ELECTION NOTES.

The election in Kent county passed off quietly, there being little or no disorder, although some few arrests were made in Kennedyville and Worton districts. The weather was all that could be desired, the atmosphere warm and balmy, and with hardly a cloud overhead for the most part of the day. The voting was mostly done in the morning evidencing the great interest of the people.

When the polls opened in Chestertown there were 73 colored men in line and 5 white men, and thus it was all over the county. The vote was remarkably heavy as shown elsewhere. In the Chestertown district every negro voted but one, and Zack Dunn remarked that he certainly must be buried somewhere! There were seven white who failed to vote, four of whom were out of the county.

In Worton district a slight disturbance was caused by challenging a voter who, it was claimed, had been paid to vote a certain ticket. A heated discussion arose and after considerable wrangling the Republican officers dismissed the case. But the vote buyers were more careful thereafter, and no more voters were challenged.

In Kennedyville several exciting episodes occurred the most surprising being the arrest of a gentleman of Still Pond, charged with bribery. The magistrate in the village refused to issue a writ and the constable was compelled to drive to Galena. The party gave bail. Another writ was issued for a man in the same district, but he escaped.

It is said that every colored voter in Fairlee district cast his ballot Tuesday for McKinley. Beecher, Henry and Wilson had them well in hand.

Some little curiosity upon the part of those not familiar with the new election law was manifested over the slip attached to the ballot, and upon which the ballot clerk wrote the name of the voter and his address before the voter entered the booth. As before stated this is done to prevent the substitution of an unofficial for an official ballot for the purchase of votes. The name and address is torn off by the clerk before the ballot is put in the box.

The Democrats received returns in Stam's Hall, the white Republicans under the Voshell House and the colored people in their hall on Cross street. Many Democrats became sick soon after nine o'clock and retired to their homes, while others who were more sanguine remained down town until after midnight.

It is said an agreement was made in Kent between a prominent leader of the Republican and Prohibition parties and a leader in the Democratic party not to use any money in the election on Tuesday. What was the result? The Democrats kept the agreement and the other party did not.

Elijah B. Glenn, who celebrated his one hundredth birthday at Galena a few weeks ago, walked Tuesday morning from his home to the polling-place in the fifth ward and cast his vote for Bryan and Sewall. He is a native of Carpenter's Point, Md., and was born August 7, 1796. Mr. Glenn cast his first vote for James Monroe, in 1820, and has voted for every democratic presidential candidate since. He has resided in Newark thirty years.

Mr. Wm. Crow deposited his vote Tuesday in the Chestertown district for Bryan and Sewall, making his seventieth vote. He is 92 years of age.

A young man in Church Hill district in casting his first vote did not understand how to make the cross mark, but instead wrote his name in the square opposite the old hickory tree.

A number of voters in Rock Hall district did not understand how to mark their tickets and only made a dot in the square. The voter's intention, of course, is very plain in a case like that and the vote should have been counted.

Many of the Republican leaders in Chestertown were sent to county districts to look after affairs. Mr. J. Henry Hurtt was in Millington, Mr. B. N. S. Wilkins went to his old home at Pomona, State's Attorney Urie and Mr. W. W. Chapman visited Fairlee, Worton and Kennedyville, while Sheriff Casey went to his home district at Rock Hall.

Supt. E. P. Stacey, of the B. & D. B. R. R., gave all the section men on his road a half holiday Tuesday so that they might go home to vote.

In Worton district there was one voter who marked every ticket but the square opposite the Democratic emblem. How did this man intend to vote?

A well-known gentleman in Church Hill marked his ballot and left it in the booth. The next voter found the ballot and reported it to the judge. The voter had gone to his home but was sent for, returned, and deposited his ballot.

Property Sales.—Marion deK. Smith, attorney, sold on Saturday the Maslin house and lot near Edesville to Capt. C. A. Leary for $630.

The McFadden mill property in Queen Anne's, near Crumpton, was offered at public sale and withdrawn at a bid of $3,500.

Prisoners Carried Over.— Deputies Copper and York carried five colored prisoners over the water yesterday. Thos. Foulks was sentenced to 4 years in the penitentiary for attempted assault on a small colored girl; John Bailey, 2 years for stealing; Wm. Henry, 2 years for stealing; George Parker, 6 months in House of Correction for selling whiskey; Robert Wilson, 4 months in House of Correction, for common assault.

More Prize Corn.—Mr. I. R. Walbert, of near Lankford, brought to the NEWS office Wednesday, some fine samples of corn. Fleming's lime was used on the land and its good effect is clearly shown. Mr. Walbert's corn is not quite as large nor as heavy as several other samples, but the quality is certainly equal to any of them and it is thought the crop per acre will come up to the best.

Diptheria Epidemic.—Dr. J. S. Fulton, secretary of the State board of health, and Dr. T. A. Councell, county health officer, have issued this bulletin:

"There are twenty cases of diphtheria in St. Michaels, and perhaps fifty more who may become affected at any time. Travel through St. Michaels is not advised."

The epidemic has caused the cancelling of the notices of all the political meetings arranged to be held there. Mrs. Samuel J. Conner, of St. Michaels, was visiting in Smyrna, Del., having with her one of her children, who died with diphtheria. The body was brought from there by an undertaker in a hearse and buried in Spring Hill Cemetery. The railroad company refused to take it, as the body was in a wooden coffin. Mrs. Conner has a child ill at home in St. Michaels with the disease.

Stock Insurance.—John A. Stauffer, a farmer, of near Locust Grove, has, through his attorney, Hope H. Barroll, docketed a suit of much importance to the insurer of farm stock. It appears that Stauffer had a valuable young horse insured for $200 in a stock insurance company of New York. After a severe thunderstorm at night the horse was found dead in the field without any marks or indications as to the cause of death. This agent of the company was notified at once by telegram, but failed to make an examination of the dead animal. Stauffer was subsequently told however, that the horse would be paid for. More recently, however, he was notified that payment would be resisted, as he had failed to prove that the animal was killed by lightning. In a vast number of cases of death to animals by lightning there is not the slightest mark or evidence by which the average farmer could absolutely prove the cause of death being forced to rely largely upon circumstances unless, by some good fortune, he should see the bolt strike the animal down. The case will be watched with unusual interest.

WEDDING BELLS.

Miss Mary K. Deaver, of Frederick county, and Mr. Wm. Percy Towson, of Washington county, were married last Saturday at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington. Rev. Mr. Harding performed the ceremony. There were present several friends of the parties. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Towson left for a bridal trip. The bride is daughter of the late Capt. Henry Deaver, originally of the Eastern Shore, and is a sister of Mr. Henry T. Deaver, bookkeeper of the Second National Bank of Chestertown. Miss Deaver, now Mrs. Towson, is the young lady who had the encounter last summer with some farmers who tried to drive through her farm. The way she resisted them elicited much applause and praise all over the State. Since her father's death Miss Deaver has been successfully farming the large tract of land near Knoxville, formerly owned by her father. The groom conducts a large flouring mill near Weverton, in Washington county.

Miss Minnie Pretzman, niece of Mrs. Whitman, of Walbrook, was married on Wednesday afternoon to Mr. Charles Comegys, of Kent county. The ceremony took place at Memorial P. E. Church, Baltimore, and was performed by the Rev. Dr. Wm. M. Dame. The bridesmaid was Miss Mamie Whitmare. The bride wore a becoming blue cloth traveling gown, with hat and gloves to match. She carried La France roses. After the ceremony the bridal couple left for a tour South.

Notes Here and There.

The Epworth League Halloween Party in Chestertown Saturday evening was a grand success. The affair was held in the Stuart-Perkins house on Queen street. The rooms were tastily trimmed and various games were indulged in, everybody seeming to have a most enjoyable time. About $15 were cleared. Among the most active ladies were Misses Anna Lambert, Fannie and Bessie Stuart, Laura Thomas, Mary Burchinal, Anna Smith, Sue Lambert, Claudia Thompson and others.

* *

Mr. John N. Dodd met with quite a painful accident Saturday. He was on board the pleasure yacht Sunset, and in going up to the wharf, caught his leg between the boat and wharf mashing his limb considerably. Dr. Hines was sent for and dressed the injury. Mr. Dodd has been confined to his house ever since.

* *

Lewin, the two-year old son of Mr. Frank Howard, Chestertown, made a very narrow escape from accidental death last Saturday night. Adelaide, the little sister, had left a bottle of laudanum on the table which the little boy picked up and placed to his mouth. It is not known how much the child drank, but he was seized with spasms at night and suffered considerable. Dr. Hines treated the boy successfully, and he was able to be out Monday.

* *

Mr. James W. Crouch has rented the Simpers house on Queen street near High and will remove therein at once with his family. Justice B. N. S. Wilkins, who formerly lived there, has removed to his newly-purchased home, the Downey house, on Front street.

* *

Mr. Colin F. Stam chaperoned a jolly party of cyclists on a run to Melitota last Monday afternoon. The party included Mrs. H. Rickey, Misses Maggie Plummer, Emma McFeely, Catharine Wicker, Lottie Wickes, Cora Massey, Anna and Louise Stam, Gussie Friedman, Mary Fleming, Eunice Westcott, Profs. James R. Micou and Edward J. Clarke, C. F. Stam, R. H. Collins, H. G. Simpers, W. B. Usilton, Jr., Allie Thomas, Chas. Hines, Bradley Roe, Rudolph Stam.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS.

Monday was rather too warm for hunting but there were hundreds of sportsmen who enjoyed the first day of the open season. It is estimated that there were 2,000 rabbits killed in Kent on this, the first day. As early as 5 o'clock gunners were seen starting for the hunting grounds.

Messrs. James Shuster, Harry Cannan, Frank Simpers and George Vickers brought home 17 rabbits Monday, this being the largest number yet reported.

Mr. James Shuster unfortunately shot his rabbit dog Monday. The dog is reddish in color and very small, and was mistaken for a rabbit by its owner, who took aim and fired, killing the dog.

Messrs. Samuel Hicks and John Clendaniel killed sixteen fine birds Monday and yet they did not consider this a good day's sport.

The caution notices elsewhere in the NEWS were made necessary by the increase in the number of colored gunners and boys who tramped over the country killing all the game to be found in accessible places.

Mr. J. B. Clothier and two friends went out Thursday and killed twenty-two rabbits.

The French colony of New Caledonia is troubled with a plague of deer. There are no wild beasts indigenous to this island, but we learn from a British consular report that the Australian deer imported with the last twenty years have so multiplied that inland farms are ravaged by them every night, and even the balconies of the farmers' bungalows are occasionly invaded in search of stored grain or vegetables.

They are frequently found within a mile of the town, and any one with the ordinary license can kill them; but the climate and the magnificent stretch of unpopulated country, with mountains 6,000 feet in height, are so well adapted to their increase that they are beginning to be regarded like the rabbit pest in Queenland. Why do not some wealthy sportsmen try a season in New Caledonia?

A New Merchant in Town.—Mr. M. T. Miller, of Baltimore, opens a new store in Chestertown next Monday. He has secured the desirable stand in the "Bordley Block" adjoining Toulson's drug store.

Dr. Harry G. Simpers, J. W. Chapman, Jr., of Baltimore, Carle T. Westcott, of Princeton; H. C. Chase and W. P. Armstrong, of Washington, came home to vote.

Miss Sadie Hall, of Kent county, is visiting friends in Talbot and Queen Anne's counties.
