville, Tuesday evening, by Rev. A. Edwin Keigwin, of New Jersey, assisted by Rev. Kent M. Bull, pastor of Worton Presbyterian Church. The parlors were prettily decorated and a large number of friends witnessed the ceremony. Miss Annie Shafer rendered a pretty wedding march. The bride wore a well-fitting gown of brocaded novelty cloth, trimmed in brown velvet and ribbon with pearl passamenterie, and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses. A sumptuous supper was served.

Nickerson—Edwards.

Miss Susan I. Edwards, second daughter of Mr. Joseph Edwards, near Middletown, was married to Mr. Chas. W. Nickerson, of Kennedyville, on Tuesday afternoon, at the M. E. Parsonage, by Rev. I. L. Wood. After the marriage a reception was given at the home of the bride, only the immediate families and a few friends being present. The bride was very becomingly attired in a brown costume, with hat and gloves to correspond. She received a number of very pretty and useful presents. At an early evening hour Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson were driven to their new home at Kennedyville, where they have commenced housekeeping.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Parvis to Mr. Hugh Cook Browne is announced for Wednesday, November 6, at 3.30 P. M., in the M. E. Church. The bride-elect is one of Middletown's fairest daughters, and the groom, formerly of Middletown also, but now residing in Wilmington, is a popular and successful young lawyer of the New Castle bar.

Cards are out announcing the marriage on Nov. 12th of Miss Anna May Ivens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ivens, to Mr. George Everett Sheats, all of Worton.

Fire.—Soon after the train passed Mr. Ray Bowers' field Tuesday his straw stacks took fire and were completely destroyed. The stubble and grass on the field were quickly burned and the land presents a bare appearance.

The festival held at Sacred Heart Church Tuesday night was largely attended. The supper was well prepared, served in fine style and everyone who patronized the affair went home pleased. They cleared about $75.

THE daily round trips of the Chester river Steamboat Company will be discontinued after Nov. 2. See the new schedule in another column.

THE banks will all be closed next Tuesday, it being a legal holiday.

Personal Paragraphs.

Mr. Romie Byron has sold his beautiful pair of golden-sorrel horses to Mr. Fred. P. Stieff, who is a member of the celebrated Stieff Piano firm in Baltimore. The price is not made public. Mr. Stieff came to Chestertown on Thursday and took away his prize.

Mr. Earle Nicholson, a bright boy of twelve, and son of Mr. W. T. Nicholson, captured a young wild goose the other morning. On his way to school Earle saw the bird flying with difficulty a few feet above the ground and after a short chase captured it. The bird with clipped wings is now "at home" in the barnyard with the domestic fowls.

Mr. Purnell Jump, of Edesville, we understand has determed to sell out and remove to the South, in order to secure a better climate for his wife who is not in the best of health.

Dr. J. B. Merritt, of Easton, has been visiting his father at Fairlee.

James H. Bramble and Jesse H. Usilton are among the sick about Fairlee.

Mrs. Catharine Merritt, one of Middletown's oldest ladies, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Staats, Fairlee. Miss Emma Merritt is with her.

George Hazell, the fifteen-year-old son of George W. Hazell, of near Millington, had six or eight teeth knocked out by the kick of a horse Wednesday. He was on his way to Chestertown, and when near Chester bridge the axle of his dearborn broke and caused the horse to kick. Mr. Klinefelter brought the boy to town and Dr. Hines dressed his wounds.

Mr. David B. Perkins, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with his parents on Queen street.

Miss Ridie Knight, of Baltimore, is visiting Miss Lottie Wickes.

Mrs. Horace W. Beck, of St. Louis, is the guest of relatives in town.

Mrs. Thos. Cochran and daughter, Miss Stella, of Middletown, have been visiting friends in Still Pond.

Miss Kennedy, of Sassafras, is the guest of Mrs. Topping on Mill street.

Messrs. Walter Cannan and Jacob Ziesal rode to Chestertown Tuesday from Philadelphia on their bicycles. They are both natives of this place and will spend a week with relatives.

Dr. Streete and Mr. Thomas, of Baltimore, have been guests of Mr. Howard Turner at Betterton. They are members of the Maryland Cycle Club and enjoyed a spin to Chestertown Tuesday.

H. W. Catlin, Esq., has been appointed attorney for Kent county of the American Banking and Trust Co., Balt.

Mr. George H. Cannan, while at work on the mill gates near town Tuesday fell into the pond, but was rescued by his son. It was rather a cold bath.

Mrs. Copenhaver, of Baltimore, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Emma Shafer, in Kennedyville.

Dr. Richard Gundry, who took from our midst Tuesday one of our charming ladies, is the superintendent of a flourishing asylum at Catonsville. The Sunday Herald contained pictures of this institution and spoke freely of its able management. It was while dealing with an insane inmate that he received a discolored eye, and signs of his encounter could be seen Tuesday.

Mr. Bibb Mills, son of Rev. Dr. J. L. Mills, has accepted a position as clerk in the dry goods establishment of W. S. Dickinson & Son, Pocomoke City. He is a clever young man and no doubt will give satisfaction to the trade.

Mr. R. G. Nicholson has delivered 80,000 trees this week for shipment West.

Washington College Victorious.

The Washington College eleven again defeated Dover, in a hard fought game, on the grounds of the Dover Base Ball Club, by the score of 4—0 in two twenty minute halves. The game was called at 3:30. Capt. Massey won the toss and choose the goal, as there was a stiff breeze at that time; but, which partly settled as the game proceeded. Dover started with a kick off. Then the ball advanced by brilliant plays, scientific interference and long runs, until the College scored their first and only touch down, failing to kick goal, within three minutes from the time play was called. Dover again kicked off, which only resulted in the ball going backwark and forward, it once being within five yards of the Washington College goal, but was fumbled and lost. The second half was very similar to the latter part of the first half, with the exception of the linesman's watch, and the umpire's leather glasses.

Washington College lined up as follows: Patten and Hurtt, right end; Tull, right tackle; Douglas, right guard; Davis, center; Gooden, left guard; Barnes, left tackle; Usilton, left end; Massey, quarter back; Glover and Boston, half backs; Cannon, full back. Referee, Mr. Burris, of Washington College.

The College boys will play the Baltimore City College to-day and the latter will place the heaviest and best team in the field that they ever had.
